DEBATING TEAM TO MEET WESTERN RESERVE HERE

NEGATIVE TEAM DEBATES IN CHAPEL TOMORROW EVENING
—AFFIRMATIVE ABROAD

The 1926 forensic season at Allegheny College will be opened tomorrow evening, when the debating teams meet Western Reserve University in a dual contest which will call for arguments here and in Cleveland. The issue to be debated is: Resolved, That the government restriction of individual liberty should be condemned.

The Allegheny negative team will meet the Western Reserve affirmative in Ford Memorial Chapel, while in Cleveland the opposite representatives of the respective schools will compete. The local negative team is composed of Messrs. Palmer, Corbett, Schruers and Deissler, alternate. Schruers may be unable to debate due to illness, in which case Deissler will take his place. The affirmative debaters are Messrs. Gordon, Kirkpatrick, Bartlett and Riemer, alternate.

On February 25 a triangular debate will be held, with Allegheny, Wooster and Oberlin participating. All of these schools are old opponents, and for this reason the contests should attract more than usual interest. The same question will be argued as in the dual meet the week previous.

Only one person, an expert in the debating field, will judge the meets. This new method will be used at the request of the opposing schools, an innovation which is gradually coming into use in all major institutions.

GARRETT INSTRUCTOR GIVES TALK IN CHAPEL

L. E. FULLER EMPHASIZES THE VALUE OF TAKING ADVAN-TAGE OF THE PRESENT

On Thursday, February 11, Professor L. E. Fuller, of Garrett Biblical Institute of Northwestern University, was a visitor at Allegheny College. During his stay he delivered an address to the students during the chapel period and also interviewed students interested in Christian service.

Using the words, "This is the day the Lord hath made, let us rejoice in it," as the text for his chapel talk, he explained the tendency which we have to exaggerate our respect for yesterday and to develop a two wonderful respect for tomorrow, while we fail to respect the wholeness of today.

Professor Fuller pointed out that a mushroom can be grown in a day, while it takes years to grow an oak. The coinage of mushroom slogans demands elements which cannot help us to find the real goal of life.

In concluding his talk, Professor Fuller advised against a student's delay in getting started in his work, for today holds a reward as well as tomorrow.

ALLEGHE BEATS THIEL IN GAME LAST NIGHT

BAKER'S TEAM HAS EASY TIME
WITH LUTHERANS

The Blue and Gold court team came through as expected in last night's contest, and trimmed the Thiel five by the decisive score of 46-12. Allegheny assumed a substantial lead of nine points before Thiel could score, and the final result was never in doubt from then on. The first quarter ended with a 9-5 count. In the next period Thiel was held scoreless, and the score at half-time was 14-5. The second half started out in a little more lively fashion, and by the end of the third stanza the Blue and Gold had increased their lead to 29-8. As the final period started Coach Baker sent in his reserves, and Thiel's line-up was changed considerably, but the Blue and Gold continued their scoring spree, while the Lutherans could not get near the basket. With the count standing at 31-9, Hartman rained in four two-pointers in as many minutes, and Cossman added a pretty back-hand shot as the final whistle blew, the score standing 46-12. McClurg and Hartman each made five field goals for Allegheny, while Dufford made two of the three double-deckers scored by his team. The Blue and Gold made 18 field goals and 10 out of 22 fouls, and Thiel, three fielders, and 6 out of 15 fouls.

At the State College of Washington fraternities and sororities may give only three dances a year, and at these all favors must be foregone.

DUZER DU HOLDS TRIALS MONDAY AND TUESDAY

PLANS ARE BEING MADE FOR A PLAY TO BE STAGED
APRIL 16

Due mostly to the effort of Miss Spalding, Duzer-Du has planned to stage a play on April 16, the place to be named later. The play is to be chosen from three dramas that are now in consideration by the executive committee of the club. Last Monday afternoon in the Oratory of Ford Memorial Chapel, preliminary tryouts for the women parts in the play were held, while on Tuesday afternoon tryouts for the men parts were held, under the direction of Miss Spalding, who will select the cast for the play.

Duzer-Du is one of the dramatic clubs in Allegheny College at present which has for its purpose the development of the students who have any inclination toward the stage or acting ability. This club was one of the prominent organizations in former years, but a lack of interest in dramatics caused it to decline until this year, when interest has again been stimulated and the club is ready to fall back in its old position of becoming a well-known organization on the campus.

ALUMNUS CLAIMS CANCER MAY BE INHERITED ONLY

DR. C. L. STRONG, '17, SPEAKS BE-FORE BODY OF RESEARCH
WORKERS AT YALE

Dr. C. L. Strong, '17, of the Bussey Institute, Harvard University, spoke before a meeting of leading exponents of medicine and genetics during a discussion of cancer conducted at Yale University by the American Society of Zoologists on December 30.

According to an account published in The Boston Globe, three outstanding conclusions were announced, which are as follows: That cancer is not an infectious disease; that cancer cannot be developed except by persons in whom there is hereditary cancerous strain; and that even persons tainted at birth with a cancerous strain cannot develop the disease spontaneously, but only through the agency of environmental factors.

