

One Eighth Of Fund Drive Goal Reached As Personal Gifts Campaign Continues

The total receipts of the Allegheny Combined Fund Drive, as of yesterday noon, amount to $500, according to chairman Ned Vidal. He announced that the solicitation program will continue throughout today and tomorrow and urged all students to make their contributions so Allegheny can reach its goal of $4,000.

The fund drive this year covers three objectives, WSSF, aid to foreign students on Allegheny's campus, and the College Union. To meet the objection that students were being assessed for contributions too frequently, the various purposes chosen by the student body are being covered in one consolidated fund drive. For this reason, the goal was set at $4,000, actually less than the total raised by unrelated drives in the past, said Vidal.

Bill Oehmler, chairman of group project for the Combined Fund Drive, has released the following list of activities for next week.

The Commons Club has set the highest goal by pledging $100 to be earned through their shoe-shining project. Tallageewes will do typing, pressing, and sewing in fraternity houses, while Cwens have organized a clean-up corps to work anywhere on campus.

Sorority Projects

Sororities: Alpha Chi Omega will sell services in Brooks, including typing, pressing clothes, running errands, changing linen, and selling fudge. Alpha Gamma Delta will conduct a beauty shop in fraternity houses and dorms, giving manicures, shampoos, and haircuts. Alpha Xi Delta will sell popcorn in the dorms. Kappa Kapa Gamma is selling votes for a king who will be crowned at the Carnival; his fraternity will be awarded a serenade complete with chorus line. (At last reports, Hugo, an honorary member of Phi Gamma Delta, was leading in this contest.) Kappa Alpha Theta will conduct a rummage. Darning socks is the project undertaken by Theta Upsilon.

Fraternities: Alpha Chi Rho plans to sponsor a scrap drive, Delta Tau Delta is raffling steak dinners for two persons, and Theta Chi will hold a sale of used ties in the Grill. Phi Delta Theta, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa Psi, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, each of whom has pledged $50, have not released the nature of their projects.

Cafisch: Section One will wash windows, Section Two will wait tables in the Grill, Section Three will wash cars, Section Four plans to serve meals in fraternity houses and Cochran, and Section Five will type, run errands, sew, and iron clothes in Cafisch.

Scientist Karl Darrow To Speak Wednesday In Fifth PBK Lecture

Dr. Karl Darrow, one of the nations top-ranking scientists, will come to Allegheny next week to deliver the fifth in a series of six lectures sponsored by Phi Beta Kappa..

A lecturer on science for the layman, Dr. Darrow will deliver his talk on "The Atom from Lucretius to the Present" in Ford Memorial Chapel on Wednesday evening, March 26, at 8:15 p.m. The public is invited.

Dr. Darrow, nephew of Clarence Darrow, famous criminal lawyer, has been connected with the Bell Laboratories since 1917. There his work has included the study and correlation of the latest scientific information for his co-workers in experimental physics and allied sciences.

In connection with his work at the Bell Laboratories Dr. Darrow appears frequently before audiences to lecture on current topics in physics. He is the author of several books, and has also published numerous articles in scientific journals. Much of Darrow's writing has been translated and published in France, Germany, Japan and Russia. Since 1941 he has been Secretary of the American Physical Society.

Dr. Darrow was graduated from the University of Chicago in 1911 with the bachelor of science degree. He went to Europe then for advanced study in the Universities of Paris and Berlin, returning later to Chicago to study under the American physicist, Robert A. Millikan. He received his doctorate in physics in 1917 and began his long career with the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Fund Drive Meeting

There will be a meeting at 4:30 p.m. today in Alden 101 of all solicitors, team captains, and division leaders for the Allegheny Combined Fund Drive. As this is the final meeting, it is mandatory that all these persons attend, according to Ned Vidal, chairman of the drive.

Bishop L. C. Wicke, Allegheny Trustee, To Speak Here Sunday

Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, resident bishop of the Pittsburgh Area of the Methodist Church and a trustee of Allegheny, will be the guest speaker at Ford Chapel Sunday, March 23. His topic will be "So You Want to Live."

