NINETY-TWO SENIORS RECEIVE DIPLOMAS TODAY

RESTORATION OF OLD BENTLEY COMPLETED

MODERNIZATION OF LANDMARK MADE POSSIBLE BY JOHN FORD

Dr. W. A. Elliott Speaks at Dedication Services Saturday Afternoon

When the Trustees announced two years ago that the Ten Years' Building Program contemplated the erection of a new administration building, a large number of alumni wrote to the President, protesting against the use of any building other than Bentley Hall as the center of activity. The protest was so widespread and spontaneous that the plan was changed to the erection of a new recitation hall and the restoration of Bentley as the Administration building.

President Hixson was heartily in accord with the new plan, and immediately took up the restoration of Bentley. He soon enlisted the aid of Mr. John B. Ford, of the class of '88, who agreed to bear the expense of the work up to the amount of $25,000. Contracts were made and the work was begun last August.

Some of the work had been done and more had been contracted for when President Hixson's illness and subsequent death last November brought it to a temporary standstill. However, he left among his papers numerous memoranda regarding details not already contracted for, and the Executive Committee requested Dr. W. A. Elliott to take charge of the work and complete it, carrying out so far as could be determined the plans of President Hixson. Although the necessity of conducting classes interfered with the work considerably, it has progressed steadily all winter, and is now nearly completed.

The first improvement on the exterior was a new slate roof. First, however, almost the entire wood or frame-work had to be reconstructed, for the leaks of many previous years had caused the timbers to decay. The tower had been largely rebuilt for the same reason, and the lintels and sills of many windows had to be straightened. Considerable portions of the outer brickwork had to be relaid, and all of the brickwork of the exterior was painted brick-red, and the exterior woodwork colonial white. The windows were restored to the colonial style of small panes with nine lights to the sash.

The front steps have been entirely replaced by a broader, more commodious approach with a dignified iron railing at each side. In front a colonial walk of broken flagstone laid on a bed of concrete is extended into a semicircular plaza with arbor vitae and juniper trees planted on either side. The front door has been refinished, and is flanked on each side by a colonial lantern. The old threshold stone has been taken out and carefully preserved in the form of a Roman seat at one side of the steps, and bears the following inscription: "Bentley Hall, Original Threshold—Laid 1820, (Continued on last page)

SENIORS BID FAREWELL TO COLLEGE BUILDINGS

TABLET TO LATE PRESIDENT HIXSON UNVEILED DURING SERVICES

In accordance with the annual custom, the Senior Class made its pilgrimage around the campus on Saturday morning, June 13, to bid farewell to the buildings. Before each of the five buildings, Ford Chapel, Reis Library, Bentley Hall, Hulls Hall, and the Gymnasium, a representative of the Class of 1925 spoke the parting words to a large audience which accompanied the class on its farewell journey.

Virgil Chilcote gave the first address from the steps of the Chapel, bidding farewell to that building in a fitting manner. He told of the many and varied activities which have taken place there, the "razzing" of the Frosh, the sleeping of different students, the part the Chapel plays in creating college spirit, and, last but not least, the true Christian atmosphere aroused by the daily service there.

The procession then proceeded to the Library, where Robert Leeper spoke for the class in its last farewell. He pointed out how the library changes in importance and significance as the students grow accustomed to it. The time-honored traditional library date was alluded to also, but the final words were of deep appreciation and gratification for the real usefulness and value of the library.

Charles E. Hammett chose the occasion of a farewell to Bentley Hall to pay tribute to the late President of the College, Fred W. Hixson. He spoke of the many accomplishments of Dr. Hixson during his administration at Allegheny, but mentioned particularly the relations of the man with the student body. The fact that he held the respect and affection of every man and woman in the College, and that he possessed a thorough understanding of the undergraduate mind was brought out clearly by Mr. Hammett. At the conclusion of the speech he spoke for the class in dedicating the Hixson Memorial Tablet.

The sad farewell to Hulls Hall was given by Seth Hough. He told of the many characteristics of that famed building and of the important part it played in the hearts of numerous Alleghenians.

Lawrence Judd bade farewell, in a few well chosen words, to the Gymnasium. He told of the wide variety of events which take place there during the year—football, basketball, track, the college circus, examinations, and a host of other things.

ELEVEN SENIORS WEAR KEY OF PHI BETA KAPPA

HONORARY SOCIETY HOLDS INITIATION AND MEETING LAST SATURDAY

Eleven members of the graduating class and four honorary members were elected and initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary society, at a meeting of that organization in the Oratory of Ford Memorial Chapel Saturday afternoon, June 13, at 4:00 o'clock.

Dr. John R. Schultz, Eliza Kingsley Arter, Professor of English Literature at the College, Dr. Gilbert W. Mead, '11, professor of English Language and English Literature at Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., Dr. Harrison R. Hunt, '12, Head of Department of Biology, University of Mississippi, and James George, an attorney of Bradford, Pa., were made honorary members of the fraternity.

Six men of the Senior class were elected. They are as follows: Virgil Angelo Chilcote, Ralph Henry Demmler, Charles Edward Hammett, Jr., Robert Ward Leeper, Maurice Allison Mook, and John Miller Pratt. The five women are Ruth Anna Elliott, Harriet Clark Humphrey, Lucille A. Langworthy, Frances Ariel Stoolfer, and Eleanor Taylor.

The most important matter of business which was transacted at the meeting was the election of officers for the coming year. Clementine Calvin was elected president; Dr. J. W. Miles, '74, was made vice-president, and Dr. W. A. Elliott, '89, was made secretary-treasurer.

COURBOIN GIVES ORGAN RECITAL IN FORD CHAPEL

NOTED MUSICIAN OPENS COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM FRIDAY EVENING

Before a large audience of alumni, students, and friends, Charles M. Courboin, former organist of the Antwerp Cathedral, gave an organ recital in Ford Memorial Chapel, Friday evening, June 12. Mr. Courboin gave a two-part program, filled with some of the most interesting of organ recital work of the world's greatest artists.

Part One.

Mr. Courboin gave as his first selection "Passacaglia" by Bach. This piece is a monumental work based upon a theme of eight measures in the rhythm of an old Italian dance. After employing every device of counterpoint in a series of variations upon the opening theme, Bach proceeds to erect a massive fugue on the same theme, the conclusion reaching a climax of indescribable grandeur and brilliance.

As a second number he played "Aria" by Antonio Lotti. This number is a transcription of a famous song "Pur Diceste, bocca bella," in which Lotti has created one of the eternal melodies of musical literature.

"Allegretto" by De Boeck was the third number played. It was a piquant, racy little sketch by the Belgian composer. It serves as a medium for the use of light timbre steps.

The last composition of the great Belgian, Cesar Franck, was the next number played. The "Third Chorale in A Minor" has been termed the loftiest expression of his religious exaltation. Maily described this as a tone picture of the strife between evil and good.

