Biggs Addresses Class Day, Phi Betes Honored

Class Day was held at the David Mead Field House May 17, at eleven o'clock, with the bleachers almost filled with students and faculty. The program was opened with the singing of "Near the Vale," directed by Mr. North and accompanied by Mr. Lynn. Dean McFall was the coordinating speaker.

Mr. Lynn presented the new Phi Beta Kappa members who are: Michael Berta, Margaret Burns, Elizabeth Jack, Joan Reiber, Michael Roth, Nora Wellman. Members who were elected in their junior year are Richard Borrison, Virginia Dick, Elizabeth Eakin, Willard Humphreys, Jr., David McKay, Jo Ann Molin, and Gene Urey.

Robin Biggs gave the Valedictory address, incorporating three ideas of C. P. Snow, British scientist and novelist, into the life of the college student. She said that the new emphasis in today's colleges is on sense, sensitivity, and an appetite for the future. Robin said that some kind of ideal has been superceded by an educated type of idealism. "If the student of today has unhitched his wagon from his proverbial star, he has found to his delight that it makes pretty good progress on the ground." No college student has not been told that solving the world's problems is going to be easy.

At Class Day convocation, Wednesday morning, the following awards were presented by President Pelletier:

Alpha Gamma Delta Alumnae Scholarship Prize — Michaeleen Dunay. The Alumnae of Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority each year give a prize to the woman in the senior class ranking highest on the National Teacher Examinations.

Singers Honor Luvaas

A trip to Norway this summer was presented to Dr. and Mrs. M. Luvaas by the Allegheny Singers at the annual banquet, held at the Iroquois Club in Conneaut.

Coming to Allegheny in 1930 from the Erie Public Schools, Dr. Luvaas established the Singers as a part of the new music department. Soon the Singers became known as one of the top college singing groups in the country. Since 1930 over 500 Singers have graduated from Allegheny.

As a tribute to thirty years of music from one man, the present Singers began in March to collect the necessary money. After speeches by Jim Meadowcraft, Linda Kiss, and Rick Wible describing what it means to be a Singer in the different classes, the check was presented to Dr. Luvaas accompanied by the singing of "Pines of Home" — Dr. Luvaas' song about Norway.

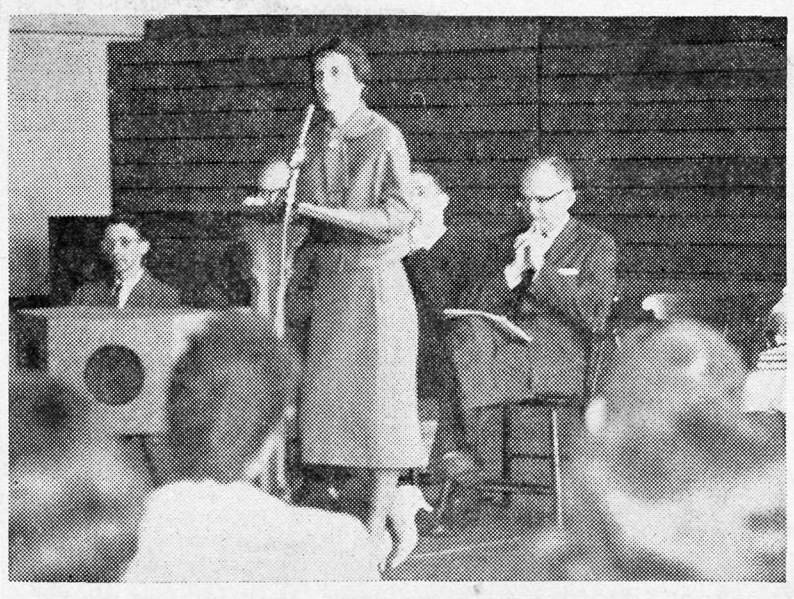

Toastmaster of the evening was Mr. Benjamin, who described the beginning of Singers and commented about the Norwegian friends who remembered his 1939 trip. Mrs. Donald Chester of the 1937 Singers, told about that group and compared it to the present Singers, one of the best-sounding choirs ever, especially in the tenor section.

