Core curriculum under consideration by Instruction Committee and faculty

By Cathy Christin

The fact that students can't write at Allegheny has been a recent concern of faculty and students alike. Unfortunately, this is a growing problem that applies to nearly every college and university nationwide. According to an interview last week with Dean Helmreich, chairperson of the Instruction Committee, the problem is not simply grammatical, but rather one of conceptualization.

While English A is designed to improve such problems as spelling, punctuation and sentence structure, Helmreich feels something must be done to raise the entire consciousness of the college, to get students to better articulate their ideas.

Presently, due to time and financial constraints, no decisions have been made. Suggestions, however, have brought up the possibility that we return to a basic "core curriculum." By providing a tightly knit core of basic items, students could "build a common experience," said Helmreich.

With the current distribution system, continued Helmreich, students are taking bits and pieces and are unable to gain some meaning as a whole. The problem, therefore, is institution wide and not just of concern to the English department.

Before going to a distribution system in 1964, Allegheny was under a G (general distribution) course curriculum. Under G, there was a common core of nine courses, of which students had to complete eight. G-1, for example, had to be taken freshman year, whereas G-9 couldn't be taken until junior or senior year.

Problems such as why one course was included in the G series over another, and rising lack of interest in the program led to its abandonment and the introduction of the distribution system, said Helmreich.

Now, however, many faculty members believe there's too much fragmentation, and perhaps a return to a core experience would be a wise move.

Helmreich mentioned the possibilities that freshmen would be required to take an English course and that small papers and more essay exams be given in every department, since the problem applies to all areas.

Helmreich concluded that making changes in the existing system involves more factors than merely adopting one type of curriculum over another. "Do we continue with a distribution system?" "Do we bring back a core experience in the freshman year?" "Should we have a fine arts distribution requirement?" "What about career goals?"

Since no concrete decisions have been made at this time, these questions and more controversy seem inevitable for the future of the core curriculum issue and the future students of Allegheny.

Raitt to sing the blues on 4th

By Lynn Luff

Bonnie Raitt sings a woman's blues in a man's world. She is a natural earthy woman who has worked hard to earn what is still after five years, an intimate following.

Music was always a natural for Bonnie. Born 27 years ago in Burbank, California she grew up surrounded by it. By the time she was ten she had taught herself to play her grandfather's slide guitar.

In her teens she was politically oriented, conscious of social inequities and her early music was folksy. She put it, "I was like Miss Protest... Joan Baez for sure."

7, he/she will not have a practice booklet. We do have a limited supply of extra booklets at the Counseling Center and will be glad to provide one at a cost of $1.50, payable to the Counseling Center by April 5.

If you have any questions, please call Mrs. Sheridan at the Counseling Center, 724-4368.

Practice LSAT set

The Counseling Center will offer all interested students a chance to take a practice LSAT on Thursday, April 7, from 1:30 p.m. until about 4:00 p.m. in room 204 Carnegie. This will be a partial test of two to three hours in length given under conditions that simulate, as close as possible, those in actual test administration. Our goal is to enable students to become familiar with standardized testing procedures such as pre-test administrative details, timing of individual test sections and the like. Secondly, it will expose students to various types of questions and tasks most likely to be found on the actual test. Experience suggests that practice sessions may help to alleviate some of the feelings of tension associated with taking the actual test.

The test to be used will be the one included in the "Description of the Law School Admission Test, 1976-77" booklet which each test candidate receives when he/she receives an admissions ticket from Educational Testing Service admitting him/her to the actual LSAT on April 16.

PLEASE BRING THIS SAMPLE TEST BOOKLET WITH YOU TO THE PRACTICE SESSION.

If a student does not plan to take the LSAT on April 16, but would still like to participate in this practice session on April

Sellout discussed at ASG

By GERALYN VELESKO

A report from the concert committee during the A.S.G. meeting projected a sell out for the March 4th Bonnie Raitt performance. Over 400 non-student tickets have been purchased.

Actually, less than 100 students have bought concert tickets, but a rush is expected this week. According to the committee representative, the non-student sales may provide extra revenue.

Scott Strenio reviewed the State PISA meeting (Pennsylvania Independent Schools Association) in Harrisburg last week. Representatives from eight schools attended. Allegheny was the only school from the North West Region, Strenio told A.S.G.

Strenio reported PISA's primary objectives. The organization plans to lobby for increases in grants to PHEA recipients. The maximum amount for each grant is now $1200 and PISA is lobbying for an increase to $1600. PISA also supports lowering the drinking age to 19.

The completion of A.S.G.'s purchase of a $10,000 was announced by Chris Ryan. According to Ryan, the bond will mature in about three years at seven per cent interest or market price.

Some other happenings from Sunday's meeting include:

--Chris Fustine was elected to the Concert Committee.

--An early reminder was made to all campus organizations to submit their budget proposals to the budget chairman before the beginning of next term.

--There will be bus services, but no plane services, at the end of this term.

--The installation of cigarette vending machines on campus was suggested. Their absence from the C.C., one representative explained, is due to the request of the faculty's See ASG pg. 5.

Bonnie Raitt, popular blues singer will appear Friday night at 8:30 pm in the Campus Center Auditorium. The concert promises to be one of the best events of the term. Come and relax before finals.

She attended University High School in Hollywood for a while before attending a Quaker-run progressive high school in Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Music at this point was more of a hobby than anything else. She was serious academically and chose to attend Radcliffe, majoring in African Studies. There she played and sang her folksy music for friends and fellow dormies. She still thought of herself as a blues freak so when 1968 rolled around, bringing with it psychedelic rock and roll, Bonnie took a rest musically and spent the summer in Europe with some friends.

It was there she met Sippie Wallace, who was later to be called her mentor. Sippie, now 78, wrote such numbers as 'Women Be Wise', and 'You've got to Know How', both now associated with Bonnie. She prefers to refer to Sippie as "my sassie grandmother", rather than her mentor.

After her trip to Europe, Bonnie continued to work out arrangements of blues tunes but her main objective was still her studies. However, when the second semester of her sophomore year came around, she decided she'd had enough school for a while and left Cambridge for Philadelphia, where she began to hang out on the local blues scene with booking agent Dick Waterman.

It was there that she started to do opening acts for other bands trying to make money to support herself. Eventually Bonnie went back to Radcliffe and finished her sophomore and part of her junior year before quitting for good and going to work in Worcester and Boston. During this time she was playing what she called

"badass guitar."