Part Two.

The first number in the second part of the program was "Sketch Number Three" by Robert Schumann.

Claude Achilles Debussy's composition, "Afternoon of a Faun," was the next sketch rendered. A transcription of Debussy's famous tone-poem for orchestra, Lawrence Gilman terms this exquisite fancy as "encomium in verse of the imperishable dominion of fancy," interpreted by music. The poem which Debussy interprets tells of a faun lying on the borderland of waking and sleeping in a grove.

ALUMNI LUNCHEON HELD AT NOON TODAY IN GYM

KARL A. MILLER, '08, IS TOASTMASTER FOR ANNUAL OCCASION

At the annual luncheon of the Alumni Association, which was held at 12:30 today in the College Gymnasium, approximately 450 alumni, their husbands and wives, seniors, and their parents, were present to participate in one of the most delightful affairs ever held by the Alumni Association. The marked success of the luncheon was due primarily to Edith Rowley, '05, who was chairman of the General Committee.

Mr. A. A. Culbertson, president of the Alumni Association, was called away by his duties as president of the Erie Chamber of Commerce, and could not preside at the luncheon and business meeting. Mr. Karl A. Miller, '08, presided in Mr. Culbertson's place.

The meal was served a la Cafeteria style. The alumni were seated by classes along the sides of the auditorium. The graduating class, with their fathers and mothers, and the Class of 1915 were seated on opposite sides of the Gym in the rear.

The program arranged for the luncheon was opened by Karl A. Miller, who officiated as toastmaster. The invocation was made by George S. Miner, '80. The reception of the Seniors into the Alumni Association by the toastmaster then took place. Robert E. Piper, president of the Senior Class, replied. This was followed by a song by the graduating class. After the business meeting, presided over by the toastmaster, Acting-President C. F. Ross made an address. He spoke briefly of the work of the late President Hixson at Allegheny, and of the great interest the alumni were showing in their Alma Mater. The group was then entertained for some time by a very pleasing quartet. A. W. Thompson, '97, president of the Board of Trustees, made the final address. The program was closed with the singing of Alma Mater Beatissima.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS ANNUAL EXERCISES HELD THIS MORNING

Dr. Merton S. Rice Delivers Exceptional Address During Graduation Ceremonies

Ninety-two members of the Class of 1925 were graduated at the one hundred tenth annual Commencement of Allegheny College, held in Ford Memorial Chapel, at 10:00 o'clock this morning, before a large audience of alumni, friends, and relatives of the Senior Class.

Leaving Bentley Hall promptly at 9:30 a. m., the academic procession marched to the Chapel, where the program was begun in fine order. Professor Henry Ward Church, Ph. D., head of the Romance Language Department here, at the organ, played the Festal March, by Ashmall, as the processional. After the Seniors were seated, Doctor Church played the Funeral March and Chant of the Seraphs, by Guilman. This selection was rendered in grateful memory of the late President Fred Whitlo Hixson.

Doctor Church, who is quite capable at the organ, played in his customary style, producing soft and graceful effects and gently reaching the required fortissimo at intervals throughout the piece.

Following the prayer, which was effectively offered by the Reverend Doctor Mitchell, who preached the Baccalaureate Sermon in the Stone Church yesterday morning, those assembled joined in singing the hymn, "Ye Servants of God, Your Master Proclaim."

Dean Clarence F. Ross, Acting-President of the College, then introduced the Commencement speaker, the Reverend Merton S. Rice, LL. D. Doctor Rice stated at the beginning of his address that he was not intending to restate a number of platitudes, as is the custom at exercises of this kind, but that he was merely going to enumerate a few of the more important matters with which he thought the graduating class should be familiar.

Reverend Rice was clear and concise in all his statements, making his points, as he presented them, sink home to his large audience of listeners. A man of huge stature, he presented a fine appearance upon the rostrum, and as a speaker he is rivalled by few and excelled by none.

Bachelor's degrees were conferred upon members of the Senior Class, in addition to the master's degrees which were bestowed upon Charles Wesley Gill, '07, Mary Agnes Swaney, '18, Mildred Steele, '22, and Roy Franklin McGarrath, '22.

Following the announcement of the scholarship prizes and honors, which was made by Doctor Ross, "Alma Mater Beatissima" was sung by the entire audience. The benediction and recessional, "Marche Solenne," by Ketterer, played by Doctor Church on the Chapel organ, brought to a close the Commencement exercises of the Class of 1925.

FOURTEEN SENIORS WIN COMMENCEMENT HONORS

SUMMA CUM LAUDE BESTOWED UPON TWO OF GRADUATING CLASS

Graduation honors were announced at the Commencement exercises this morning in Ford Memorial Chapel. Fourteen members of the graduating class maintained sufficient scholastic averages during their collegiate career to have bestowed upon them graduation honors previous to receiving their diplomas and degrees.

Maurice Allison Mook and Francis Ariel Stoolfer were graduated Summa Laude, which marked them as the outstanding students of their class.

Those who received the honor of Magna Cum Laude were: Ralph Henry Demmler, Ruth Anna Elliott, Charles Edward Hammett, Jr., Harriet Clark Humphrey, Robert Ward Leeper, John Miller Pratt, and Eleanor Taylor.

The honor of Cum Laude was earned by Virgil Angelo Chilcote, Dorothy Belle Irwin, Lucille A. Langworthy, Anna Eleanor Rightmire, and Marlon Louise Spangler.

In comparison with the honors bestowed on the class of 1924, the class of 1925 has one more on the honor list, the graduating class of last June having but thirteen honor students. The fact that two seniors were graduated with Summa Cum Laude today in place of one last year explains the difference of one. The other honors are about even with those of the class of 1924.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest D. McCafferty, of Pittsburgh, Pa., announce the marriage of their daughter Emma Ruth to C. W. Skinner, '21, on Thursday, June 11.

THE ALUMNI AND THE UNDERGRADUATE

To the undergraduate the return of the alumni at Commencement has an effect difficult to describe. He may be awestruck or flippant, amused or serious, pleased or disgusted. It all depends upon his individual reaction to the several alumni with whom he comes in contact. Graduates differ just as students differ, and the relation between the two is that which is the natural outcome of the meeting of two personalities.

But, regardless of the various student reactions to the return of the alumni, there are several general qualities in them that demonstrate to the undergraduate a past good influence and untold future potentialities.

The first thing that comes to the mind of the student in seeing the campus thronged with old grads is the thought that Allegheny as an institution has a past to be proud of. The close contact with men and women who have made their mark in the world brings to the undergraduate the firm conviction that Allegheny College has maintained her high standards throughout the years and that the belittling talk about a small college has no sensible foundation. He begins to realize that his Alma Mater is preparing him to replace the graduates who are now making themselves and their college famous.

