REGISTRATION FOR FIRST TERM IS FIVE HUNDRED THIRTY-SIX

Two Hundred Twelve Freshmen Are Matriculated in Class of 1927

Registration reports from the office show an enrollment of 536 students. This is a decrease of four from the number registered the first term last year. Only two students are doing graduate work: Miss Alicia Tobin, candidate for the degree of M. A. in the Department of English, and Mr. Roy McGarrah, who is doing work in chemistry. Old students returning, after an absence of one or more semesters, number fourteen. Eight students come with advanced standing from other schools or colleges.

Total enrollment in the four classes are: Seniors, 88; Juniors, 100; Sophomores, 134; and Freshmen, 212.

Y. M. C. A. PUBLISHES MANUAL FOR FRESHMEN

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION BOOK CONTAINS UP-TO-DATE INFORMATION.

Revised to bring its information up to date, the Students' Manual, or "Frosh Bible," has made its annual appearance. This handbook is published jointly by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. of the College, primarily to aid and guide Freshmen in the devious paths of learning, but it contains, in a compact and convenient form, information which every student ought to have.

Five new cuts and an attractive style of printing make it a really handsome little book. Although its form and arrangement of contents are materially the same as in previous years, numerous revisions and additions have been made.

The College Calendar, President's greeting, accompanied by a cut of President Hixson, and foreword by the editor, Mr. R. H. Demmler, and greetings from the Presidents of the Christian Associations are in the front as formerly.

An unusually complete and well-chosen seelction of the more popular of the College songs and yells are contained in the next nine pages. Athletic records, which follow, have been brought up to date, and are given with complete data concerning the government of athletics at Allegheny.

The principal change in the college customs section is the omission of any mention of the Washington Birthday Banquet. Freshman Rules, however, now include a number of new regulations which were not imposed on the first year men last year.

Following the report of the Oratorical Association is the list of Allegheny's seventeen departmental clubs and seven honorary fraternities, with information concerning them.

Lists of men's and women's fraternities with information concerning them.

Lists of men's and women's fraternities and the roster of the Freshmen class completes the book.

The staff of the Manual was: Editor, Ralph H. Demmler; assistants, Jean Kitchen, Elizabeth Laffer, John Pratt, Edwin J. Schruers, Maurice Kolpien, Charles Havice; manager, Alexander Hill; assistant manager, DeWane Weston.

NEW RULING PASSED FOR FOOTBALL MANAGER COMPETITION

With the beginning of football practice on Montgomery Field and the opening of the season, the great amount of labor connected with the activities of the team has necessitated a call for candidates for assistant manager. Six sophomore men reported and are working daily under the guidance of student manager Eaton and Assistant Manager Dale. The candidates are, B. M. Stright, Chas. Severn, J. C. Culbertson, Howard Taylor, Geo. Archbold, and A. H. Bartlett. Under a new ruling passed recently by the Athletic Board of Control, to prevent partiality in picking future managers, men from the manager's fraternity are not allowed to compete.

Y. W. C. A. ENTERTAINS NEW WOMEN STUDENTS

ASSOCIATION PROVIDES SOCIAL ROUND FOR FRESHMEN

Following a custom of many years' standing, the first week's entertainments of each new college year are in the care of a committee of the Y. W. C. A. Therefore on Tuesday evening a party in the gymnasium for the freshmen girls was announced. At the appointed hour each girl appeared as an old-fashioned woman. After a period of games and dancing, refreshments were served.

The next event sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. was an informal reception in the parlor on Wednesday evening. Each new girl was escorted by an upperclassman and introduced to various groups of her future classmates.

A style show of correct and contrasting models, both interesting and amusing, was the feature of the evening's program. This was followed by impromptu stunts given by two groups. Refreshments were then served in the gymnasium, and with dancing the evening was completed, leaving with the freshmen girls some realization of what college life is to mean to them.

A murky, unfriendly day did not prevent the girls of Hulings Hall from enjoying the Y. W. C. A. dog-roast last Friday. The cavalcade of adventure-seeking Hulingites started for Park Avenue ravine, but some mysterious hand, probably sent by the approaching clouds, drew the leaders around the campus and back to the gymnasium door. Fearing to offend the occult powers, the girls filed into gymnasium, where Adventure was capably revenged by Hunger.