Her singing matured and what once sounded like a white lady trying to sing ancient black blues became a polished distinct vocal instrument.

She signed with Warner Bros. in 1971, pleased that she would be recording on the same label as people like Joni Mitchell, James Taylor and Ry Cooder. Since then she has released five albums. Her latest, "Home Plate," is a perfect combination of all the good things on the first albums and is a fine recording that shows her natural soulfulness and talent for phrasing the blues.

Things have changed for Bonnie over the years. Lately she is more settled down and definitely more musical. Since she broke off her affair with Jim Beam there haven't been any sloppy shows or hung over mornings. When asked about drugs the lady only smiles saying "nothing much, just a toot 'n a toke."

Freebo, her bass player, who has played with her on every album as well as during the early gigs in Boston and Philadelphia said that Bonnie has learned the art of professionalism. He also said that, "the biggest growth is in her confidence in her own voice."

Personally I feel that any lady who can stand up on stage and sing the blues with the vibrancy and the true feeling of Bonnie Raitt is certainly "good enough for me."

THE GOOD LIVES ON: there will be a C.C. Coffeehouse on March 5, 1977 at 8:15 p.m. in the C.C. Activities Room. It will feature W. Owl, J. Galbo, S. Schwarz, Charlie Char and M. Polishook.

Maintaining academic standards

According to the College Catalogue, one of the fundamental objectives of a liberal arts education is to teach the students to communicate ideas both orally and in writing. Given the goals of this institution it becomes apparent that all departments must be concerned with this clarity of expression.

The plan to halt declining academic standards has been echoed from Ravine to South. Rarely have concrete steps been taken to alleviate the problem.

This Friday, the Instruction Committee will submit a proposal to the faculty for suggestions. Recognizing the need to improve basic communication skills, the Committee has devised a plan that does not place the burden solely on the English Department.

Essentially the program involves expanding the number of sections of English A - Basic Composition - and creating a series of specially designated "Freshman" classes. These particular courses or sections would be limited to 20 to 25 students (all Freshmen) and special attention would be paid to providing improvement in communication skills.

According to the Committee's proposal, departments will be asked to designate certain courses or sections as "Freshmen" classes. Frequent short papers would be assigned and carefully criticized, with the expectation that students would benefit from rewriting papers to meet the professor's criticisms.

All departments should be concerned about the way in which students express their ideas. Proper sentence structure, spelling, punctuation and the mechanics of expression are essential if one wishes to express one's ideas in an effective and fluent manner.

The CAMPUS also recognizes the need and supports the intent of the proposal. Because the CAMPUS depends on a great deal of written material from the students, we, in particular, are acutely aware of the problem that exists.

If the attainment and maintenance of adequate oral and written and communicative skills are to remain priorities, they must be emphasized in all departments. Presently, it is too easy for students to circumvent courses that involve intensive written assignments, and we would like to see every one get back to the basics.

Accepting applications

It is the end of second term, and once again many student organizations are advertising for people to take over their leadership positions. Among the organizations looking for people are the CAMPUS, A.C.E., Allegheny Student Government (Cabinet positions), Outing Club and the Campus Center Cabinet.

We would like to urge all students to get involved in organizations that interest them. Most of these positions are open to anyone at any level of experience, so it can be easy to get involved with the student organizations that get things done on campus.

This may be your chance to contribute something meaningful to Allegheny as a whole, as well as draw upon the extracurricular activities that Allegheny offers to enhance your stay here.

The crisis in Uganda eased some yesterday as President Idi Amin told a group of Americans that he "has nothing against them." Some two hundred Americans are stranded in Uganda awaiting a meeting with Amin tomorrow. Meanwhile, President Carter has expressed his personal gratitude to Amin for his assurances that the Americans in his country will not be harmed.

An armed man was subdued in Wellington, New Zealand yesterday sixty-five feet from the parade route of Britain's Queen Elizabeth II. An off-duty Detective, Bill Hooper, saw the man pull out an air rifle moments before the Queen was expected to pass. Hooper and other policemen wrestled the man to the ground. Officials later said the rifle was loaded with a 22-caliber pellet which could be lethal at close range. The Queen is visiting New Zealand in celebration of her 25th year on the throne.

The U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to hear arguments on a case involving energy needs versus environmental dangers. The state of Washington claims it has the right to exclude super tankers from Puget Sound. Atlantic Richfield Oil Company says only the Federal Government can regulate tanker traffic. Thus far a lower court has agreed with the oil company. Ten other states have also asked the court to rule on the matter.

Just What Is A Review?

To the editor:

Although I fully realized that Allegheny College is not a school geared towards serious music students, I must vehemently object to the review of the Composition Seminar in last week's CAMPUS. Although the very idea of critiquing such a performance should be commended, the review, however (if it could be called as such) left much to be desired. Miss Zerucha shows her obvious ignorance of contemporary music by stating that Shawn Decker's third piece was "Bartok-like." Bela Bartok composed music that did nothing of the sort. True, the music resembled the style of Bartok a great deal, Miss Zerucha's sweeping, if not ignorant generality did not begin to describe Mr. Decker's composition.

Rather than stress performance techniques like the ridiculous comment about the flutist's breathings, it would make much more sense to speak of the music itself, something that Miss Zerucha's article proved she knows nothing about. I must say that all I got out of the review was that Nancy Taylor had a throat infection, Art Stewart stood in front of the singers, and Shawn Decker is a trumpeter not a pianist. Could this be called a review of a concert? Hardly. I sincerely suggest that a music critique be just that: a review of the music. The public does not need a blow by blow description of the artist's techniques. Miss Zerucha's obvious inexperience in music proved to be a definite obstacle in writing a review of this type. Perhaps she should attend a few more concerts.

RESPONSE Paul Sekhri

By Terri Zerucha

I question Paul Sekhri's criticism of my article based on the failure to define the central term "review", which is a description and evaluation of a subject.

In last week's issue, I not only described the pieces performed at the composition recital but evaluated them using my musical background, something that Sekhri failed to investigate before he wrote his letter.

I also question Sekhri's understanding of a basic term in literature called a simile. To say that a composition was "Bartok-like in that its melody did not leave the audience at rest" is not to say that Shawn Decker writes exactly like Bela Bartok, but that the feelings I have when I listen to Bartok are similar to the feelings I had when I listened to Decker's piano composition.