Then, the alumni always reawaken in the student the love for his college, a love that may have waned somewhat during the year. The enthusiasm, restrained but, at the time time, very apparent, of the alumnus proves to us younger ones that the College has many more good points than bad. Any animosity or ill-feeling that the undergraduate may have acquired during the year is forgotten in seeing that the experience of the alumni has taught them to remember only the bright side of their college days.

Finally, the alumnus teaches the student that the little pre-graduation groups are amalgamated upon completing college and become one large organization of Alleghenians. A class reunion has a greater drawing power than a fraternity banquet. The undergraduate learns that after all his college is first and his fraternity must take second place.

Thus, the return of the alumni gives the student something to think about and creates in him a desire to work harder and to be fairer and more loyal in the future.

BEAUTIFIED BENTLEY

In the routine rush of Commencement proceedings, we are forced to pause a moment to consider a special event that will be remembered long after the ordinary exercises of the one hundred and tenth Commencement are forgotten. This is the completion of the work of restoring Old Bentley. This historic building is not only the outstanding mark on our own campus but would be a desired addition to any college campus in the country. As it stands today, Bentley is beautiful yet practical, new yet old, with a hundred years of historic past and an indefinite future. A glimpse of this building by day or night is a sight long to be remembered.

Then, there is the practical aspect. The changes in the interior have made of Bentley a systematic and efficient business building, although artistic taste and a tone of cultured refinement have been maintained throughout.

All these changes in Bentley, this rescuing of her from the very brink of the abyss of oblivion, and this placing her in a position where she will be the source of pride, pleasure, and instruction to coming thousands is due to Mr. John B. Ford. The Campus, speaking without qualification for all of the alumni, students, faculty, and friends of Allegheny, can best express its appreciation to Mr. Ford in the simple, earnest phrase, "We thank you."

FAREWELL TO THE SENIORS

Four long years ago you Seniors entered Allegheny as wise, ambitious freshmen, and you started out on the rugged path to a higher and more infinite goal. You have at last reached the first pinnacle of success.

You are now joyous over your accomplished task, and your diploma is a criterion of your achievement. The career for which you have prepared is yet to be attained. It might be well to call this first level a resting place, for as you go farther you will find that the path of life becomes more rocky and many are weary before the heights of fame are reached.

Your long nourished ambitions are now in sight, and the strong determination which has carried you to this height will carry you onward to your goal. The parting from classmates and the campus will be painful, it is true, but your college friendships will be more valuable in later years than at present.

To you, the Class of 1925, we bid a fond farewell. You are passing from a small academic world into a larger one where you are the maker of your future. It is for you to carry on the work of those who have passed before, so that the fame of Allegheny's illustrious sons and daughters shall be undying.

SEVERAL PROFESSORS TO LEAVE ALLEGHENY

GRADUATE WORK AND POSITIONS ELSEWHERE WILL CLAIM SEVEN INSTRUCTORS

Seven instructors in as many different departments are planning to leave Allegheny next year to take up duties elsewhere. The professors leaving are H. W. Gilmer, A. S. Emig, Chase R. Gage, G. M. Bollinger, Dale E. Thomas, C. W. Gill, and A. L. Funk.

H. W. Gilmer, who is assistant professor in German and Latin at Allegheny, is going to Tiffin, Ohio, where he will be a professor in Latin at Heidelberg University. Professor Gage, who is an instructor in English Language at Allegheny is leaving to take up his duties in the Warren High School, Warren, Pa.

Professors Emig, instructor in Philosophy and Education, Bollinger, instructor in Chemistry, and Thomas, instructor in Biology and Geology, have been granted a leave of absence for one year to do graduate work. Emig is going to Boston University, Bollinger is going to Harvard University, and Thomas is going to Cornell University.

Professor Gill, who is an instructor in English Literature, and Professor Funk are undecided as to what they will do during the ensuing year.

The University of Utah, following the example of many other schools, has abolished all forms of hazing.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON GIVEN BY DOCTOR WILLIAM MITCHELL

Alumnus Addresses Graduating Class On Subject, "A Modern Mind and a Living Faith"

Dr. William S. Mitchell delivered the annual baccalaureate sermon to the members of the graduating class and their friends yesterday morning at the Stone Church. His address was not only inspiring and filled with good advice, but interesting and pleasingly delivered as well.

Using as his subject, "A Modern Mind and a Living Faith," Doctor Mitchell discussed the present-day subject of modernism and fundamentalism. He quoted the words of Paul as a text, "Quench not the Spirit. Despise not the prophesying. Prove all things; hold fast to that which is good."

The speaker said that open-mindedness is necessary in our modern day. "Tradition and authority in thinking tend to become barriers and stumbling blocks to progress." Then, we come to the question, "Can the modern mind know God?" Reverend Mitchell came to the conclusion that it is entirely possible that the modern mind knows God. The creedalist, the dogmatist, does not believe this is true, but to the modernist a living faith is possible. "Faith is a living experience, and the problem of the modern mind in the region of faith is the recovery of that vital living experience which in the older creedal form of Christianity claims for itself."

As his concluding definition, Doctor Mitchell said, "The living faith of the modern mind is that which finds room for both reason and faith, for logic and experience, for practice and prayer." He urged the graduating class to effectively combine a living faith with the modern mind that is a result of a college education.

OUR DEBT TO ALMA MATER

Sons and Daughters of Allegheny, how great is that debt! If we have anything like an adequate appreciation of her contribution to us, social, intellectual, and moral, we must confess an obligation of gratitude, service, and generosity which we can never fully meet.

It almost parallels the debt we owe to the mother who gave us birth, and watched over the helpless years of our childhood and youth. As long as that mother lives she is the supreme object of our reverence, care and love. But, alas, too often before we can do many of the fine things we have planned for her, our mother passes beyond our loving ministry, leaving only the deathless memory of her wonderful personality and holy influence.

But the College abides, pouring her wealth of culture and influence into the lives of succeeding generations. Therefore, as long as we live, the debt remains with ever-increasing claim as fortune grows and prosperity multiplies. Her outlook was never brighter; her needs were never greater; and her appeals to us were never more urgent. Our practical interest must keep pace with her rapid growth and expanding activities.

If you are among those who pledged to the Second Century Endowment Fund, will you not see to it that the final payment is met in October? If you were overlooked by the solicitors or unprepared to subscribe at the time, will you not ask for a subscription card now and add your name to the roll of honor?

You bear the worthy name of Alleghenian. Anyone may be justly proud of it. For more than a century her contribution to the world through her graduates has been rich and varied. Today she is giving even better service to the students who throng her halls and classrooms. Considering her equipment she ranks with the best colleges of the land. The promise of years to come thrills our hearts. Even the most sanguine of her prophets cannot visualize her probable and reasonable advance under the fostering care of her loyal children and generous friends. It is our privilege to contribute something to that glorious future, and not only realize the dream of our lamented President, Doctor Hixson, as outlined in his Ten-Year Plan, but also make the name and fame of Allegheny as an institution of higher education secure for all time.