The first was expounded by Dr. James B. Murphy of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. Doctor Strong supported Doctor Murphy in his finding, and added his convictions on heredity, which were disputed by Dr. James Ewing of Cornell University.

Basing his conviction in some degree on the work of his predecessors, Doctor Strong said he substantiated their findings by elaborate experiments of his own, in which he succeeded in producing families of mice that were 100 per cent. immune to cancer and other families that were 100 per cent. susceptible. Doctor Strong, approaching these experiments from the point of view of a geneticist, came to the conclusion that, "The characteristics of cancer are biological in nature and are introduced through the process of heredity."

DOCTOR FREEMAN, '04, DOING VALUABLE WORK IN CALI- FORNIA CITY

Dr. Robert Freeman, '04, has been doing wonderful work in the Pasadena Presbyterian Church for the past 15 years. He is a preacher of extraordinary ability, a platform lecturer and entertainer, and a writer of both prose and poetry.

Doctor Freeman was born in a one-room tenement in Scotland 47 years ago and came to New York at the age of 18. Although he had only spent a few years in school, he preached for a short time in the mission churches of New York. He accepted the call as pastor of a small church in western Pennsylvania, which gave him the opportunity of attending Allegheny College while he was serving this neighboring church. After he was graduated from Allegheny College he went to the Princeton Theological Seminary. He was pastor in a large Buffalo church for several years, and he made a tremendous impression on those who heard him. During the summers he travelled about preaching in many of the large cities both here and abroad. Thus Pasadena heard him and extended to him a call which he accepted, and there he has stayed.

The war took him to France, but after the war he returned to Pasadena, where he has become an institution. His sermons are carried all over the United States both by the radio and press.

COACH BAKER'S MEN TO MEET WESTMINSTER AND W. VIRGINIA

Both Contests to Be Played at Home, Tomorrow and Saturday—Westminster Away Next Tuesday

With three games in six days, the Blue and Gold basketballers are facing the toughest part of their schedule. Having been struck hard by examinations with a consequent loss of some of his good men, Coach Baker is working hard to find his best combination. In the games since mid-semester there has been noticeable a gradual improvement. Especially gratifying was the battle put up against the Crimson at Grove City last Friday. From this it may be hoped that the team has at last hit its stride. At any rate the two games with Westminster and one with West Virginia in the next few days will tell the tale.

On Thursday, February 18, Westminster comes here with a team that has also been hard hit by various misfortunes. Heralded at the beginning of the season as having the most dangerous team in the section, they have lost game after game. The cause of this lies in the fact that their most valuable men have either been injured or have dropped from school. Joe Wolfe, former star guard of the Blue and Gold, was lost through an injury to his shoulder. "Hickory" Hetra, premier star of the team, has not shown up as was anticipated. As a result of these misfortunes, the season has been a very poor one so far. On the following Tuesday, February 23, the Blue and Gold plays Westminster in a return engagement at New Wilmington. Judging from the dope, Allegheny should come out victors in both of the games.

The main attraction, however, is the tilt with West Virginia on Saturday, February 20. The Mountaineers come here with a hard-earned victory over Allegheny gained early in the season at Morgantown. Revenge is being planned by the Blue and Gold, however, and with two victories over the Mountaineers in 1925, they are hoping to make it three out of four this time.

BLUE AND GOLD SWIMMERS MEET THIEL TEAM FRIDAY

ADMISSION FEE OF TWENTY-FIVE CENTS TO BE CHARGED—FIRST
CONTEST OF SEASON

Meeting Thiel in the first intercollegiate match of the year, the Allegheny College varsity swimming team will make its first appearance before local fans at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, February 19. A nominal admission fee of 25 cents will be charged, the money to be used in paying for the new suits which the men will wear at this meet.

Captain Hill, Curtis, Ingram, Taft, Sankey and Merrill make up the regular varsity team, with Meyers being available if seven men are used. The men have been practicing regularly since examinations, and, judging from their showing in practice, should develop into one of the best swimming teams Allegheny has had in recent years. The events scheduled for the Thiel meet are as follows: Forty-yard dash, dives, 40-yard breast stroke, 40-yard back stroke, relay and probably the plunge.

Two other meets have been carded for next week, the Oil City Y. M. C. A. team being met at Oil City on Tuesday, Feb. 23, and Pitt at Pittsburgh on February 26.

NEW PASTOR OF STONE CHURCH SPEAKS IN CHAPEL LAST WEDNESDAY

On Wednesday, February 10, Dr. George S. Lackland of the Stone M. E. Church gave a short talk to the students during the chapel period. He spoke of some of his very interesting work among the laboring classes. From this work he has concluded that although many of the laborers do not attend church, they, nevertheless, possess a religion; a religion different in a sense, but fundamentally the same as Christ taught. The spirit of brotherhood is more pronounced among the labor unions than it is in our own congregations. Industry is constantly striving for better labor conditions, and better health conditions.

for the two seasons. West Virginia is equally determined to even the count and the result is sure to be one of the best games of the year. The only comparison that can be made is through the games each team has played with Pitt. The Mountaineers held the champion Panthers to a two-point victory. Allegheny was badly defeated in their encounter with the present district leaders. The outcome of the game is very difficult to predict, however, for since the last meeting of the two teams there has been many changes in both squads. Last year's contest is still remembered by local fans as the best game of the year. The clean playing and fine sportsmanship of West Virginia was an item of much comment, while the victory that Allegheny garnered was a well-deserved one.

