

ALLEGHENY MEETS GROVE CITY FOR GRID TITLE

ALLEGHENY ENDS HOME SEASON WITH 13-0 WIN OVER THIEL

Five Regulars Play Last Game of Career on Montgomery Field

On a field ankle-deep with mud and in a driving rain, Davies' Blue and Gold gridders scored a comparatively easy victory over Holleran's warriors from Thiel. This game was one of the most important in the struggle for the tri-state championship and incidentally Allegheny's last game on the home field.

Although the final score was 13-0 it does not begin to show the superiority of the Blue and Gold. Thiel was baffled at every turn, and time after time the visitors' plays were smothered before they were fairly under way, while Allegheny's goal line was never threatened after the first five minutes of play. Allegheny gained 187 yards to Thiel's 22.

Thiel started out with a snappy brand of play that has not been surpassed on Montgomery Field this year, but their efforts came to naught before the great Blue and Gold grid machine. The Lutherans showed their plucky spirit throughout the game but were outplayed and outplayed in every department. The aerial game, their main hope, was impossible on the treacherous field and Allegheny's great line plunging could have no other termination than victory.

Allegheny drew first blood when a Thiel punt was blocked on its own five-yard line and after a mad scramble Humeston managed to recover the elusive pig skin behind the goal posts. Dahl's placement kick hit the cross bar but went on the right side, the first quarter ending 7-0.

PUBLICATION OF ALLIGATOR DELAYED A WEEK BY PUBLISHERS.

Due to the publishers being unable to procure the proper kind of paper for the cover, the first issue of the Alligator, the humorous publication of the College, has been delayed a week or ten days. The initial appearance will probably be made the latter part of next week. The staff in all its various departments has been working very diligently since the beginning of the term.

The second period saw the beginning of a beautiful drive down the field in spite of the lake of mud, which terminated only when the mighty Dahl smashed the ball over the chalk mark for Allegheny's final points of the game. This remarkable drive of 60 yards was as pretty an exhibition of straight football as one could wish to see, and clearly indicated the strength and superiority of the Blue and Gold. Dahl, Hanlon, and Brace alternated in carrying the oval and their efforts could not be denied. Throughout the third and fourth quarters the play was entirely in Thiel's territory, Allegheny being content to play a defensive game, often punting on the second down, and letting the Mercer Countians exhaust themselves. Thiel failed to show much in the way of an offensive, making only three first downs during the entire game, two of them coming through penalties.

SEVERAL ALUMNI RECEIVE HONORS IN OTHER SCHOOLS

RESEARCH WORK OF THE CAMPUS PROVES REPORTS ARE CORRECT.

Some weeks ago The Campus published the names of several alumni of Allegheny College who had attained scholastic honors in graduate schools last June. The article was based on verified reports, which were received from the colleges and universities which the respective men are attending, as a result of inquiries made by this paper. Several more graduate schools have submitted reports which are as follows:

The University of Pittsburgh Medical School reports that W. B. Gordon, '20, was awarded the Brinton prize which is given annually to the member of the graduating class who has received the highest grades for the entire medical course.

A report from the University of Pittsburgh Dental School states that W. R. Flint, '22, received second honors in the junior class. D. C. Dunn, '20, received fourth honors in the senior class. Senior honors are based on the four years' work.

Thomas Francis, '21, received the degree of Doctor of Medicine cum laude at Yale last June. He was also awarded the Parker prize which is given to the student who has shown the best qualifications of a successful practitioner.

At Harvard University J. L. Ross, '23, was awarded the Thayer Fellowship in English for this year. Charles A. Bollinger, '23, and J. M. Pratt, '25, received scholarships for the year. W. A. Ellis, '16, holds a Fellowship in Economics.

E. P. Booth, '20, received a traveling fellowship at the University of Boston. This entitles him to eighteen months study abroad.

Preliminary Varsity Debate Tryouts to be Held Today

Since the first call for varsity debate candidates about twenty-five men have been working on their speeches. The trials will be held in Ford Chapel this afternoon. A short bibliography was prepared for the debaters, and all the new men are determined to create plenty of competition for the remnants of last year's team: Bartlett, Gordon, and Schruers.