Bishop Wicke received his A.B. and D.D. from Baldwin-Wallace, his B.D. and Ph.D. from Drew Theological, and his L.L.D. from Allegheny. His post graduate work was done at New York University, Yale, Columbia, Syracuse University, and Union Seminary.

Bill McCartney Named To Top Forensic Post

Bill McCartney, one of Allegheny's representatives at the seventeenth annual debators' convention held last week at Penn State, was named president of the Pennsylvania Debators' Convention for the following year at elections held at the conclusion of the meeting.

Debators from colleges throughout Pennsylvania met in the form of a mock congress and discussed pertinent national problems in separate committee meetings. Members of Allegheny's debate team were McCartney, Ida Smythe, Snip Engle, Chuck Wells, Ann Harmony, and Ned Curtis, with Mr. Howard Martin serving as coach. Jeff Hopper was elected president of the Penn State Debators' Convention in 1950.

AUC Lists Candidates

Three junior men have been nominated as candidates for the presidency of the Allegheny Undergraduate Council by the organization's nominating committee this week. Steve Graffam, Bill McCartney, and Bill Oehmler will make their bid for next year's top student position in elections to be held on March 31, and April 1. Elections for class officers will be held on the same days. Nominations for these offices have not yet been released.

Panhell Tea Scheduled On Sunday Afternoon For Freshman Women

The Panhellenic Council will hold a tea for freshman women on Sunday afternoon, March 23, from 3:00 to 5:00 in the Pine Room. Nancy Felter is the general chairman and Marla Schneider is in charge of refreshments. This marks the first time for such a function on the Allegheny campus, according to Jean Morse, president of the council.

The tea will be followed by a panel discussion on Monday, March 31, at 7:00 p.m. in the Playshop. The 1951-52 sorority presidents will speak to the freshman women on various phases of sorority life.

Mrs. Robertson Page, National Representative of the Panhellenic Council, from Newton Center, Mass., has been on campus for the past three days meeting with the local council.

Mrs. Page was brought here from the National Colleges Panhellenic Committee to help the local group establish a quota system to equalize sororities, and for other general counseling.

Of the three candidates for AUC president, the one receiving the highest number of votes will become president, the second highest will be vice-president, and the third will automatically become a candidate for senior class representative on the Council. All defeated candidates for class presidents and vice-presidents will also be added to the list of candidates for AUC representatives from their respective classes. Voting on class representatives will be held on April 3.

Nomination of the AUC candidates was determined by a special committee of seniors Phyl Moat, Ann Clark, Dick Steele, Jack Goellner, and Glenn Dunmire. Nominations for class officers is being completed this week by a special committee from each of the undergraduate classes.

The nominating committee defined by Article IV, section 1 of the AUC constitution shall be appointed by the current president and consist of five members of the senior class. Their appointments are approved by the entire Council. The constitution further stipulates that no two members shall be of the same social affiliation; however, candidates may be nominated through a petition consisting of a hundred names of which no more than one fourth may be of the same social group.

Norman Thomas Pleased At Primaries; Tells Class Truman Should Step Aside

by Tom Gladden

On Friday morning, March 14, at 9:00 the first of a series of long distance telephone conversations with important personages on the American scene was conducted by Dr. Paul Giddens in his History 15 class, as he interviewed Norman Thomas, six times candidate for President of U.S. on the Socialist Party ticket.

Dr. Giddens began the conversation with a question concerning Mr. Thomas' reactions to the recent primaries in New Hampshire.

Human Relationships To Be Treated Twice Next Week By Ruskin

Bayard Rustin, College Secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, will speak on human relationships in the world today at two campus functions next week. On Tuesday, March 25, he will address the International Relations Club in Bentley 301 at 7:30 p.m. He will also be the speaker at the mid-week chapel service the following morning, March 26, at 10:00 a.m.

A Quaker, he has served as Youth Secretary and Race Relations Secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation. Cited as "one of the Americans who had done most in the recent past to better relations between colored and white citizens," Rustin was the 1948 recipient of the Jefferson Award from Council Against Intolerance in America.

