They are: Lynne Blanning, Anne Bowden, Jeanne Buechel, Sally Garner, Mary Martha Goodwin, Marjorie Jenkins, Faith Lidle, Ruth MacGregor, Hannah Rutter, Bertha Samas, Linda Shoop, Cora Walter and Barbara Wright.

Miss Reba Garvey was tapped as an honorary Cwen and will serve as faculty adviser, taking the place of retiring adviser Miss Mildred Ludwig.

Among the factors considered by the election board are traits of leadership, sincerity, ability to cooperate and to accept responsibility, originality of thought, service to the college, personality, friendliness, enthusiasm, scholarship, and a vote of the freshman women.

Cwen duties include summer correspondence with incoming freshman women, acting as guides during Orientation Week, conducting the Cwen Ghost Walk at Halloween, selling programs at football games, sponsoring a dance for freshman women, assisting at faculty teas and receptions, selling doughnuts in the women's dorms and guiding visitors to the campus.

Retiring Cwens are: Sue Dougall, president; Mary Jane Curry, vice president; Kay Sutherland, secretary; Carolyn Pennington, treasurer; Shirley Baldwin, Gail Brinkman, Rachel Dunnington, Frankie Edwards, Flo Kappler, Frannie Price, Ginny Rogers and Isabel Van Ness.

Application forms are available at the Meadville draft board and must be mailed to the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey, no later than midnight, May 11. Students who have previously taken the test are not eligible to repeat it.

May Day Plans Include Dance, Fashion Show, Sports, Open Houses

Based on the theme "Make Believe", this year's May Day Weekend, May 8-10, will include progressive open houses at three fraternity houses and a float-judging contest, in addition to the traditional coronation ceremonies, fashion show, banquet, and all-college dance.

The feature of the weekend will be the crowning of May Queen Connie Atwell and the entertainment conducted for her and her Court on Bentley Green Saturday afternoon, May 9. Events leading up to the coronation will include a baseball game and a fashion show on Friday afternoon.

Friday evening the Porter Prize Instrumental Contest will be held in Ford Chapel at 7 p.m., to determine the most talented instrumental musician in the student body, and at 8:15 p.m. Orchesis will present the second performance of its spring modern dance show.

Groups cooperating on entertainment are: Phi Gamma Delta and Delta Tau Delta; Phi Delta Theta and Phi Kappa Psi; and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Chi Rho, and Theta Chi. Entertainment will be given three times during the evening at each house so that house-hopping students may see each act. Bob Foster is chairman of this project.

ROTC To March

Following the coronation Saturday afternoon a parade of floats will be held, with a group of students from the Allegheny detachment of the Air Force Reserves Officer Training Corps marching. Four floats will be decorated by the classes and four by the social groups. This Is A College!

Now don't get us wrong! We like little children. We think they're a great institution, and despite what many of you may think, we were once little children ourselves. And we'll go further than that. Not only do we like them, but we think that they should be allowed to vent their cute little sadistic tendencies on monkey bars, swings, sliding boards and the like—in short, kids deserve a place to play in order to develop their little minds and bodies.

But after all, this is a college! Do you think we ought to have a playground right smack in the middle of our front yard? This is more than a college—it's a "Harvard in the Wilderness" and have you ever seen a playground in the middle of the Harvard Yard? Did you ever see one in a Yale Quadrangle, or an Oberlin lawn, or even a Grove City terrace?

What would Timothy Alden have said? In all probability, "Et tu Brute?" which freely translated means, "What the dickens is goin' on around here?"

But the playground does more than insult us academically. It makes the lawn messy for one thing, and for another, it gives us a vicious desire to chuck all our studies and go out and have a wild see-saw. We say move the playground out of the middle of the college lawn! Let's not make this place too much of a farce!

A Roving Reporter In Reis

by Barbara Walck

With the black cloud of term papers and comprehensives again looming ominously on the horizon, Reis Library has shown a phenomenal rise in campus popularity. Not only intellectual but also social activities are centered here; the slogan "Take Your Date to the Library!" has become the byword for every B.M.O.C. For these reasons, perhaps the student should be better informed on library mechanics and etiquette.

For those laboring over research projects, a knowledge of the card catalogue is essential. In this file are listed alphabetically all the books in the library with their call numbers. Presumably anyone can tell from this number exactly where in the stacks a particular book is located. However, a nasty rumor has been circulating to the effect that the number 920.7 F24w is nothing more than the street number of the author's house (with a decimal point thrown in for the back door), the initials of his favorite actress, and his alleged age. This malicious hearsay is officially denied by the library staff.

