

ENGLISH COMPANY PRESENTS GAY'S 'THE BEGGAR'S OPERA' TUESDAY, JANUARY NINETEEN

Celebrated Company on Sixth Extended Tour of the United States; Highly Recommended by Leading Critics of the Country.

A musical and dramatic event of unusual importance is booked for the Allegheny Little Theatre next Tuesday afternoon and evening, January 19, when the famous first light opera or musical comedy of the English language, John Gay's "The Beggar's Opera," will be presented by the London company now touring America for the sixth season.

The cast will include Sylvia Nelis, Elsie French, Vera Hurst and others who made theatrical history ten years ago in the celebrated revival of this old musical play at the Lyric in Hamersmith—a run that lasted over three and a half years.

The play comes to Allegheny from Wooster College where it showed to capacity crowds both times that it was presented. Before this it had been showing at the Eighth Street theatre, Chicago, for two weeks, where it enjoyed tremendous success. It was while it was in Chicago that Mr. Benjamin of the college faculty saw it and was very much pleased with it. It is due to an open date that we are to have the splendid opportunity of seeing this wonderful production.

One night stands in musical and educational centers this year have been very popular, partly because places missed on former tours, which took in only the largest cities, are now having their chance to enjoy the gay old musical show which has become classic, and yet has remained as frisky as any of its dramatic descendants. A professor in Columbia University recently remarked that "The Beggar's Opera" was part of a liberal education, and ought to keep going the rounds until every man, woman, and child in the country had seen it at least once.

Those who attend either performance next Tuesday will see a historical example of old English musical drama (that ballad opera), but they will also keenly enjoy the show as a pleasant diversion, packed full of pleasure, and rivaling many recent compositions in ability to amuse and arouse artistic appreciation. Mirth, melody, color—all requisites of musical comedy—belong to "The Beggar's Opera," and the London company knows how to turn the trick to a queen's taste.

The story of "The Beggar's Opera" revolves about Captain Macheath, a romantic highwayman and his two lady loves, Polly Peachum and Lucy Lockit. His evasion of the officers, his arrest, his escape from Newgate prison, his difficulties in carrying on a double love affair, and his final comic downfall furnish the main springs of the action and make the narrative as modern and as rapid as a moving picture. Shakespearean realism and true eighteenth-century wit provide delicious entertainment.

Gay's opera is full of humorous lines and situations, and has a wealth of

Honorary Economics Fraternity Elects Five Members

Tonight at the Kepler Hotel, Pi Tau Epsilon, honorary economics fraternity, will hold a dinner and initiation ceremony. The newly elected members are Ross Brown, Wilnot Craig, Garnet Francis, Herbert Carpenter, Forrest Beighley. These five had the highest averages of Economics I students, and all are majoring in economics.

At a meeting of Pi Tau Epsilon in Bentley Hall on Friday, January 8, Donald Williams was elected delegate to the Model Inter-Collegiate Disarmament Conference, which was held in Pittsburgh last week.

Rome, Jan. 11—Premier Mussolini today assured A. W. Robertson of Pittsburgh, chairman of the board of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, that Italy has no intention of restricting the legitimate activities of business and that there is no tendency here to nationalize industry. "The Italian people are feeling the depression," said Robertson, "but there are few signs of unemployment, and business generally is well satisfied with the present financial conditions."

Mr. Robertson is a graduate of Allegheny College and will be remembered as the principal speaker at the inaugural services of President Tolley.

BETA KAPPA ORGANIZES NEW CHAPTER AT CASE

Latest Chapter of Fraternity Installed by Degree Team From Local Chapter.

Sigma Tau Delta a local social fraternity at Case College, Cleveland, was installed into Beta Kappa December 28 and 29, 1931.

This local was established at Case 32 years ago by A. J. Bohrer, F. W. Feihl, G. K. Saurwein, and F. K. Zeichmann, all of the class of 1909. Their intention was to compete with the national fraternities then on the campus. Since its founding, Sigma Tau Delta has had 76 members, 16 of which are now active.

It is now Alpha Nu chapter, being the 37th to be installed into Beta Kappa which was founded at Hamline University, St. Paul, Minnesota, in 1901, and has added 35 chapters in all parts of the country since 1922 when it became national.