Rustin has experimented with non-violent direct action approaches in the area of racial tensions and injustices. He was a member of a small group of young negro and white men who openly and actively objected to the Jim Crow restrictions in interstate commerce. Despite difficulties, including a threat from a lynching mob, the group refused to resort to the use of violence even in self-protection.

Mr. Thomas answered that he found the results "on the whole, encouraging." He recommended that in view of Senator Kefauver's victory, President Truman "would be well advised in the advancement of his own program to have someone else make the race." Later, Dr. Giddens asked Mr. Thomas if he objected to a military man becoming President. Mr. Thomas said that this alone would not overwhelm the more important qualification of the man.

When asked if there was a great difference between the Truman program of social welfare and his own, Mr. Thomas said that the program his party advocates is one which is "well planned and carefully thought out." He said that Truman and Roosevelt had carried out a "hit and miss" program, with excessive "borrowing here and borrowing there." He called for a "more coherent program" from the Truman Administration.

Questioned on Budget

When questioned on the present budget, he said there was "a lot of waste." He said that there could be no reduction in the budget until the arms expenditures are cut. To cope with this problem, the Socialist Party head advocates universal disarmament. As far as the foreign aid budget is concerned, Mr. Thomas said that it would be wise if "we would review the plan from the standpoint of proportion and balance." (Continued on page 6)

Personal Honor

From the tempo of events in the past few weeks it now seems evident that we may have an Honor System at Allegheny. We hope that this will be the case. In correcting a condition in a community, part of the task is to ascertain what there is about the system that leads to undesirable results. We think we are correct in assuming that the absence of a clear-cut Honor Code under the past system has been in part responsible for the conditions which have prevailed.

But we would like to inject a note of warning. We do not believe that all the blame should be laid on the system, nor do we think that we should focus all our attention on changing the system. Part of the blame for the conditions which have prevailed must be borne by every individual student at Allegheny.

We are far from suggesting that students should indulge in an orgy of soul-searching. If anything there has been too much of that already. There has been too much of a tendency to deal with honor in abstract terms. We now know the difference between Honor and Honesty, and have become adept at tossing about such phrases as "lack of intellectual curiosity," "confused standards of value," "prevailing cynicism." But how much does this type of discussion really help? We think that the question of honor can be best dealt with in terms of motivation. If the student is motivated to seek for knowledge past that which is given to him, and if he is inspired to question and not passively accept the wisdom of a particular instructor, then we are positive that students at Allegheny will make full use of the purpose of this institution. There is a dual responsibility which must be assumed. The student must assume the responsibility of doing the required work, and where he does not complete his assignment admit to his lack of knowledge within the uncovered area. The faculty must also provide the motivation for education, and not consider their work done when they have finished their lectures.

As we said, we favor an Honor System. We have also favored making use of the tide of high feeling present on the campus to bring about that system. But let's not be carried so far astray by our zeal that we sacrifice our critical faculties.

Double Standard

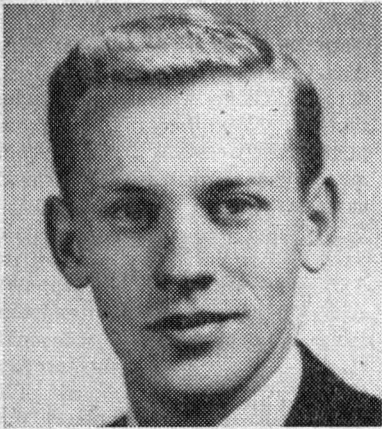

Physical violence in any form is a symptom of human frailty. Whether man has the moral strength necessary to eliminate force as a method of resolving conflicts, is a question frequently and unfortunately neglected by the power politician. Two men in the period of two weeks will have presented to Allegheny their answer to the question, an affirmative answer. Both men have lived in accordance with the principles of non-violence; Amiya Chakravarty has already expressed his confidence in universal moral law in a speech presented to the ACA audience last Sunday night. The other, Bayard Rustin, a student of the non-violent approach in race relations, will visit Allegheny for two days, next week. The moral approach offered and advocated by these thoughtful individuals cannot be overlooked by a world that is in danger of turning a symptom into a solution.