During the course of the season the debaters will meet Western Reserve, Wooster, and Oberlin on the question: Resolved, That the present policy of extension of governmental restriction of individual liberty should be condemned. Debates may be held with Bates, Penn State, and Pitt, although no definite arrangements have been made.

Five minutes will be permitted for the delivery of the main speeches and the rebuttal will be limited to three minutes.

FRESHMEN HEAR LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SERVICE

DEAN BEEBE OF BOSTON THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL TALKS TO FIRST YEAR STUDENTS.

Tuesday afternoon, November 3, 1925, Dean Beebe of the Boston Theological School addressed the freshman class on "Opportunities in the Field of Christian Service." Dean Beebe explained his subject as referring to "Christian Service" as a professional career. He showed that a person is supposed to have a "call" to such service, which makes him go into it. This call does not appear in other vocations. Such a call does not necessarily mean efficiency, according to Doctor Beebe. He said, "God intends us to use our instruments of knowledge in choosing professions, even religious work."

Dean Beebe described a person who would be happy in religious work as one who is fundamentally an idealist. Any man or woman who wants to get monetary gains for himself or who feels that life should be measured in material gains should not be in such a work. Doctor Beebe declared that, "No one should enter religious work who is not convinced that the thing fundamentally wrong with the world is something spiritual. The object of Christian work is 'To sustain with words him that is weary' (Isaiah II) for words are directed to the spiritual man," Dean Beebe stated.

He explained the difference between the ministry and other careers. "The ministry deals with man spiritually while the others have to do with man materially. Religious workers deal with something invisible and their accomplishments can not be measured while men in other professions can see with what they are working and can see the results."

Dean Beebe pointed out that there are special types in religious work now. These different branches are religious education, foreign missionary work, social service work, and rural and city preaching. According to Dean Beebe one must consider one's own abilities as each branch needs special talent.

Doctor Beebe quoted Henry Drummond's plan for choosing one's life work.

1. Think—use your own mind.
2. Talk to other people whose opinion may be worth while, who are interested in you.
3. Pray.
4. Consider what you like—the thing you can do with most enthusiasm you can do best.
5. When the time comes for decision, decide according to the best light you have at that time.
6. When you have come to a decision regard it as final.
7. It may not be for a long time after, but the time will come when you will see that God was guiding you toward his plan and will.

DOCTOR LEE ADDRESSES CHEMICAL ASSOCIATION

Saturday, November 7, the Erie Section of the American Chemical Association met at Carnegie Hall. About twenty members of the society were present at the meeting, at which Dr. R. E. Lee gave a short address.

Following the meeting, luncheon was served at Cochran Hall for the members of the society. During the afternoon they were guests of the Athletic Association at the Allegheny-Thiel football game.

Phi Chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma also attended the meeting and luncheon.

Glen Barr, '19, is an instructor in Spanish and a graduate student at Ohio State University.

The news of the sudden death of Suzanne, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kinnear, '20, of Pittsburgh, Pa., has been received in Meadville. The sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Kinnear in their loss.

SECOND CONCERT NUMBER FEATURES WOMAN ARTIST

Miss Ethel Leginska, distinguished English pianist, composer and conductor, will appear in Ford Chapel, Tuesday evening, November 24. Miss Leginska will come to Meadville as the second number on the Allegheny College Concert Course.

Some advertising matter has been distributed about the town bearing the date of Miss Leginska's recital as that of Thursday, November 24. Attention of the public is called to the fact that the day is erroneous. The day of the concert is Tuesday as is printed on the season tickets.

Miss Leginska has frequently been referred to as "The Paderewski of the Women Pianists," "The Phenomenal Pianist," "The Pianistic Marvel." She has taken a place at the very top of her profession among the few really great pianists of the day, and the world's music critics have long ago exhausted their supply of superlatives in writing about her performances.

