November 8, 1930

My dear Mr. Brunyate:

I have your note of November Fifth, saying that one of your friends has advised you to copyright the Lincoln ambrotype. I know of no reason why you should not do so and for your own protection it seems to me that it would be wise. I have not a few Lincoln photographs, daguerreotypes and ambrotypes that have been copyrighted. Yours is an original of the period. I should do if if I were in your place.

I have not placed the picture and notes, which I thought of preparing to go with it, as yet. I am hoping to do so soon and shall write you if any arrangement is settled on.

Very sincerely yours

Lincoln Steffens