We have in the other editorial expressed the need for individuals to assume responsibilities; this concept has been applied to the national and international level by Mr. Chakrovarty. In applying this theory to America, we recognize our obligation as a nation upholding freedom in the international drama to enact it on the domestic stage. This means eliminating the discriminatory acts that darken life in America. And if we adhere to a doctrine permitting individuals in our society to choose a way of life for themselves, we must apply this doctrine globally and allow individual nations to pursue their way of life, without dictation.

Or must we? Maybe there is no connection. Perhaps the morality to which we subscribe for our nation is not applicable to our role in the international order. We ask this question without fully understanding the answer; we have found the moral unity expounded by Mr. Chakravarty disturbing our belief in the realism of power politics, i.e. the cold war. Rustin's visit should sustain the spirit of questioning awakened by Chakravarty.

Bob Mowry
Bob Mowry, president of Phi Delta Theta, has been busy finding time to devote to his many campus activities, his fraternity, and his pre-dental course, this year.

Bob, who comes from Bellevue, Pa., has been a member of the varsity basketball team and has been active since his freshman year in interfraternity sports. He is the ace pitcher of Phi Delta Theta's softball team.

"Pint" was President of IFC the first semester this year. He has held the posts of treasurer and rush chairman of his fraternity and has also represented Phi Delta Theta on AUC.

This fall he plans to enter Pitt Dental School if the tall whiskered man with the striped pants doesn't get him first.

Pins 'n Sins

Well, the loyalty oath is with us still and in spite of the conspiracy against us, we're back in our rightful column. . . . At the open house in Caffisch Hall Sunday a sophomore was heard to remark on the change wrought in the time-honored dorm: "Gee, we never had flowers like these in the johns!" Also noted was an amazing lack of "Mother" photos, but we guess the girls aren't sentimentally inclined.

Congratulations to Janie Parsons, the lovely queen of the ROTC ball. It may here be mentioned that Generalissimo Sherrick did a fine job, even if the crown did slip a little.

There's nothing better than a whirlwind courtship. . . . Best wishes to Carolyn Estep and Steve Graffam, pinned the night of the military ball.

All potential Thurbers and Benchleys are urged to contact Otto Pederson, acting editor of the humor magazine.

John Lovett must have been a bad boy recently—he is seen everywhere with his pillow—seems he can't sit down without it. . . . The Inquisition is out in search of any pledge-active trouble. Seems tea parties will be the extent of Hell Week on Allegheny's campus. . . . Newest switch on the social life—dates hired by the hour. Those freshman are sure full of ideas; the only trouble is, this is Leap Year. . . . Speaking of ideas, we think that an All-College Weekend sounds pretty good. How about a little enthusiasm on the subject? . . . Now we know why the Fijis bought a dog with such a thick coat—seems he is hiding a camera. Why else would he be seen in Brooks during all hours of the day and night? . . . The ROTC underwent a rapid change last Friday; just think, everyone was in uniform and could actually answer questions.

You find all kinds of strange things in the library such as miniature jail cells and art works of the psychotic flavor. Recently a strange plant was carted into the front room. The librarians say it's a grapefruit tree. So absorbed by its presence, one creative student was prompted to write a poem about it. The poor man's Shelley calls it "Ode to a Grapefruit Tree."

Oh grapefruit tree who rest in Reis Pray, what bringest thou here? Alas, if thou hadst speech!

Thine leaves don't bear sufficient dope
Of why thou minglest with Chaucer, Shakes, and Pope.

Oh grapefruit tree who rests in Reis Pray what bringest thou here? Couldst it be the tropic heat?

Shades of Howdy Doody! Television has hit Allegheny College. Meadville stores are ordering gross supplies of clothing stamped with likenesses of Hoppy and horse. Just what will television do to Allegheny College?

Will Captain Video cause a shift in the dinner hour? Will night baseball replace sorority meetings? Will Hoppy prove a boast to Boots and Saddles?

