

A Message From President Pelletier

To the members of the Class of 1959:

I am happy to have this opportunity to be among the first to welcome you to Allegheny College.

The next four years will be exciting ones. You will be a member of a liberal arts college with a great intellectual heritage. You will have your defeats, but you will be dealing with ideas, some of them new to you, and I hope that you will feel the humility and loneliness which invariably attack the scholar attempting to master an intellectual tradition and that you will feel the exhilaration of intellectual achievement. You will learn the value of self discipline, and the necessity for a proper balance of the mind, will, and body. Above all, we hope that you will find good thinking contagious.

The faculty expects much from you. Education, to a very considerable extent, is what you can accomplish for yourself rather than what some one can offer you. Remember always that the real value of the college to you will depend upon the degree to which you identify yourself with it.

But all your experience here will not be intellectual. You will make many close friends among your fellow students and the faculty. Already you are sharing certain common experiences with members of your class. Soon you will broaden these to include all members of the college community. Make the most of them. Participation in athletics and in the wide range of available campus activities is invaluable training in working with others.

The college is a democratic society. It is anxious to extend to you the fullest opportunity for self-development, both in the classroom and in extra-curricular affairs. But these opportunities can be most fruitful only if you, in turn, assume the social and intellectual responsibilities of a college community. These responsibilities must be accepted both by the class as a collective body and by you as an individual member.

Again, welcome to Allegheny. May these next four years open doors to the great thinkers of all ages. May they stimulate an intellectual curiosity which will never be gratified fully. May they teach you to respect and support those traditions which distinguish us as human beings.

Lawrence L. Pelletier
President, Allegheny College

Large Freshman Class Enrolled; Variety Characterizes Group

Down in Bentley, where the wheels of the college reside, is a very special set of cards. They're white or salmon and covered on both sides with typing and ink check marks and there are over three hundred of them. The reason they're so many and so important is the fact that they tell the story of one of the biggest and best classes Allegheny College will ever have—the class of '59—your class.

These cards and the folders you've filled out show a great variety of names, interests, cities, and ambitions. Alphabetically, the class of '59 is pretty well represented, ranging from William Jay Abbaticchio of Ellwood City, who easily heads the list, to Miss Saralane Zehrung of Oil City, who straggles along at the very end. Both, oddly enough, live fairly close to Meadville. Students minded their P's well and still managed by one person, to watch their Q's but completely forgot to be named an I or a U.

Geographical Distribution

Geographically there is a certain distribution also. The student coming from the farthest away in the United States is Amy Kanemitsu, an education major from the territory of Hawaii. Perhaps she won't feel so lonely here if she can discuss pineapples, orchids, and ukulelis with Meadville's own Aloha Deane Lint. Others from overseas are Mssrs. Skattam from Norway and Kim from Korea, who both got an assist from the annual Carnival Fund Drive. The '59 legislature will be predominated by over 193 Pennsylvanians, 28 Ohioans, 60 Empire Staters, and 20 New Jerseyans, but there will also be William Haskell of Maine, sombrero-swinging Judith Ann Jolly from deepest Texas, and four people from Washington, D.C. Massachusetts and Maryland 2 each send one delegate. Pittsburgh has a total of 36 representatives. Several will commute, such as the 21 home towners, but these will be around for the sports and projects also.

It's a very talented group coming campus. Jane Berger, for example, edited her High School yearbook. A good frosh band could be formed. There are several trumpetists and cool sax-players even if the class runs heavily toward pianos. Sorry, there aren't quite 31 pianos to go around and you'll have to take turns. With the choirists and the

Counseling Center Services Offered To All Students

According to studies carried out here, many students come to college lacking adequate study skills. In fact, freshmen classes have recently reported that their common problem was learning how to study efficiently. Working with students to develop better study habits is part of the function of the Counseling Center, which co-ordinates testing and faculty advising.

Dr. William P. Wharton, Director of Counseling, extends a welcome to students to drop in to the Counseling Center in Bentley Hall for help in study skills, vocational goals, or in confidential problems of a personal nature.