The members of the sophomore class, who presented a complicated musical comedy entitled "The Two-Timing Princess," provided the climax of the evening. The audience applauded generously, from the first act, when the lovely princess entered, heralded by beautiful, if slightly-out-of-step chorus ladies, to the last act, when the disappointed princess stabbed herself in love-stricken remorse.

He's some fast boy. Chapel Friday.

Make me laugh. Chapel Friday.

NEW RULES IMPOSED ON FROSH THIS YEAR

RULES COMMITTEE TO ENFORCE REGULATION UNTIL JUNE 4

This year's freshman class is the first to be governed by the new rules adopted by the Student Senate last spring.

It was a general campus opinion that freshmen rules were not sufficiently stringent during the last few years, and accordingly a change was made and approved by the student body.

The customary freshmen rules will continue until June 4 rather than be ended February 22. Black ties will be worn in addition to black socks. Another regulation reads. "Freshmen must speak respectfully to every male student."

A Rules Committee composed of the president of the Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman classes, and one representative from each of the upper classes, will deal with all violations of the rules.

LEACOCK AND PADDOCK COMING TO ALLEGHENY

Y. M. C. A. OFFERS UNUSUAL ATTRACTIONS AS SUBSTITUTE FOR BUDGET CAMPAIGN

Stephen Leacock and Charlie Paddock, two of the most famous and celebrated men in their respective fields, will come to Allegheny this year under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Leacock is internationally recognized as one of the leading humorists of the day, while Paddock's fame may be summed up in the words of critics who pronounce him "the fastest man of all time."

In preparing a program for the coming year, the association has adopted a course which will be popular and attractive to the entire student body, the faculty, and townspeople. After careful investigation and consideration Leacock and Paddock were selected as the men whose appearance at Allegheny would be looked forward to with the greatest enthusiasm.

Mr. Leacock will speak in the Chapel on Saturday evening, October 20. Every student who wishes to have a lively, rollicking good time should not fail to be present that evening. His humor, and satire throw his audiences into fits of laughter which are repeated and prolonged throughout the whole evening. Though a humorist of international fame, he is a man of profound learning, and some of his wit is subtle enough to require a moment of thought before one bursts out with a hearty laugh. He is often jestingly referred to as "The Great International Josher." His main business in life is to poke innocent fun at things and people. As a lecturer Leacock has been a decided success from his very first appearance. He talks in the same easy, humorous style in which he writes, and is a general favorite wherever he appears.

This program will supplant the annual budget campaign of the Y. M. C. A. and undoubtedly will have the approval and whole-hearted support of the student body.

HOME OF DR. ELLIOTT INVADED BY VANDALS

FIRE AND CUT TELEPHONE WIRES

Awakened by the odor of smoke at three o'clock Saturday morning, Mrs. W. A. Elliott and her sister, Mrs. Miller, arose and hurried downstairs to locate the source of the fumes.

When they reached the foot of the stairs, they found the lower floor filled with clouds of smoke. Upon rushing into the dining room, they found the furniture in a topsy-turvy condition, indicating that someone had paid a hurried visit. Frightened, but without any hesitation the two women hastened into the pantry where they immediately found the cause of their sudden awakening. Flames were leaping from a stack of papers piled beneath a chair which had been pushed into a corner. Particles of burnt matches gave evidence of malicious intent. The telephone wires on the first floor had been cut, confirming

Y. M.-Y. W. GIVE ANNUAL RECEPTION TOMORROW

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS HAVE PLANNED INTERESTING PROGRAM

There is something about the annual Y. M.-Y. W. reception that seems to start the year off right, and the spirit of this social event leaves an impression which remains even to alumni days. "Remember how we met for the first time at the Y. M.-Y. W. reception?" is usually a part of a reminiscence over those first few delightfully fearful weeks where everything was so strange and new. On tomorrow evening, beginning at eight o'clock, in Cochran Hall, some five hundred Alleghenians will make friendships which last long after textbooks are discarded.

Both cabinets of the Associations are busy preparing a program which will make the evening most pleasant to new students, old students, and faculty alike. Every effort is being extended to make the affair full of informality and good cheer. Mr. George Archbold and Miss Ruth Ling, in their capacities as social chairmen, are planning features which will give unusual turns to the program.