Let us not fail nor forget our Alma Mater.

JOSEPH W. MILES, '74.

MOVING-UP DAY NUMBER OF ALLIGATOR IS PUBLISHED

SECOND ISSUE PUTS HUMOROUS PUBLICATION ON FIRM FOOTING

Allegheny's humorous publication, the Alligator, has come into its own in comparison with other college magazines of this type. At first consideration it was questioned if such a publication could thrive at Allegheny; it seemed a big undertaking to start without assurance that the necessary art ability or source for material was available. After strenuous work on the part of John Pratt, the creator of the Alligator, and his staff, the first issue was published April 1. This first issue, although not so pretentious as its older contemporaries, compared favorably with other college humorous publications. The second issue, however, gave the Alligator a sure footing, and considerably brightened the future as far as its existence is concerned.

The Moving-Up issue, for that is the name given to the second issue, made its appearance Thursday morning, June 4. That this issue was much better than the first was at once apparent. Even the cover had more snap than the previous number; it is a picture of a couple in black silhouette on a pink background. The Moving-Up number is dedicated to Stephen Leacock, the nationally known humorist. Mr. Leacock contributed a page of humorous essays for this issue.

A take-off on the "Campus" created quite a sensation, and pointed out what could be done along humorous lines if the effort were only sensibly directed.

Improvements in the drawings and, in fact, an increase in the interest taken may be attributed largely to a contest held; prizes were awarded for the best drawing, and the best column of material handed in. The prize for the drawing was won by Manetha Ferguson, and the prize for the best column of material contributed went to Annabel Mosher.

At the University of Michigan, law students are required to try two cases a year, one before a judge, the other before a jury composed of freshmen.

NEW SENATE INSTALLED AND OFFICERS ELECTED

ROBERT EVANS CHOSEN PRESIDENT FOR THE COMING YEAR

Thursday, June 4, the 1925 Student Senate was installed and the officers elected. The new Senate is composed of William E. Dolde, Phi Kappa Psi; Karl Riemer, Phi Gamma Delta; Robert K. Evans, Delta Tau Delta; E. Alexander Hill, Phi Delta Theta; Howard P. Taylor, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Hubert L. Morrison, Alpha Chi Rho; Roland O. Barber, Beta Upsilon; J. Leland Anderson, Phi Alpha Kappa, and Harold Eric Olson, Non-Fraternity. The following officers were elected: President, Evans; Vice President, Barber; Secretary, Morrison, and Treasurer, Riemer.

COURBOIN RECITAL

"Primitive Organ," by Pietro Yon, was the third number. It is a little toccatina for flutes in which the brilliant organist of St. Francis Xavier's Church, in New York City, gives a quaint imitation of an old-fashioned garrel organ.

The concluding number of the program was "Marche Heroique," by Camille Saint-Saens. This march was written by Saint-Saens in memory of a friend killed in the Franco-Prussian War of 1870.

The complete program is as follows: Passacaglia...Johann Sebastian Bach Aria...Antonio Lotti Allegretto...Auguste de Boeck Third Choral in A Minor...Cesar Franck Sketch No. 3...Robert Schumann Afternoon of a Faun...Claude Achilles Debussy Primitive Organ...Pietro Yon Marche Heroique...Camille Saint Saens

The resignation of President McKenzie, of Fiske University, is being demanded by the students because he recently ruled that men and women were not allowed to walk together on the campus. Five seniors were fined and later expelled.

BLUE AND GOLD EASY VICTOR IN FINAL MEET WITH ALFRED

Score is 71-55—Two New Records Established.
Williams Stars

The Blue and Gold of Allegheny College humbled the Blue and Gold of Alfred University in the final track meet of the year, held on Montgomery Field May 28, by the score of 71-55, closing one of the most successful track seasons in the history of the College. Allegheny established a substantial lead in the opening events and was never in serious danger throughout the remainder of the meet.

Victory was largely due to Allegheny's superiority in the field events, Allegheny field men capturing firsts in all but the high jump, and setting two new college records. Cibula shattered the former record for the javelin throw with a heave of 163 feet 3 inches, five feet better than the old mark. In the discus throw Parnell bettered his own record of 130 feet 6 inches with a heave of 131 feet 10 inches. Judd, in his last appearance in an Allegheny uniform, brought a fitting close to his remarkable athletic career by taking four second places in the field events.

The feature of the track events was the mile run. This was a gruelling struggle from start to finish between Jones of Allegheny and Herrick of Alfred. The two men ran nearly the entire race stride for stride, with first one and then the other in the lead. As they neared the finish Herrick, in a brilliant sprint, broke away to cross the tape in the record time of 4 minutes and 29 seconds, ten seconds faster than the existing college record.

Williams, Allegheny sprinter, ran true to form and placed first in the 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes. Marshall of Allegheny ran a great race in the half mile. He led most of the way but was finally passed by Navin of the New York team at the tape. The two mile run provided another thriller for the spectators. It was practically a repetition of the mile run, Herrick finally pulling away from Jones in the home stretch.

The individual high point honors go to Williams, who amassed fifteen points. He is closely followed by Gibbs of Alfred with thirteen and Judd of Allegheny with twelve.

The victory in this meet leaves Allegheny undefeated for the 1925 season. Captain Judd's squad successively met Thiel, Carnegie Tech, Rochester, and Alfred. Letter men for the season are: Capt. Judd, Parnell, Cibula, Tornatore, Slocum, Williams, Danner, Rea, Jones, MacIntosh, and Blanchard, and Sample.

ELEANOR DAVENPORT IS LEADER OF LAST Y. W. MEETING OF YEAR

Eleanor Davenport was the leader at the Y. W. C. A. services held Sunday evening, June 7, in Hulings Hall. Miss Davenport in clear, concise statements, discussed the subjects of stealing, gossip, and covetousness. She pointed out that the person who steals through wasting, or who steals the brain work of others, is as truly a thief as is the person who steals money or goods. The thief is also the person who keeps borrowed things overtime, or who steals health by wrong living, or who takes advantage of the weaker.

In discussing gossip, Miss Davenport said that there is too much of a tendency to find only the bad or the undesirable in people. If good can not be spoken of a person, then the three precepts, Speak no Evil, Hear no Evil, and See no Evil, should be followed.

Covetousness underlies stealing and gossip. Usually jealousy of character and reputation of others and inability to attain the same, results in false gossip about that person.

Finally, Miss Davenport urged that everyone strive to so live that they may become someone in point of character and scholarship.

BLUE AND GOLD ENJOYS ATHLETIC PROSPERITY

ALLEGHENY PRODUCES SEVERAL CHAMPIONSHIP TEAMS
DURING 1924-25

Athletics at Allegheny for the year 1925 have been a decided success. Too much praise cannot be given to the teams and the coaches, Davies, Hammett, and Baker.