Need Efficient Ways

Dr. Wharton stated in a recent interview: "The need for learning more efficient ways of coping with college studies is only natural. For one soon discovers that high school homework 'was never like this.' How a student takes notes, and how he goes about reading the texts in his courses, play an important part in the grades he achieves. In fact, a number of students have pulled themselves out of academic probation by learning better how to think clearly in solving problems. For freshmen, particularly, college requires many new adjustments.

"This whole business of learning to make the most of one's abilities is, in reality, a preparation for life. It is in this area that the Faculty Adviser, the Classroom Teachers, the Resident Advisers, the Counseling Center, the Personnel Deans, the Health Center, the Speech and Hearing Center, the Physical Education Department — in fact, all the facilities of the college stand ready to help Allegheny students succeed.

Allegheny Greets Freshmen Class

The Class of '58 Enjoying the Orientation Week Dance

Orientation Week To Acquaint Frosh; Class of '59 Arrives September 11th

Orientation Week, designed to acquaint the incoming freshmen with Allegheny and her institutions, will begin Sunday, September 11, at 12:30 P.M. with a cafeteria luncheon for students and their parents. Immediately following the luncheon, tours of the campus will be led by Cwens. The Cwens, sophomore honorary service organization, will be on hand all week to help all freshmen. A freshman banquet at Brooks Hall will climax the day. The president, Lawrence L. Pelletier, will speak. At 7:30 P.M. the freshmen will meet with their faculty advisers and at 9:15 P.M. there will be a vesper service at Ford Memorial Chapel.

Frosh, Faculty Advisers To Meet After Banquet

Incoming Allegheny freshmen will have an opportunity to become acquainted with their faculty advisers following the opening banquet on Sunday, September 11 between 7:30 and 8:30 P.M.

Advisers will wear nameplates and will be in the Pine Room or Lounge of Brooks Hall after dinner. Upperclass students will be on hand to assist freshmen in locating their advisers. At that time faculty advisers will schedule registration conferences for Wednesday, or for Thursday morning, so as to complete freshmen registration by noon Thursday.

Band, Music Tryouts To Be Held First Week

All freshmen eligible for the college band are to meet for tryouts on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday (September 14, 15, 16) afternoons from 4 to 5 P.M. in the music building.

Those interested in playing with the College Orchestra (Sinfonietta) meet at the Music Building Thursday, Sept. 15, at 4 p.m.

Girls interested in majorette work are to report at the Monday meeting. If any freshman boy has had drum-major experience and is interested in continuing, he is also requested to report to the Monday meeting.

Freshmen who did not receive a letter but would like to try out for the band are encouraged to do so by the director.

Tryout times for Sinfonietta, chapel Choir, Men's Glee Club, and the Allegheny College Singers are listed in the Orientation Program.

Most of the mornings from September 12 through September 16 will be examination and testing periods for all freshmen. Examinations are designed to find strengths and weaknesses in terms of a freshman's stated goal. His faculty adviser will have these test results to use as aids in determining course choices and needed help such as in reading skills. The examinations attempt to measure study skills, level of educational achievement, aptitudes for various academic and vocational fields, and vision, hearing, and speech skills.

Exemption Tests To Be Monday, September 19

Exemption tests for G-courses will be given Monday, September 19 at 2:30 p.m. in the Counseling Center.

If a student is already proficient in the material covered in one of the G-courses, he may take an exemption test in this field. Passing the test exempts him from the requirement of the course, but does not give academic credit-hours. Tests are offered in September and March of each year.

A student who is considering one of these tests should first consult his adviser and the instructor in charge of the course, and then register for the test with Mr. Ross, in Bentley 206. Following is a list of the courses and the instructor in charge of each.

G-1 Communication. Mr. Hurlburt, Arter West Basement.

G-2 Organism and Environment. Mr. Bugbee, Alden 109.

G-4 The Physical World. Mr. Parsons, Alden 215.

G-5 Introduction to Literature. Mr. Seely, Arter K.

G-6 Introduction to the Arts. Mr. Neurath, Music Building 202.

