

An Easy Victory "She Stoops to Conquer" E. H. Wilds Won A Good Letter

Strong Ohio Team Defeated Thursday Night, 44-16.

The basketball knocker "got his" again Thursday night, when the much talked of Hiram team was relegated to the has been class by a score of 44-16, with the gold and blue on the sunny side. Hiram was good, but was simply outclassed in shooting, team work, dribbling and guarding. Baker and Hawk head the column of point getters while Braund made half of the Hiram score. "Methuselah" Bradshaw, an old friend, was outjumped and outplayed by Hawk and his team mates fared no better with their opponents.

First Half

After a couple of minutes of rapid passing Allegheny started off with a rush, Baker getting the first clean shot. In the next few minutes five more baskets were annexed by Hawk, Baker and Leffel in contrast with a solitary field goal thrown by Bradshaw. Braund, however, took advantage of a moment of solitude to help Hiram by two points and turned the trick a second time shortly after "Dick" had annexed a foul. The black board showed Hiram to be behind 13-5, this margin of eight being nearer than the visitors came again to the Allegheny tally. Baker made his third, and a pretty bit of team work resulted in Phillips caging the ball. Bradshaw was given the ball for a foul after Braund had missed two throws. The half was closed by a field goal credited to Hennessey.

Second Half

For just about one minute the second half looked dubious, and then Captain Baker's men cut loose. The points were made almost too fast to be counted, Baker and Hawk getting the first ten points between them. Hiram scored early but not often, when Eberhardt and Braund each found the basket. Leffel, Baker and Hawk came back so fast that the Hiramites were dazed into submission and after two fouls were thrown by Bradshaw and another field goal secured by Braund the interest was focused on the victorious five. "Dick" split even on two fouls while "Pozie" Leffel and "Bake" wound up the game with three wild wind plays terminating in scores.

Lineup:

Allegheny—44. Hiram—16.
Baker F. Eberhardt
Weidler F. Braund

TRACK TEAM NEWS

The trophy room on last Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock was the scene of an important meeting of all candidates for the track team. There were a representative number present and judging from this enthusiastic demonstration it is very probable that the team of this spring will be of first class order.

Captain Hines and Manager Cole were present. After the names of the men with the positions for which they are competing were taken they were told of the plans for the season. The importance of long, consistent training was impressed and it is thought that this year's team will keep strict training.

The placing of the cinder track on the athletic field in back of the gymnasium will make it possible for the team to hold daily practice from now on, without going to the Vallonia track. The path takes six laps to a mile. The candidates for the team were urged to work on this track to make it as good as possible. Ditches have been dug at both sides of the field, supplying a temporary drainage system. A large, heavy roller has been secured and with this the track will be packed down. It is the intention of the captain to hold practice on the Athletic field every day, the men in the several events working together.

Famous Classic Play will be Presented by Duzer Du at Academy Next Thursday Evening

On last Monday morning a first-class rehearsal of "She Stoops to Conquer" was held at the Academy of Music by the cast which will give the play on next Thursday. The scenes were then in a very good condition but have since been improved. In addition to Miss Spalding, the coach a number of the club members and interested persons were present at the rehearsal, enjoying the play from the auditorium.

The cast has been at work daily, having frequent practice, and until the performance will be very busy. The production has been fully advertised and with the success of "The Rivals," last year as a recommendation, a packed house is expected by the management. It is the opinion of many who are in a position to know that this year's play will surpass the attempt of last year in many ways, although "The Rivals" was no discredit to the pioneer organization.

At the close of the play an innovation in the way of an epilogue is to be introduced. It has been written by Mr. La Bounty and contains a couplet or two for each of the prominent characters at the closing scene.