In football Allegheny has risen to great heights and commands the respect of every school in the state. For the last four years the team has a record of twenty-one victories, one tie, and nine defeats in thirty-one games played.

Under the tutelage of Tom Davies, former Pitt star, the Blue and Gold won five out of seven games this season and again won the so-called class B championship. West Virginia and Boston College were the teams to take the measure of Allegheny but a big scare was thrown into the ranks of both teams before they finally succeeded in downing the Blue and Gold. The absence of capable substitutes lost the game at West Virginia.

In spite of the stellar work of Chuck Darling, All-American half-back, who boots the ball a distance of 80 yards with no effort at all, the widely known Boston College team was held to a 13-0 score.

Although there will be many gaps to fill in the squad, the return of Tom Davies insures another championship team.

The greatest basketball team in years, under the hand of Coach Baker, with victories over every team in the district but Grove City, brought Allegheny the runner-up position in the Tri-State district. The championship was only conceded to the Crimson after two of the hardest fought games of the year. A different story might have been the result if injuries had not crippled the team. With the season half over and the team leading the Tri-State district, Judd was forced out of the game on account of a dislocated shoulder. Then the mid-year exams deprived the team of the services of Joe Wolf, star guard, and as a result Coach Baker had to build up an entirely new combination. Capable substitutes were found, however, and the great work of the team was kept up. The victories garnered by Grove City were fair, and two cleaner games were not played all season. The Crimson only proved to be the stumbling block in an otherwise clear path to the championship. Another injury to Bill McClurg forced him out of the lineup for half the season.

With Judd and Ross graduating, Coach Baker will have a hard time finding men to fill their places but a team even better is expected next year. Thirteen victories and four defeats is the record of the team for the 1925 season.

The track team did not suffer a defeat, winning from Thiel, Carnegie Tech, Rochester, and Alfred University. The team was exceptionally well balanced with good men entered in every event. Many of the college records were broken—Jones showing up especially well in the mile and two mile runs.

The defeats handed to Carnegie Tech and Alfred were the big victories of the year. Tech was defeated on their own field and the victory was especially gratifying because of the narrow-margined victory over the Blue and Gold in 1924. Alfred came to Allegheny with a highly touted team but succumbed easily. The running of the dash men was the feature of the meet.

Many good freshmen were uncovered during the season and they should fit into the team perfectly although the loss of Judd, Parnell, Mackintosh, and Reynier will leave a big gap.

The record of the tennis team is the only black spot on the athletics for 1925. Not a match was won out of eight scheduled. The consistent playing of McClurg featured the season. Only three letters were won and these were by Bair, Hough, and McClurg.

Although financially crippled, Manager Hill managed to schedule four meets for the swimming team. Two victories were won from Thiel by big scores and defeats were suffered from Pitt and the Oil City Y. M. C. A.

There were several new men on the team and they added greatly to the strength of the squad. Merrill established a new record for the plunge. Hill was the individual star of the season, garnering many points in the distances and dashes.

Men's Senate Donates Sum To Begin Myford Memorial

Plans for the Myford Memorial have been started by the 1924 Student Senate. All funds left in the Senate treasury at the end of the year will be used as a beginning for the building of a fund to provide the memorial. Arrangements are to be made later as to who is to take definite charge of the plans. The present Junior class and several prominent men of Monessen have manifested their desire to contribute to the project.

Francis Myford, one of Allegheny's best students and athletes, died late last summer after an attack of pneumonia. Myford, a native of Monessen and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, had just completed his Sophomore year in school. He was one of the most popular men on the hill, a tackle on the football team who was practically an entire line in himself, and the plunger on the swimming team. In addition to Myford's athletic accomplishments, he was awarded the prize of fifty dollars last year, which is given to the athlete with the highest scholastic average.

FROSH WIN FROM SOPHS IN MOVING-UP DAY GAME

RANKIN PITCHES FIRST YEAR
TEAM TO VICTORY—FINAL
SCORE IS 8-3

Air-tight pitching by "Lefty" Rankin, coupled with timely hitting and ability to take advantage of Sophomore errors enabled the Freshmen baseball team to win the annual Moving-Up Day game from the Sophs by an 8-3 score, on Monday, June 1.

Three runs in the first inning and four in the second were sufficient to put the game on ice for the first-year men. Reid's triple with two men on bases, and some loose play by the losers, helped considerably in the scoring. Two hits in the second inning gave the Sophomores a lone tally, but Rankin blanked them with only one scratch hit until the sixth, when Vigrass singled and scored on Cibula's home run into left field. Then the little southpaw tightened up and struck out the side in the last inning.

Rankin allowed the Sophs only five hits and struck out fourteen men, while the hitting of Johnny Brace, who had four safeties in as many times at bat, also featured for the Frosh. Seginac pitched well for the losers after he replaced Burchard in the third inning.

PUBLICATIONS BOARD ELECTS NEW MANAGERS AND EDITORS

Governing Body Transacts Important Business at Last Meetings of Year

Two different meetings were held by the Publications Board on Friday, May 29, and on Friday, June 5. Editors for the Kaldron and the Alligator, a General Manager of Publications, and managers for each of the individual publications were chosen.

The Board also took under its control the Alligator, subject to the sanction of the faculty. The election of the editor and manager of the Alligator is also subject to the sanction of the faculty which will act on the matter at the next faculty meeting to be held after Commencement. The Alligator was adopted upon the resolution of the student body to assess each student one dollar extra on his publications fee for the support of the Alligator.

The Kaldron editorship was given to Howard Taylor, '26. Taylor was elected after he and the other candidates for the position had been interviewed by the Board. During the past year he has served as Fraternity Editor of the Kaldron. On the recommendation of John Pratt, present editor of the Alligator, Roland O. Barber was elected editor of that publication for the coming year.

E. Alexander Hill was chosen General Manager of Publications. Hill has served faithfully in managerial competition for three years and during the past year he was manager of the Kaldron. In addition to his managerial work, Hill was business manager of the Y. M. C. A. Students' Manual during his first year.

For manager of the Campus, Theodore Borrell was chosen. During the past year he was assistant manager of the Campus and a competitor his first year. Richard Helmstadter was chosen manager of the Literary Monthly after two years of competition.

Paul G. Wells, after competing for one year, was chosen manager of the Kaldron. Don McWilliams, who has competed for two years, was chosen manager of the Alligator.

All the editors and managers were elected subject to the approval of the faculty.

Under a new ruling of the Board

PLANS NEARLY COMPLETED FOR ANNUAL HOME-COMING

FOOTBALL GAME WITH GENEVA TO BE BIG EVENT OF HOME-COMING DAY

The date of Allegheny's annual Home-Coming Day has been set for October 10. The committee in charge has prepared a program which is deserving of the co-operation of every alumnus. It is requested that all alumni mark the day in their date books now, so that each may be free to attend this annual affair.