The installation and initiations were performed in the Case Club by Dr. Henry Ward Church, Grand Akron of Beta Kappa, and a team composed of William MacMillan, Carl Borg, John Williams, Jack Hartman, James Vessel, and Wilnot Craig of the Allegheny chapter.

The ceremonies were ended by a ball held on the 14th floor of the Terminal Building in Cleveland. Among those in attendance were Messrs. Kelley, Swarts, Stewart, Black, Johnston, Watts, and Wolf of Allegheny.

Debate League Formed Under Leadership of English Professor

Hurst R. Anderson, varsity debate coach, announces that a general schedule has been arranged for the Inter-High School Debate League, which was formed recently under the sponsorship of Allegheny.

The members of this league are the high schools of Cochranton, Titusville, Corry, Oil City, Franklin, and Meadville. Allegheny College has offered the services of the varsity debaters in the promotion, organization, and coaching of the various high school groups. The question which these high schools will debate is "Resolved that the several states should enact legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance."

The debates have been grouped into a general schedule consisting of preliminaries, semi-finals, and finals, and the groupings of competitors has been made by drawing lots. In the preliminaries, which are to be held between February 29 and March 1, Cochranton meets Titusville, Corry debates with Oil City, and Franklin clashes with Meadville. In the semi-finals, held between April 4 and April 9, the three winners of the preliminaries will be matched together. Between April 18 and April 30, in the finals, the two winners of the semi-finals will debate for the championship of the League. (Continued on Page 2)

THOBURN CLUB SENDS THREE DELEGATES TO BUFFALO CONVENTION

Expenses of Local Delegates Defrayed by College and Community Churches.

Virginia Charlton, Arthur Crawford, and Charles Hartung represented Allegheny College at the thirteenth quadrennial Student Volunteer Movement Convention, which was held in Buffalo from December 30 to January 3. Thirty-five hundred students from American and Canadian colleges and universities heard outstanding missionaries tell of their experiences and held round table discussions dealing with the various phases of the convention's main theme, "Living Christ in the World Today." A committee of 35 from the Buffalo meeting visited Washington on January 5 and expressed the Student Volunteer Movement's attitude toward disarmament before President Hoover and Senator Borah. Charles Hartung was one of this delegation to the capital.

By defraying a part of the trip's expenses, the college and the community churches helped to make it possible for the Thoburn Club delegation to participate in this great expression of student interest in foreign missionary work. Many foreign students who are studying in this country were present at the convention, making it virtually international in scope. It is interesting to note that the number of girls and the number of boys in attendance was about equal. Addresses, round table discussions, and entertainment comprised a well balanced program.

Each day several informative and inspiring talks were given by men who are renowned for their interest in spreading Christianity to heathen lands. Dr. Walter Judd, for six years a medical missionary in China, related his personal experiences so vividly in his talk, "What Should One Do With His Life?", that all three Allegheny delegates agree that it was the feature of the assembly. Kirby Page, editor of "The World of Today," discussed the present economic situation in his "Humanity Uprooted." Dr. T. Z. Koo appeared in his native Chinese dress and spoke on two occasions. GERMAN HEAD SPENDS ENJOYABLE VACATION

Renews Many Acquaintances; Attends Chinese Dinner on New Year's Eve.

During the Christmas recess Dr. Anna Schafheitlin attended the meeting of the Modern Language Association of America which was held at Madison, Wisconsin, where she did her graduate work ten years and more ago. She brings back greetings to her Meadville friends from Miss Erika Meyer, recently instructor in German at Allegheny, now working for her doctor's degree at the University of Wisconsin.

Among the oldtime friends with whom Miss Schafheitlin had interesting visits after the busy days of the conference were over Professor A. R. Hohlfeld, head of the German department of the University of Wisconsin, an eminent Goethe scholar and William Ellery Leonard, Professor of English, a well-known American poet, author of "The Lynching Bee and Other Poems, Two Lives, The Pet of Galilee, The Locomotive God, etc." She had the pleasure, also, of a reunion with a number of her former Chinese students of Tsing Hua University, Peiping, who invited her to an excellent Chinese dinner on New Year's Eve.

In Chicago Miss Schafheitlin had the pleasure of a visit with a Chinese scholar of note, Dr. P. C. Chang, who was dean of Tsing Hua College in her time. He is about to return to China after two years in the U. S. A., first as director of the American tour of the famous Chinese actor Mei Lan-fang, about whom Miss Schafheitlin spoke at length in her lecture on the Chinese Theatre before the Meadville Art Club, later as lecturer on Chinese literature and philosophy at Columbia University and the University of Chicago. He was accompanied on his visit to America by his wife, a graduate of Vassar, and a small daughter.