CAST OF SENIOR PLAY REHEARSES REGULARLY

PLAY PROMISES TO BE FUNNIEST
EVER PRESENTED BY ALLEGHENIANS

Professor Reynolds, assisted by Doctor Schutz, is working consistently with the cast of "Charley's Aunt," the Senior play, which is to be given in the local high school auditorium on the evenings of March 4 and 5, and the afternoon of March 5. The play represents an attempt on the part of the class of 1926 to raise funds for a memorial to be erected on the campus for Francis Myford, a classmate, who died during the summer following his sophomore year.

In a rehearsal reviewed by the "Campus" last week, the hilarious comedy seemed the best that Allegheny has seen for many years. Barber, Ross and Wolz form a very humorous trio. A synopsis of the play is as follows:

Jack (Buck Wolz) and Charley Wykam (Howard Taylor), two college students, find themselves in the clutches of a great love for Kitty Vernon (Naomi Reischner) and Amy Spittigue (Virginia Hatch), respectively. Since Charley's rich aunt from Brazil, where the nuts come from, is expected, the two fellows invite the girls to lunch. Fancourt Babberly is persuaded to come and entertain the aunt. Aunt (Martha Swartz) cannot come, however, and Babs (Roland Barber) is forced to dress the part of the aunt. He is supposed to take care of Jack's father (Lloyd Graf) and Amy's father (Duke Ross), but instead, he turns his attention to the two girls in the guise of Charley's Aunt.

Soon Jack's father and Amy's father fall in love with the "fake" aunt, or rather, her millions. Two hundred complications that follow make it one of the best comedies that we have ever seen. Every character is ideally fitted.

The General Manager has appointed the following Captains to look after the sale of tickets: Elizabeth Charlton, Alice Graham, Margaret McMillan, Grace Stokes, Florence Sheehan, Alex Hill, Maurice Kolpien, Alden Humeston, Harold Milliken and Harold Olsen. The tickets are 75 cents and one dollar, and can be bought from any member of the Senior Class. They may be exchanged for reserved seats at Ballinger's March 1 and 2.

Because the proceeds are all to be used for the Myford Memorial, the Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary Clubs are helping in the sale of tickets for the three performances.

GREAT GRANDSON OF TIMOTHY ALDEN TO DELIVER FOUND- ERS' DAY ADDRESS

Unusual interest will be taken in the annual Founders' Day exercises this year, when it is known that the principal speaker of the day is a great-grandson of Timothy Alden, the founder of Allegheny College. Dr. Charles M. Bakewell, who received his education at the Universities of California, Harvard, Berlin, Strassburg and Paris, and who at the present time is a professor of Philosophy at Yale University, will deliver the Founders' Day Address on Saturday, April 24.

Warren P. Blodgett, '21, is a graduate student at the University of Chicago, where he holds a fellowship.

ATHLETIC PASTOR URGES SPORTSMANSHIP IN LIFE

NEW YORK DAILY PRINTS STORY
OF LIFE OF DOCTOR F. M.
KERR, '88

"Be a sport," urges Doctor Frank Melville Kerr, '88, the athletic pastor of Christ's First Presbyterian Church of Hempstead, Long Island, according to an article in the New York World. He is a great sportsman, and he takes as many texts from sports as from the Bible. This is one of his characteristics, that have made him a unique figure in the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church of America.

While he was attending Allegheny College, he was a leader in both athletic and literary circles. After he was graduated from Allegheny in 1888, he went to Union Theological Seminary. He received his first call from Christ's First Presbyterian Church, Hempstead, which is the oldest Presbyterian Church in America. He had a difficult problem to face, as the church was in heavy debt and there were just a few parishioners. He went to work with all the relentlessness of his college days, organizing clubs and teams and enlarging his church. During the war his church was a headquarters for the Red Cross. He served in the war and was the oldest chaplain in the service.

Today he is the leading citizen in Hempstead. He is an officer in several clubs and civic organizations, and his church is practically out of debt. But he still has time to talk about sports. "A man in facing life with all its adversities must be a sportsman," he says. "Why do people have to rely entirely on a timid faith? They ought to have a vigorous faith and apply it vigorously to life. People should remember that they can't lose considering the fact that they start out with nothing. The great conflict comes with eternity. There's where we've got to be sportsmen of a sport—when we confront eternity."