Miss Leginska was not one of the so called "born musicians." From babyhood she "just played" and even today in spite of her high rank in musical circles she is still a thoughtful, patient student, entirely devoted to her playing and composing.

Early in life, she went from England, her native land, to Germany for her pianistic education, later becoming a favored pupil of the great Leschetzky in Vienna.

Returning to England, Miss Leginska won a veritable triumph from the first, a triumph that has since taken her all over Europe and America and her name and fame have become internationally known.

Now, Miss Leginska stands supreme as a master interpreter and composer of rare intelligence and unbounded charm. Delicacy and taste, personality and temperament, coupled with unusual creative idealism place her among the few foremost women pianists of the day. Miss Leginska gives out so much of herself that she invariably arouses the intellectual and the emotional in the great audiences held spellbound by her art.

COLLEGE LIBRARY ADDS SEVERAL NEW VOLUMES

NEW HISTORY ENCYCLOPEDIA GIVES UP-TO-DATE REFERENCES.

During the last month seventy new books were added to the College Library. The new books deal with various topics, and the greater number will soon be placed on the "New Books" shelf for reference.

One of the most interesting of the new volumes is the "New Larned History, for Ready Reference, Reading and Research." It is a recent revision of Larned's "History for Ready Reference and Topical Reading," which first appeared in 1894. The old expression "Everything changes save change alone" applies very closely to history. Thirty years ago history was defined as past politics; today it embraces an infinite variety of subjects—literary, economic, social and scientific in character. Thus methods change, customs change, ideas change, all things change. The new work is modeled after these ideas, and it is a beautiful accomplishment. The written matter is so arranged that one has but to know the alphabet to find information on any historical subject. The book is published by the C. A. Nichols Publishing Co., of Springfield, Mass., and it was purchased through the Lucy Prindle Foote Fund.

"Wonders of the Past," a four-volume set, portrays a sort of permanent moving picture of the wonder cities of the past with elaborate subtitles of the actuality of civilized communities down to the fall of the Roman Empire. The work is edited by J. A. Hammerton.

The 1925 English edition of "Who's Who" has been received by the library. This edition contains 3165 pages.

Grace Hilderbrand, '25, is teaching in the Youngstown High School, Youngstown, Ohio.

BLUE AND GOLD FACES CRIMSON IN SEASON'S GREATEST CLASH

Victory For Coach Davies' Men Means Third Straight Championship

In the game which decides the minor college championship for the year Allegheny meets the Crimson of Grove City, Saturday, November 14. Not only does this game decide the championship but the fact that it is with Grove City means a great deal more. The rivalry between the two schools is always intense and no matter whether one team is greatly superior to the other the score is always close, and the game is hard fought throughout.

Both the Blue and Gold and the Crimson have been undefeated in their clashes with teams of this section and with so much at stake the game promises to be the bloodiest battle of years. Each squad uses the Pitt system which also goes to insure a close game.

From dope and statistics Allegheny holds a slight edge over Grove City. The latter was beaten 54-3 by West Virginia while Allegheny held the Mountaineers to 18-0. This speaks well for the Blue and Gold defense as compared to that of the Crimson. A great scare was thrown in the Grove City camp last Saturday when Geneva nearly romped home with a victory. The Covenanters scored early in the game and held Grove City until late in the third quarter when a fumble and a pass brought a touchdown. Where Pflug succeeded in making the point after touchdown Hamilton failed and Grove City won 7-6. Geneva in its clash with Allegheny was beaten 14-0 and decidedly outplayed in every department of the game.

Coach Bowser has a more powerful team than he has had in years. His defense has not been fathomed by any team this year except by West Virginia, a major college eleven. The offense seems to work in spurts but is always able to come through in a pinch as was evidenced by the victory over Geneva. Their biggest job will be to stop Dahl, and Hanlon and Brace will also bear watching.

Every man will be in fine shape for the battle. The only serious casualty in the Thiel game was a broken nose sustained by Slavin, but the big end will be able to play Saturday. Wolz and Kinnunen after a rest of two weeks will be sufficiently recovered to play, thus strengthening the line considerably. Coach Davies will also have a host of reliable substitutes he can throw into the game in case of any accidents.