In the evaluation of a musical concert, anything that would distract the audience from appreciating a composition, must be stated if the musical review is to be fair to the musicians and the readership. If those distractions happen to be a conductor blocking out half the singers or the flutist doing deep breathing in between musical phrases, then why not mention it?

If the focus of Sekhri could have been directed away from a few concrete examples of distractions to the audience and reviewer, he would have found that the composers were highly praised. He would have also found background information about the musicians and their personal style of composing.

Perhaps in the future, Sekhri would be interested in contributing his musical expertise to review concerts for the CAMPUS staff.

Raitt Tickets Selling Fast

To the Editor:

Since Bonnie Raitt will be here in the flesh in just a matter of days, I'd like to speak of the show and concerts in general.

First of all, on behalf of the Concert Committee and everyone else who has helped make concerts feasible, I thank all students for their support of past shows. It's my hope that concerts have been good enough and diverse enough to satisfy most everyone who has attended.

A long time ago I said the Bonnie Raitt concert will be one of the finest musical events Allegheny students will ever see. I do truly believe it would be difficult to see Bonnie and not have a good time.

Frankly, at this point there is little need to talk up the show. The concert appears to be a certain sellout. Advance sales as of Monday have accumulated to the tune of one third of all seats to be sold. I have the obligation to say, very plainly, there may not be tickets available the day or evening of the show. Obviously, there's a reason tickets are going well, so to go on Friday is to treat yourself. Thank you very much.

Volunteers Thanked

To the Editor:

We wish to thank all those persons who worked so hard at hosting the recent Presidents' Athletic Conference Wrestling Championships at Allegheny. All of the visiting schools were amazed at the efficiency with which we carried out this event.

This was all made possible by volunteer students and faculty. A special thanks to those who worked so hard in organizing, planning and administering during the two weeks prior to the meet - namely Kevin Herzog, Jeannie Baker, and Colleen Crane.

Without this teamwork we could not have had this fine production.

Sincerely,

Aggie Suggests New Courses For Students

Dear Aggie,
I always get irritated around pre-registration time because I think of all the neat courses that Allegheny could offer. Do you have any new course suggestions? Irritated

Dear Irritated,
Here are some of the courses I would suggest if the Dean of Instruction would like to vary the selection a little more.

- Remedial Walking- A remedial level course in how to walk up stairs, one at a time, and how to get to your classes without walking into anybody.
- Introduction to Fire Fighting- How to start a fire in your dorm room using matches and old socks and how to use a fire extinguisher if it gets out of control.
- Seminar on Waiting- Ways to amuse oneself while waiting in Cashier, Registrar, Post Office and Dining Hall lines.
- Language of the Cro Magnon Man- How to communicate with anyone in Bentley--and still get your point across.

- Interpretive Methods in Wildlife Techniques- How to have a social life at Allegheny--if you still have time for one.

-Ethnic Relations- The advantages of having an affair with an ethnic person--what it could do for your mind, your life, and your stomach.

- Biological Properties of Beer- The theory and practice of drinking beer with emphasis on what it can do for your biological system.

- Creative Writing- How to write like Aggie.

- Chemical Engineering Analysis- Industrial processes, including electrochemistry and high pressure technology, with emphasis on what they are putting in your deodorant these days.

- Ceramic Problems- What REALLY happened inside the kiln that made your pot blow up.

- Adolescent Psychology- Understanding your professors, their thinking and their actions.

- Hydrometeorology- Exchange of water between the atmosphere, the lithosphere, and the hydrosphere; factors influencing aereal and temporal distribution with emphasis on why it rains so much in Meadville.

- Airport Engineering- Planning and design of air transportation facilities including terminal areas, runways, and navigational aids. A special session will feature The Treasurer speaking on what an airport at Robertson Field can do for Allegheny College.

- Civil Engineering Failures Seminar- A seminar and discussion session on why there are puddles on the tennis courts, why the CC is sinking, (or the sidewalk in front is rising) and how to keep the Pelletier Library where it belongs.

Advanced Economic Thought - An in depth study of how the Bookstore is out to make a profit.

- Sophomore Seminar- How to be a sophomore and like it.

Animal Nutrition Laboratory- How to keep your dorm-room pet alive on SAGA food.

- Remedial Conservation Policy- A remedial course in conservation practices, to be taught by the College Treasurer--emphasis will be on such decisions as closing college buildings at night and why a sun lamp in the Post Office is beneficial.

Well, fans, I hope that if YOU have any brilliant ideas for new courses that you submit them to "Dear Aggie", Box 12!!!

Energy

By Carol DeWolf
Recent night and weekend closings of classroom buildings represent a further step in Allegheny's plan to decrease energy consumption. This latest action has resulted in limiting the work time of students doing labs and seniors projects particularly in the natural sciences. Efforts by science professors to get building hours extended for these students have so far been futile. In addition, the administration has suggested that the "character" of student projects may have to be altered in the future so as to conform with these building limitations.

The problem here seems to be one of priorities. True, the energy crisis is a real concern and one that will require strict conservation measures on a permanent basis. But, when we must change curricula and perhaps confine potential laboratory scientists to library research, are we making the right decisions? The moment we are forced to sacrifice learning for the purpose of saving a few extra hours of electricity and fuel is the time to re-examine the purpose of this institution.

There are certainly alternative conservation measures that can be taken to avoid such sacrifice. Energy conservation through private action is perhaps the most effective way of dealing with the problem. Students, faculty, and the administration must all be made more aware of the implications of the energy shortage and what they can do to help. This means a broad education program including full use of the campus media. Conservation by every one will have to make a difference.

The administration seems to have little faith in the students. The students are not insensitive to the energy crisis or to the needs of the college in this situation. Most are willing to put up with less lighting in the classrooms. Most are willing to endure lower building temperatures so that they can get their work done. And most are willing to do whatever they can to help. Students are willing to make sacrifices, but sacrificing their education is not the answer.

Psychic Search

By Rick Green

Reincarnation is a concept of life after death in which over half of the world's population rests their beliefs. A proper understanding of this concept has given many people answers to the questions that have intrigued men since the beginning of time. Reincarnation has also supplied the answers to many who so often find contradictions and redundancies in their studies of psychology sociology and other academic fields.

The theory of reincarnation basically relays this message: We are born, we die and we are born again, not in a lower form of life but as human beings. We are given this chance for growth, expansion and purification of our souls. There is also a law of KARMA which goes hand in hand with reincarnation.....the law of "what one sows, so shall he reap."