Since the original choosing of the cast there have been a number of changes and several of the minor parts have been assigned which were not given out at the beginning. The final cast is as follows:

Sir Charles Marlow, J. C. Cochran, '11
Young Marlow, E. P. Kennedy, '11
Squire Harcastle, L. C. Harris, '11
George Hastings, Thomas Hughes, '12
Tony Lumpkin, S. Y. Rossiter, '10
Diggory, John Fox, '10
Roger, J. C. Cochran, '11
Dick, E. R. Hall, '13

Thomas, C. A. Copeland, '11
Stingo, H. G. Riblet, '10
Sarg, H. J. Wieler, '13
Mat Muggins, C. G. McNulty, '13
Tom Twist, D. H. Leffel, '12
Aminadab, D. F. Croasman, '10
M. S. Harcastle, F. B. Trosh, '13
Kate Harcastle, C. A. Eckles, '13
Constance Neville, W. F. Maxwell, '12
Maid, G. J. Allger, '13

In Tony Lumpkin, Sam Rossiter is expected to make a great hit. The character, of itself, is intensely humorous and with the familiar antics of the lad from Erie the part ought to cause the faint and weak-hearted to keel over holding their sides. Tony is in almost every scene. The alehouse scene, in the first act where Tony sings the song of the "Three Pigeons" is calculated by many to be the best part of the show.

E. P. Kennedy, who played Faulkland in "The Rivals," last year, is cast for a very similar part in Young Marlow. He is the double natured fellow, who is "impudent enough" with women, but who is embarrassed out of all senses at many points in the play. Kennedy will doubtless make a success of the part as he did of Faulkland.

L. C. Harris, who has made himself known through his position as reader on the Glee Club, will make the character of Old Squire Harcastle one of the best in the play. Many think that it is the best character and it is well brought out by Mr. Harris. It is the old Squire who is astonished when Marlow and Hastings mistake his house for an inn. The

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON.

Pennsylvania Omega chapter of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity held the fifty-fourth anniversary of its founding at Allegheny, Wednesday evening. The guests included Mr. Clinton Densmore, Mr. L. E. White, and Drs. Edwin Lee and C. J. Ling. The banquet was set in the fraternity house dining room and the place cards were artistically designed with the fraternity flower, the violet, in the upper corner, and the name printed below it.

The eight course dinner speaks for itself:

Olives. Consomme. Cheese
Baked White Fish, with Cream Dressing.
Roast Beef, Mashed Potatoes and Brown Dressing.
Stanley French Pears
Cabbage Salad.
Fruit Salad. Brown Bread
Ice Cream and Cake
Coffee. Cigars

Songs were sung between the courses to enliven the banquet.

The dinner gave way to the following toast list later in the evening:

Toastmaster J. M. White
Ye Old Days of S. A. E.
..... J. C. Cochran
Know! Ye Men of S. A. E.
..... R. W. Thomas
From Ye Western Hills, Dr. C. J. Ling
Out from Ye Depths N. R. Moore

From the table the guests went to the parlor to sing the good old songs till the early morning. The climactic close of the celebration was the lock-step march around to the different fraternity houses on the hill, when a yell was given each. Last of all came a serenade to the girls of Huling's Hall. The evening was a big success in every way. There were twenty six present.

MISS HILLMAN, PRESIDENT

The Y. W. C. A. held the annual election of officers Monday with the following results:

President—Miss Gertrude Hillman.
Secretary—Miss June Shires.
Treasurer—Miss Frances Norton.
Owing to the resignation of one of the candidates for vice president and the constitutional provision for the naming of two candidates for each office, the election for vice president was postponed two weeks.

DR. F. H. WRIGHT.

The union meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., held in the Chapel on last Wednesday evening, was one of the best attended and most helpful of the year. Dr. F. H. Wright, the Superintendent of Italian Missions in America, was the speaker of the evening and his talk was very inspiring and helpful, to say nothing of the entertainment furnished.

He talked of the Italians and gave a new idea of these queer romantic foreigners to all who were present. He has been engaged during a large part of his life in working among them and is well informed on the subject. After a few introductory remarks he said:

"As we study the history of the Italians in the past and present we can see there is a great future for them. I know this from my contact with them. We call them foreigners, but some of the best blood in the world flows in the veins of these men whom we despise. Through unfortunate circumstances they have been made pigmies where they might have been men. It all depends where the Italian goes as to how he shall grow. It is for you and me not to nickname, not to stigmatize, not to ostracize these people.

"I've met Italians who are ashamed to say that they are Italians because they've been stigmatized by Americans and want to be Americans. We have no business to put up a bar like this between one nation and another.