ARMISTICE DAY EXHIBIT DISPLAYED IN LIBRARY

PROFESSOR MEZZOTERO'S COLLECTION OF WAR TROPHIES IS VERY INTERESTING.

A large Armistice Day exhibit has been placed in the display case in the main room of the College Library by Prof. Richard F. Mezzotero who is a member of the American Legion. This exhibit is the personal property of Professor Mezzotero, and it was collected when he was in Europe during the World War.

The display consists of coins from several European countries, and pictures of army units, ruined buildings, and fighting equipment. A large picture in the center of the case shows a part of the Hindenberg line in the Argonne Forest with the network of concrete bomb-proof dugouts. Among the other pictures is one of General Pershing and Marshall Foch, another of a group of Allied officers and Y. M. C. A. workers in Aix-les-Bains, and a third which is of Colonel Sicilioni, a close friend of Professor Mezzotero's family, who was a staff officer and editor-in-chief of the Italian War Bulletins.

The work of a French convalescent soldier is well shown by a wooden cane encircled by a serpent, which was carved with a pen knife. A piece of shrapnel from the battle of Verdun, a propaganda pamphlet dropped by a German plane and picked up in the Argonne Forest, a German match box, and an Italian Army Star are also included in the display.

WORK NEARLY COMPLETED ON PUBLICATIONS ADVERTISEMENTS.

Work in the various managerial departments is just about completed for the school year 1925-26. The new advertisements that were solicited started in the November issue of The Campus, and the new ads for the other three publications have already been set in type for printing. The Campus, as in former years, obtained the largest number of ads. There are still a few spaces in the "Alligator" that are expected to be filled within the next week. The ads that were solicited now will be printed until November 1, 1926.

Y. M. DRIVE FOR FUNDS REACHES HALF-WAY MARK

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION REPORTS THAT $500 HAS BEEN PLEDGED.

Last Thursday morning the drive for the 1925-26 Y. M. C. A. budget was begun. Dr. W. F. Woodring, representing the Faculty, expressed sentiments entirely favorable to the budget plans made out by the Y. M. C. A. Finance Committee. Mr. Roland Barber reported the Student Senate's sanction of the budget. Then Mr. Clarence Avey, president of the Y. M. C. A., explained the budget.

The total amount necessary to carry out the Y. M. C. A. program for this school year and to pay the Crane deficit from last year was, originally $1300, but a grant of $225 by the College Administration has cut this amount down to $1075. At the last report from the Finance Committee $550 had been pledged, while 55 fraternity men and a great many non-fraternity men had not yet been interviewed. The thermometer, displayed in Chapel Thursday morning, represented the relative amounts given by the Faculty, the respective fraternities, and the non-fraternity group. To date the Beta Upsilon Fraternity leads with $112, but it is expected that the Faculty will soon out-distance all other groups.

Mook, alternate, were selected to represent the freshman class in the debate. The first year men will take the negative side of the question. The Sophomore team, which will uphold the affirmative side of the question, is composed of the following men: Robert Kirkpatrick, Lewis Shellenberger, Angelo Strabley and Russel Munnell, alternate, all of last year's freshman team.

A son, Bruce Graham, was born to Rev. and Mrs. S. G. Laird of Lewistown, Pa., on October 27. Mrs. Laird will be remembered as Velma F. McKiney, '15.

WHO WON'T BE THERE?

Past experiences have shown that a football team of exceptional ability is necessary to win the annual Allegheny-Grove City game. This year each college may rightfully boast a team of fine calibre. The advantage, if any, lies with the Crimson, since the game is to take place on Grove City's home field.

There is only one way in which this deficiency may be overcome, and that is by the presence of every Allegheny student at that game. The advantage that is said to be with a team playing on its home field is not due to the difference in the gridirons. The dimensions of the playing field and the texture of the soil at Grove City is identical with that at Meadville. The real difference lies in the fact that the home team usually has the best support from the stands.