STUDENTS AT DARTMOUTH PASS QUEER LEGISLATION

Students attending the college in Hanover, N. H., are required to vote, if they are eligible, and the town profits by the poll tax. The students "turned the tables," however, when they attended a town meeting, introduced and passed two bills calling for the construction of a town hall a foot wide and one mile high and the building of an 8 mile high wall around the town. The affair had to be taken to Washington to have the bills renounced.

ADMIRAL RICHARD BYRD TO ADDRESS STUDENTS SATURDAY, JANUARY 3

To Appear as First of a Series of Four Speakers; Followed by Warden Lawes.

Concerted efforts on the part of those promoting the recently announced concert and lecture series to be presented in this vicinity during the next two months have resulted in the booking of Admiral Richard E. Byrd, who will appear here at eight o'clock Saturday evening, January 23.

The necessity for two projection-machine booths required for the presentation of novel and interesting material covering the speaker's Antarctic expedition may prevent conducting the lecture in Ford Chapel. In this event, the speaker will possibly appear in the Meadville High School Auditorium, just off the Campus.

Although student support is miserably below that expected, in view of the hearty support given such enterprises in other small schools, even during times of economic depression, the committees in charge have to date sold approximately three hundred of the five hundred admissions offered. Recently increased sales indicate a growing appreciation among the student body of the values offered by this unique and worth while project.

Those who have delayed securing tickets are urged to do so at once, since no admissions to individual performances will be sold. Admission will be only upon presentation of season passes, which will probably be available at the door January 23 for those who have failed to make reservations.

This lecture by Commander Byrd, the finest of its type available today, and until the inception of this movement financially beyond the means of the College, will be the first of a series of four. These four will be alternately lectures and concerts by outstanding contemporary musicians, running through until the latter part of March. The third number of the series, as yet not definitely arranged for, may be presented by Warden Lawes, of Sing Sing Prison, who will discuss his work at that place.

DELEGATES OF LOCAL CLUBS ATTEND MEETINGS

Model Disarmament Conference Staged, With Pitt University As Host.

Seven students of Allegheny College, and Dean Adeline Bowie, left the City Friday afternoon for Pittsburgh, where they attended the University of Pittsburgh Model Disarmament Conference. Sessions, which began Friday evening, concluded Sunday morning.

The students from here went as representatives of Great Britain, other schools sending like representations of the other great nations. The plan of the conference was to bring out the problems which will confront the members of the many delegations meeting in February at Geneva, Switzerland, to consider world disarmament.

Miss Bowie went as a representative of the faculty; Miss Isabel Stamm, Miss Mary Mull, Virginia Wright, Hugh Elliott, and Clifford Lewis of the History and Political Science Club; Don Williams of the Economics Club, and Douglas Marks, of the Liberal Club. Mr. Elliott will also represent the college Y. M. C. A.

Christmas Issue of "Lit" Shows Much Improvement

The Literary Magazine presented a most unusual treat in the December issue. Few college magazines can boast features the equal of Mr. Siple's "Christmas in the Antarctic." This story of holiday life at the bottom of the world is filled with interesting and amusing experiences told in an easy, appealing manner.

Hugh Elliott has presented a well-written tale in his "Sergeant Casey", quite unusual and as original as a knife murder can be. The development of the plot has one marked fault—Elliott gives his civilian murder away before the story is one-third told. When Casey mentions that the criminal stepped off with his right foot, the whole plot, intricate enough at first, becomes considerably clearer. The Y. M. C. A. official's alibi has very little effect after this clue has been exposed. It is our belief that the author could have made a greater success on a subject not so badly worn. Considering murder-story literature in general, isn't it about time that Corey Ford wrote a murder story to do away with murder stories?

Full Time Position Under Reorganized Plan Gives Popular Local High Mentor Control of Two Varsity Sports.

Waldo S. Tippin, head coach at Meadville High School, was recently selected to guide the destiny of Allegheny athletics in football and basketball. With the opening gridiron practice next fall, the newly appointed mentor will move his headquarters to the Alligator stronghold where he will be confronted with the task of producing a football team and, immediately afterwards, the problem of rebuilding a basketball quintet.