"God enters the heart of an Italian in the same way he enters the heart of an American. The time has come when you are to give the Italian a fair show. Let me say to you that this prejudice against foreigners is unreasonable ignorance and it is time to rise from this position and take our stand by Him who said, 'I am the Son of Man.' The world has grasped the thought that Jesus is the Son of Man and not of any race or nation. I want to help you to feel the possession of Christ who showed his love for men.

Dr. Wright who is one of the leading Mission workers in this country and who has made a special and intricate study of the Italians in America, was on the program of the Thoburn Jubilee held in Meadville during last April. He is a very entertaining speaker, and held the attention of his audience throughout his discourse.

Wakefield Contest Last Monday Night Very Successful.

The traditions of past forensic contests were equalled in the Wakefield contest held last Monday evening. Elmer H. Wilds, '10, won the fifty dollar prize and the honor of being the representative of Allegheny in the inter-collegiate contest with his oration, "Our Debt to the Pioneer." This oration, which was awarded an undisputed first in thought and composition, was very carefully prepared and showed exhaustive research as well as deep and careful thought. In delivery the performance of the winner was also creditable especially in view of the fact that this was Mr. Wilds's first public appearance.

Although there is only one prize awarded in this contest, E. N. Hubbard, '10, was awarded second place for his oration, "The Twentieth Century Inferno." Mr. Hubbard won first place in delivery.

Another fine piece of work was presented in "The Judge and the Child," delivered by C. E. Vogel, '11. In fact all of the productions were of a very high class, the other two being "The Barren Land," by A. E. Limber, '12, and "The Modern Church on Trial," by A. C. Nodine, '12.

James A. Bortz added to the enjoyment of the audience with a vocal solo and G. E. Akerson played several pleasing selections on the pipe organ.

The judges on thought and composition were F. S. Homer, instructor in the Pittsburgh High School; L. J. Palmer, superintendent of public schools at Oil City, and Dr. W. P. Murray, district superintendent of the Erie district of the Methodist church. On delivery the judges were Manley O. Brown, Esq., Rev. Scheffer and S. Merrill, all of Meadville.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The girls of the college held a mass meeting after the regular chapel exercises on Wednesday. Miss Helene Peck, president of the Girls' Athletic Association, presided, and stated the purpose of the gathering, to stir up interest and enthusiasm for the basketball game this afternoon between the girls team from Geneva college and the Allegheny girls' team.

Miss Nelle Gleave, as captain of the team, told what the team has been doing, and Miss Lucy Leane spoke for the other girls, and gave three reasons why every Allegheny girl should be at the game on Saturday; first, because we are all interested in the team; second, because we have a good team; third, because we are all daughters of the new Allegheny and should be interested in all which concerns her. Miss Spalding spoke very informally, explaining that mere college loyalty demanded a large attendance on Saturday. She spoke particularly of the false line drawn between Hall girls and town girls, and urged all to merge into the broader name, daughters of the new Allegheny.

Great preparations are being made for the game with the Geneva girls today. This team, with their coach, Miss Helen McClintock, Allegheny, '04, arrived yesterday and so will be in good shape for today. The girls have had several practices for yells and songs, and promise something new along that line for Saturday. A cordial invitation is extended to all women of the college and city to see the game today at 2 o'clock in the Hulings gymnasium.

The lineup will probably be as follows:

Allegheny. Geneva.
Bess Metcalf F. Aegino Downie
Mollie Bassett F. Edna George
Florence Bacon C. Marguerite Steele
Edith DeLand G. Sarah McCarter
Nell Gleave (Cap) G. Eleanor Dodds

WESTMINSTER TO TRY STUDENT GOVERNMENT

From a recent daily paper it is learned that Allegheny's old rival, Westminster, is on the point of inaugurating a system of student government. For several years the "honor system" has been used and a student council has been active, but it desired now to broaden the scope of student government to keep pace with that of the large and progressive schools of the country.

Dr. Crawford Sends a Message to Students—Dr. Dodds Present.