COLLEGE BAND TO APPEAR AT SENIOR CLASS PLAY

MUSICIANS TO PLAY AT SENIOR
PLAY AND TO TRAVEL OUT OF TOWN

Practicing two days a week, Monday and Thursday, in the Y. M. C. A. room at Cochran Hall, at 3:45, the Allegheny College Band is making preparations for several concerts to be given at home and out of town.

The band intends to play for the Senior Class play, "Charley's Aunt," that is to be staged in the High School Auditorium for two evenings, March 4 and 5. A home concert in one of the churches of Meadville will also be arranged for the early part of March. Besides the home concert, the band is planning a trip to the northern part of the state, where they will appear twice in three days at different towns.

The band intends to carry a complete outfit of thirty pieces on these trips. The program will be divided into two parts, featuring novelty numbers and Allegheny College songs, as well as the regular band music.

W. G. MEAD, EX-'80, DIED AT DU- QUESNE, PA., AFTER ILLNESS OF SEVERAL MONTHS

Wesley Gilbert Mead, ex-'86, Ph. D., '97, for 40 years an active member of the Pittsburgh Conference, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. J. Osborne, Duquesne, Pa., February 3, after an illness of several months.

Doctor Mead entered Allegheny with the class of '86, coming from the Central High School of his native city, Erie, Pa. Before completing his college work, he went to work with the Railroad Y. M. C. A. at Corry, and from there he went into the Pittsburgh Conference, where he served continuously until shortly before his death, with the exception of the years 1917-1919, when he was pastor of the First Methodist Church, Montpelier, Vt.

During the early years of his ministry, he pursued the course given at that time by the college which led to the degree of Ph. D., which was granted him in 1897.

He is survived by his widow, his daughter, Mrs. Osborne, and two sons, Gilbert Wilcox Mead, '11, Dean of Birmingham-Southern College, Birmingham, Ala., and Charles A. Mead, ex-'16, who left college to enter service in France, and who has been since the war with the Halsey-Stuart Co., Wall Street, New York.

Work has begun upon a new dormitory for freshmen at Harvard University.

LINCOLN DAY EXHIBIT DISPLAYED IN LIBRARY

COLLECTION OF BOOKS INCLUDES
SEVERAL BY ALLEGHENY
GRADUATES

A large Lincoln Day exhibit was placed in the display case in the main room of the College Library last week. The exhibit consisted of several books and newspaper articles relating to Lincoln's life and his public work.

"In the Footsteps of the Lincolns," and "Abraham Lincoln," by Ida M. Tarbell, '80, were two of the best works in the collection. Lincoln's own story of his life, which was written for the campaign of 1860, was shown in a February 7, 1909, issue of The New York Times. Along with this old copy was placed the February 7, 1926, issue of the same paper, which contained a copied portrait of Lincoln.

"The Life of Abraham Lincoln," by William E. Baily, contains a facsimile of Mr. Lincoln's autographed copy of the Gettysburg Address, made by him for the Soldiers' and Sailors' Fair at Baltimore in 1864.

The display also included "A Man of the Ages," by Irving Bacheller, and the two volumes by Wayne Whipple, '77, "The Story of Young Abraham Lincoln," and "The Heart of Lincoln." The latter book is an intimate life story and contains a calendar of the martyr president from the date of his birth to his assassination on April 14, 1865.

SUMMER SESSION NUMBER OF BULLETIN PUBLISHED

ANNUAL NUMBER CONTAINS COM-PLETE INFORMATION ON BUSINESS SCHOOL

The annual edition of the College Bulletin relating to the general summer session of the college, which will open on June 21, was distributed last week.

The issue contains a calendar for the term, a list of the faculty, courses, views of the campus, and general information. Twenty-four courses will be offered.

The courses are especially adapted to the needs of teachers preparing to meet the state requirements for certification. All courses offered in education are accepted as meeting these requirements. Rather than sacrifice preparation in the subjects which the student intends to teach, it may be advisable for the student to do much of his work in this department during the summer.

The purpose of the school, however, is to give work primarily to the following classes of students: Teachers who desire a better training for their work in the class room, or who are preparing to meet the requirements for the various teachers' certificates; college students who desire to obtain advanced college credits or to remove conditions; high school students desiring to remove entrance conditions to college, or who may wish to obtain advanced credits for the purpose of enabling them to receive a degree in less than four years; and any person who may desire to enter the courses for the purpose of self-government.

Anyone desirous of further information should apply to Dr. Charles J. Ling, Director of the Summer Session, Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB SINGS IN LOCAL M. E. CHURCH

The Men's Glee Club of Allegheny College was represented in "Allegheny Night" at Old Stone Church last Sunday evening, February 14. Due to initiations, sickness and other reasons, many of the members of the club were unable to attend.

Announcement is made that in the near future the quartet of the club will make a trip to Cleveland, where they will appear before the Allegheny Alumni Association of that city. The date of the trip is not definitely decided.

The singers are making preparations for a concert tour, which will be made in the vicinity of Pittsburgh in the month of March. Regular rehearsals will begin this week.

NOTICE

All alumni residing in the Cleveland area are hereby notified that the Annual dinner of the Cleveland Allegheny Club, which was announced for February 27, has been postponed until further notice.