PRESIDENT W. P. TOLLEY IS HONORED BY ALUMNI OF ALLEGHENY AND SYRACUSE

Guest of Honor at a Banquet Attended by 125 Graduates of the Two Schools.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Jan. 10.—(Special)—Dr. William Pearson Tolley, President of Allegheny College, was the honor guest of 125 alumni of Allegheny College and Syracuse University of Chautauque county, New York, and Northwestern Pennsylvania at a dinner in the Crystal ballroom of the Hotel Jamestown here Saturday night.

Dr. Charles T. Greer, pastor of the First M. E. Church, Warren, Pa., acted as toastmaster, and besides Dr. Tolley the speakers were Rev. William Thomas, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Endeavor, Pa.; Miss Helena M. Stonehouse, of the Jamestown High School faculty, and Dr. Lucius H. Bugbee, editor of church school publications of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

SIGNAL HONOR BESTOWED UPON DR. CHURCH

Dr. H. W. Church, head of the Romance Language Department here, received word through the mail Monday that he had been elected vice president of the Pennsylvania State Modern Language Association at their convention held in Pittsburgh, December 31, 1931. Dr. Church was unable to be present at the conclave, and the news came as a complete surprise to him. As this association is composed of the foremost college and university language instructors in the state, his election to an important office shows his high standing among the best men in his own field.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT STATES VIEW ON DRINKING

Doctor William P. Tolley, president of Allegheny college and the youngest college president in America, recently went on record with the statement that, "there is more drinking in colleges today than there was ten years ago."

"Anyone with eyes," he said, "knows that there is more drinking today than a decade ago in our colleges. Though we have no real serious drinking problem at Allegheny, I know there is drinking. The problem is more serious in the larger school."

Having splendid playing experience at college in his particular subjects and enjoying success as a coach for two high schools, Tippin is excellently qualified to take over his new position. In his freshman year of college he attended Kansas State where he participated in both football and basketball. He completed his final three years of study, however, at Geneva, a school which has for years been a keen rival of the Alligators. Starring on the football, basketball and track teams for three years, Tippin had a brilliant collegiate career in athletics. His senior year saw him as captain of the Geneva football team. After graduating from college Tippin had the first taste of his chosen career at Rochester (Pa.) High School where his primary coaching efforts were crowned with success. At length he was secured as head coach at Meadville High School, a position which he has held for the last seven years.

During his seven years at Meadville, Tippin has compiled an enviable record. Three district championships in football and two in basketball have been the fruit of his efforts; on two occasions, also, the basketball team was runner-up in the district title race. Tippin is largely responsible for Meadville's reputation as one of the most formidable athletic aggregations in this part of the state. Under his tutelage a host of outstanding athletes have been developed. Hogan, who has just completed the season in the sporting spotlight as quarterback of the University of Pittsburgh eleven, is one of Tippin's proteges. Allegheny's own Dennison also had his high school athletic training under Tippin. Many other men who are making good on college football, basketball, and track teams were started on their way by the Meadville mentor.

Tippin knows football and basketball; but more than he knows men. He has admirably commanded the respect of every player who has ever been under his direction. Always he has proven to be a true sportsman and a "square shooter". Allegheny can rightfully be proud to have such a man at the helm of athletic affairs. That Tippin is stepping into the picture at a critical moment, and that the success of the non-subsidation policy will depend to a large extent upon him, is obvious. But with a man of Tippin's experience and character to take charge of two of the Blue and Gold's major sports, utter confidence should be restored.

INTERFRAT COUNCIL WILL MEET THIS EVENING

A meeting of the Interfraternity Council will be held tonight at the Phi Gamma Delta house with Charles Shaw, senior member from that fraternity, presiding.

A report of the National Interfraternity Council will be given by William Boettcher, Beta Upsilon, who attended that convention in New York during the last Thanksgiving vacation.

One of the questions to be discussed by the representatives is that of the duties of the faculty advisors. After the discussion by the members of the council, the faculty advisors will be given the opportunity to express their own opinions as to their various duties and responsibilities. The council will also talk over the possibility of having a member of the faculty live in the house and the desirability of having house-mothers at the various fraternities.

At the recent convention of the National Collegiate Press Association, of which this paper is a member, the following resolution was adopted.