Mr. Louis A. Wells, '14, chairman of the committee, reports the program to be as follows: Friday evening, October 9, an entertainment yet to be arranged. At Chapel on Saturday morning a special speaker will be provided, the speaker to be selected by the President and Dr. Elliott. Immediately following Chapel there will be an indoor baseball game between Pittsburgh and Cleveland under the direction of A. F. Munhall, '16. An informal reception and luncheon will be held in Cochran Hall at 1 p. m. The luncheon is in charge of Edith Rowley, '05. In the afternoon the Allegheny eleven will meet Geneva on Montgomery Field. Seats will be reserved for the alumni. An informal reception in Hulings Hall that evening will close the program. The reception and entertainment is in charge of Mrs. O. P. Akers.

Unprecedented Registration For Next Year Faces College

Registration figures for the coming college year have reached an unprecedented mark. It is believed that the freshman class will be limited to 180, because the numbers in the upper classes are so large. There are 112 seniors registered for next year, 150 juniors, and 193 freshmen. These, with the estimated freshmen enrollment of 180 students, make a total of 635, a number far in excess of any former registration.

Many of the upperclassmen who have signified their desire to return for the coming year will necessarily be dropped, on the basis of scholastic standing, because room must be made for an average number of freshmen.

the general manager of publications must be a Senior and all managers of the individual publications must be Juniors.

On May 29, the report of the business manager of the Kaldron showed that that publication was running five hundred dollars over its budget. This was discussed and it was suggested that a faculty member of the Board be chosen each year to supervise the lettings of contracts for engraving and for photography in order that the Kaldron may not run over its budget. Nothing definite, however, was done.

Because of the difference in the amount of work in the managerships of the various publications, the Board passed a resolution that henceforth in choosing the general manager, the record of the first two years of competition would be seriously considered as well as his year of managing in which the quality and not the quantity of the work done would be taken into consideration.

A new member was automatically added to the Board in the person of the editor of the Alligator when the publication was accepted. This was the last meeting of the old Board and in the future the new Board will have full charge.

KALDRON DISTRIBUTED TO STUDENTS JUNE 9

COLLEGE ANNUAL GIVES ACCU- RATE HISTORY OF PAST YEAR'S ACTIVITIES

Greeted with instant approval, the Kaldron for the year 1924-25 was distributed to the students Tuesday morning, June 9. The annual of this year compares very favorably with past Kaldrons. In fact, inasmuch as the work this year was left almost entirely to the junior members of the staff, because the editor, Charles C. Taylor, left school at the end of the first semester, the results are exceptionally good. The experience of these men speaks well for a record-breaking Kaldron for next year.

The annual contains about two hundred six pages and is bound in red leather stamped in gold. The book is dedicated to the memory of the College's late President, Fred Whitlo Hixson.

By the way of a general review, all sections of the book are very well handled. The cuts are especially clear and the make-up is above the average. An interesting feature is the manner in which the drawings which introduce the various parts of the annual are carried out with corresponding incidents from the Middle Ages. This feature also brings out the fact that Allegheny does not have its quota of good student artists.

The book is divided into six departments. The first, "The College," contains beautiful views of the campus, a really artistic piece of work. This section also contains a biography of Doctor Hixson and faculty pictures and data.

The second department is devoted to the classes. The seniors are treated individually with three cuts across the top of the page. The usual write-ups appear below, printed on a background of the Rustic Bridge. The other three classes are much the same as in former years, with the exception that the juniors are characterized by popular advertising slogans.

Athletics comprise the third section. This part of the book gives a very good history of the College teams, and the members of them. The next fifth section treats of the social and clubs, forensics, and publications. The fifth section treats of the social and honorary fraternities.

The last department is the feature section. It contains the usual clever snapshots, jokes, the calendar, and an innovation known as the "Rusty Roaster." This last is a take-off on the Kaldron, itself. It is a blind for a great deal of harmless fun-poking at various members of the faculty and student body.

C. A. Van Slyke, '05, who is principal and owner of a school which prepares young men for West Point at Cornwall-on-Hudson, N. Y., arrived in Meadville on June 8, to visit relatives and attend Commencement.

Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Tieste, '83, of Brooklyn, N. Y., arrived in Meadville on June 8, to visit friends and attend Commencement.

"There He Is!"

What planning and sacrifice lie behind that whispered exclamation! All because father knows his boy's chances of success are nine to one with a college education.

What sacrifices would a father not endure to give his son such an auspicious start? Yet this need not be a hardship for father. A few moments now with an Etna-izer will make it easy through an Etna Educational policy—whether you live or not.

Prof. C. E. Hammett will spend the greater part of his vacation in visiting friends in Maryland.

Dr. W. F. Woodring will be abroad in England and France during the summer months. The greater part of his time will be spent at the British Public Record Building studying the judicial records of the time of Edward the First.

Miss Edith Rowley as usual will have charge of the Chataqua Daily at Chataqua, N. Y., this summer.

As soon as school closes, Miss Antoinette Chevreton will sail for France where she will spend the summer months.

Miss Violet Gardner's vacation will be spent at her home in Ft. Madison, Iowa.

Miss Helen A. Adams, after teaching in the summer school here, will visit for a few weeks with her sister in Pittsburgh.

Miss Doris Potter plans to spend the most of her vacation at her home in Utica, N. Y. She will also visit friends in Boston.

After summer school closes, Dr. H. W. Church intends to take an automobile trip through Michigan and Indiana.

Professor R. F. Mezzotero, as soon as school is out, will spend a few weeks at Pennsylvania State College; then he expects to sail for Europe.

For the third successive year Dr. I. R. Beiler has agreed to teach the courses in Bible in Summer Schools of Religious Education, held under the auspices of the Board of Sunday Schools of the Methodist Church and local authorities at Dickinson College and Northwestern University. They are held during July and August, the school at Dickinson opening July 6.

At Dickinson Doctor Beiler will give a course in Old Testament Introduction and then a more advanced course on "The Educational Use of the Bible" for directors of religious education and pastors from the Central Pennsylvania, Baltimore, and Wilmington Conferences. Similar courses will be given at Northwestern.

ALLEGHENY TENNIS TEAM LOSES LAST FIVE MATCHES

BLUE AND GOLD SUFFERS DEFEAT ON FOUR-DAY TRIP—DUQUESNE VICTORS HERE

Leaving on Monday, May 25, the tennis team started on a four day trip which ended in four defeats. The team was outclassed in every match and was badly beaten in each contest.

At Duquesne on Monday the Gold and Blue racquetters were beaten 5-1. The playing of Jimmy O'Connor for Duquesne was the feature of the match. He was pitted against McClurg and easily defeated him. The only match won by Allegheny was the doubles match of Hough and Behrhorst.

