Mr. E. W. Thomson,

R. D. 3,

Brookville, O.

My dear Mr. Thomson:

Thank you very much for your letter of Nov. 13, enclosing the letter from the President of Monmouth College.

I am glad to have this information. The honor of being the first college that admitted women is in dispute. I felt certain of course when I wrote the article to which you refer that I had the correct facts. Two or three letters which I have received since have given me additional material which if they do not prove me wrong in the first place, at least add interesting facts which I shall incorporate into my book when it finally comes out. The point you send about Monmouth will be among these.

I am glad that you like my November tariff article. I propose to keep these up as long as they seem to be of any use. The tariff is a difficult problem and because of its difficulties, clever and greedy men have used it to do many grave wrongs. It seems to me it is the duty of all of us to get to work and clear it up.

Thanking you again for your letter, believe me

Very sincerely yours,

Edna M. Tarbell