Among the freshmen at the University of Boston is a retired business man who is 76 years old.

A JOB FOR NATHAN HALE

The small number of the members of the Men's Glee Club that turn out for rehearsals and recitals was called to our attention during the past week. This fact is just an example of the condition that exists in all our activities, with the exception of athletics. We will exclude athletics from our discussion because they are on an entirely different basis from the other activities of the College.

The publications, the musical organizations, the departmental clubs, all suffer from a lack of interest. The first two groups are kept alive by a desire for prestige and experience; the departmental clubs struggle along because of the interest of the professors involved. In all cases does the majority of the work fall on a very few. It is entirely conceivable that sometime there may be no Kaldron or no Glee Club worthy of the name. We are led to believe that in the good old days such organizations grew and waxed prosperous; today they approach mediocrity, and in some cases verge on extinction.

There is something wrong somewhere, and we are not sure that we know where the trouble lies.

It may be that there are too many extra-curricular organizations for the number of students interested in them. There appears to be a definite inner circle within the student body who do all of the activities work of that body. When we find a man interested in, or at least affiliated with one organization, we are rather certain to find he has similar connections with one or more other organizations. Then, on the other hand, there are at least sixty per cent of the students who have no interest in any activity.

With such a condition prevailing, we can explain the weaknesses of our extra-curricular activities on the grounds of non-support from the majority of the student body and inability of the remainder to perform their many duties well.

There is no hope for salvation in the non-supporting element. There will always be those students who come to college for book-learning alone. There will always be those who come merely for the purpose of spending their respective fathers' money, and who cannot be expected to be interested in anything else.

Similarly, the forty per cent has too much to take care of now. The average student, after spending a rational amount of time on his studies, his social obligations, his fraternity, and one or two major activities, has little left for the various other organizations to which he belongs. He may be able to attend a meeting or a rehearsal now and then, but his necessarily transient interest does probably more harm than good. He cannot be depended upon to attend the next meeting or the next rehearsal. Should he attempt to participate in all his activities, he makes a mess of the whole thing because he does just a little bit of everything and does not perform any task well.

It appears, then, that there are too many outside activities in this college. Is it not better to have five strong organizations than ten weak ones? Would it not be better for Allegheny to be represented by a real glee club made up of members who are now dividing their time between the glee club, the band, and a few departmental clubs?

Let us assume that our reasoning up to this point has been sound. Then the next logical step is to determine which of our activities are to be thrown into the discard. But here we strike a stone wall. What department will abandon its club? Parenthetically we might say some departments are even supporting two organizations, the weakest part of the entire extra-curricular system. But to continue, what publication will give up the ghost so that others might be strengthened? And so on.

Here is an opportunity for some groups to do a valuable piece of work for Allegheny, by playing the martyr.

TAKE A BULB HOME WITH YOU

One very efficient service which Allegheny College seems to be rendering some of its students is that of supplying them with electric light bulbs. And that this is truly a great service cannot be denied; for the poor, struggling college man, endeavoring to make both ends meet, needs every possible money-saving device to aid him. Consequently, think what it means to him not to have any worries about buying electric light bulbs for his room. When the bulb in the study lamp begins showing signs of burning out it can easily be replaced by a neat little frosted bulb from a certain building on the campus. These frosted globes are just the thing to study by. Or, if the maza in the main room light plays out, there are several places on the Hill where 200 watt bulbs may be easily and quickly obtained.

Of course, it costs the College money to keep all the buildings supplied with electric bulbs, but who needs the money more, the College or the student? Thirty or forty cents is thirty or forty cents, and if the poor, struggling, needy, hard-up college man can save himself this sum at the expense of someone else, why not do it? It doesn't cost much to pay the salaries of a large faculty, and of various secretaries, clerks and others employed by the College, keep up expenses and repairs on a new $125,000 heating plant, furnish upkeep for eleven buildings, feed three hundred hungry girls and one hundred hungry freshmen men, besides expending money for countless other things, far too numerous to mention in this limited space. Furthermore, getting large endowment funds is as easy as going out and picking dollar bills from the trees about the campus, while the large sum of money collected from the students as tuition practically takes care of all expenses itself.

Stolen bulbs probably run into considerable expense for the College, but again we ask you, who needs the money more, the College or the poor, struggling student?

By a vote of 1,709 to 315 the students of Pennsylvania State College showed their overwhelming disapproval of compulsory chapel attendance.

Ohio State University is planning to improve its football field by covering it with canvas, which will keep the field in good condition for all games.

KAMPUS KOMMENTS

The great game that the basketball team played at Grove City last Friday is worthy of a little comment and no end of commendation. The makeshift aggregation, that was the result of the mid-semester exams, put up a remarkable fight against the strongest team in the section. We wonder if Coach Baker's claim, that his team is the only organization in the college that is free from fraternity politics, has anything to do with the spirit of the members of that team.