The Readers' Guide is also helpful for research projects. This index is located in the Periodical Room, famous for its portraits of old men with grey hair, grey faces, and black coats. In the Readers' Guide, containing an alphabetical listing of magazine articles, are such items as "Report from Boston. L. J. Kipp. Library J 77:1843-6 N 1 '52". Obviously this must be written in some ancient code known only to librarians and a few other confidants solemnly sworn to secrecy. The librarian will take the slip on which this code is written, decipher it downstairs in the basement, and return shortly with the information that that number has been sent to be bound. It's all so simple!

Probably the most dangerous part of the whole library is the area known as the stacks. Here the mortality rate is alarmingly high, due to asphyxiation from the musty odor of books; overexposure to the yellow lights; and starvation, often preceded by days of aimless wandering. Fortunately only one student has succumbed; for sentimental reasons his bones lie interred under the 340.7 shelf.

Since the labyrinthian maze of aisles is so dangerously confusing, it is recommended that the student carry a loaf of bread with him at all times. Thus like Hansel and Gretel he can leave a trail of crumbs to the exit; and if in spite of this precaution he still gets lost, at least he won't starve to death.

In the stacks and also upstairs in the main reading room, one will notice the dim yellowish lighting effect. Its purpose is to encourage diligent concentration, for it creates an Abraham-Lincoln-studying-by-the fireside atmosphere.

In this room, quiet reigns. What sounds like the flapping wings of a giant sea-gull is only the turning of

Pins 'n Sins

Hearty May 1 congratulations to Jan Decker and Bill Underhill (Colgate); Rannie Davidson and Jack Heffner; and Tom Ballish and Joan Betchie on their respective engagements. Best wishes, too, to Jan McCafferty and Bob Heil, who were recently pinned.

And if the Delts and Phi Gams want to keep their canines intact, we suggest that they keep both Hugo and Smith out of the way of John, the night watchman. The dogs cornered him a couple of times last week, and last we saw, John was making his rounds armed with a lead pipe. Imagine being jumped by Hugo at 2 a.m.!

We heard all kinds of comments on the 3-D movie, "Bwana Devil," which played downtown last week, but the best was that uttered by Ed Davidowitz. Asked how he liked having a lion jump out at him, he mumbled, "Aaah, I got a headache." Next step in cinema is definitely along the lines of Al Capp's feelies and smellies, although maybe "Bwana Devil" can pass for the latter.

And then there's the story about the freshman girl who was tapped in the wee hours of the morning for the annual Cwen ritual. Still dazed, she turned over in bed and muttered, "Who wants to join that bunch of ingrates? I read the Hemlock Cup." Kidding aside, though, congratulations to the new Cwens. We think that actually they're not such a bad bunch after all—Len Rubin or no Len Rubin. Congrats, also to the new J.A.'s.

Say, do you miss the Webster cartoons in The Tribune as much as we do? The new ones aren't half so good.

Well, the boys gave the high school seniors the once over last weekend and the verdict was that they all look alike. The joint was really jumping last Saturday morning and we understand that the dance kinda had it, too. Entertainment included Cookie Carlino, of course, and the "Blue Knights" made with the music.

And if you get a chance; you ought to take in "Beggars in Paradise" over at the Playshop. The Bordo-Wolfson era is coming to a close—or something, and we understand the boys really go to, as mentioned elsewhere in our fine journal.

Critic Praises New Playshop Production; Bordo, Wolfson Star in Miracle Play

by Ginny Smith

Intended as a vehicle for the various talents of the Playshop, "Beggars in Paradise" goes beyond this to become an interesting and lively play. The story concerns two Flemish beggars who find themselves wandering through Hell and Paradise, after being accidentally killed. Pledging to live a better life, they are sent by God back to earth, in order to earn their reward in heaven. This presents the Playshop with an opportunity to demonstrate their abilities in costuming, lighting, scenery, and acting, and the result is a very successful production which I think you'll enjoy.

Steve Wolfson and Ed Bordo as the two beggars, Boule Verbuyck and Rietje Rans, carry their heavy parts exceptionally well. Their effective use of voice and pantomime sets a lively pace which the cast obligingly follows.

Although there is no outstanding woman's role, Lois McConahy, as Boule's wife, acts with a warmth that lights up Steve's clowning and makes the most of the limited part. Thelma Jones also does a fine job as the slightly tipsy and definitely shady woman of the streets.