It behooves every Alleghenian to attend the game at Grove City Saturday afternoon. The College Band is going to furnish the music, the team will do its best to win, and it is the least the student body can do to be there en masse to support the team. The Allegheny-Grove City game has been the big feature of our football season for many years—let this be no exception.

ALLEGHENY AND THE WORLD COURT.

Because the United States Senate is scheduled to debate the World Court, on December 17, when the Swanson Resolution will come up, a nation wide World Court student poll will be taken on the subject. The work of this tremendous task is being undertaken by a group of organizations and publications. Interest in the poll has rapidly spread; as intercollegiate conference on the subject will be held at Princeton, prominent men have written articles to be used as part of the publicity service, and the great college dailies have set up a telegraphic exchange to keep in touch with developments. The poll will in all probability be the largest thing of its kind ever attempted.

The Campus has been swamped with literature, personal and general, asking it to conduct a student poll in this college. AND THE CAMPUS HAS REFUSED TO DO SO. The reason is not that The Campus believes it is busy enough with material strictly of local interest, not that the time and the trouble involved were considered, not that we were uninterested, but because The Campus has satisfied itself that the student body of the college is not qualified to vote on such a question.

We asked students, generally acknowledged to be leaders of student activities on the Hill, what they knew about the Harding-Hughes-Coolidge Terms, the Borah Terms, and the Harmony Plan. Not one was able to give a satisfactory answer.

We of The Campus would not feel free to sponsor a poll, the elements of which are so little known to our student body. We believe it is wiser to refuse to participate than to send in a vote that would be based on such little knowledge of the subject. To be sure The Campus could conduct a publicity and educational campaign, but it must be remembered that this publication is not a sixteen-page daily. A proper educational program would demand more space than we have to offer in the next fifteen editions.

By this time, the object of this editorial is obvious. It is an appeal to the students to become more interested in world affairs. Fifteen minutes of intelligent reading per day will prevent the recurrence of this present humiliation and embarrassment.

GIVE THE CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM CREDIT.

There appears to be a general attitude of indifference in the student body towards the Allegheny cross-country team. Now, we do not expect any wild outburst of enthusiasm over the exploits of the harriers, but we do think that they should be given more consideration and support. Most men on the Hill think that any chap who would go out and run four or five miles every day is somewhat foolish, and let it go at that.

Such is not the case. These men are running these four or five miles for Old Allegheny, even as the football men are fighting out there in the mud and snow for Old Allegheny. The cross-country squad has made a good record this season. They are working hard for their College. Give them their just dues and your support.

ALLEGHENY ALUMNA ADDED TO CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA CONFERENCE.

Announcement is made that Miss Grace Thomas, class of '09 of Union City, Pa., has been added to the staff of the Central Pennsylvania Conference Board of Church Schools, under the Board of Education, the Board of Missions co-operating. Her salary for a year or more has been generously underwritten by Robert F. Rich of Woolrich, Pa., and Dr. M. A. Dawber, superintendent of the Department of Rural Work of the Board of Home Missions.

Miss Thomas received her A. B. and M. A. degrees at Allegheny where she majored in English. She has secured credits from Pennsylvania State College and Harvard University for attending summer schools, along with two years of graduate work in the School of Religious Education of Boston University. Her experience with young people, pageantry, and all kinds of religious work makes her well suited for the position.

ALLEGHENIANS MEET AT TEACHERS' CONVENTION IN CLEVELAND.

The convention of the North East Ohio Teachers' Association in Cleveland on October 30 and 31, was the occasion for a very pleasant gathering of Alleghenians for luncheon on Friday, October 30. Over fifty gathered at the Carnegie Hall restaurant for an hour's pleasant reunion with old college friends. The reception committee was comprised of the present officers of the Cleveland Allegheny Club, and the past presidents of the club. The following Alleghenians were visitors: Mrs. A. L. Ballinger, '12, Meadville; June Shires, '13, and Emma Warren, '13, of Mansfield, O.; Agnes Van Hoesen, '15; Bella Thoburn, '14, and Sadie Van Hoesen, '11, of Youngstown, O.; Harriet Brydle, Marion Olmstead, and Patricia Prather, all of the class of 1925, of Conneaut, O.; Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Fox, '15, of Jefferson, O.; A. E. Limber, '15, and Mrs. E. M. Kauffman, '11, of Akron, O.