G-7 Ideas and Institutions of Western Society. Mr. Cares, Arter 103.

G-8 Problems of the Modern World. Mr. Merrick, Quigley 113.

G-9 The World of Values. Mr. Lindley, Arter F.

Most of the evenings between 9 and 11 will be devoted to house and section meetings. The freshmen will meet the various representatives of the student government (AUC) and the women's government (AWS). At this time they will elect their own sectional officers. Any problems or questions concerning any phase of life at Allegheny will be discussed at these get-togethers.

Benjamin to Speak

On Thursday afternoon, September 14, there will be an opportunity for new students to get acquainted with the different fields of study offered at Allegheny. In addition, preprofessional or special interest groups will meet to give information to freshmen concerning the requirements and the courses of studies leading to certain fields of concentration. Another banquet will be with Professor Philip Benjamin, Librarian of Reis Library, who will

VACATIONS AND EXAMINATIONS. SUBSCRIPTION PRICE $3.00 PER YEAR.

A Welcome from AUC

Dear Fellow-Alleghenians,

When I wrote you this summer, I said I hoped to see you all in the fall. Now both you and I are full-fledged Alleghenians and we, the upperclassmen, are glad to have you with us.

This week will certainly be a busy one and we want to give you as much help as possible in making you feel at home. Allegheny will be your home away from home for the next few years. These years will be some of the best of your lives, so make the best possible use of your time here and you will have a successful college career.

Bill Regan

You will be the leaders of Allegheny within the next few years and being Alleghenians, we know you will do a fine job. To do the job we expect of you, you must learn to act for the good of the college community as a whole. At times, you will be slightly bewildered by the numerous activities. But don't worry, everyone is at first. Soon you will learn what it is to be an Alleghenian, with its academic life, its traditions, and its social life.

Through your freshman cabinet which you will soon organize, you will be introduced to student government which will enable you to lead yourselves through your first year. Participate in your student government; it is for all of you. This is the only way your government can function for the best interests of all concerned. This is the purpose of the Allegheny Undergraduate Council, to govern students as they want to be governed, and to develop in you a sense of responsibility for all here at Allegheny. You will have a say in what affects you, because we want to lead you as you wish to be led. Never for a moment forget this responsibility we give to you, to make and keep Allegheny College the great democratic institution it has been.

And so, to you, our new fellow students and future leaders, we wish the best for your years at Allegheny.

Sincerely,

Bill Regan

President, Allegheny Undergraduate Council

... and AWS

Dear Freshmen,

Welcome to Allegheny! Maybe this is a trite phrase but believe me, it is said with the sincerest feelings in mind. As you will soon discover for yourselves, many pleasant experiences and the warmest of Allegheny welcomes awaits your arrival on campus.

Each individual on the college campus regards himself as a member of the Allegheny family. You, as its newest members will be the recipients of many gestures of friendliness. These overtures of welcome and friendship are made in the truest sense of the Allegheny spirit.

Lynn Blanning

Alleghenians try to translate the knowledge gained from books into a living wisdom of action toward their fellowmen.

College, like all of life, is only what you make it. As students and members of the college community, your contribution will determine your dividends. If you show enthusiasm and a willingness to accept the responsibilities which will be yours, then you will be helping yourselves and others to a rich and happy life. In exercising the privileges of democratic living you are continuing the Allegheny tradition which will go down through the years to make rich and gracious the life of the students of Allegheny College.

Again, I say "welcome" to the Allegheny College Community! May you come to nurture a deep feeling of loyalty, love, and reverence for this institution, as have so many of her undergraduates, alumni, and faculty. Best wishes for a four years at Allegheny.

Sincerely,

Lynn Blanning

President of A.W.S.

THE CAMPUS NEEDS YOU!

If your interests run toward journalism or just plain newspaper work, here is your chance!! The Campus needs you.

The Campus office on the second floor of Cochran Hall will be the scene of a meeting on Sunday, September 18, at 2 P.M. At this time Editor-in-Chief, Bob Siemons, and members of the staff will discuss openings on the college publication.