If the basketball team can accomplish so much more with fraternity feeling obliterated, or, at least, subordinated to such an extent that it is not noticeable, to what heights could our other organizations rise under the same system? To think for a moment what possibilities and opportunities could be opened up by the elimination of the group-feeling curse is inspiring. We wish Coach Baker had time to teach the secret of his system to the entire college.

To offset the above comment a little, it would be only fair to mention that the fraternities are taking turn about watching the corners on Arch street, so the kids of the town can go coasting safely. We hope that such excellent service will be continued, or rather that the various groups let this be but a beginning.

Doctor Lackland, the new pastor of the Stone Church, has made quite a hit with the college students. Maybe he can solve the chapel problem for us.

That reminds us of that resolution that was drawn up by a group of students concerning the chapel service and condemning parts of it. This resolution was to be presented to the entire student body for rejection or ratification. Now, we don't want to appear impertinent nor inquisitive, but could anyone tell us just what became of that resolution? Things of that nature have a habit of becoming lost.

The Summer Catalogue Number of the College Bulletin has just come off the press, dated November, 1925. We wonder is anyone would miss The Campus if it were not published for a month or so.

The biggest problem that the newly-initiated fraternity man has to face is, "Shall I keep my double-breasted coat buttoned and appear well-dressed, or is it worth-while to forget my good looks and keep the coat open in order to display my shining badge?"

Y. M. C. A. COLUMN

"IF COURTESY WERE APPRECIATED AND UNDERSTOOD—"

A great deal of the criticism being levelled at our chapel services is not legitimate criticism of the chapel itself, but rather of the students. If a visitor were to enter our chapel between 10:10 and 10:30 (and, by the way, some do, and carry away in consequence an extremely unfavorable opinion of the college and its student body), he would, if not entirely blind, note some very glaring examples of antisocial actions, breaches of good conduct and politeness, which are simply not permitted anywhere where people of refinement and good breeding associate with each other. No man nor woman of the college would think of doing the same things in his own home, nor would their parents permit it. Our visitor sees talking and laughing when our very efficient chapel organist, of whom the college is rightly proud, is playing with all his might, in the hope that somehow he might be heard over the noise of entering students; he sees two students translating a language assignment while Doctor Church plays an organ recital. He sees students reading or talking when a noted speaker or the president of the college has the floor.

Actions like these are infractions of the most elementary rules of courtesy and politeness and are sometimes found in children, but are unworthy of grownups. They are to be classed with all other antisocial conduct and are pursued in direct violation of the rights of fellow students who desire to make the best use of chapel.

It is our candid opinion that if the administration and faculty would let it be known often enough and forcibly enough that it did not intend to encourage any Alleghenian in a constant breach of courtesy, our chapel would undergo 100 per cent improvement; those who wish would enjoy the service; and more people who graduate from Allegheny would be ladies and gentlemen in the best sense of those words.

COLLEGE LIBRARY ADDS HUNDRED NEW BOOKS

NEW INSTALLMENT INCLUDES
GIFT OF CALIFORNIA MAN

Over a hundred new books have been added to the College Library during the past month. Seventeen of the new volumes came as gifts of Doctor Haynes of California, through the assistance of Paul Blanchard, who visited the college last fall. Several of the new books were purchased for the Physics, Chemistry and Biology departments and are now to be found in the respective libraries of these departments.

One of the most important volumes among the gift of Doctor Haynes is "The Story of Utopias," by Lewis Mumford. This book comes as a supplement to the stories of mankind that have been written during the last few years. It rejects the current philosophies of conservatism and of radicalism, and is, in the opinion of several of the best minds of America, one of the illuminating challenges to fresh thinking on any subject.

"Modern Business Geography," by Ellesworth Huntington, research associate in geography at Yale, and Summer W. Cushing of the State Normal School at Salem, Mass., presents geography from the economic standpoint, showing how the world's work is accomplished and how it is affected by geographic conditions. The book is illustrated by a hundred maps and eighty-four photographs.

"Life of Racine," by Mary Duclaux, gives a complete biography of the great French writer. Every phase of the noted writer's life is put before the reader, who, for the first time, perhaps, is enabled to realize how clearly his plays reflected the society of his time. The four divisions of this work are: Youth, The Theatre, The Prodigal's Return and The Poet of the Bible.

The set of four volumes of the Novel Prize book, "The Peasants," by Ladislav Raymont, has also been purchased. The set is named according to the seasons and is primarily an epic of the soil. Rupert Hughes, in The International Book Review, says that "The Peasants" is the greatest Polish contribution to literature since 'Quo Vadis?'

"Germany," by G. P. Gooch, is a new work, and as reported by the London Times, is a very valuable and remarkable book on modern Germany. In this volume is set down all that can be honestly said of the Germans, and their policies during the last half century. The author, who is a very distinguished historian, considers the German nature and discusses intelligently her hopes for the future.

MENU CARD ON ERIE CONTAINS
FACSIMILE OF WASHINGTON-
LAFAYETTE MEMORIAL

During the past winter the Erie Railroad Dining Car menu has contained an exact copy of the inscription of the Washington-Lafayette memorial of Allegheny College on the last page of the card. Permission to use a facsimile of the inscription on the tablet was granted through the courtesy of Don M. Larabee, donor of the memorial.