Y. M. C. A. COLUMN

Some time ago Mr. William Beebe, naturalist and explorer, came back from a twenty-thousand-mile trip on the Atlantic Ocean and started us with the information that the Sargasso Sea, which was definitely located on the maps in our geographies and figured large in the sea thrillers, cannot be found. Perhaps, he says, natural forces have broken it up. At all events it cannot be located.

This information, which may cause us to revise all our ideas of the Sargasso Sea, is a reminder that there are few things that can be said so definitely that they may not be in necessity of revision. Dogmatism used to be thought to be the special province of the theologian, but after all the domatist of the dogmatists is your amateur scientist who thinks he has a monopoly on the world's store of knowledge, and that the most adequate explanation of natural phenomena is that presented by his particular field of scientific study.

All of this is said to suggest that there is a wide difference between what we know and what we think we know, and that it does not pay to be too certain about anything.

McCONNELL VS. DARROW.

Motor cars parked for blocks, two halls filled to overflowing with eager listeners and many turned away from the building. Such was the scene presented on the night of the debate between Bishop McConnell and Clarence Darrow in Chicago, a little more than a week after the bishop's visit to Allegheny. The debate was on evolution, Mr. Darrow upholding the theory from the mechanistic standpoint and the bishop taking the opposite side. The following comment is given by a writer in the Christian Century of last week: "Darrow carried the mind of his audience sentence by sentence, slowly, simply, legistically, while the bishop talked to his audience, brilliantly. Darrow was slow, dull at times, but the bishop was always fluent, facetious, witty and quick. Darrow said he couldn't follow it all, and even that was said as though he were speaking for and with his audience.

"Had there been judges, Bishop McConnell would probably have been proclaimed the victor. One felt that the bishop understood the lawyer's mind, while Mr. Darrow, reason as he would, could not smother his own great faith."

The gist of Bishop McConnell's speech can be found in last week's Pittsburgh Christian Science Advocate.

"When music and courtesy are better understood and appreciated, there will be no war."—Confucius. And, one is tempted to add, there will also be none of the trifling and unworthy things, the farmyard foolishness, that figures so largely in our college lives.

FREDERICK PALMER, '93, PUBLISHED ARTICLE ON NEXT WAR

Frederick Palmer, '95, noted war correspondent, is the author of an article entitled "Where the Next European War Will Start" in the November issue of Harpers' magazine. Mr. Palmer has been observing and studying wars from the time he began work as a war-correspondent at the Greek War in 1897 up to the World War. In this article he predicts where the next war will be fought, and he explains his prediction. At the treaty of Versailles, Poland was granted all of her former possessions and a strip of territory giving her an outlet to the Baltic Sea. This territory, called the Polish Corridor, is pre-eminently German. Mr. Palmer believes that the Germans are planning to regain this land some day, and it is here that the world will witness another European conquest.

AMONG OUR FRIENDS AND ALLIES.

Kansas Wesleyan University's senior class recently observed Sneak Day. The members of the class left the campus at 5 a. m. and drove to Kanopolis where they spent the day in visiting a salt mine. All of their plans were successfully carried out without the knowledge of the university authorities.

A combined action of the governing bodies of the University of Kansas has given the seniors the absolute right to carry out the strict enforcement of freshman regulations, and it was recommended that every senior carry a paddle for the attainment of this end. The object of the action was not to oppress the first year men, but rather to build up a substantial school spirit among the classes and a general school patriotism.

Oklahoma Baptist University's "Bison" is running a series of articles entitled "Who's Who in Football." The purpose of these articles is to acquaint the students with members of the 1925 football team.