The Hell scene, easily the best in the play, is played against the irregular music of Bela Bartok, and makes extremely effective use of pantomime action, particularly a fight between two drunken sailors. Imaginative lighting which highlights this action and a rugged stage set combine to demonstrate the talents of the production department. The costuming was vivid and colorful, and the entire second act, which takes place in Heaven, and which had as a background a Bach chorale sung by the Workshop Ensemble, was tight and efficient.

But it is Rietje and Boule, clowning their way through Heaven and Hell that makes the production so enjoyable. Bordo and Wolfson's acting in their encounters with various saints and sinners gives sparkle to all the other roles in the play. St. Peter, played by Dick Overmyer, and Abbie DeLellis as St. Mary are comic and tender in their turn, and Sandy Moore and Kent deGraffenried display the proper emotions as the young lovers. Doug Pedersen as the bungling sexton, Barbara Bodner as Rietje's shrewish wife, and Ted Werner as a sanctimonious sexton all lend fine support to the play.

The combination of set, costumes, music, and lighting, coupled with some very effective acting on the part of the two heroes make a fine production of what is in actuality an unwieldy play.

Dr. Furgeson Preaches In Chapel This Sunday

Dr. Earl H. Furgeson, professor of preaching and pastoral theology at Westminster Theological Seminary, returns to Allegheny to preach at 11 a.m. Sunday in Ford Chapel on the topic: "The Marks of an Educated Person."

Dr. Furgeson was a resource leader during Religion-in-Life Week in 1952. He was educated at DePauw University, and received advance degrees of S.T.B., M.A., and Ph.D. from Boston University. He served the historic Harvard-Epworth Church in Cambridge, and directed the Wesley Foundation for Harvard students.

At the ACA meeting in Ford Chapel at 7 o'clock, the Rev. Donald E. Struchen will speak. He was a resource leader of RILW this year, and has been invited back by those students who heard him in the various seminar groups. His topic is "A Trip to the United Nations." Film strips will accompany the address.

On Wednesday President Benezet and Dr. Picht, college chaplain, will conduct a memorial service dedicating the three Japanese cherry trees which were planted on campus this week. They are the gift of the Japanese International Christian University in appreciation of the scholarship aid given by Allegheny students through the Sunday morning Chapel offerings during the past three years.

Radcliffe Wins Award In Magazine Contest

Two Allegheny students have received awards for the second of three assignments submitted as College Board members of Mademoiselle Magazine. Jill Radcliffe received one of nine $10 prizes and Betty-Jo Boyle was named for honorable mention.

The 750 members of the College Board sent in three assignments of art or written work in February, March, and April. Cash prizes, a $50 first prize and nine $10 awards, were given for each of the three months.

225 Prospective Frosh Spend Second Annual Weekend On Campus

Last weekend Allegheny played host to 225 high school seniors for the second annual high school weekend, under the direction of the Student Admissions Committee. The weekend provided an opportunity for prospective freshmen to become better acquainted with Allegheny and college life.

The seniors heard a discussion of the objectives of the G-courses, led by Dr. John Cavelti, of the chemistry department, Mr. Alfred Kern of the English department and Dr. Wayne Merrick of the political science department. Col. George F. Brodie met the men students and answered questions on the ROTC program. All students met with faculty members to discuss interests relative to their major fields.

Highlighting the social and entertainment activities for the weekend were performances of "Beggars in Paradise" by the drama department, the water-show "Terrapin Times", the Singers' final concert of their 1953 Spring Tour, and an all-college dance. The weekend closed with a banquet in Brooks Hall, Sunday afternoon.

Co-chairmen for the weekend were Barbara Voges and Jim Lyons.

AUC REPORT

Hilltoppers Beat Mt. Union, Then Lose To Waynesburg And Western Reserve

by Cliff Morton

The Gator diamond-men got off on the right foot here in Meadville, taking the home opener from Mt. Union last Wednesday by a score of 5-2. Bill Bishop started on the mound for the Hilltoppers, but had to retire after the sixth inning due to an arm injury received in the Susquehanna game. Bishop gave up only three hits and they were of a "scratch" variety, hit by right-handed batters who swung late and punched the ball over first. Bill allowed only one run in his six-inning stint, and was relieved in the seventh by Don Baer, who limited Mt. Union to two hits and one run.

Gators Score

The Gators pushed across two runs in the first inning on three Mt. Union errors, a single by Black and a double by Cotton. In the third, Pankopf drew a walk and reached third on a couple of passed balls. With Regan at bat, Coach Garbark flashed the squeeze play sign, and Bill laid down a perfect bunt which enabled Pankopf to score the third Hilltopper tally. Garby's boys added runs in the sixth and eight innings to end the scoring for the day. Gordie Black had three hits to lead the Gator scoring punch.