A professor has this to say about the situation: "With 'Kukla, Fran and Olly', I don't see how I'll ever get my tests corrected."

150 Pint Quota Exceeded By Students In Yesterday's Red Cross Blood Drive

Allegheny students exceeded their 150 pint quota in yesterday's Red Cross Bloodmobile campaign by 18 pints to send the campus drive over the top. Twenty students were turned away by 4 p.m. in Cochran Hall as the number of donors reached the limit of Red Cross facilities on hand for the day. Due to an unusually low number of rejections for physical reasons, not all of the scheduled students were able to donate.

Local as well as regional Red Cross officials termed the Allegheny drive the most successful they had witnessed in recent months.

Jack Barrows, chairman for the drive stated: "I should like to extend my thanks to all those who donated blood yesterday, and also to those who assisted at the donation center; to Miss Gregory and her staff for their time and effort in preparing the food for the canteen; to the college for the use of its facilities; and to the members of my committee who did such an admirable job in lining up the donors."

Barrows stressed that those who were not scheduled to donate yesterday will be scheduled when the Bloodmobile arrives in Meadville on April 30 through the local Red Cross chapter.

Orchestral Society Sets Concert For Tonight; Young Pianist To Star

Lee Beck, 13-year-old pianist from Chicago, will appear as soloist with the Meadville Orchestral Group in Mendelssohn's "Concerto in G Minor," this Thursday, March 20, at 8:15 p.m. in the Meadville High School Auditorium. Beck, a winner of the Irene Dunne Scholarship, has appeared as soloist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

The program of the concert is as follows.

1. Overture "The Force of Destiny" by Verdi.
2. Incidental Music from "Jewels of the Madonna" by Wolf-Ferrari.
 - a. Intermezzo
 - b. Prayer
 - c. Dance of the Camorristis
3. "Dance of the Comedians" from opera "Snegurotchka" by Rimsky-Korsakov.
4. Mendelssohn Piano Concerto No. 1 in G Minor.
5. Suite for Orchestra "London Again" by Eric Coates.
6. "Running off the Rails" by Clive Richardson.

8. A symphonic arrangement of Cole Porter's "In the Still of the Night."

Candidates For Annual AWS Election Listed; Polling Begins Today

Mary Baldwin, Jan Koehler, and Joyce Lowry are the candidates listed for AWS president for next year, according to information released at the AWS mass meeting Monday night.

Candidates for first vice president are Joanne Banyard, Bonnie Ford, and Sis King; for second vice president, Joan Anderson, Barbara Cooper, and Carolyn Estep; for third vice president, Jackie Brown, Ginny Johnson, and Susi Smoot; for secretary, Shirley Baldwin, Flo Kappler, and Kay Sutherland; and for treasurer, Barbara Edstrom, Harriet McCafferty, and Nancy Smith.

Elections begin today and continue through next Thursday, March 27. Today in Brooks gym between 12 noon and 1:15 p.m. and 5:30 and 8 p.m. elections will be held for the above-mentioned offices. Tomorrow there will be run-off elections for these positions, and the senior court slate will be announced. All petitions for additional senior court candidates must be handed in on Saturday, and this election will take place on Monday at the same times. The senate slate will be announced on Monday, and petitions for other names must be

Frosh Writing Contest Extended To April 15

Due to a change in the publication date of The Literary Magazine the deadline for turning in manuscripts for the Freshman Writing Contest has been extended to April 15.

Work may be submitted under the three categories of poetry, essays, and narrative writing. A student-faculty committee will judge the manuscripts and award a $5 first prize in each of the three divisions if the entries merit awards. John Karras, editor of The Literary Magazine, has announced that the winning pieces of writing will be published in the spring issue.

McIndoe Leads Cagers In Scoring; Prospects Are Good For Next Year

To the surprise of no one, lanky Bud McIndoe, the Gators 6 foot 4 inch center topped the Allegheny dribblers in scoring with an even 300 points. His nearest rival for point honors was sophomore Bob Buck whose 89 field goals and 48 fouls accounted for 200 tallies.