There are opportunities from business to editorial, including reporting, proofreading, feature and sports writing, and makeup. Previous experience is not essential.

If you are interested, but unable to attend the meeting, please get in touch with the Editor. Phone 31-111.

Preliminary Classes Planned For Freshmen

To help freshmen get acquainted with their teachers and give them a preliminary idea of college work and the classes they will take, classes for freshmen only will meet Friday and Saturday, September 16 and 17.

Classes will begin at 8 A.M. on Friday and will be held at the regular times and places (see schedule card). Dean Ross believes it important for all freshmen to attend these meetings. If there is anything about the plans for the course which they do not understand, they are encouraged to ask the teacher about it.

Classes for both freshmen and upperclassmen will begin Monday, September 19 at 8 A.M.

Variety in Group

accordianists, tuba toters, guitarists and drummers the admissions office managed to attract, there will be music floating out of the dorms.

There's further variety in the majors chosen that range from art and music through speech and history to pre-dentistry and chemistry. The men have overwhelmingly picked pre-med (36) and physics or engineering (16) and business (15) while the girls run to teaching and education, especially elementary education (27). We all know, of course that they have to say something such as dramatics or journalism to conceal their real occupation, the great American profession of husband-catching. It's a good year because there's only one married man in the class. If you want veterans, though, you'll only have five to choose from.

From Large Classes

To some, the green little isle of Allegheny's campus will look small indeed. Neil Abramson of Forest Hills, New York, and Francis Riess come from graduating classes in the 860's and will have to ward off claustrophobia in our little nook of only a thousand people. On the other hand, Jane Allen, with a graduating class of 56 in Canisteo Central School, to say nothing of Carl Gleason and Gerald Hood, who have 22 and 21 in theirs, may be lost in the teeming masses. A large number came from classes of under a hundred. 250 is about the average size.

But you'll all fit into the sports and clubs and social groups because you have such a high scholastic average. Look up Ron Boyce, who placed in the top ten in a class of eleven, if you want to see a real brain. A few will have a guiding hand at first from their relatives or close friends who are attending or have graduated from Allegheny. Dorothy Baker and Lawrence Nagle can see brothers here. Others, such as Barbara Hammon, make Allegheny practically a family institution.

New Athletic Policy In Effect; Gator Teams Post Winning Mark

Under a new athletic policy affecting future scheduling of football and basketball opponents, Allegheny will limit its opponents to schools which have adopted a policy of unsubsidized teams in an effort to preserve the best in intercollegiate athletic contests. By unsubsidized we mean teams whose members receive no special college scholarships for participation in intercollegiate athletics, or like benefits such as campus jobs reserved for athletes, nor those admitted or treated differently from other students of the college. This policy implies no criticism of institutions operating under a different system but presumes it will be providing the best kind of evenly-matched and enjoyable rivalry.

Among the intercollegiate teams that are organized and maintained include football, soccer, basketball, swimming, track, tennis, baseball, and golf. The principal objective of the athletic program is to promote and encourage the participation of every able-bodied student in some form of physical activity that will afford immediate educational opportunities as well as encourage students to improve individual skills in sports and games that will serve recreational ends following graduation.

Register Top Record

Last year's record showed 52 victories as against 29 defeats for the 8 different sports. Football (2-6), and track (1-4) showed deficits; but basketball (13-7), swimming (8-2), tennis (11-0), golf (4-2), and baseball (11-2) brought the win percentage to .642, best in recent years.

The football team promises to take on a new life with the presence of new head coach "Red" Moore. Also present will be members who highlighted last year's squad. They include Don Barron, Tom Biggam, Dave Blauch, Roy Cowen, Don Kimmelman, Don McArdle, Tom Reinen, Jim Ryan, and Don Smith.

Among the soccer team members who will be available for this seasons play and have displayed great energy and talent are Bob Banham, Frank Brand, Jack Dobson, Jim Lauffer, Bill Regan, Jay Rudolph, and Don Wigton.