The music for the evening will have a large part in making the reception enjoyable. The Allegheny Serenaders have kindly donated their services and will play the latest popular songs. Mr. Eugene Hartzell and Miss Edith Briggs, music chairmen of their respective cabinets, have arranged for several additional musical numbers which will furnish some pleasant surprises. Refreshments, the usual autograph books, and Allegheny decorations will also contribute their share to the pleasure.

Upper-classemen and the faculty need no invitation to this annual gathering, but to the new men and women, who may have some hesitation in the matter, the Associations wish to emphasize the fact that every Alleghenian is most cordially invited. Since the reception is primarily for the freshman class, it is hoped that no member will fail to use this opportunity to make friends.

YEAR BRINGS CHANGES IN FACULTY PERSONNEL

DR. DARLING TO RESUME WORK AS HEAD OF BIOLOGY DEPARTMENT

Six new members were added to the Allegheny faculty to fill the places made vacant by the five who left its ranks at the end of last semester.

During the absence of Dr. J. R. Schultz, Dr. Randolph Faries will assist Professor R. W. Thomas in the Department of English Literature. Dr. Faries, who comes from the University of Pennsylvania, has expressed a lively interest in the Blue and Gold track team, and he will probably assist in the coaching of Allegheny's cross-country squad during this fall.

Mr. Arthur Emig, a former graduate student in Philosophy at Boston University, will be assistant professor in the Department of Philosophy and Education. Mr. Emig has been spending the past year traveling in Europe on a fellowship from Boston University. During the illness of Professor Lee D. McClean, Mr. Mason M. Hurd, who comes from the University of Illinois, will take charge of the courses in Economics. Professor Wesley G. Wagner, coming from Purdue University, will take Professor Beisel's place in the Department of Mathematics. Mr. Beisel is doing graduate work at Cornell. Miss Grace B. Raymond, who has been teaching at Morningside College, has come to Allegheny to fill the position of Professor Doty, who is now doing graduate work at the University of Illinois. The place made vacant by Professor H. S. E. Goodfellow, who is now teaching at Trinity College, will be filled by Miss Helen R. Adams, a recent Allegheny graduate.

Dr. C. A. Darling, who returned last spring from his sabbatic leave, will again take up his active duties as head of the Department of Biology and Geology. Dr. Kellogg F. Bascom, the acting head of that department last year, is now teaching at the University of Pennsylvania.

ALLEGHENY HURRICANE DEFEATS THIEL IN OPENING CONTEST

Blue and Gold Gains 14-0 Triumph Over Greenville Rivals

Playing before one of the largest crowds ever packed into Montgomery Field, the Allegheny Hurricane took advantage of ideal playing conditions to open the season with a well-earned victory over the Thiel team. Both teams displayed a rugged fighting spirit which added much to the interest in the game. There was a minimum of those indecisions which usually mark the opening games of the season, that shows well for McCracken's gridders and the success for the year.

Dahl proved himself a human battering ram and shares the offensive honors of the victors with Smith, whose consistent, daring dashes off tackle kept the Greenville team ever in fear. Fuller was a world of power on the defense. Christman, Thiel's snappy signal barker, and Zundel were the big guns for the Lutherans.

The game opened with McCoy kicking off to Smith who ran the ball to the 32 yard line. The first quarter was a see-sawing duel between both teams featured by a 22-yard pass completed from Morley to Schultz. Allegheny lost two chances to score in this period on an incompleted forward pass and a poor pass from center over Smith's head. Both errors came when Morley's charges were within striking distance.

Little time was wasted before scoring in the second period. A pretty pass of 15 yards from Morley to Hanlon started a spurt that culminated when Dahl crashed over the goal for the first score of the game. A minute later the goal was kicked and Allegheny had cinched the game. Dahl kicked the extra point.

Allegheny's second touchdown came in the third quarter when Buck Weaver trotted gracefully off tackle for the needed three yards after Dahl failed to penetrate the Thiel line in two attempts. Dahl again made good the kick for extra point.

Allegheny was weakened through injuries in the second half, Hanlon, Shultz, Dahl, Wolz, and Ewing being forced out of play. Parnell, too, was banished on a misjudged technicality. However, the substitutes held up well, Humeston being especially noticeable. Thiel proved much stronger than last year, but Allegheny's victory should dispell any local pessimism. Eliminating the apparent rough edges, which the course of the season is bound to

CAMPUS HEADQUARTERS AGAIN IN COCHRAN HALL

OFFICE IS EQUIPPED FOR CONVENIENCE OF STAFF

The Campus enjoys the advantage of having its office this year located in the same room in Cochran hall that was used for that purpose last year. The room has been thoroughly cleaned and furnished with complete equipment for the use of editors and reporters.