At Waynesburg

On the road again, the Hilltoppers suffered an 9-8 defeat at the hands of Waynesburg last Saturday. With Ed Benson starting on the mound for the Garbark-men, the Gators quickly booted a couple of fielding chances, and these combined with two base hits put the team in trouble. Benson was relieved in the sixth by Torin, after the Waynesburgers had picked up five more runs to lead 9-4.

Torin pitched four innings of no-hit, no-run ball, walking two and hitting one. The infield tightened up behind him, and didn't commit an error for the rest of the game.

Gators Outhit Waynesburg

The Gator nine outhit Waynesburg 13 to 8, but their seven errors to one for Waynesburg spelled the difference. Bill Regan had three singles to lead the Hilltoppers at the plate, but Garby's pinch hitters came through to help out in the scoring also. Bishop, Morton and Baer all rapped singles in pinch-hitting roles to add life each time the Gators were rallying.

Lose to Reserve

Returning home, the Hilltoppers lost to Western Reserve on Wednesday afternoon at College Field, 11-6. Don Baer started on the mound for the Gators and was relieved by Torin in the eighth inning. Between them they gave up 10 hits. The Red Cats capitalized on numerous Blue and Gold errors, six in all, to run up their winning margin. The Gators got nine hits in the game, four by third baseman Bill Bishop, who had a perfect day at the plate.

Bishop Gets 4 RBI's

Reserve scored in the first inning on two singles, a walk, a two base error by Gordie Black and a squeeze play. The Gators came back strong in their half of the inning with two runs on Loughney's walk, Beagan's base on an error, and Bishop's double. Reserve scored another run in the second inning, and the Blue and Gold countered with one in the third, when Beagan walked, stole second, and came home on Bishop's single. The Red Cats put across another run in the fifth, and Allegheny got two in that frame. Loughney walked, stole second, and scored on Beagan's double. Beagan then scored on Bishop's single.

Reserve counted once in the sixth inning and twice in the seventh. The Gator's last threat came in the eighth when they scored on Regan's double and Morton's single. This game gives the Hilltoppers a record of one win and three losses for the season thus far. On Thursday the Gators met the Titans of Westminster at New Wilmington, Pa.

The Gators have had good pitching this year and the hitting has been adequate. The average is 4.8 runs per game, but all the contests have been marked by errors which have lost all three games on the deficit side of the ledger. In the past two games alone the Blue and Gold have racked up 13 errors. If this condition can be corrected and the fielders can give adequate support to the good pitching and hitting of the team, we may see a more interesting season here on the hill.

Gator Cinder-men Lose First Meet; Then Win Against Edinboro 69-39

Weakness in the distance events proved to be the deciding factor as the 1953 edition of the Hilltopper thinclads inaugurated their current campaign at College Field last Saturday. The Gators took a third in the mile run, but every other place in the distance events went to Westminster, as the Blue and Gold fell 79-52.

The Gators took five first places, three in field events. Top scoring honors for the day went to freshman Chuck Waitz of Allegheny who came home first in the 220-yard dash and second in the 220-yard low hurdles and 100-yard dash.

Previous to the meet, the team elected Hub Ocamb, senior letterman, as captain of the 1953 squad. Hub holds the varsity record in the javelin, of 187 ft., 10½ in., which was set at the 1951 Tri-State meet. He also holds the College Field mark of 180 ft., 3 in., also set in 1951. Ocamb won the javelin, and took a second in the discus.

Other firsts for the Gators were Spears in the shot, and Buck and Desko in the high jump. Dave Warren was the only Gator besides Waitz to take a first in a track event, turning the trick in the 120-yard high hurdles. Zehner, Shaw, Barron and Dunlop also figured in the Hilltopper scoring.

In their second meet of the season, the Golden Gators posted their first win of the season, downing Edinboro 69-39 on Wednesday. The Hilltoppers took eight firsts and 11 seconds to roll up the winning margin. Art Steffee, with 14 points, was high scorer for the Blue and Gold. He had firsts in the 880-yard run and in the 120-yard high hurdles, a second in the 220-yard low hurdles, and a third in the broad jump. Freshman Chuck Waitz used his speed to advantage in garnering firsts in the 220-yard dash and the 220-yard low hurdles.

Other firsts for Allegheny were Ocamb in the javelin, Spears in the shot and discus, and Buck in the high jump.

Allegheny Net-men Victorious In First Three Encounters Of Spring Season

by Jim Knapp

The Allegheny tennis team scored three victories in its first three matches to start off what appears to be another extremely successful season. Clarion, Slippery Rock and Edinboro each bowed by scores of 9-0, 8-1, and 8-1 respectively.