McIndoe, varsity man for three years also led the team in every other department besides scoring. He was the only Alleghenian to score over 100 field goals, with a total of 118; and his 64 foul shots was double that of any one of his teammates. Mac's scoring average of 18.75 was good enough for a fourth place ranking in the Tri-State area. Only Mark Workman of West Virginia (23.1), Don Stemmerich of Clarion (21.3) and Don Black of Grove City (19.4) could top the rangy Bud.

In the foul shooting department, the Gators went to the line 342 times, and were successful on 195 of them for a not too bad 75% average. The team leaders in the charity heave department were MacIndoe with 75%, Mattei second with an average of 70%, followed by Bill Courtney (68%), Bill Bishop (67%), and Cash Elston (50%). The rest of the statistics appear below.

Gator Swimmers, J.V. Basketballers Finish Seasons In Winning Fashion

Little Cagers Have Impressive Record

Now that the basketball term is over and the Gators have been commended on their fine season, it is also time to pay tribute to some of the* unsung athletes that comprise the little Gatorettes, hopefuls for the coming seasons.

Coached by Bill Daddio, this basketball team managed to win eleven of their thirteen starts, which included wins over local teams such as Coughenour, Roofner, and Dunn. To say there was a 1st string and 2nd string isn't exactly fair to the boys, for Daddio used a two platoon system, a carry over from the football days.

On the starting team you could find Bill Segmiller, Bob Baker, Jack Buser, Rusty Replogle, and Tom Terrill. High man for this aggressive aggregation was Bill Segmiller, a Beaver product and a fine set shot. Holding down one of the guard slots is Bob Baker.

The 2nd quarter team was known is Daddio's race horse team. Small but fast these boys would run the opponents till their tongues were hanging. Two of Daddio's six foot six boys are Woody Lange and lankey Joe Dickson, speedsters from the word go. Dave Williams, Al Bently, and John McCreary made up the rest of the quintet.

Finmen Win Five; Drop Three Meets

For the sixth consecutive year the Allegheny swimming team has emerged with a winning season. This year the Gator merman churned their way to a respectable record of five wins and three losses. In doing this they averaged 40.3 points to their opponents' 34.7.

A great deal of the credit for the success of the swimming team goes to their fine coach, Bill Hanson. Since his arrival here in 1946 Coach Hanson has compiled the enviable record of 40 wins, 18 losses, and one tie. Congratulations for a job well done!

High point man for the season was Warren Billings with 62.59 points. He barely nosed out Johnny Muir who had 61.59 points. Third in line was Captain Ward Schenck with 42.35 points. Following these three were Ertle (34.47), Case (25.09), Sayer (19), and McAlevy (18). The preceding seven are to receive letters in acknowledgment of their achievement.

While the above seven carried most of the burden there were a few others that plugged along and often came up with a vital point when it was needed. They didn't win their letters, but they were an integral part of the team. Such men were Bailey, Watts, Perry, Case, Rodgers, and Roach.*

Giraudoux Play A Delightful Fantasy; Dorothea Carlson Shines As Madwoman

by Ken Neiman

Set in Paris in a time described simply as tomorrow, Jean Giraudoux's "The Mad Woman of Chaillot" is a delightful bit of fantasy, somewhat similar to "Alice-in-Wonderland," but with a sparkling adult humor. The play centers around the Countess Aurelia, the madwoman of Chaillot, who has withdrawn from the present to a very cozy warm world of her own where she pines for the unrequited love of one Adolf Bertaut who deserted her affections for an obvious inferior.

Having locked the wrinkled reflections of her mirrors from her mind, Countess Aurelia makes her daily schedule giving affection to the cats and dogs of the neighborhood. Her friends naturally follow suit. Mme. Gabrielle is a virgin, though well past the age of consent, locked in a girdle of prim though naive surveillance lest she lose her maidenhood through male chicanery. Through a rag picker oracle, the madwoman of Chaillot is awakened from her world of 1903, to hear that the world is infested by a horde of pimps who plan to destroy Paris to exploit the underlying field of oil.