Several new Underwood typewriters are used to put copy in convenient form for the printers. All copy is typewritten so that it may be easily corrected and kept uniform for filing.

A large desk and several tables in the office afford room for general writing and space for filing exchanges and copies of the Campus, stationery supplies, a dictionary, a thesaurus, several encyclopedias, and other reference works are kept on hand for reporters' use.

The office is used not only by reporters for preparation of copy but also for editorial conferences and consultations. General staff meetings of the Campus board are held every Wednesday in Bentley Hall, Room 8.

ANNUAL BONFIRE LACKS SPIRIT OF PAST YEARS

FROSH HAVE DISCOURAGING TIME PREPARING FOR THE BLAZE

Pursuant to a custom of long standing, a bonfire was held in the lot above Montgomery Field on Friday night as a rally for the opening home game with Thiel.

The fire lacked the punch of similar occasions of past years. Some one set fire on Thursday night to the pile of wood which the freshmen had gathered for the bonfire, making it necessary for the first year men to scurry about on Friday to replenish the stock of firewood destroyed the previous night. Then, after the diligent Frosh had worked and built up a fine heap of wood, they received orders to move it to another spot. Discouraged by the troubles encountered in preparing for the bonfire, the freshmen were lacking in spirits the night of actual celebration.

Unlike previous occasions of the same sort there were no speeches and singing. The Frosh—for there were few others in attendance—gave a few yells and then filed down town on visits to the stores and moving picture houses.

SOPHS DEFEAT FROSH IN POSTER CONFLICT

TRADITIONAL SCRAP RESULTS IN SEVERAL BAD INJURIES

Although greatly outnumbered, the class of 1926 defeated the class of 1927 in the annual poster scrap last Wednesday at midnight.

This year's adherence to the old college custom resulted in one of the most bloody conflicts witnessed on the campus in recent years. At least two freshmen were seriously injured—John Louthan to such an extent that he was immediately removed to a hospital—and a score of other first year men lost consciousness during the brief eight minute contest.

Herded in Montgomery Field at ten o'clock and harassed by the Sophomores without, who were eagerly endeavoring to prevent the green produce supply from going to waste, the freshmen welcomed the signal to begin the search for their rivals' poster with a shout that was an odd mixture of courage and terror.

The sophomores had by this time gathered about the large tree close to the east side of the power house. The poster was securely bound to the tree and given an added protection by an encircling mass of the men of '26.

Greeted by an aerial attack upon approach within fifty feet of the yelling Sophomores, the Frosh were taken off their guard and forced to pause for a moment to dash the flour and pepper from their eyes. The more fortunate files in the rear, however, prevented a long delay and in another moment the two factions met.

The yelling and shouting was suddenly hushed, for both sides realized that it was no time for vocal weapons. In less than a minute the circle of spectators was enhanced by the addition of several Frosh who had hardly become spectators, but at least non-combatants, so deadly was the work of the Sophs. There was an absolute rule against slugging and very little of it was in evidence in the melee, so an incessant tattoo that sounded suspiciously like contact of fist and flesh can scarcely be accounted for.

The battle raged. The freshmen fought their way to within a foot of the coveted poster, but a sally by the upperclassemen pushed the fledglings back to a safer position and in a moment the whistle had ended eight minutes of delightful carnage. The time was long or short according to each individual participant. He who had come in contact with an innocent and unintentional fist early in the fray, found the fight to be of seemingly short duration, while he who was unfortunate enough to be tortured by red pepper during the few minutes, found the whistle gave him a long awaited opportunity to bath his burning face and eyes.

And so the posterscrap of 1923 ended. The next morning the campus was dotted with many a blackened eye and swollen nose, which may have been even more in evidence had not many freshmen decided that classes immediately after such a fight would go unattended as far as they were concerned.

WE BEGIN ANOTHER YEAR

Already we are in the midst of another year at Allegheny. It almost seems that we haven't been away at all, and our experiences of the summer have dwindled into insignificance. It takes no longer than a few short summer months to show us how much our old College does mean to us; we realize that it has a powerful hold upon us.

We have returned with fresh enthusiasm, a firmer determination to hold to our highest ideals and ambitions. We have resolved to do and think big things. We are going to be unafraid to stand for the principles which we know make for success.