Respected for their invaluable contributions to mankind, these influential individuals should also be known for their belief in reincarnation:

Plato--"Soul is older than the body. Souls are continually born over and over again in this life."

Voltaire--"It is just as remarkable to be born once as twice."

Whittier--"A presence strange at once and known walked with me as my guide; The shades of some forgotten life trailed noiselessly at my side."

Pythagoras--His biographer, Laertius, wrote this about the famed Greek mathematician; "He was first born as one Aethliades, then came back as Euphorbus, and was next wounded at Troy by Menelaus, husband of fair Helen."

Thoreau, Emerson, Alcott--These three felt that they had lived before and could remember "a lively chord in the soul is struck, when the windows for the moment are unbarred."

Ben Franklin-- "When I see nothing annihilated in the works of God and not a drop of water wasted, I cannot suspect the annihilation of the soul and I believe I shall always exist and I shall not object to a new edition of mine, hoping that the errata of the last may be corrected.

St. John--"Jesus answered and said unto him, 'Verily, verily I say unto thee, except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.'" (John, 3:3; Many believe that through the early stages of Christianity, reincarnation was written out of the Bible to conform with the early church's beliefs.)

These are but a few of the references toward reincarnation but there are countless more. Mozart was composing music at the age of five. The Polish prodigy, Josef Hofmann, was playing classical numbers on the piano at the age of one and a half, when he could hardly sit up at the instrument. Peter Hurkos, the famed psychic, spoke fluent Russian while under hypnosis with an accent, but he had never studied or read the language before. Time after time people regressed under hypnosis speak of previous lives. Almost everyone has had a glimpse of a past reincarnational experience called déjà vu (already seen), where people attest that they recognize persons and places they could not possibly have seen before.

Showtime brings Broadway to A.C.

By Sally Spencer

The production of Orchestis, entitled "Showtime" opened exuberantly Wednesday night.

The first half of the performance began with "There's No Business Like Show Business." The entire dance company ran onto the stage, designed to resemble a city atmosphere. The "young talent" showed their skills by cartwheeling and leaping around.

The opening number moved smoothly into "Chorus Line," as the "novices" auditioned for their first Broadway parts.

Then dances were performed to such familiar tunes as "Mame," "Oklahoma," and "Cabaret." Laura Clements performed an intricate tap dance to "Yankee Doodle."

After a short intermission, "Showtime" moved to more current Broadway hits.

The same fine quality was shown in performances to "Aquarius," "Jesus Christ Superstar," "Shaft," "Turn Back, O Man," and "Godspell."

Dancers performed solos to perfection. Teresa Cordell soloed in "Aquarius" Wednesday night, with Lalla Stolar performing the number on Friday. Barb Coles performed an emotional interpretation of "Jesus Christ Superstar," and Don Delach played a persuasive Jesus in "Godspell."

Lalla Stolar and Barb Coles combined their talents in a seductive production of "Turn Back, O Man."

The audience enjoyed the performance, which was shown in the applause after each number. Wednesday the C.C. Auditorium was at half-capacity, but Friday night there was a large crowd.

The colorful costumes, appropriate lighting and imaginative choreography joined to make the performance seem professional.

Lalla Stolar and Barb Coles did most of the choreography, with Mrs. Lyle (advisor) and Laura Clements each directing one number.

The performance seemed more professional than I expected from an amateur group. The interest and dedication of all the members was evident in their dancing.

"Showtime" was pleasing to watch, and except for the fact that the coordination was off by a little in "Shaft" Wednesday night, and that there was a rather long wait after one number, the only complaint I have is that the show ended too soon.

Feldman reads poems

By Phyllis Hoffman

Irving Feldman broke the ice last Monday night with his opening poem, "Greenwich Village, Saturday Night." Feldman read selected poems from several works, including his latest, LEAPING CLEAR, to a small group of students and faculty in Skylight.

Feldman, a graduate of Columbia University, is now a professor at S.U.N.Y. at Buffalo. His other works include: WORKS AND DAYS (1961), THE PRIPET MACHINE (1965), MAGIC PAPERS (1970) and LOST ORIGINALS (1972).

Feldman, while dressed in jeans, kept the reading casual. His choice of poems appeared to be spontaneous and he established a comfortable rapport with his audience by sprinkling his performance with anecdotal and humorous quips. A small dark haired man, he delivered his poems expressively with a hoarse, but penetrating deep voice. After his initial ice-breaker, Feldman read what he termed more "cultural" poems: "Goya" and "Portrait of a Woman." Both works were inspired by paintings.

Other selections included: "Seeing Red," "The Brighton Beach Local" and "Morton's Dream," all of which revealed a unique, insightful approach.

In "As Far As You Can See," Feldman's rendition of the Gingerbread Man tale, the Gingerbread Man was "eaten by reality." Feldman admitted that the Gingerbread Man was one of his favorite characters and that he had affected his entire life.

Feldman's selections from LEAPING CLEAR included: two short prose poems, "Was Weasel, Isn't, Is" and a lengthy dramatic poem, "The Golden Schlemiel."

A reception followed the performance, which was sponsored by the Public Events Committee.

Renting An Apartment

SECURITY DEPOSITS

Renting an apartment is not a very glamorous activity. Nonetheless, there are ways of making the task more efficient, less-time-consuming, and in the long run more economical.

WHERE TO LOOK

FRIENDS - Ask your friends if they know of any available places to rent. This is probably the best place to begin your search.

NEWSPAPERS - Newspaper classified listings will give you an idea of the rents being charged for various types and sizes of apartment in various locations.

REAL ESTATE AGENCIES - Very often landlords list available apartments with a real estate broker. By calling these - particularly those located near the area where you are looking - you can very often turn up some leads. However, don't deal with "apartment finders" operated by persons who do not have a real estate broker's license. These often charge for lists that are taken from the daily papers - lists that by reading the papers you could get for nothing.

LOOKING AT AN APARTMENT

After you compile a list of apartments, go and make a thorough investigation of at least three. The following questions suggest things to look for:

What is your first impression? Does the apartment and the building it is in look like it is regularly and adequately maintained?

Check the furnace, hot water tank, toilet, all drains, and all appliances in the apartment. Do they all work? Are there enough electrical outlets and lights? Is the wiring adequate to handle, for instance, an air conditioning unit?