On May 1 the Gators will journey to Grove City, and all indications are that this will be a close match, for the Grovers have proved worthy opponents in the past.

Heading the lineup for Allegheny in the Clarion match on April 21 was Joe Dickson, who trounced Foley 6-0, 6-2. Mustio, number two man and team captain, scored an undisputed 6-0, 6-0 over Lias; Segel, in third slot, took Logan 6-2, 6-4; Hartough, playing fourth position, scratched Leathers by a score of 6-4, 6-2. Hefley, a promising freshman, defeated Whittel 6-1, 6-0; the Sayre and Galli battle resulted in a 7-5, 4-6, 6-2 decision for Allegheny.

The Dickson-Hefley combination, playing first doubles, recorded a 6-1, 6-4 win over Foley and Whittel; Mustio and Segel proved their teamwork by notching 6-1, 6-0 over Lias and Leathers. Way and Hartough clinched the match with a 6-0, 6-3 score over Logan and Bevesnio. The final score was Allegheny—9, Clarion—0.

On April 24 the Gators traveled to Slippery Rock to score their second win of the season. Dickson won a thriller over Norton 7-5, 2-6,

Gross Sees United Nations Best Hope For Achievement of Collective Security

by Len Rubin

"The Basic Facts of International Life" was the topic of a lecture delivered by Ambassador Ernest A. Gross to a capacity audience in Ford Chapel last Tuesday night. Mr. Gross recently retired as U.S. representative to the United Nations General Assembly.

The main problems we face today, according to Mr. Gross, stem from three main causes. First, the most obvious one, Soviet imperialism. Second, Mr. Gross puts the unrest and revolutionary atmosphere which are the direct result of world and civil wars. Since the end of World War II, stated Mr. Gross, 13 new republics have arisen, as active evidence of aspirations for self-governments and independence all over the world. Ours is the legacy of a generation of aggression and destruction and frustation, and it is this legacy which is shaping the course of current history.

"In such a world," said Mr. Gross, "cross-currents create disunity, doubt, and confusion," and Russia exploits these disturbing influences.

Criticizes Containment

But these influences have given rise to the present American foreign policy which is usually defined as one of "containment." Mr. Gross criticized the use of the word "containment," for it implies that we give certification to the gains already made by the Soviet Union and further implies that we have abandoned all those peoples now living under communist domination. "We cannot create chalk-lines," he said, "because this gives the Soviet Government sanction to hold on to what it has."

The speaker then defined collective security as "the constant and changing attempt to develop the practice of the equitable and fair sharing of the burdens of defense." This defense, he said, must be directed against man's ancient enemies, diseases and illiteracy, as well as aggression. Also, an awareness must be cultivated of common interests shared among the people of the world. A method must be found to define these interests and an organization to implement action for these interests. This, then, is the function of the United Nations.

Generation of Tension

"The United Nations," said the former Assistant Secretary of State, "along with other international organizations, is the most potent and convenient method of identifying interests which are common to the free world." It provides a framework for regional agreements as NATO, and its economic and social commissions are constantly working to alleviate dire conditions in backward areas. However, Ambassador Gross does not offer the UN as an organization which will solve all the world's problems in short order. In answering a question from the floor he commented, "We must be prepared to undergo a state of international tension for at least another generation."

Draw up a road map of the stacks, learn a few impressive call numbers, acquire the round-shouldered slouch and myopic squint of the typical library-ite, and your social success will be assured.

WILL THIS SUIT FIT YOU?

If you can make the grade, you can fly the latest, hottest, fanciest jobs in the air—and do it within one year.

IT TAKES a good, tough, serious guy to wear the gear of an Aviation Cadet. But if you can measure up, here's your chance to get the finest in aviation training—training that equips you to fly the most modern airplanes in the world and prepares you for responsible executive positions, both in military and commercial aviation.

It won't be easy! Training discipline for Aviation Cadets is rigid. You'll work hard, study hard, play hard—especially for the first few weeks. But when it's over, you'll be a pro—with a career ahead of you that will take you as far as you want to go. You graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year. And this is only the beginning—your opportunities for advancement are unlimited.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE? To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate! In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

YOU CAN CHOOSE BETWEEN PILOT OR AIRCRAFT OBSERVER If you choose to be an Aircraft Observer, your training will be in Navigation, Bombardment, Radar Operation or Aircraft Performance Engineering.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will arrange for you to take a physical examination at government expense.
3. Next, you will be given a written and manual aptitude test.