With the slogan "Keep the alumni educated," the faculty and Alumni Association of Lafayette College will co-operate this year in the production of an alumni reading list to be distributed to all of Lafayette's graduates and former students. Occasional leaflets containing books recommended by various departments and short reviews of each book will be issued.

Hulings Hall News

DR. DARLING TALKS ON EVOLU- TION

Dr. Darling talked to the girls of Hulings Hall, Tuesday, November 3, about evolution. He stated that first, people notice things, then form opinions, and finally arrive at beliefs on the basis of observation and experience. As a result, the theory of evolution is one formed from observation and experience which explains certain facts.

Both the creative and the evolutionary theories answer the prominent question of how things have come to be as they are. About one hundred years ago, the creative theory was dominant, but, because of the accumulative knowledge the most people of today think of the answer to that one question in terms of the evolutionary theory. The speaker explained four lines of evidence favoring the theory of evolution; namely, the structural relationships among the different animals and plants, the useless structures in each individual, the fossil forms, and the modern experimental tests. Doctor Darling pointed out that there are so many useless and degenerate organs in the physical anatomy, that the evolutionary theory is the only one that will stand the test of God's creative powers. Doctor Darling also stated that the evolutionary theory should strengthen rather than break one's faith by showing that evolution is merely a method of God and that a knowledge of it should bring man nearer to the Almighty.

Since no better way has been found to explain the question of how things have come to be as they are, Doctor Darling said that the theory of evolution will probably maintain its present position until a more satisfactory answer can be submitted to society.

FOOTBALL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Probably the most sensational victory of the week, and of the season too, was Dartmouth's humiliating defeat of Cornell 62-13. This leaves undisputed Dartmouth's claim to championship honors in the East.

Grove City, Allegheny's opponent next Saturday, just managed to squeeze out a victory over Geneva, 7-6. Skinny Hamilton lost the game when he failed to make the extra point after touchdown.

Harvard seems to be the weak sister of the Big Three this year, being decisively beaten last Saturday by Princeton 36-0. Yale will no doubt duplicate the feat in the annual battle between the two teams.

Syracuse, held to a tie score by Ohio Wesleyan 3-3, lost some of its prestige and is consequently eliminated as a championship contender.

Notre Dame seems to be playing in streaks, Penn State holding them to a 0-0 score.

Westminster, the last opponent of the Blue and Gold, edged out a victory over Duquesne 6-2.

Pitt, victim of Lafayette, won a lucky victory over W. and J., the conquerors of Lafayette, when Wissinger picked up a fumble and raced for a touchdown.

Mrs. F. P. Miller (Florence M. Grauel, '08) presented a paper at the opening meeting of the Women's Literary Society of Meadville on Friday afternoon, November 6. Mrs. Miller is the author of a story entitled "Following the Gleam", which has recently come from the press.

BLUE AND GOLD RUNNERS OVERWHELM THIEL 15-40

HARRIERS TO MEET WESTMINSTER IN FINAL RUN OF SEASON.

Running over a slippery and muddy field the Allegheny cross country team defeated Thiel Saturday, November 7, at Montgomery Field. The score was 15-40.

The time of 25-5 minutes was excellent considering the condition of the course. Only two Thiel men finished the race and they did not place. Captain Rea, Bentley and Jones came in together while Ellis and Richards finished fourth and fifth.

The victory makes the Allegheny harriers outstanding contenders for the minor college cross country championship.

On Saturday, November 20, at New Wilmington Allegheny meets Westminster in the last run of the season.

For the last two years Westminster has fallen victim to the Blue and Gold runners. In a recent event with Geneva two men were placed in the first five by Westminster while Allegheny placed three in the clash with the same team.

COLLEGE BAND PLANS DEFINITELY TO GO TO GROVE CITY.

During the past week it was definitely decided by the governing board of the organization, that the Band should make the trip to Grove City for the football game at that place next Saturday. The trip will be made in a large truck.

In about three weeks the Band expects to give a concert at the Meadville High School as a part of an afternoon assembly.