The first word received from President Crawford, since his departure for Europe, was a letter to Professor Dutton which was read by him in Chapel on last Tuesday morning. It was a singular coincidence that Rev. H. G. Dodds, the local district Superintendent who has been bitter in his denunciation of the President during the recent investigation of the college funds, was seated in the balcony during the reading of the good letter which so well expressed the feeling of truthfulness and devotion which Dr. Crawford holds for the college and the students. By the kind permission of Professor Dutton the letter is published:

Cunard R. M. S. "Mauretania."
Mar. 2, 1910.

Dear Professor Dutton:

I wish you would kindly say to the students how much I appreciated their coming to the train as they did to see me off. It was a fine courtesy which I shall not forget. Their attitude of abounding confidence during all these months of trial will forever remain with me as a beautiful memory. Nothing in all my life has touched me more deeply than their loyalty and good will. I have been trying to think what return I could make. The best that comes to me is to devote myself more fully to their interests. This I purpose to do. I feel that somehow I have entered into a new relation to them and they to me. I can only hope that out of the new relation there may come increased good for all of us. In the words of Tiny Tim, I pray "God bless us, every one."

Most cordially and gratefully yours,
William H. Crawford,

This letter was very enthusiastically received by the students, and was the signal for prolonged applause.

TWICE REFUTED

It seems almost the "irony of fate" that two of our editorials last week were answered within twelve hours after they were published. But it is the kind of irony we like. If the Campus were like certain downtown papers we know about, it would be appearing this morning with glaring headlines pointing with pride to the things it has accomplished, assuming credit for what it did not in itself do. It would also probably add that it is "still giving its readers the truth."

Our mention last week of the chapel choir has called forth the following little sketch from one of the student body. We are glad to print it in this column for the benefit of the "sweet singers of Allegheny."

"The frightful and horrifying amens of the Choir Unmerciful are to be no more. A reformation has taken place at last. Never again will the student body be compelled to groan after the resounding shriek of those few men of the college who once called themselves 'The Choir.'"

"Many times have the students cast eyes of scorn upon them as they haughtily marched out, first in line as if they of all were to be honored. They were not honored; they were humored and allowed to go on in their erring and inexorable ways. Finally the editor of the Campus noticed the so-called music and forthwith wrote one of his characteristically bitter and denunciatory editorials. The article was read and the choir was changed instantly."

"Now there is a new scheme of things. The choir is rightly called such. The Lord's Prayer is chanted by them instead of being recited and the Amens may be heard in reverence."

The other editorial refuted was the one entitled "The Last Rebuttal," and the occasion of the answer was the defeat of the Senior affirmative team by the Junior negative team Saturday night. However, we believe that due more to the fact that the Seniors did not use the advantage they had, than to any unusual excellence on the part of their opponents. The criticism of the present method still holds.

"SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER"

No event in all the school year attracts the attention of the college more generally than what has come to be the annual production by Duzer-Du. Those who were here last year will remember the interest with which everybody awaited the initial appearance of "The Rivals." That same atmosphere is here this year, and the members of the dramatic club may be assured that never was an event more looked forward to than the production of "She Stoops to Conquer" at the Academy of Music next Thursday night. To the fascination of the footlights is added the local interest which always does so much to make a college play successful.

It is hardly possible that more sincere effort could be put into anything than some of the busiest men in college have put into the preparation for this one evening. That their work is valuable is not doubted, for more genuine value received probably comes from them than from any other organization in Allegheny. It is a safe guess that every seat will be sold hours before the curtain rises Thursday night.

We believe the success last year was due in large measure to the fact that such an acceptable selection was made in choosing "The Rivals" as the play to be produced. The selection this year is just as wise, and is just as sure an indication of success.

If staying out late at night means poorly prepared lessons the next day out sympathies are with those professors who have classes next Friday.

GLAD HE WAS THERE

Our pleasure at listening to the farewell message from President Crawford at chapel last Tuesday morning was increased by the fact that Dr. H. G. Dodds was present. Whatever he may think, or whatever any paper may think, we are glad he was given an opportunity to know the real relation which exists between the students of Allegheny College and their President. We were also glad that he could hear the applause with which the letter was greeted.