Vanderbilt Man Fills Poli Sci Chair

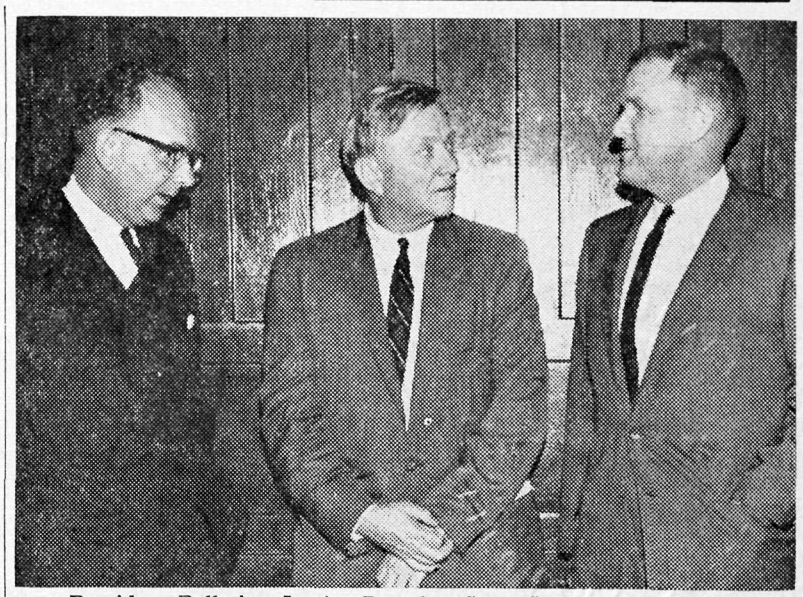

President Pelletier has announced that J. Leiper Freeman has been appointed to fill the A. E. Braun chair of political science. Dr. Freeman, a Princeton graduate, also received his Ph.D. there. He is a native of Tennessee, and has taught at Harvard, University of Mississippi, and Princeton. Presently he teaches at Vanderbilt University.

Dr. Freeman served with the Marines in the Pacific during WWII. He is married and has five children. His areas of interest include public administration and political behavior.

The Buhl Foundation of Pittsburgh established this political science chair to honor A. E. Braun, a leading Pittsburgh businessman.

Douglas Discusses Red China, Says US Problems Lie Here

"Red China will be your generation's greatest problem," explained Justice William O. Douglas in the annual Sturdevant Lecture Tuesday evening in Ford Memorial Chapel.

Speaking of "Democracy versus Communism in Asia" Douglas prefaced his remarks with the observation that because of the destructive power of nuclear warfare, we must exercise our political inventiveness to develop means of living in a world of opposing ideologies. One solution is to expand the UN to include all nations especially Communist China.

He emphasized that U.S. recognition of Red China is the only hope for the maintenance of the free world. Elaborating on the expansionist-minded Red Chinese, Douglas noted that they are much further advanced in education and industry than we think.

Douglas sees the struggle between democratic India and totalitarian Communist China to become modern industrialized nations as the real drama of our time. The winner will probably carry the rest of Asia with her.

Douglas considers the ideological struggle as the real race in Asia today — a race which the U.S. has been losing. In enumerating Russian advantages in this struggle, he believes U.S. militaristic foreign policy to be a major aid to Russia. Underdeveloped countries such as Ethiopia do not need jet fighter planes from the U.S., but this is the form of aid which we consistently send abroad. Russian mastery of world languages and her surplus of technical experts are other advantages attributed to the Communist side.

On the U.S. side of the balance sheet our democratic traditions including Abraham Lincoln as a symbol of racial equality can act as effective countermeasures for Russian discrimination against minority races and religious. Our concept of "government derived from the consent of the governed" still carries meaning to the newly independent countries in the world.

Douglas urged Americans to utilize our sense of mission to offer freedom, equality, and liberty to the underdeveloped countries caught in the ideological struggle. Only in this way can we win them to our side.

Students Involved In Local Accident

Two Allegheny freshmen were involved in an auto accident Monday evening, in which five persons were injured. The two-car collision occurred at the intersection of North and Gorve Streets, Meadville.