Have you checked the windows? Are they all uncracked? Have you asked if the apartment has storm windows and screens?

Are the floors in good order, no serious holes or splintering? Are they clean?

Do the doors close easily and securely? Do locks to outside work?

Is there ample ventilation, and are there adequate exits in case of emergency?

Have you asked what the highest heating and electrical bills are?

Have you asked about rent increases? What, for instance, were the increases over the last three years?

Have you asked others living in the apartment how they like living there?

Do you know the name, and address of the owner of the apartment?

Have you imposed a 24-hour waiting period on yourself? During this time, you should consider the apartment's location (is it for instance, close to schools, work and shopping areas), its utility rates, its maintenance costs, its restrictions, if any, on children or pets.

Most landlords require tenants to deposit with them an amount equal to one or two months rent (two months rent is the legal maximum). This money is supposed to cover non-payment of rent or any damage the tenant does to the apartment - damage that goes beyond the normal wear and tear-caused by daily living. To protect your security deposit:

Before you move into an apartment, go through it thoroughly and list any and all damage. If possible, request that the landlord go through it with you. Prepare this list in duplicate and date it. Then, request your landlord to sign both copies. Give him a copy, and keep one for your records.

Before you sign the lease, find out what sort of repairs you will be responsible for and which are to be paid for by the landlord. Make certain that these responsibilities are clearly set forth in the lease itself.

SIGNING THE LEASE

Read the lease carefully before you sign it.

Make certain you know for which of the utilities you are responsible.

Determine the consequences of leaving before the lease expires. Determine how much notice you must give before leaving.

Make certain that you get a full list of other regulations the landlord expects you to follow.

Get a copy of the lease for your own records.

WHILE LIVING IN THE APARTMENT

Be mindful that you are responsible for damage beyond normal wear and tear.

When repairs are needed, see that they are made as soon as possible.

WHEN YOU MOVE

Request that the landlord go through the apartment in your presence to determine the damage that he is going to charge against your security deposit. Occasionally, landlords attempt to keep the security deposit after the lease expires and the tenant moves out, even though the tenant has not done any damage. But the tenant is not helpless: By knowing your rights under the law, you can take steps to see to it that the money you are entitled to is returned.

A Pennsylvania law protects your security deposit by providing that a landlord provide within 30 days after you leave:

A written list of any damages for which the landlord claims you are liable.

A refund of the security deposit less the cost of the repairs on the written list.

If the landlord fails to provide the list and the refund within thirty days, he cannot sue for any damages he claims are owed him. Moreover, you can sue him and recover double the difference between the amount of the security deposit and the damages to the apartment which the landlord can prove.

However, you must give the landlord your new address promptly. If you don't do this, you forfeit the rights this law gives you.

If you have a complaint, contact the Pennsylvania Bureau of Consumer Protection office nearest you:

The Survey Questions

- How is the rent calculated?
- Rent paid per person per month?
- Number of persons occupying apartment at present?
- Maximum number of persons who could comfortably occupy the apartment?
- Does your landlord expect summer rent?
- Is there a lease?
- number of rooms (not counting bathrooms)?
- Number of bedrooms?
- Is the apartment well insulated?
- Bath facilities?
- Bath facilities?
- Are there kitchen facilities?

- Do you pay for utilities?

Most landlords require tenants to deposit with them an amount equal to one or two months rent. This money is supposed to cover non-payment of rent or any damage the tenant does to the apartment - damage that goes beyond the normal wear and tear caused by daily living. To protect your security deposit:

1. Before you move into an apartment, go through it thoroughly and list any and all damage. If possible, request that the landlord go through it with you. Prepare this list in duplicate and date it. Then, request your landlord to sign both copies. Give him a copy, and keep one for your records.

2. Before you sign the lease, find out what sort of repairs you will be responsible for. Make certain that these responsibilities are clearly set forth in the lease itself.

SIGNING THE LEASE

- Read the lease carefully before you sign it.
- Determine the consequences of leaving before the lease expires.
- Determine how much notice you must give before leaving.
- Make certain that you get a full list of other regulations that landlord expects you to follow.
- Get a copy of the lease for your own records.

Careful attention to these guidelines will make apartment hunting a little easier and, in the long run, more economical.

Renting an apartment is usually a dull, frustrating, and difficult undertaking. There is no way to escape the burden involved in renting and, at the same time, increasing your chances of getting the most for your money.

- Does your landlord live in the house with you?
- Are maintenance complaints taken care of?
- Complaints are handled through?
- How would you rate the condition of the apartment?
- Is the apartment safe?
- Do you have any pest problems?
- Describe the condition of the wiring.
- Are there adequate fire escapes?
- Is the apartment heated by gas?
- Is the heating (if by gas) safe?
- Does the landlord or neighbor complain about: noise?
- drinking?
- parties?
- drugs?
- unmarried couples sleeping there?
- pets?

Ensemble set for tonight

The Western Wind, a highly acclaimed vocal chamber music ensemble, will appear at Allegheny College's Campus Center Auditorium, tonight at 8:15 p.m. The ensemble, currently on a concert tour of American Colleges and Universities, has a repertoire of music ranging from the Middle Ages to the latest voices-with-electronic sounds.

The six singers making up the ensemble are Janet Steele and Janet Sullivan, sopranos; William Zukof, contratenor; Lawrence Bennett and William Lyon Lee, tenors; and Elliot Levine, baritone. The seventh member, Stephen Urkowitz, serves as dramatic supervisor. Each of the ensemble members is an experienced professional musician, trained in Europe and America, and each has been involved in teaching and performance at early music workshops throughout the country.

The Western Wind, founded in 1969, takes its name from a famous anonymous three verse medieval poem, "The Western Wynde." The group sings a cappella, one-to-a-part without a conductor. They specialize in vocal chamber music of the Middle Ages, Renaissance and early Baroque, and in the music of early America. They have been praised by critics for their ability to handle with equal finesse such opposites as Renaissance polyphony and barbershop crooning.

The group has made two recordings on the Nonesuch label. Their first record, "Early American Vocal Music," won Stereo Review's Best of the Month selection and was nominated for a Grammy award. A second recording, "L'Amfiparnaso-A Madrigal Comedy," was received with equal enthusiasm.

Tickets for the performance at Allegheny, entitled "Italia Mia - the genius of the Italian Renaissance," will be $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for students. Allegheny students and faculty are admitted free of charge.