The student body has been at a loss to know the reasons for the reports of Dr. Dodds' opposition, not only to President Crawford personally, but to the college. It is safe to say that if it ever comes to a showdown, this same student body will NOT be found on the side of Dr. Dodds.

REV. W. C. CRAVNER

A recent number of one of the Minneapolis daily newspapers prints a picture and the following sketch of Rev. William C. Cravner, '09, who was recently appointed pastor of the North Methodist church of that city:

"Youth and enthusiasm won over years and experience when Rev. William C. Cravner, 26 years old, was selected pastor of the North Methodist Episcopal church. Several were considered for the place to succeed Rev. Donald McKenzie, but the young man was the unanimous choice.

"Mr. Cravner graduated last June at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa. His experience as a preacher was gained in the five months he has been assistant minister in the Hennepin Avenue M. E. church. He was recommended to Dr. Andrew Gillies by Dr. Camden M. Coburn, who had supplied the pulpit of the Hennepin Avenue M. E. church last summer.

"Mr. Cravner's first sermon in his new pastorate will be on March 6. He has before him the work of completing a new church in Camden Place that was started by Mr. McKenzie.

"In college Mr. Cravner was on the college debating team, and was on the team that defeated Cornell. In the oratorical contest he won the diamond medal in the tri-state contest with West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio. It was at the close of the Russo-Japanese war and he spoke of 'Japan the New Nation.'

"He was associate editor of the college paper and did reporting for one of the city papers. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and a Royal Arch Mason."

DR. AKERS WRITES.

In the January number of "The American College," a magazine of but a half year's existence, which deals with problems of college and university life, there appears a short article written by Prof. Akers, head of the Department of Mathematics.

It is printed in a department labeled, "The College Forum," which contains brief and informal discussions made by contributors on live problems of the college and university. Prof. Akers in a page discusses the social problem of student life and seems to strike the key note in one characteristic paragraph:

"Once launched upon a college career, the student is confronted with the social interests. Perhaps it is not in order here to inquire whether or not too much importance is attached to this factor, but it is sufficient to say that it has a large place in the college world and no doubt will have for some time to come. The social and religious interests may become divided, in a marked degree antagonistic, while they should complement rather than alternate one another."

The Classical Club will meet next Tuesday evening.

The Quill Club will meet in the Library next Monday evening. The program is in charge of Dr. Smith, and is on the general subject, "Athletics."

Dr. E. A. Smith went to Titusville last Sunday, in the interests of the local option campaign. He made the principal address at a meeting held in the afternoon.

A week ago yesterday three of the ladies of the faculty, Mrs. Ling, Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Akers delightfully entertained the Social Circle of the First M. E. church in the church parlors.

The Alden Academy basketball team will play the Alden Alumni team at the College gym, Monday evening, the 14th. The Alumni team will be composed of some of the best players in the college.

The college is again reminded of the lecture to be given by Professor C. F. Ross in the chapel on Tuesday evening, March 22nd. It is expected that all college organizations will leave that date open for the lecture.

Dr. F. H. Wright, superintendent of the Italian mission of the Methodist Episcopal Church, spoke twice at the Stone church last Sunday. Both sermons were pleas for the Italians. The evening sermon was a missionary lecture. Large audiences were present at both services to hear him.

From the attendance at Forum Thursday night embryo debaters must be working very hard on their preliminaries. At least that is the most charitable explanation available. Owing to the fact that had a debate been held there would have been none to vote the decision, the meeting was adjourned.

The second of the series of games in the bowling tournament at Cochran Hall, was held Tuesday afternoon, when a team from Meadville defeated the Commons team by 175 pins. In the first of the series the Commons team defeated the Phi Kappa Psi team. The highest score ever rolled on the Cochran alleys was made some time ago when R. Crawford of the Academy rolled 256, beating Bricker's record by 12 pins.

The Y. W. C. A. is expecting a visit from its district secretary, Miss Elsie Jones. Miss Jones succeeds Miss Dyer as the secretary of the district, consisting of Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware. Her visit will extend from Thursday until Saturday for conference and consultation with the newly elected Y. W. C. A. cabinet.