Allen Glick, Pittsburgh, and Eric Carlsson, Rye, N.Y., were both admitted to City Hospital, with injuries including concussions and lacerations of the face and scalp, according to City Police.

In critical condition at City Hospital is Mrs. Robert D. Hall, with shock, fractured ribs, fractured vertebrae, fractured shoulder, and head injuries.

A daughter, Cynthia, suffered multiple brush burns of the body; another daughter, Alesa, was not hospitalized, after treatment for multiple abrasions.

Police said they had been unable to question the drivers as to the cause of the accident.

Gators Top PAC In Baseball, Golf

Golf

Over the last week-end, the spring sports program at Allegheny came to a close with PAC titles going to the golf and baseball teams. The tennis squad finished fourth in PAC competition while the track team placed fifth.

The most dramatic finish and victory was displayed by Coach John Chuckran's golf team which came from behind on the strength of a second round 77 shot by Jim Davis to win the championship over Case, who had been leading. Allegheny finished with a total of 647 followed closely by Case Tech with 649 and Wayne State with 651. Steve Beinhauer was the medalist for the Gators with a 159 total for two days. Jim Davis shot an overall 161; however his clutch performance on the second day was the key to the Gator win. Mike Staren and Jack Davis shot 163 and 164 respectively. John Johannesmyer also golfed for Allegheny in the tournament. The victory represented a superb come-from-behind effort by the Gators.

Baseball

On Saturday, May 13, the Gators baseball team traveled to Bethany and swept its second double header in two days to capture the PAC baseball championship for the second straight year and remain undefeated in conference play for that period. In the opener at Bethany, the combined hurling of Jim Marqius and Bill Hadfield, the victory going to Hadfield, now 4-1, gave the Gators a 4-2 victory. The Bisons were held to four hits as Glenn Beckert and Jake Hillard provided the Gators with the runs needed to win. In the nightcap, the Gators

RESPONSIBILITY ? ?

by JoAnn Hess

Since this is the last issue of the Campus, this article should be happy and carefree. Finals will soon be over, the weather has become nice, Cand we as students of Allegheny's college community can look to a fresh start this fall either here or elsewhere. For those of us who will be here — I hope that we can return with a fresh enthusiasm for those ideas started this year and possibly can bring back more new ideas from our summer experience, to contribute to the college community.

In the past few weeks the carefree article I mentioned has been forming in my mind as my spirit has been traveling to and fro about the campus looking at the present college community, that will be leaving Allegheny for the summer while JoAnn Hess's spirit remains to keep Bentley tower lighted. Two events have changed my mind about the carefree article — one was the excellent wisdom of Miss Robin Biggs expressed in her Valedictory Address in an impressive Class Day convocation. I hope that the college community that was present will take these remarks to heart and will pass them on to those not present Wednesday. I feel that there is one particular group that should reflect on the wisdom passed on by Miss Biggs. This campus group to which I am referring is the Allegheny Undergraduate Council. Their Tuesday meeting was the occasion of the second event which made me change from my carefree article to the one I now want to write.

At the last meeting of AUC for this year, 20 members were present out of a possible 32. At precisely 11:00, five of these 20 members walked out of the meeting. (Note: they were not mad.) I guess their reasons for leaving could be many, ranging from studies to the seeking of female companionship in Brooks. To some of the members of the college community the answer would be: Who cares? In reply I would say that we should care because AUC controls a $30,000 budget that they were going to discuss but could not, because after the five people left there was not a quorum. This also prevented the appointment of some committee members and chairmen. One chairmanship was the Traffic Committee, which will now have to wait until next year; the time spent discussing traffic proposals in the first part of the meeting was wasted. In effect this just slows down progress of government. But this also shows a definite lack of responsibility on the part of those supposedly responsible people who we elected. The college administration is willing to give the students responsibility in managing their own affairs as long as they can take care of them. Here I am pointing out that the continuation of this apparent lack of interest and responsibility could possibly persuade the administration to take away some of our privileges. In the light of this last paragraph, I hope that those in the college community will reflect on their action and next year strive to make "our" community strong in student government and in other areas.

"I did not say that it was easy."