Vacation has given us an opportunity to measure ourselves by a larger scale than we use in our sheltered campus life. We have seen what the world expects of us, and we have come back with a broader outlook upon life.

Then as we welcome you who are just entering Allegheny, we urge you to keep always before you that goal, though far in the distance, which challenges you to its attainment. There will be many times during your days here when it will be far easier to abandon all and follow the crowd. Yet Allegheny abounds in those things which encourage us, if we will but let them enter our life.

WE BEGIN THE SEASON WITH A VICTORY

Starting the season off with a victory, the Blue and Gold squad is going to have a big year in football, unless something unforeseen upsets things. The game on Saturday showed the men up very creditably; Herb's strenuous work with them at camp is speaking for itself. True, there were some weaknesses in the game, but these can be quickly remedied. Thiel was keener opposition than she has been in the past, and our men had to fight for what they got. And they got it.

There was one weakness in our first game that we cannot afford to have repeated. It was the moral support offered the team. The crowd was unusually large, and Alleghenians turned out in mighty fine style. But that isn't all we can do; that's just the beginning. Our cheering was far from what it should have been. We are handicapped in the loss of a veteran cheerleader. While "Red" was on the job Saturday with his same old pep, he can't be with us every game; he is an alumnus now. Several promising candidates are competing for the position, and they did good work. But they lacked the experience, and we must work all the harder. We all want to help the team, and cheering is one way we can. Let's get into it with all that's in us.

It is needless to comment upon the kind of material the men must meet down at Morgantown. It is going to be a tough fight, but the team is preparing for it. All of us can't get down to see the game, but we can do something of greater importance to the squad. All through the week we can show them that we are right behind them and make them feel as they start out on their trip that they are carrying with them the moral support of every one of us.

TO THE ALUMNI

Continuing the policy begun early last spring, The Campus will be sent to the Alumni gratuitously with the compliments of the College. It was hoped that this courtesy would be appreciated to the extent that it would link even more closely the great body of Alleghenians with Alma Mater. The multitude of enthusiastic expressions which have been received early demonstrated this appreciation. The results have been exceedingly gratifying, and for this reason The Campus will be sent for an extended time.

A department of this paper has been given over specially to alumni news. The editor of this department and his staff urge your continued cooperation. Since leaving the Hill, you have had experiences which will interest the College. Will you not let us know of them?

The extensive mailing list—almost three thousand copies of The Campus are published every week—has just been corrected to date. This has been no small task, and it is possible that some errors and omissions have been made. You will be conferring a favor by advising us of any at once.

THE POSTER SCRAP

This year's traditional class scrap was probably no worse or more sordid than any prior to this time, but for some reason or other there was a more determined outcry against this time-worn practice which must inevitably result in the maiming for life or possibly death of some young student. Readers will recall the hazing at Colgate University some years ago in which the Freshman subject was drowned. It was only after such a casualty had occurred that the Colgate authorities put a ban on practices of this nature. Will it be necessary to learn by experience that this mob fight is out of the question, or will the Student Senate "close the doors before the horse is gone" and eliminate this distasteful feature of the Freshman customs?

As has been mentioned before, there is an ever growing feeling of resentment against the traditional scrap felt not only in the student body at large, but among the interested townspeople a swell. Those parents who send their sons to Allegheny, and are aware of the first night's scrap, actually fear the outcome, and their anxiety is only relieved after some sort of a satisfying message is received.

The writer, himself a participant in two of these encounters, goes on record as being in favor of the abolition of this custom. Nine out of every ten men who have taken part in one or more of these fisticuffs are more than willing to see a radical change in this direction.

This year one young man was in the hospital for two days as the result of injuries sustained in this brawl, and several more were taken to the various fraternity houses in an unconscious state. As fortune would have it the most seriously injured student finally recovered without having to undergo an operation, but the very fact that it was dangerously within the realm of possibility is sufficient justification for the consideration of the problem suggested.

MANY STUDENTS ENROLL IN SUMMER COURSES

SUMMER SCHOOL ATTRACTS MANY TEACHERS

One hundred and two students were registered for the 1923 summer session of Allegheny College which opened June 25 and extended to August 4. The majority of these students were teachers taking advanced work.