ADDITIONAL HALL NOTES

A formal Valentine Party was given to the girls of Allegheny College under the capable supervision of the Student Council, Monday, February 15. A delicious dinner with appropriate Valentine decorations, was served at 6. The girls were then permitted to choose their evening's entertainment between bridge in the living room and dancing in the gym.

The peppy "Troubadours" aided the dancers in their merrymaking. Heart shaped boxes of candy served as favors to those skillful at cards. During the course of the evening, the contents of a Valentine box were distributed. The party was a decided success, especially in one respect—that of having the town girls become better acquainted with the Hall girls and their activities.

ALUMNI NOTES

Mrs. Lyda M. Hild announces the marriage of her daughter, Margaret Eleanor Hild, ex-'23, to Norman B. Tannehill, ex-'22, on February 1, at St. Petersburg, Fla.

C. Leo Sutton, '24, who is a graduate student at the Pennsylvania University Law School, was recently appointed to the Board of Editors of The Law Review. The Board consists of eleven men selected from the entire school.

Frieda Schnell, '21, of North Tonawanda, N. Y., was the guest of Allegheny friends over the week-end.

Rev. C. A. McEntarfer, '20, formerly having a charge at Muskegon, Mich., is now located at Bannister, Mich., at the head of the Bannister-Ashley Parish. The plan in Michigan of grouping the small churches together in a parish under one strong preacher and a number of associates is proving very successful.

SENIOR-SOPH WIN GAMES
IN INTER-CLASS LEAGUE

FIRST HALF OF SEASON FINDS NO TEAM UNDEFEATED—JUNIORS AND FROSH LEAD

The first half of the inter-class basketball series was concluded at the college gym Saturday, Feb. 13, when the Juniors took a 22-21 decision from the Seniors, and the Sophomores nosed out the Frosh, 19-18. Although both frays were decided by a one-point margin, the game between the two younger classes proved to be the most interesting and the harder-fought of the two.

The Junior-Senior struggle was marred by numerous fouls and time-out periods, the first quarter ending with a tie score, 5-5. The next period was also listless and at half-time the Juniors led, 12-10. With the beginning of the second half, the game took on a more lively aspect, and the Seniors garnered three field goals and a foul point, while the best the third year men could do was to make four free throws. This put the Seniors one point in the lead, 17-16. In the final stanza, the score was soon tied at 19-19, only to be broken when the Juniors made a free throw and Stewart added a two-pointer. With the score in their favor, 22-19, the Juniors attempted "freezing" tactics, but Hanlon came through with a pretty two-pointer that made the score, at the final whistle, 22-21 on the Junior's side of the ledger. Each of the third year men shot a field goal, while the Seniors, with the exception of Riemer, made two apiece. In foul points, the Seniors made 5 out of 8, and the Juniors, 12 out of 23.

In the second match, both teams showed good teamwork and passing, with the Sophs doing a little more fouling than the Frosh. Leffingwell's pretty basket was the only tally for the second-year five during the initial period, while the Freshmen made five points. In the second period the Sophs continued to be called for fouls, but managed to lead at the half, 7-6. Cossman started the third quarter off with a two-pointer, followed by Leffingwell's field goal to give the Sophs the advantage, 11-6. The Frosh overcame this lead to tie the count at 13-13, and then stepped ahead, 15-13 as the period ended. At the start of the last stanza, Leffingwell evened things up, 15-15, and the struggle became even harder fought than before. Leffingwell's pretty marker from past the center of the floor gave the Sophs an 18-15 count. During the last three minutes the Freshmen made three points while the Sophs were making one, but Corbin missed a free throw and a chance to tie, and the Sophs were awarded the decision, 19-18. Leffingwell, with six field goals, easily led the Sophomore scoring, with Fickinger playing a nice floor game. Corbin and Davis were the first-year men's best performers. The Frosh made 6 out of 19 fouls, and the Sophs 1 out of 6.

Standing of teams:
Freshmen 2 1 .666
Juniors 2 1 .666
Seniors 1 2 .333
Sophomores 1 2 .333

THREE MATCHES PLAYED
AS VOLLEY BALL STARTS

PHI DELTS, SIGS, PHI ALPHA KAPPA WIN CONTESTS OF FIRST ROUND

Allegheny's Inter-Fraternity Volley Ball League began on Wednesday, February 11, with three well-played contests. Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Alpha Kappa emerged victorious over Phi Kappa Psi, Beta Upsilon and Delta Tau Delta, respectively. Phi Gamma Delta and Alpha Chi Rho failed to play, and the Non-Fraternity team drew a bye.

In the first match of the afternoon Phi Alpha Kappa took two hard-earned games from Delta Tau Delta. The excellent playing of E. Cossman for the victors and Duff McGill for the Deltas kept both games even at all times. The final scores were 15-10 and 15-13. Lineups: Phi Alpha Kappa—Strabley, Benton, Anderson, Shafer, Meyers, E. Cossman. Delta Tau Delta—Fiscus, Smith, Devereaux, D. McGill, E. McGill, Hobough.

