NEW YORK,
265, HENRY STREET.

Very dear Lady;

I have some of the dates for Jane Addams but not all and I find that her name has been used for a 'Politi' dinner (Politi dinner forsooth!) organized by a man whose reputation is not above questioning
and we are at present exchanging telegrams upon

it, However that has nothing to do with your inquiry and I can only say that I think the a lunch time will be
free and that J.A.
would love to be with you and that I wrote
her at once concerning
it, You will probably hear from her directly, I will let you know also

it. However that has
 say that I think the luncheon time will be
 free and that J.A.
 hear from her directly, &

Something of the love and admiration that fills the heart all
 the year and so
 rarely takes form - rather I rarely dares to take form. I am

taking advantage of the "invention" in ^x wanting you to know the deep affection I hold for you and the admiration and great loyalty for your great conception of ^{your} service to your generation. Ldm.