Gallery goes big top

By Tim Cahill

The circus is one of those unique institutions which join all ages with a common bond. The magic which the bigtop evokes is timeless, as witnessed by those who have attended the show of circus posters now on display at the Doane Hall art galleries. The show, which runs until March 15, includes the posters from three major circuses and spans almost thirty years.

Barnum & Bailey's Greatest Show on Earth fills a large portion of the show. Posters depicting the fascinating menageries, daredevil stunts and captivity exhibits, all create as much excitement now as they surely did when they were printed. The viewer finds himself trying to imagine what a certain act would look like or how such a thing is possible.

The Megahan gallery has been transformed into a kind of Buffalo Bill room for the duration of the show. Posters filled with the excitement of the wild west and far off lands turn the small room into a unique visual experience.

The merging of two big-top kings- Barnum & Bailey and the Ringling Bros. - created what is still today the most famous circus in history. Characteristic of the Ringling Bros.; Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth posters is one large figure (such as a charging tiger) rather than smaller, more numerous figures.

It is difficult to transfer the excitement one feels viewing these posters. The show must be seen to be appreciated. Go once, however, and you may not be able to stay away. The posters offer something different every time they're seen. The magic of the circus never lets go.

Dr. James Day, Director of Summer School at Allegheny College, wishes to inform students of the summer school schedule and fees for 1977.

Of the two sessions planned, the first will extend from Monday, June 20 to Friday, July 22. The second session will be from Monday, July 25 to Friday, August 26.

The cost is $240 per course and currently $400 for two courses.

Dr. Day hopes that a course catalogue will be available to students before the summer break.

Roundballers beat W&J

By David Nelson

The Allegheny College basketball team lost to Hiram 101-73 on Thursday, but bounced back on Saturday to defeat Washington & Jefferson 65-49.

Saturday's game, which was played in the Meadville High School Gym, was the final game of the year for the Gators. They closed out the season with an 11-9 record (8-6 in the Presidents' Athletic Conference).

The game was closer than the 16 point margin of victory indicates. Although Allegheny never trailed, they were unable to build a lead of more than 10 points until less than a minute remained in the game.

Allegheny threatened to blow W&J off of the court early in the game.

Bill Faloan scored first for Allegheny, but W&J quickly tied the score 2-2. Ralph Hopkins then hit a jumper and Allegheny led the rest of the game.

A three point play by Marty Orzechowski and two baskets by Faloan upped the Gator lead to 11-2. After a W&J basket, Orzechowski scored a twisting lay-up and the Presidents, down 13-4, called timeout to talk things over. After the timeout, W&J cut the Gator lead to 15-11. Hopkins then hit two baseline jumpers and a layup to increase the Gator lead to 21-13.

W&J then ran off seven straight points and Allegheny's lead shrunk to one, 21-20, with 10:06 left in the half.

Jim Wheeler then hit an 18 foot jump shot to hike the Gator lead to three.

The two teams traded baskets for about six minutes and AC led 34-31 with 3:03 left in the half.

W&J then went into a stall hoping for one last shot, but the plan backfired. With two seconds remaining, Allegheny's Tim Feeney drew a charging foul. Feeney, who played a fine game defensively, made one of the foul shots to make the halftime difference 35-31.

Baskets by Hopkins and Faloan to start the second half raised AC's lead to eight. The lead then fluctuated between six and ten points until the final seconds.

During much of the second half, the fans and coaches paid as much attention to the officials as they did to the game itself.

The fans repeatedly voiced their displeasure with calls made by the officials, as did the coaches of both teams. After one call, Gator assistant coach Pete Vaas jumped from his chair and walked half the length of the court, shaking his head in disbelief.

In the closing moments, the prevailing action changed from anger to appreciation. Allegheny seniors Marty Orzechowski, Bill Faloan, Dave Ellis and Frank Barba left the court for the last time and each received a standing ovation from the crowd.

In the final 50 seconds, reserves Chris McClure, Craig Jones and Terry Coles combined for six points making the final score 65-49.

Hopkins led the Gators with 18 points and Faloan tossed in 16.

On Thursday, AC was soundly defeated, 101-73, by a fine Hiram team that sports a 15-4 record.

Allegheny fell behind early and trailed 14-4 and 22-12 in the opening minutes. Behind the outside shooting of Orzechowski and Hopkins the Gators rallied to tie the score at 26 apiece. AC pulled ahead on a basket by Orzechowski and led until half time when they took a 42-38 lead into the locker room. The lead did not last long, though, as the Terriers shot 67% from the field in the second half and outscored the Gators by a 63-31 margin.

Eric Lindberg led the Gators with 19 points and Orzechowski added 16.

Wheeler dished out 10 assists to lead Allegheny in that department.

Erdos to replace Freas as coach

Thomas C. Erdos, head coach of one of the finest scholastic swim programs in the country, has been appointed to the positions of physical education instructor and swimming and soccer coach at Allegheny College.

The thirty-year-old Erdos presently is health and physical education instructor at Peters Township High School, McMurray, south of Pittsburgh. He also is director of aquatics and pool services and intramural director for boys and girls. In addition to being head coach of the boys' and girls' swim teams, he is coach of the Peters Township AAU Swim Club.

Erdos is a graduate of Butler Senior High School, where he was voted Outstanding Athlete of the Year in 1964. He was an All-American high school swimmer, played soccer and as an all-star baseball player received a professional tryout.

He graduated from Slipperry Rock State College in 1968 with a bachelor of science degree in health and physical education. He was voted Slippery Rock's Outstanding Athlete of the Year in 1968 after a college swimming career that included being a four-time All-American. He was captain of the swim team three years.

He has been awarded a Certificate of Distinction for

Swimmers

By Steve Wylie

The Allegheny swim team swamped both Hiram and CMU last week to end their regular season with a record of 10-1. The two wins continued an amazing streak for the Gators, who are unbeaten in the last five years in the Presidents Athletic Conference.

"Not too many people know that," quipped Coach Sam Freas. Freas noted that the streak adds up to 35 straight conference victories.

Outstanding Coaching by the American Swimming Coaches Association.