Dorothea Carlson portrays the madwoman of Chaillot in brilliant fashion, with an unusually keen insight into the nooks and crannies of her subject's cobwebbed cranium. The supporting cast rises to the challenge and on the whole has displayed an acting savoir-faire surpassing any previous performance. Lee Adey and Ed Bordo, the old pros of the playhouse, do as expected; while Ted Werner, as the rag picker, is fastly becoming one of the Playshop's most capable actors. Katherine Kuhn and Bob Marth both sparkle in their respective parts. The meticulous craftsmanship of Graham Bird's sets provides a pleasing medium for the hilarious antics of Miss Carlson and Co., and her genius for design is highly deserving of approbation. William MacMillen also deserves commendation in his capacity as acting coach.

'Shadow, Substance' To Open In Playshop; Jones, Bordo As Leads

"Shadow and Substance," by Paul Vincent Carrol, will open in the Playshop Thursday, March 27 at 8:15 p.m. It will be the third and last of the foreign plays presented in connection with International Theatre Month. The Irish drama, the story of a girl who sees visions, has Thelma Jones and Edwin Bordo in the leading roles. Others in the cast are Lee Adey, Jeanette Carlino, William Dixon, Leonard Nadel, Dorothy Johnson, Theodore Werner, Thomas Quiggle, and Edith Rogers.

The production will run from March 27 through March 29 and April 3 and 4. All performances, except that of the 29, will be open to students.

Plans Set For Annual Carnival On March 29

"Makin' Whoopee!", the 1952 all-college Carnival, is set for Saturday, March 29, from 7 to 11:30 p.m., and will have as its theme "The Roaring Twenties," according to chairman Tom Newcomb. Student social groups and clubs, as well as members of the faculty, will participate in the activities of the evening.

Chief attractions will be the aggregation of booths in Montgomery Gym, plus the variety show in Brooks hall, under the direction of Bud Schorr and Rod Terry, and the Phi Gam burlesque show, "The Roaring Racy Revue," to be held in Brooks Gym and planned by John Ellis, Jim Ryan, Harry Donaldson, and Gordie Robinson. Booths will include an auction of slave girls by freshman women, a movie produced by Theta Chi, fortune tellers, miniature golf sponsored by Cwens, a faculty wives' booth managed by Mrs. Garbark, refreshment booths, and games of skill. According to District Attorney Raymond P. Shafer, "Any game of skill is not considered gambling."

Prizes will be given for the booth which earns the most money and for the best decorated booth. The latter prize will be awarded on the recommendation of a committee of faculty judges.

Vice chairman of the carnival is Barbara Cooper. In charge of decorations are Phyl Moat and Paul Gadigan, while Taffy Pyle is directing publicity. Tickets and finance are under the direction of Steve Graffam, and Jack Skeel is handling arrangements for fire-proofing.

Faculty Plans Panel With Answers Or Kiss As Fund Drive Project

The faculty's project for the Allegheny Combined Fund Drive will be an open question forum guaranteeing answers or kisses, scheduled for next Monday, March 24, at 8 p.m. in the chapel.

With Dr. Edwards as master of ceremonies, a panel composed of Dr. Bugbee, Mr. Clemmer, Mr. Kidd, Dr. Cavelti, Dean McCracken, and President Benezet, will undertake to answer questions proposed by members of the audience. Admission will be 20c per person. Any student may ask as many questions as he likes on any subject he wishes; for every question answered he must pay 10c, while for every unanswered query he will receive a kiss (candy, that is) from the panel.

Proceeds from the evening's performance will be turned over to the combined student fund drive now under way on the campus.

Faculty-Student Teams To Vie In Basketball Fiascos In Montgomery

Tomorrow night in Montgomery Gymnasium six of the greatest basketball teams ever to make an appearance on the campus will play their hearts out for the Allegheny Combined Fund Drive. The admission is 25 cents per person and the first of the three fiascos will get under way at 7:30 p.m.

The first game features the fraternity all-stars against the freshmen all-stars. Two men from each fraternity will compose the frat squad and two players from each freshman team will compose the freshman squad.