In the Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Beta Upsilon contest the latter, after taking a 15-1 walloping in the first game, rallied to give the Sigs no end of trouble to win the second game, which ended 15-13.

Line-ups: Sigma Alpha Epsilon—Hibbs, Moon, J. Hartman, Evans, Joselyn, Moore. Beta Upsilon—Sample, Isenbarg, Ellis, Rignall, Richards.

Phi Delta Theta, the last year's champs, demonstrated their ability by defeating Phi Kappa Psi 15-7, 17-5, in two uneventful contests.

Next Wednesday's schedule:
Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Non-Fraternity.

Delta Tau Delta vs. Phi Delta Theta. Phi Gamma Delta vs. Beta Upsilon. Phi Kappa Psi vs. Alpha Chi Rho.

GROVERS WIN WITH RALLY
IN LAST MINUTE OF PLAY

WEAKENED ALLEGHENY TEAM SURPRISES WITH WONDERFUL WORK, SCORE 26-17

Only a last-minute scoring spurt on the part of the veteran and powerful Grove City basketball team enabled them to win over Coach Baker's weakened Blue and Gold team at Grove City on Friday, February 12. Dopesters gave Allegheny little or no chance of even holding the Crimson on equal terms, but Allegheny upset all predictions by playing the Grovers to a standstill until the final minutes of the last half. Hartman of Grove City was the main cause of the scoring spurt that won the game, his field goals and fouls clinching the hard-fought battle.

Held to one lone field goal during all of the first half, while Coach Thorne's team made four, accurate foul shooting kept the Blue and Gold in the running during that period. However, Grove City experienced considerable difficulty in getting started, the score standing at 3-all at the end of eleven minutes of play. Both teams were guarding closely and neither had much opportunity to shoot. The second half saw Allegheny creeping rapidly to within one point of their opponents, Captain McClurg and Rhodes breaking into the scoring column with pretty field goals. The score stood 14-13, Grove City, with about half of the last period over. From that point on the game was a see-saw affair; 14-13, 15-14, 16-15, 18-15, 18-17, was the way the scoring ran. Allegheny held the advantage once at 16-15. Hartman went back in the game for Murphy at this point, however, and it was then that the experience of the Crimson outfit began to having telling effect. Rose scored both ends of a double foul; Hartman scored a pretty field goal and followed it up with another. Fouled on this shot, he counted both free throws, making the score 26-17, as the final whistle blew.

Captain McClurg, Rhodes and Hartman played well for Allegheny, Hartman's defense work against the giant Grove City centers, Fay and Gilliam, being of high order. Hartman and Ross starred for the Crimson.

The score:
ALLEGHENY 17 GROVE CITY 26
Cossman F Stevens
McClurg F Hartman
Hartman C Fay
Cibula G Hoffman
Rhodes G Ross
Scoring—Allegheny: Field goals—McClurg 3, Rhodes 2. Fouls—7 out of 12. Grove City: Field goals—Hartman 3, Stevens 2, Rose, Fay, Guerra. Substitutions—Allegheny, Yengst for Cossman. Grove City, Murphy for Hartman, Hartman for Murphy, Guerra for Hoffman, Rose for Guerra. Time of halves, 20 minutes. Referee—Cal Bolster.

SCHOOL OF PRACTICAL CHRISTIANITY HOLDS REGULAR SUNDAY MEETING

The Allegheny School of Practical Christianity held its regular meeting last Sunday, February 14. The services were led by Superintendent Clarence Avey.

Due to the absence of Dr. J. R. Schultz, Mr. R. O. Barber conducted his class and led a discussion on examinations and the usefulness of the "honor system."

The class, under the direction of Dr. W. F. Woodring, discussed a lesson on the tenth chapter of John, the portion known as the "Twenty-third Psalm of the New Testament." This class is regularly studying a series of lessons taken from the Gospel of John. Mrs. Woodring's class is studying methods of work in the church school, especially among people of high school age. The graded lessons, used in many schools, and methods of presenting them are now under discussion.

As soon as the organ in the Chapel is repaired, organ music will be a feature of the services.

PASTOR OF STONE CHURCH SPEAKS AT WEEKLY MEETING OF Y. M. C. A.

That religion and industry go hand in hand was the general essence of the talk given by Dr. George S. Lackland, pastor of the Stone Church, to a group of students at the weekly Y. M. C. A. meeting held in the basement of Cochran Hall last Wednesday evening, February 10. Dr. Lackland emphasized the fact that the working men are oftentimes not accredited with the amount of Christian work that they do; he said that most of the laboring men foster high principles and do many good deeds without realizing that they are doing them. It was brought out that there was still a great deal of work along Christian training to be done among this class. Dr. Lackland pictured conditions existing in many of the settlements of the laboring class. He showed the opportunity to give Christian service, especially the opportunities open to the college-trained man in this field.