Pitt conquered the struggling Alleghenians on the following day in a fairly interesting match. The Pittites were forced to a 5-1 score; Behrhorst and Hough again won their doubles match and in the Westminster game on Friday they duplicated their feat. The Waterloo was hit at W. and J. on Thursday when the Red and Black won 6-0. The combination of Naser and Fredericks was too much for the Allegheny net men. The score at Westminster on Friday was 5-1. Revenge against Duquesne was looked for on Wednesday, June 3, when they came here for their second encounter with the Blue and Gold net men but hopes were shattered for Allegheny succumbed to a 5-1 defeat.

Despite the score the match was an interesting one to watch for every point was hotly contested. The doubles between Bair and McClurg and O'Connor and Sullivan brought out the best tennis that has been seen here since the days of Cochran and Bittner. The Duquesne men seemed in a trance the first set which went to Allegheny 6-0. However, they soon came out of it and the playing in the second set was phenomenal. Both teams were out for blood and time after time seemingly impossible shots were made by both sides. The score went to seven games apiece and then a score keeper was called in to keep track of the game. Constantly the score went to deuce and it developed into a test of endurance; with the score at 9-8 in favor of Duquesne the consistent and heady playing of O'Connor could not be withstood and the Blue and Gold net men finally succumbed, 10-8. The third set went to Duquesne 6-3.

Amherst College, according to figures compiled, has a larger percentage of its graduates in "Who's Who in America" than any other college, 869 Amherst men being included among the ten thousand listed.

BISHOP McCONNELL DELIVERS ADDRESS TO PHI BETA KAPPA

"Education For Leadership" is Subject of Talk
Before Honorary Society

"Education for Leadership" was the subject of the Phi Beta Kappa Address, of the one hundred tenth annual Commencement exercises, given by Bishop Francis J. McConnell last Saturday evening at eight o'clock in Ford Memorial Chapel.

Bishop McConnell pointed out that there are four types of leadership to be desired; one of which should be the aim of every thinking person. There is the leader who is an expert in his special field; a second type is the person who is able to catch folks in their best mood and has the power to put their thoughts into words; then a third type of leader is the one who can present tantalizing problems, problems that at first we resent but at last see their value and importance; finally there is the leader who is an educator, one who can best draw out of people the best that is in them; these are leaders of persuasion.

"America is making great contributions to the education of leaders," said Bishop McConnell. He emphasized that we are developing more leaders

ANNUAL VESPER SERVICE HELD ON CAMPUS SUNDAY

GRADUATES FROM FOUR DIFFERENT COUNTRIES TAKE PART

On Sunday afternoon the annual Vesper Services were held on the campus in front of Bentley Hall before a large audience. The Reverend Samuel Simpson Marquis, D. D., of the Class of 1890, Protestant Episcopal clergyman of Detroit, Mich., made the address.

The service was opened promptly at 4:30 by the singing of two hymns. Mr. Chase R. Gage led the singing. Dr. W. A. Elliott, '89, led the congregation in the reading of the scripture lesson. Rev. W. E. Thomas, '08, of Mexico City, led in prayer after which everyone joined in singing "Life and Ministry." Doctor Elliott then introduced the speaker of the afternoon in an informal manner.

Doctor Marquis expressed his joy at being able to be in Meadville and to address a group of Alleghenians. He took his text from the seventeenth verse of the fourth chapter of Peter, "For the time has come that judgment must begin at the House of God." He said that the church of today feels that it has the right to criticize industrial institutions, newspapers, and all modern institutions, but under the prevailing circumstances he did not believe that the church was justified in doing this. He asked the question, "I wonder what is wrong with us?" Doctor Marquis went on to explain that the older generation today criticizes the rising generation for its too modern ideas. He declared that the youth cannot be charged with the mess that they are in, and that the older people must admit that they are the ones who are responsible for the mess that has been made on the character of youth. A great number of pious people should be made to feel that the responsibility lies with them. They can be justly blamed for present conditions, for it does not lie with what they have done, but because of what they have not done.

Doctor Marquis then declared that the church could be charged with three sins of omission. The first of these was the lack of intelligent education of the youth. The present church does not train the children in the proper manner as regards religion.

The present generation get their religion in the past and future tense, but never in the present. God is revealing Himself to this generation in a thousand ways, and we are too blind to see it. The people of today fail to lay the emphasis on the simplicity of Jesus Christ, but emphasize more the form of the thing.

The speaker added that we are living in a crisis which we will never realize, if we do not get back to some of the simple facts of religion which a child can understand. There are too many reformers in the world today, and if they could be made to see that they also are in need of a helping hand they would be much better off. Doctor Marquis closed his address by suggesting that each ask himself the question, "Not what is wrong with the world today, but what is wrong with us?"

After this eloquent address H. B. Mansell, '04, of Batavia, Java, offered prayer. The benediction was pronounced by George S. Miner, '80, of Foochow, China.

of the compacted society type and less of the individualistic; the pioneer days, when each man shifted for himself, are for the most part gone, and we have gradually come into a situation that is exceedingly congested. "There never was a bigger demand for intellectual leaders than there is today," stated Bishop McConnell. We must have various kinds of experts. Experts are necessary to pass on experts.

The second type of leader is the one who assimilates fragments and builds a whole. Gladstone said that this type of a leader was the one who was able to take in a mist and throw back a shower.

Into the third group often may fall many of the greatest leaders, said Bishop McConnell. These men are generally unpopular in their day, and quite frequently they are termed radicals. Men, however, that can effectively present irritating problems, then go about to work them out for the betterment of society have an important place among the leaders of today.

The last type that Bishop McConnell stressed was the leader who was really an educator. This leader is able to mingle with people and draw out the best that they have to offer. He does not debate so much, but rather has friendly discussions and indirectly gets control over others.

In closing, Bishop McConnell said, "Let us remember that in spite of all we say of knowledge for knowledge, we have a human reference to knowledge."

ANNUAL MOVING-UP DAY EXERCISES HELD JUNE 1

VARIOUS CLASSES LEARN THEIR FAULTS IN GOOD-NATURED CEREMONIES

The annual Moving-Up exercises were held Monday morning, June 1, in Ford Memorial Chapel. In opening the exercises, Acting-President Ross said that the exercises were held on the day preceding the final examinations every year and are symbolic of the progress made in real life.

The speaker stated that the departing Seniors would meet three great disillusionments in graduating. The first is that they are not passing from the joyous days of life to those of dreary routine; instead, their lives will become brighter as they advance farther. The second is that the hostilities going on in college will not continue into life. The reverse is true because some of the finest friendships they will make will be with some of these former enemies. Thirdly, they will come to regard the College in an entirely different light. The grouch which most of them hold against the College will be converted into a real love for their Alma Mater.

When the Seniors retired to the Freshman seats in the balcony, the pleas for the different seats began. All of the speeches were extremely humorous and received much applause.