With the exception of Chemistry, English, and History and Political Science, instruction was given in each course by the heads of the various departments. Chemistry classes were conducted by Mr. Hill, English by Mr. Jerome C. Hixson, and History and Political Science by Dr. Littell. Mr. W. W. Irwin, Superintendent of the Meadville Public Schools taught the course in Education. This last course was largely attended since credit was given toward a College Provisional Certificate in Pennsylvania.

The other courses were advantageous because they gave students a chance to make up work in which they had failed or to take advanced work counting toward advanced college credit or entrance credits from high school.

Dr. Ross was director of the summer session. The faculty consisted of Dr. Elliott teaching History of Education; Dr. Ling, Astronomy; Dr. Akers, Mathematics; Dr. Darling, Biology; Dr. Henke, Phychology and Education, and Dr. Church, French.

Y. W. C. A.

"Why I Came Back to Allegheny," was the topic discussed at the Y. W. C. A. meeting Sunday evening in Hulings Hall. The Sophomores, led by Mary Phelps, had charge of the service. Mary Alice Jackson and Martha Schwartz spoke to the freshmen, urging them to cultivate a friendly spirit toward all, to avoid hasty judgment of others and to give their best to the Y. W. C. A. throughout the year.

Elinor Van Scoten sang a solo.

In regard to eating and sociability the affair went forward with a zest.

Suffering a general break-down in health as a result of too strenuous service for Allegheny, Prof. Lee D. McClean has been confined to his bed since June. He was in the hospital the earlier part of the summer, but is now at his home. He has fought obstinate ill-health for many weeks and is now able to note improvement. The price of the distinguishing headgear was $2.50. The megaphones, usually distributed at the same time as the caps, were delayed in shipment, and will not be given to the Freshmen until a later date.

CROSS-COUNTRY MATERIAL PROMISES BRILLIANT YEAR

PITT AND ALFRED MEETS INDICATE FORMIDABLE OPPOSITION

With five veteran men and a host of likely looking new candidates now practicing daily, all indications point that Allegheny College will be represented this fall by the best cross-country squad it has ever had. The first practice of the season was held on Monday, and Coaches Hammett and Faries and Captain Bliss were well pleased with the 1923 prospects.

The veterans who reported were Captain Homer Bliss, Clifton Little, Richard Beyer, Ted Bogardus and Gene Hartzell. All the men ran against the University of Pittsburgh last year, and all but Hartzell, who was a reserve man, wear the cross-country minor letter.

Allegheny's 1923 harriers have the toughest schedule ever known to a Blue and Gold cross-country team. Two meets with Alfred and the University of Pittsburgh will be held. With Alfred boasting of an even stronger team than last year, when they ranked as one of the best cross-country outfits in New York State, it is little wonder that Allegheny fears the Adventists. The University of Pittsburgh team trimmed our Varsity last year, and revenge this fall would be sweet to Captain Bliss' men.

In addition to Coach Hammett, Professor Faries will also help coach the cross-country team this year.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Bucknell, who occupies the final date on Allegheny's 1923 grid schedule, went down to a 21-0 defeat before the Pitt Panther in the opening game at Lewisburg on Saturday.

West Virginia, the next opponent of the Blue and Gold, proved herself adept in both plunges and aerial attack, and won from West Va. Wesleyan by a 21-0 score.

Toledo University's uncanny ability to follow the ball saved her from a whitewash application at the hands of Carnegie Tech on Saturday, since she turned Tech's two fumbles into touchdowns. The game went to Tech, 32-12.

Uncle Sam's two big schools both started the season auspiciously, the Navy defeating William and Mary 39-0, and the Army swamping Tennessee under a 58-0 score in her game with Lebanon Valley, and the latter winning handily from F. & M., 20-0.

None of the Big Three were in action on Saturday, the only eastern university game being the Columbia-Ursinus opener, which the former won 13-0.

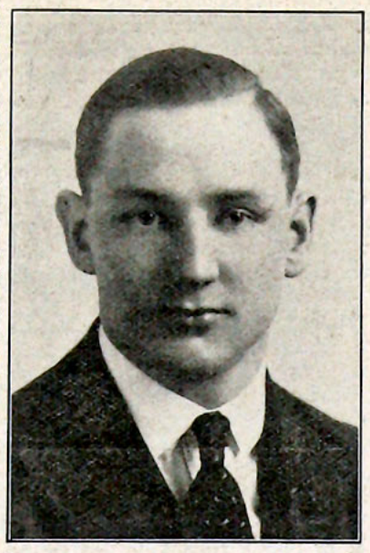

Bethany was powerless against the Wash-Jeff line on both offense and defense, but held the Presidents to a 21-0 score.