Orders were placed with a local clothier last Thursday for a high grade pair of white duck trousers for each member of the Band. The white trousers with the present band sweater will make a more presentable uniform for the organization.

FLORIDA ALUMNUS SPEAKS IN CHAPEL YESTERDAY

Rev. R. N. Merrill, D. D., '04, pastor of the Methodist Church at Miami, Florida, gave a brief talk before the student body in Chapel yesterday morning.

During the course of his address, Doctor Merrill emphasized that it is unfortunate for a man to go out into the world with the idea that it is the other man who sets the standard. "The Christian religion is a religion of superiority. Christianity makes us better than we would have been, were we without it."

"Let us not think of the record we made in school, but use it as a means of attaining a higher and better place in the eyes of the world," said Doctor Merrill in closing.

of 15 yards each and the third on a 10-yard forward pass.

Captain Hanlon's off-tackle plays, Dahl's great line plunging, and several long runs executed by Brace and Waleski, and Dolde's usual brand of football featured the Allegheny attack. Humeston at guard and Slavin and Hughes at ends turned in pretty bits of defensive work. Allegheny's tackling was deadly throughout the game.

In the kicking department, Davies uncovered a punter of note in the person of the versatile Dahl. The big fellow got away punts that would have been considered very good on a dry field but when they were executed in spite of the extremely adverse conditions they were truly remarkable. He easily outclassed Thiel's best efforts, averaging over 31 yards per kick.

Toward the close of the game both teams made many substitutions. Miller was sent in for Slavin who suffered a broken nose, and Coach Davies gave several of his second string men a chance to break into the lineup. The game ended with a pretty run by Lundgren that carried the pigskin dangerously near the Thiel goal posts.

It was the final home game for a quintet of Blue and Gold stars. The great Fullback Dahl, Halfback and Captain Jimmy Hanlon, Alden Humeston, and Buck Wolz, star guards, and Quarterback Dolde, the best quarterback seen here in recent years, will play no more on Montgomery Field.

FIRE AT PHI GAM HOUSE PROVIDES SMOKE AND EXCITEMENT.

What may have proved a serious fire had it not been quickly discovered occurred last Friday at 12:30 p. m., at the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house. The origin of the fire has not been fully determined, although the members of the fraternity believe it due to some cornstalks, that were to have been used as decorations at the fraternity's Old Clothes Party, being placed too near the furnace in the basement of the building.

The fire was confined to the furnace room, but the house in general suffered from the effects of the smoke.

The matron of the house, Mrs. Stewart, sustained severe cuts on her hand when she broke the glass in the fire door connecting the matron's quarters with the rest of the house.

Members of the fraternity had the fire located and practically extinguished by the use of buckets and a garden hose, before the fire trucks had arrived on the scene.

A CORRECTION.

An article that appeared in The Campus some weeks ago concerning Alleghenians who are thirty-third degree Masons, is subject to some correction.

The active members of the Supreme Council of the Northern Masonic Jurisdiction, representing the thirty-third degree of Scottish Rite Masons, who are Alleghenians, are Dr. James I. Buchanan and John S. Wallace, ex-'93.

Allegheny men who are honorary members of the same order are Dr. J. W. Miles, '74, Dr. John A. Bolard, '78, Bishop Charles B. Mitchell, '72, Justice Emory A. Walling, Bishop Lester Smith, '04, and Dr. W. W. Youngson, '91.

Acting-President C. F. Ross has been elected to receive the honorary degree in September, 1926, at the meeting of the Supreme Council in Buffalo.

AVEY LEADS SCHOOL OF PRACTICAL CHRISTIANITY

The Allegheny School of Practical Christianity held its regular Sunday morning service November 8 in Ford Memorial Chapel. Clarence Avey opened the service with a short talk.

Doctor Woodring's class, working on the International Sunday Lessons, discussed the "Responsibilities of Church Members," taking up the elements of strong character and the things the church expects of its members.

Katherine Haines, '25, is teaching in Warren, Ohio.