During the past seven years his boys' swim teams have been WPIAL champions two years, in 1971 and 1974, and runnersup four other years. The girls' swim team won titles in 1971 and 1973 and has been runner-up four times.

down Hiram, CMU

The week started with a 69-42 win at Hiram, and ended when the Gators chomped up Carnegie Mellon, 80-33. At Hiram, Rich Doncaster broke a pool record, swimming the 200 freestyle in 1:51.6. Marty Pfingraff set pool records at CMU in the 200 freestyle and the 200 butterfly, and Art Scolari set a pool diving record.

Coach Freas is confident about the upcoming PAC's at John Carroll this weekend. "We're going to win them," he said candidly. The event he's really looking forward to is the NCAA championship to be held March 17, 18, and 19 at Oberlin College.

"We've never been more ready," said Freas. "The PAC's used to be the big meet for us, but this year it's the Nationals. We've got a much better chance than ever before." There was a tinge of anticipation in his voice; this is Freas' last year at Allegheny.

See Swim Coach pg.8.

In spite of their loss to Johns Hopkins, it has been a rewarding season for the Gators. But Freas noted it is hard to tell if this season is one of their best in recent years. "You don't know until you get to Nationals," he explained. At any rate, if the Gators continue to dive into the swamp the way they have been, nobody will make them into baggage this weekend.

JCU captures 11th PAC trophy; Gator grapplers land fifth place

By Beth Giese

For the eleventh year in a row, John Carroll University has taken the wrestling trophy home. Mounting 90.25 points Friday and Saturday in the David Mead Fieldhouse, JCU dominated by sending eleven Blue Streaks to the finals.

Six of these seven were defending champions and were victorious again, including senior Brad Bowman, four-time champion at 177 pounds and winner of the Outstanding Wrestler Award of the tournament.

Hiram College repeated its second-place finish, totaling 74.75 points and closing in on JCU's gap of previous years. Last year Hiram ended second with 58 points to JCU's 126.75.

Allegheny accumulated 26.75 points to finish fifth in the seven-team tournament. The team standings were repetitive of last year's, with the exception of Bethany and Case Western Reserve.

Seventh last season, CWRU moved past Bethany with 22.25 points to the Bison's six points to place sixth. Washington and Jefferson finished third with 50 points, and Thiel ended fourth with 42.75.

Two Gators, freshman Tony Donatelli, at 150 lbs. and junior Eric Templin, at 190 lbs. worked their way into the finals.

Donatelli defeated Don Richards of CWRU 2-0 in the first round of competition. In the semi-finals, Donatelli won 9-3 over John Carroll's Tom Cua.

However, in the final match, Hiram's Kevin Brandenburg defeated Bethany's Tom Massie (Pin 4:21) in the first round, and Thiel's defending champion Owen Lenkner in the semi-finals (18-7).

AC's Templin won a 6-4 decision over Tom Snyder of Hiram in the first round. Then in the semi-finals, Templin pinned Bethany's Bob Nani in 4:30.

Templin met defeat in the finals, though, as JCU's defending champ Kevin Hinkel won the decision 16-11. Hinkel defeated CWRU's Fred Guttieres, 14-6 and W&J's Ed McCrackin, 15-1.

Allegheny's Tom Corbet finished third in the tournament at 126 pounds. Corbet was defeated by W&J's John Burns in the semi-finals in overtime (9-9, 6-0 OT).

However, Corbet defeated Thiel's Pete Frantz in the final consolations.

Gator Jeff Tindall ended fourth in the 142 division. Tindall was defeated by the two year champion Nick Cipollo of JCU by the score of 5-1.

In the semi-final consolations, Tindall won the 14-3 decision over Bethany's Drew McConoghy, who was defeated by Cipollo in the semi-finals, 13-3. Thiel's Brian Holzshu won the final consolation over Tindall.

Racine's women beat Westminster

By Beth Giese

Allegheny's women's basketball team kept its second-place standing intact by defeating Westminster College by the score of 56-44 in the David Mead Fieldhouse last Tuesday.

The Gators now boast an 8-3 record overall, an 8-1 league slate and a 3-1 conference title race mark. AC's only loss in the league was a 59-54 defeat at the hands of the Behrend Cubs.

In a two-way tie for second with the Gators, Behrend lost to Grove City by two points. Undeclared so far in league action, the Grovers took on AC last night in Grove City.

Particularly instrumental for the Gators in the Westminster clash was 5-11 junior Cathy Blohm. "We've had trouble beating other teams because we were beating ourselves," said AC Coach Beth Racine.

"So this game I set goals for everybody, and Cathy did more than I predicted. She was outstanding," said the coach. High scorer for the Gators with 17 points, Blohm also tallied 22 rebounds.

Also shooting in double figures for AC was Cathy Murphy, who netted 16 points. And the other top rebounders were Sarah Muhlenberg with 14 and Maureen Scully with ten.

Westminster's Lindsey Gilbert drew high shooting honors by netting 24 points with 12 field goals. Colleen Caldwell hit for 16 points for WC.

Only three free throw shots were attempted in the contest, as the Gators committed 11 fouls, none of them shooting fouls, and WC fouled six times.

"In 12 years of basketball I've never seen a game like this," Racine commented. "It wasn't that the refs weren't calling fouls; there just weren't many in the game," she added.

All three attempts were made by the Gators, and never was there a one-and-one situation. Blohm connected on one free throw attempt, and Muhlenberg hit one of a two-shot situation.

Allegheny controlled under the boards; the Gators grabbed 32 defensive and 31 offensive rebounds to WC's 26 defensive and six offensive.

"In the first half, we had only eight offensive rebounds," said Racine, "so during half-time, I told them (Gator players) who was shooting and how to compensate."

Beginning the second period ahead 31-26, AC continued to show the top hand. But with 9:12 left in the game and with the score 46-30 in favor of Allegheny, WC's Audrey Norris was severely injured.

Attempting to save the ball from reaching out of bounds territory, Norris fell to the ground at one end of the court. She was taken to Meadville City Hospital with an injury to her back.

After the 25-minute delay, Westminster came back with a strong bid of 14 points to the Gator's ten, but WC never regained the lost ground.

Gator icers tie Thiel, 1-1

By Steve Wylie

In their second game of the season, the Allegheny Hockey Club out-skated Thiel College, but had to settle for a 1-1 tie. It wasn't like kissing your sister though, for the Gators came away from the game with new-found confidence.

Thiel scored early in the contest when Norm Hamilton broke past the Allegheny defense and shot the puck over goalie Tim Mecke's right shoulder.

The Gators stormed back minutes later when right winger Tim Pembroke picked up a rebound from Steve Wylie's wrist shot and fired it into the net.