Barron And McArdle Named Grid Captains

Lettermen and lettermen-elect on the Allegheny College football squad met on December 9, 1954 and chose Don Barron and Don McArdle co-captains of the 1955 Gator football team.

Halfback Barron was one of the most potent forces behind the team's improved performance last year as he led the squad in total yards gained, total points scored, was second in pass receptions and was coach Moore's key punter. Weighing 180 pounds, Barron gained 358 yards in 71 hauls for an average of 4.5 yards per carry, scored 22 of the team's 90 points on three touchdowns and four extra points, caught nine passes for 158 yards, and maintained a 30.4 yard punting average in 25 kicks. At Peabody High School in Pittsburgh, Barron earned three letters and to date has accumulated three Block "A's".

What promised to be an outstanding season for end and now co-captain Don McArdle was ended early in the campaign by a leg injury which forced him out of uniform for the remainder of the season. Gator rooters are hopeful that a recent operation will not hinder Don's effectiveness during the impending year. While at St. Justin High School in Pittsburgh, "Mac" lettered four years and captained the St. Justin team in his senior year. Don also has three letters to his credit as a Gator gridder.

speak on the traditions of Allegheny. After this dinner the women will meet with their Junior Adviser with whom they have been corresponding all summer. The "J.A.'s" will help them with any questions or problems that might arise concerning their schedule or scholarship. At this time the men will meet with the ROTC commanders for an orientation meeting.

A Church Open House will be held Wednesday when many of the churches and religious groups in Meadville will hold open house for all Allegheny students.

At Tuesday dinner William Regan, President of the Allegheny Undergraduate Council, will talk about the students' government at Allegheny, and the student leaders will be presented. After dinner on Thursday there will be a coffee hour for the freshmen women, held by the Associated Women Students.

Classes Start Friday

This year the freshmen will attend classes Friday morning as if regular school were in session, in order to give them a taste of Allegheny's teaching standards before the hustle and bustle of the upperclassmen and women returning. On Friday evening the College Union will be the scene of the traditional "Whing-Ding" party for freshmen. This is an informal party for the Class of '58 to get to know each other better.

Again on Saturday the freshmen will attend regular classes in the morning and go to a picnic at Bouson, the college camping lodge, in the afternoon. This is a high spot of Orientation Week. There will be hiking, picnicking, games and entertainment.

Saturday evening is the first gala all-college dance in Brooks Hall with all upperclassmen there.

Orientation Week will end officially on Sunday, September 19, with the service in the Ford Chapel given by Dr. Horace Lavelly.

IFC Announces New Frat Rushing Policy

The purpose of this statement is to provide a code of ethics for rushing at Allegheny College during the 1955-56 school year. This program has been unanimously endorsed by the fraternities of the Interfraternity Council. It is to permit the freest possible association between fraternity men as individuals in the college community and freshmen without giving any fraternity undue advantages in rushing. In order to promote such an association, this system is based on honor rather than on restricting rules. The following points have been decided on by the Interfraternity Council as the best possible means for allowing the individual freshman and the fraternity men to make up their own minds on fraternity pledging during the pre-rush week period:

1. It is honorable for many fraternity men to converse with any freshman on all subjects except the social fraternities on Allegheny's campus.
2. It is honorable for any fraternity men to provide transportation for any freshman for any social activity, to and from home, or up and down town.
3. It is dishonorable for any fraternity man to discuss his or other Allegheny fraternities with any freshman with intent to persuade to join except at IFC-approved functions.
4. It is dishonorable for any fraternity men to enter freshman dormitories or for freshmen to enter fraternity houses except for IFC-approved functions.
5. It is dishonorable for any fraternity or fraternity man to expend money on any freshman except at IFC-approved functions.
6. It is dishonorable for any fraternity or group of fraternity men to entertain any freshman or freshmen except for IFC-functions.
7. It is dishonorable for any fraternity or fraternity man to pass out fraternity literature except when authorized by IFC.
8. It is dishonorable for any fraternity man to go off campus with any freshman for any activity such as movies, bowling, dinner, etc.