A. H. Bartlett, pleading for the Juniors, said that he represented a live wire class and that he was going to speak an eulogy to the dead Seniors. He expressed the Juniors' sorrow at the many opportunities which the Seniors had passed up and he assured the faculty that the Juniors upon becoming Seniors, would revolutionize the entire College.

R. H. Demmler, speaking for the Seniors, told of the superlative qualities possessed by the Seniors which were lacking in the Juniors. After speaking of the unworthiness of the Juniors, he granted them the Senior seats.

Alvin Jones, of the Sophomores, pleading for the Juniors' seats, began his speech by expressing the unworthiness of the Sophomores. Suddenly, however, he changed his mind and demanded the seats. Jones stated that the Sophomores had lived down the name of cowards, which the Juniors had given them last year, by their treatment of the Freshmen this year. He then spoke of the athletic and scholastic supremacy of the Sophomores and ended by earnestly begging the Junior seats.

After the Juniors had moved into their new seats, C. T. Severn replied to Jones. He expressed the Juniors' irritation at having to give the seats to the Sophomores and then told of the advantageous position the seats had in the rear of the chapel. Here is a splendid place from which to throw snowballs and to make noise without being detected by the faculty. After Severn concluded his speech, the Sophomores moved up into the Junior seats.

William Sautters, the Freshman speaker, found it impossible to be present, so Robert Kirkpatrick delivered the Freshman plea. He told of the greatness of the Freshman class and how distasteful it was to them to take the Sophomores' seats, but because it had to be done, they would fill them nobly.

Reuben Cain, in reply to Kirkpatrick, expressed his distaste for his task. He then proceeded to enumerate the accomplishments of the Freshmen; of the great transformation that would come over the Freshmen when they occupied their new seats. He extended the heartiest wishes of the Sophomores to the Freshmen but asked them to remember that they could never possibly reach the heights achieved by the Sophomores.

After the Freshmen had moved up, Dr. Ross asked the co-operation of the upper classes in instilling the spirit and ideals of Allegheny into the incoming Freshman class, not by force but by a helping hand. Dr. Ross then expressed his gratitude for the co-operation which the students have given the administration in the past year and hoped that it would be continued.

The exercises closed with the singing of the College hymn.

Dr. Arthur Holmes, dean of men at the University of Pennsylvania, recently declared that cross word puzzles were better for young men than warring girls. He said that puzzles would do no harm and they might do some good, while the modern young woman was like an Indian warrior—out after scalps or engagement rings.

With a view toward familiarizing freshmen with the newness of college environment before school begins in earnest, the faculty at Pennsylvania State College has made a ruling that all freshmen report a week early. Methods of study as well as college traditions and history will be taken up during the week.

BENTLEY RESTORED

Replaced 1925—Vestigia Hominum Priorum Subsequamur." The whole is combined to make a charmingly dignified approach which must be seen to be appreciated.

The interior changes are likewise in harmony with the colonial style of the historic structure. The first floor halls have been floored with red hexagonal tile, and the halls of the second and third stories have been floored with dark green battleship linoleum. The stairs have treads of the same material with heavy brass nosings. All woodwork has been painted walnut and white, the walls have been painted colonial cream, and the floors have been refinished. The building has been rewired throughout and new lighting fixtures have been placed in the rooms and halls. Green shades have been placed at the windows.

The large recitation room at the west end of the first floor has been transformed into a registrar's office completely equipped with wooden furniture and steel filing cases. A fireproof vault, capable of holding all the important college records, extends through the basement and the first floor. A second recitation room has been changed into an office for the Dean of Men, and the former Registrar's office has been made into a commodious Book Store. The old book store will be given over to the student publications. All classrooms have been fitted out with new furniture.

The old history room on the second floor of the east wing has been transformed into a board room for the use of the Faculty and Trustees. This and the President's office below have been equipped with walnut furniture of the colonial style. Thirty-six beautiful rush-bottom Windsor chairs in the colonial style have been provided for the Board room, in addition to a large table and carpets in harmonious colors. The office of the Secretary to the President has been equipped with new furniture, multigraphs, and computing machines.

The women's rest room has also been refurnished, and a tile and marble lavatory for men has been built in the basement. The whole basement is to be floored with concrete and provided with a steel ceiling which will make the building practically fireproof. A multitude of small improvements, such as the change of the radiators, have been made.

Although the total cost of the improvements will be considerably above the first figures estimated, the whole expense is being met by Mr. J. B. Ford. A bronze tablet in recognition of the donor has been placed at the right of the front portal. It bears this inscription: "Bentley Hall, Named for William Bentley, Built According to Plans Made by Timothy Alden. Corner Stone Laid July 5, 1820. Restored and Newly Equipped by John B. Ford, '88. In Grateful Appreciation of the Work of the Founders of the College. A. D. 1925."

Saturday afternoon, previous to the Class Day exercises, the bronze tablet commemorating the faithful work of Timothy Alden and John B. Ford in planning and renovating, respectively, Bentley Hall, was dedicated at fitting ceremonies in front of the building.

Arthur W. Thompson, President of the Board of Trustees, introduced Dr. William A. Elliott to the gathering of alumni, students, and friends assembled there. Mr. Thompson stated that much of the credit for the beautiful appearance of the hall as it is today is due to Doctor Elliott, who has spent much time and effort in making the renewed Bentley an actuality.

Dr. Elliott opened his address by this statement: "A college must have buildings; these can be bought; a college must also have traditions; these must grow." The speaker stated that Allegheny College is the proud possessor of both fine buildings and exalting traditions.

Some time ago, according to Doctor Elliott, a new administration building was suggested for the College. Careful investigation revealed the possibility of a remodeled Bentley; through the generous gift of John B. Ford, '88, faithful alumnus of the College, this possibility was made a reality.

Doctor Elliott emphasized the fact that there are three names outstanding in the history of Bentley Hall; three names that will be associated with the Hall forever. The first is that of William Bentley, noted scholar, who was instrumental in the founding of the College. The second is that of Timothy Alden, first president of the College. Thirdly comes that of John B. Ford, who made possible the complete restoration of the old building.

After unveiling the bronze tablet, Doctor Elliott turned over the remodeled building to the trustees, to which Arthur W. Thompson made the accepting reply in which he heartily thanked Doctor Elliott and Mr. Ford for their untiring efforts in the behalf of the College.

Try and Beat It, Seniors!

Of course you are intending to repay in some way the several thousands of dollars your parents have spent to send you here. The squarest thing you can do is to guarantee the fulfillment of your good intentions with a Standard Life Insurance Policy.

You'll find that Mother and Dad will see in that policy a whole lot more than a symbol of your appreciation and regard. To them it will be an indication of your character, your maturity, and your common sense. It will give them as much pleasure as your diploma.

How's that for a commencement present for the people who really deserve one?