The second game will add the feminine touch to the occasion. The two participating teams consist of a women's faculty team on one side and a women student's team on the other. Such outstanding hoopsters as Val Hershberger, Pat Tanton, Doc Kirk, Agnes Painter, Reba Garvey, Connie DeMuth, and Jean Isherwood of the faculty squad will be locking horns with Captain Virginia Minor and her student squad. On this outfit are Mary Lou Robinson, Nancy Divine, Sally Cakra, Virginia Johnston, Mary Jane Bates, and Mary Jane Curry.

Joyce Lowry is in charge of records, Bud Schorr and Rod Terry of entertainment. Jack Sullivan is acting as fraternity coordinator, while Joan Matthiessen is sorority coordinator. Jack Olofson is floor manager for booths and clean-up chairman. Refreshments are being taken care of by Ken Niemann. Faculty advisor is Mr. Rickard.

The main feature of the evening will pit two men faculty teams against each other. The abundance of hardwood material participating in this game is overwhelming. Leading the parade are of course the two fit and trim boys from the athletic department, Bill Daddio and Bob Garbark. Other players who established basketball reputations in last year's game are Gus Rylander and Julius Turner. Several newcomers to his league may be met with a little skepticism. These include Charles "Swish" McCracken and Herbie "Low scorer" Picht and that 6 ft. 4 in. skyscraper Doc Pino.

Leading the cheering throughout the evening will be Miss Ludwig and her staunch moral supporters, Joann Smit, Blair Hanson, Shirley Townsend, Jean Mills, Elizabeth Stadlander, and Emily Higgins.

Following the game there will be a sock record dance in the College Union, sponsored by the freshman men. Admission will be 25c per person, the proceeds also to be turned over to the fund drive. Prizes will be awarded for the biggest, the widest feet, and the loudest socks.

ance." He stated that from his own travels abroad he felt that American aid is being fairly administered and that most people in that part of the world are aware that their succor is coming from this country. He is in favor of giving aid to Tito, but would withhold it from Franco Spain.

Asked about the British Socialistic program, the American leader pointed to the "extraordinary" job done by Prime Minister Atlee during his administration. In view of the current split in the British Labor party, Mr. Thomas said that Bevin, an "ambitious man . . . carried away by his own eloquence . . . might upset Atlee." As far as Socialism in America is concerned Mr. Thomas feels that there would be less corruption in a Socialistic administration than in the present one. He pointed to the T.V.A. which he considers a good Socialistic measure and said that this is almost free of corruptive influences. He does not attribute the present corruption in government to bureaucrats but to American "patriots" who are using bribes and underhanded influences and who are following the "political philosopher Houdini, who said the hand is quicker than the eye." He is a strong advocate of the Hoover Committee's report.

Appeal to Stalin

As to Korea, he advocated a "dramatic appeal to Stalin" stating once again the Western point of view. He sees no hopes in the near future for a truce, and said that we should not adopt an aggressive policy ourselves.

Speaking on the effects of the United Nations, Mr. Thomas said that although he was once a critic he is now "in favor of hanging on to it" as a peace preserver. He said that we should improve it for a better day."

Chesterfield Contest Offers Free Cigarettes

Allegheny students have a chance to win free smokes for the next four weeks from Chesterfield representative Wayne McKallip.

The contest opens today when Mr. ABC will begin making calls on campus. He will approach students at random to ask "Do you know the Chester-fact?" The answers (a fact-a-week) will appear at the bottom of the Chesterfield ad in The Campus, and will be announced elsewhere on campus by posters. This week's answer is "Chesterfield is the largest selling cigarette with America's college men and women."

When approached by Mr. ABC, if the student is carrying Chesterfields

Grad Record Exams

Graduate Record Exams will be administered on April 4 and 5. All students have registered for the tests should report to Montgomery Gymnasium at 8 o'clock Friday and Saturday morning.

With the exception of those whose field of concentration is art, all seniors registered for an advanced test should report to the Gym at 1:30 Friday afternoon. Those taking the advanced test in art should report at the same time to the Testing Office in the basement of Bentley Hall.