The Junior class at a meeting held on last Saturday decided to have a class party last evening. A committee was appointed to take charge of the affair and the arrangements were left in their hands, and a fine time was the result. The trip included dinner at seven o'clock, and some special entertainment features occupied the remainder of the evening.

Final arrangements have been almost completed for the 'varsity preliminaries to be held Monday and Tuesday. The teams will meet in the following order: Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Affirmative, Hunt, Thomas, Akerson; negative, Dalzell, Moore, Lord. Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Affirmative, Fixel, Gahan, Boyd; negative, Sheffer, Lavelly, Limber. Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Affirmative, Hill, Yost, Mead; negative, Barkley, Small, Hillman.

Final word was received from the Buffalo Germans, Thursday, to the effect that they would not play Allegheny. The local management held out every possible inducement and granted every concession demanded but the Germans persistently "hedged" every proposition. Although it may seem a little strong, there is no doubt in the minds of many that the Germans are scared out. This aggregation of brave basketball tossers claims the national championship.

Mr. F. O. Koehler, State Y. M. C. A. secretary, visited the local association from Tuesday to Thursday of this week. As this was not Mr. Koehler's first visit he was greeted by a host of student friends. The larger part of his time was spent in consultation with the Y. M. C. A. cabinet. On Wednesday morning he was present at chapel, making a very direct presentation of the work done by the student associations in this state. Mr. Koehler also was a visitor at the Student Volunteer meeting, Wednesday afternoon.

One of the judges in the Mt. Union-Scho debate at Alliance Wednesday evening was Dr. E. A. Smith. The Federal corporation tax law was debated, Mt. Union winning the decision for the affirmative. Dr. Smith stated that Mt. Union's debating was of a very high order and expressed the belief that the winning team could make an Allegheny trio hustle for the decision. Dr. Smith's ability has also been recognized by his being asked to judge the Geneva-Westminster debate, to be held at New Wilmington Tuesday evening.

According to a ruling of the Athletic board that a man is not eligible for more than one position on the board at the same time, it was necessary to hold another election for the presidency of the Athletic Association, as B. W. David is now the base ball manager. Four candidates, L. C. Harris, E. P. Kennedy, J. W. Barkley and C. E. Hilborn were approved by the Athletic board. The election was held Saturday afternoon and Barkley was elected. Only three of these candidates were voted upon, Mr. Kennedy having withdrawn before the election.

Manager K. R. Kightlinger of the Freshman basket ball team, entertained the members of the team at a dinner at the Rathskeller on Monday evening. The dinner was a fine one, consisting of four courses. There were places for ten men. Toasts were given by all the fellows present. The men who attended and will receive numerals are K. R. Kightlinger, manager; Denison, McNulty, Lord, Mates, Perley, DeYoung, Else, Schermerhorn and Shields. The Freshmen numerals this year will be somewhat different from those of previous years, consisting of a monogrammed "1913."

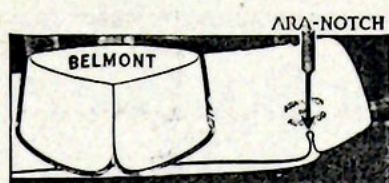

Dr. John Douglas, a distinguished politician and friend of Dr. Coburn, visited Allegheny during the early part of the week. Dr. Douglas is not only prominent locally at his home in Minneapolis, Minn., but has appeared before the nation in a political way. He was for many years the representative of the American government in examining the consulates of foreign countries. He was offered the position of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, several years ago but refused it. He was formerly a minister but was compelled to give that work up about forty years ago because of his voice.

In response to a call of Captain Hines of the track team, quite a number of men showed up Saturday afternoon to help on the Athletic field. The field was fixed so that it would drain properly and thus be dry most of the time. The fault with the field so far has been the amount of water always standing on it, but it is hoped that this trouble has been remedied. The work of putting ashes on the field and making a track was resumed Monday. Perhaps the best inducement for work was the fact that every hour work counted for a gym class and those who were behind had a chance to make up absences.