The rest of the game was scoreless, but Allegheny dominated play. The Gators missed two power play chances in the second period, but continued to forecheck relentlessly. Thiel goalie Tom Lewis sparkled in the nets, kicking out shot after shot.

The third period of the game was wide open, as each side traded good scoring opportunities. Jim Goduti cut in front of the net late in the period and fired a backhand just wide, and with minutes of the game when Steve Bashor left after being cut by a stick.

The Hockey Club plays its next game against Westminster this Sunday at 7:00 p.m. in the Meadville Recreational Skating Rink. Admission is free.

The POM POM SQUAD: It adds excitement and spice to Allegheny's home basketball games

By Vanessa Holley
The Allegheny Pom-Pom squad is a newly formed group that consists of ten students. The purpose of this group is to promote enthusiasm and interest at the Men's Basketball Games. The squad was formed by Vanessa Holley with the help of Helen Shorter. They asked Miss Kirk to be the advisor of the group and to help them in funding. The organization received a donation from A.S.G. to purchase uniforms, which consist of gold sweaters, navy blue turtle-necks and pants, gold socks, blue and white saddle shoes and blue and gold pom poms. Financial help was also received from Mr. Sundstrom, Mr. McElhaney and Dean Woodard.

The group performs only at home games; the reason being that necessary equipment would not be available at the away games.

This year the squad performed its dance routines to four records: Love Rollcoaster by the Ohio Players, You Should Be Dancing by the BeeGees, Bra by Cymande and DAZZ by Brick. Next year they hope to expand to doing cheers as well as routines to aid the cheerleaders.

The squad membership for 1977 is as follows: Vanessa Holley, captain, Michele Diggs, co-captain, Michele Harrison, secretary and treasurer, Monica Coard, Pam Cunningham, Glenda DeJarnette, Peggy Fuller, Karen Hodges, Karen Primus, Helen Shorter, Charlyce Boulden and Marjorie Najac as substitutes.

The squad wishes to express thanks to the following people for their assistance in helping to get them on their feet: A.S.G., the Cheerleaders, Mr. Gary Kelsey, Miss "Doc" Kirk, Mr. Levels, Mr. McElhaney, Mr. Sundstrom and Dean Woodard.

Next year the squad will be open to everyone. Tryout is scheduled for third term. There will be ten performing members and a number of substitutes. If you are interested in joining the squad, contact one of its present members for further information, and try out third term.

Woodard nominated to Outstanding Men

Dr. Charles (Chick) Woodard, associate dean of students at Allegheny College, has been nominated for inclusion in the 1977 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America." This awards program recognizes young men between the ages of 21 and 36 for their achievements and contributions to their communities.

A former Erie resident, Woodard received the bachelor of science degree from Edinboro State College in 1968, majoring in social studies. As a student at ESC, he was elected to "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities." In 1972 he was awarded the master of arts degree, with specialization in guidance and counseling, from Wayne State University. He was awarded a Rackham Graduate Studies Doctoral Research grant in 1974-75, and received his Ph. D. in counselor education from the University of Michigan in 1975.

Woodard has been associate dean of students at Allegheny since 1975. As associate dean he counsels and advises minority students, works closely with the Counseling Center, supervises a program of student tutoring, coordinates the new student orientation program, administers a limited non-academic supportive services program. In addition he serves on the College's Academic Standards, Student Aid and Admissions Committee and assists and advises the Association of Black Collegians.

From 1973-75 Woodard served as assistant to the assistant dean for special projects at the University of Michigan at Flint, working in the areas of budget preparation, proposal writing, and assessment of programs in counseling advising and tutorial services.

You may pick up your Allegheny calendars, compliments of the Allegheny Alumni Association, at the Service Department in Cochran Hall.

Today is the last day for making appointments and turning in proposals concerning special interest housing for next year.

His 1974 team was ranked in the top 10 in the United States by "Swimming World" magazine. Erdos has been listed as one of the top high school swim coaches in the country.

"Allegheny College takes its education and sports seriously. I cannot wait to get involved with everyone in the Meadville area," commented Erdos.

Allegheny College Director of Athletics Harold McElhaney stated, "The athletic staff at Allegheny College is fortunate to have a teacher and coach of Tom's stature join us in our endeavor to achieve excellence in our program. Not only is he a proven winner, but he obviously has the ability to lead young people and inspire them to achieve their very best." Erdos will replace Sam Freas who is resigning to study for his doctoral degree.

McElhaney added, "It's with mixed emotions that we replace Freas. Not only is he a close friend of the college and community, but we lose one of the finest teacher-coaches that Allegheny and Meadville ever had."

GRADUATE to be distributed

THE GRADUATE magazine will be given free to all graduating seniors on March 2, 3, 4 in the Alumni Lounge, Cochran Hall from 9 a.m. - 12 p.m. compliments of the Allegheny Alumni Association

The 96-page HANDBOOK FOR LEAVING SCHOOL is an easy-reading, educational magazine. It includes information on careers, job hunting and life styles, as well as numerous other articles designed to prepare seniors for life after college.

"Employment Outlook '77" reviews and analyzes job options seniors have in several career areas, while "Choosing a Career" offers self-inventory exercises to help seniors determine their skills and where they can lead.

A number of GRADUATE articles are designed to aid seniors in their job hunt. "First Impressions Count" reveals what recruiters look for; "Tracking the Elusive Job" presents 10 ways to stand out from the crowd of other job hunters. Still, another feature examines the importance of appearance.

"First Job Realities-What Can You Expect?" is a special 3-part section including articles on entry level jobs, life in a big corporation and basics to learn from a first job.

Post-college life styles are also examined with special features in THE GRADUATE. "Rural Living" takes a look at the reasons young people are returning to small towns and villages to live; "The Single Experience" covers the advantages and disadvantages of being single in today's society.

Other articles in the handbook include "Fiscal Shock: or How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love Debt," "A Primer for Starting Your Own Business," and "Lifelong Learning: It's Not Too Early to Think About Going Back to School."

THE GRADUATE Magazine is published by Approach 13-30 Corporation, Knoxville Tennessee, an eight-year-old marketing and educational firm specializing in educational programs.

What if there were a list?

A list that said:
Our finest actors weren't allowed to act.
Our best writers weren't allowed to write.

What would it be like if there were such a list?
It would be like America in 1953.