Few Class B teams were in action on Saturday, as most of their schedules start this coming Saturday, when Grove City meets Waynesburg.

Reports from West Virginia to the Pittsburgh papers are to the effect that she remembers the Allegheny-Tech game of last year and is expecting a close game there on this coming Saturday.

BLUE AND GOLD TO MEET MOUNTAINEERS SATURDAY

VARSITY BUCKS CHAMPS IN WEST VIRGINIA

Allegheny invades distant parts when the Blue and Gold jumps several hundred miles to furnish West Virginia with a few gridiron thrills this Saturday. It has been some five years since the representatives of these two institutions have met between the goal posts, and since that last meeting, the standing of both teams has risen considerably.

Last year the Mountaineer aggregation was one of the three undefeated teams in the East, having conquered such worthy foes as Pitt, W. & J. and Detroit. Their prospects loom even brighter for the present campaign, judging from statistics and the ease with which the strong West Virginia Wesleyan team was put away.

Furthermore, the Mountaineers' coach, Tubby Spears, is worrying about the Allegheny game and is priming for it. All this means that a surprise like Tech received last year will be hard to duplicate and that the Blue and Gold faces what authorities consider the greatest football machine in the country.

West Virginia is a much larger institution and has more football material than Allegheny; moreover, most of their material is experienced and tried. It will take super-football to defeat the Mountaineers, but the Hurricane may be counted upon to let them know that they have been in a football game.

Lined up against the Blue and Gold will be Nardacci, the flashy All-American half-back; Barnum, a giant fullback of great repute; George Hill and Captain Simmons, a pair of capable backs; Mahrt, a recently dicovered speed boy; Phil and Pierre Hill, center and end, respectively. These and some twenty others of stellar magnitude make up the pride of Allegheny's next opponent.

their suspicions that the fire was not accidental.

Fortunately the phone on the upper floor had not been tampered with. Within a short time the fire and police department arrived on the scene, and the fire was quickly and easily extinguished. No serious damage resulted from the blaze, although the woodwork in the pantry was charred.

Evidently the primary motive was burglary. However, the thieves were unsuccessful in finding what they wanted and gave vent to their disappointment in this act of vandalism.

FRANK C. TRURAN DIES JULY 14.

The Campus suffers a real loss in the death of Mr. Frank C. Truran, who died during the summer. Mr. Truran took charge of the printing of our paper and always showed a fine spirit of co-operation even under the most trying circumstances. His son, Mr. Charles F. Truran, is now in charge, after having enjoyed long experience in the work.

THE GOAL OF ALLEGHENY ATHLETICS

Every true and loyal Alumnus cherishes fond memories of Old Allegheny, looks with pride upon the new Allegheny and has visions of a better Allegheny in the future. The Old Allegheny was but a shell of the New Allegheny, and the New Allegheny is but a shell of the Better Allegheny of our vision. But the principle upon which Allegheny College is founded is the same principle that has caused her to reach the enviable position she holds at the present time and that will enable her in the future to stand out as the ideal college in the land.

An ideal college is ideal in all of its parts. No department of our wonderful little school has yet reached perfection. Perhaps none of them ever will. But it is extremely important for each one to be constantly striving to reach that goal.

Athletics is one department of Allegheny College. It is a very important one; more important than we formerly realized. It must be developed along lines in harmony with the noble principles upon which Allegheny College was founded. Allegheny should have teams second to none in the country, in sportsmanship, in scholastic standing, in manly principles, and in ability to win. This is a vision, but it can be realized. Incessant work, co-operation, and a determination to hold to the principles upon which we have started will bring the desired results.

Are your Parents protected covering the expense your education has been to them?

Have your Parents given you the impetus on the Road to Success that a Saving's Habit, fostered by a Life Insurance Policy, would give you?

The Standard Life Insurance Co. of Pittsburgh is a Pennsylvania Company, and conducts a school of instruction to teach young men with vision the value of Life Insurance to all concerned,—the Insured, the Beneficiary, and the Solicitor.

You will be convinced that the Writer of Life Insurance is better rewarded for hard work than an equal effort expended in any other line if you will address