The debate between the representative teams of the Junior and Senior classes, held in the Chapel on last Saturday evening resulted in a unanimous decision in favor of the Junior team which was composed of Hillman, Barkley and Small. The defeated Senior team was Yost, Fixel and Gahan. The question debated was, "Resolved, That the federal government should establish a central bank of issue, constitutionally conceded." This is the question which is to be used in the Varsity debates and it gives good practice to these men, all of whom are expecting to compete for positions on the varsity teams. The judges Saturday were Professors Snively, Armstrong and Decker.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE AMONG THE UNIVERSITIES

A meeting of considerable interest to all followers of basketball was held in New York the first of the week. Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania and Columbia were represented. Plans were made for the forming of a "Big Four" league and it is hoped that Cornell as well as Harvard will join later. There seemed little prospect, however, of including some of the strong teams of smaller schools such as New York University or Swarthmore. Among the suggestions was one that the colleges of various grades form leagues, a championship series to be played among league champions. Such a plan would probably greatly interest Allegheny.

The Sunday evening Y. W. C. A. prayer meeting was led by Miss Florence Senn. The book "The Bishop's Conversion," was taken up by five different persons: Miss Jean McKenzie, telling of his work in America and his idea of missions and missionaries; Miss Gertrude Hillman, treating of the Bishop's first days in India and of a few incidents which particularly convinced him that there were a few unpleasant things connected with a missionary's life; Miss Lucy Loane then told of the troubles the Bishop's wife had in housekeeping and the knowledge gained that things which she considered luxuries then were sheer necessities; Miss Marian Thomas told of the Bishop's trials with the native people and also of the unpleasantness of the climate; Miss Mollie Bassett told something of the child widows of that country and the horrors of such lives. From these things the Bishop was convinced in a short time that the life of the missionary was very hard in not one way only but in numerous ways.

A GLEE CLUB TRIP

What will probably be the last Glee Club trip of the season will be taken by that organization in the last three days of school before the spring vacation and on the first day of vacation. The cities visited are these:

Wednesday, March 23, Titusville, Pa.

Thursday, March 24, Warren, Pa.

Friday, March 25, Kane, Pa.

The engagement for Saturday has not yet been definitely arranged, although Manager R. J. George is negotiating with several places. At Titusville the concert is to be given under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church and at Kane it will be in the High School.

The program rendered by the club will be slightly changed from the one given in the previous concerts, several innovations being introduced. One change will be the appearance of a quartette.

The men in the Glee and Mandolin clubs will be excused from classes several days early, but on the other hand will be a day or two late in getting home.

THE BETHANY LINE-UP.

The line-up was as follows:

Allegheny—71.	Bethany—10.

"SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER"

"tankard" scene between these three is intensely funny.

When Marlow and Hastings appear in the first act asking the way to Squire Hardcastle's the audience will see in Hastings a much different part than the one portrayed by Mr. Hughes in "The Rivals," where he was "David." Hastings is the companion of Marlow and they together have come down to visit Miss Hardcastle and Miss Neville.

F. B. Trosh will, with his native dramatic ability, show Mrs. Hardcastle to be one of the prominent parts in the play. It is very like Mrs. Malaprop in "The Rivals" and many of the foibles and idiosyncrasies which characterized Mrs. Malaprop will be seen in Mrs. Hardcastle. It is predicted by some that the part will be greater than was Mrs. Malaprop.

John Fox, who made a name for himself as Mrs. Malaprop in "The Rivals," has a funny character part in Digory. It is one that makes everyone laugh and is always remembered, although not on the stage a great deal.

Alan Eckles is known among the "acterines" as the "leadin' lady." He is cast for Miss Hardcastle, the pretty little piquant girl who when threatened with a lover can "scarce get it out." It is she who captivates the audience with her delightful manner when disguised as a barmaid, to which she has "stooped to conquer" the reserved Marlow.

W. F. Maxwell, who is remembered as the pretty little maid who said "I say Mr. Fag" in "The Rivals," has been cast for Miss Neville and in it he will make a success.

Among the others in the cast who will make themselves known before the evening is over are J. C. Cochran, who is taking two parts, D. F. Croasmun, D. H. Leffel, H. G. Riblet and others.

A bronze bust of Lincoln has been presented to the University of California by an alumnus.

The baseball team which Wisconsin played on her trip to Japan is trying to make arrangements for a trip through America, playing games with Wisconsin and other universities.