Be it resolved that the NCPA go on record as being strongly opposed to college or university administrative interference or censorship in any form, because we believe that a absolute freedom of the college press must be maintained to carry out the principles and purposes of a college newspaper: namely, to reflect student life and to mould student thought along constructive lines.

AN EXPRESSION OF SYMPATHY

The Campus wishes to express the heartfelt sympathy of the student body to Douglas Marks whose mother and father died during the last month.

THE BEGGAR'S OPERA

The Campus wishes to take this opportunity to extend its sincere appreciation to Dr. J. R. Schultz and any others who were instrumental in securing for Allegheny audiences a production of The Beggar's Opera next Tuesday afternoon and evening at Playshop Theatre. It seems to have been an almost impossible feat to secure such distinguished entertainment at the College heretofore, and when it does come the student body should evidence its appreciation by complete attendance at the performance.

Another consideration is the publicity that this production will afford Allegheny College. Since the company that is presenting the opera has been hailed by dramatic critics everywhere as an exceptional group, the College cannot help but receive favorable comment from the district press and friends of the school. And then the calibre of this piece is of considerable educational value to any that may hear it. Allegheny College is very fortunate to secure a production of The Beggar's Opera, and we trust that the reception given it will be worthy of her reputation.

WALDO S. TIPPIN

Allegheny's new amateur policy will be more than a matter of athletics. The new coach secured under the plan is a type of man that will be a good foundation for the system. He is a gentleman who will be a friend of the boys and a guide for good sportsmanship. His contacts thus far have been purely amateur and so quite naturally he will fit very well here at Allegheny under the new system.

The plan as it is now outlined will have a better send-off under him than under any man we know. It will be a hard job for him and will necessitate the co-operation of all the student body. This co-operation is the least we can do to promote the system. Whether we feel favorable to the plan or not is out of the question. Our college spirit demands this co-operation and our own sense of fairness ought to assure it.

In the future we will all know the coach fairly well. There will not be a vague figure known only by the football squad. This coach will be Allegheny's and as such, a friend of the whole student body. A model of sportsmanship; a gentleman; and above all a capable and efficient worker. A hard job for anyone to fill, but we feel confident that he can fill it.

SOMETHING LACKING

Allegheny College is supposed to be an up-to-date institution, but we fear that the school is sadly lacking in regard to social activity. The best authorities place social life at about 50 per cent of our college life. How can we, existing as we do under restrictions which were designed for the gay nineties, have a full social life.

Parties are numerous enough, but they end too soon. Why not allow us to have house parties and winter festivals. Other schools seemingly are none the worse for these affairs. We are old enough to behave and feel that this existence under a closely chaperoned social life leads to more harm than good.

TO NO AVAIL

We are very sorry to have to report in this week's paper that we were mistaken about the results of the Women's Student Government investigation following the recent Campus campaign. For a while we thought that this department of the college was keeping step with the times, but it seems that we shall have to wait for several years to achieve our goal.

SUNDAY MORNING BIBLE CLASS ORGANIZED UNDER PROF. WOODRING

Approximately fifty students attended the first meeting of the Bible Class conducted by Dr. Woodring in the oratory of the Chapel at 9:30 Sunday morning.

The first part of the service was devoted to a program of songs directed by Prof. Luvaas. Dr. Woodring then presented an outline of the course of study to be followed by the class. From a group of three subjects the students present chose "The Life and Teachings of Jesus" as the general theme of the lessons. Dr. Woodring stated that the class would study the background of the life of Christ and its relation and application to present-day life.

The class was formed in response to a petition signed by seventy-five students asking that such a Sunday Bible Class be established in the College. At the first meeting last Sunday Arthur Crawford was elected president.

VARIED CAREERS PLANNED BY ALLEGHENY FRESHMEN

A survey of the freshman class of Allegheny College shows that the majority of the class has decided upon following many vocations after leaving college. These vocations cover a large and varied field.

The following is a list of the most outstanding decisions:

Teaching	53
Medicine	30
Engineering	11
Law	13
Journalism	8
Business	7
Undecided	49

In addition to this there are twenty-five freshmen who have selected various other vocations, ranging from dietitian to pedagogy. Let's hope the ambition and career of the lone dietitian is successful.

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

The circulation manager of the Campus has received numerous reports from alumni that they have failed to receive their paper on certain dates. Upon investigation it has been found that these dates were either the Wednesday before a vacation or the Wednesday immediately following a vacation.

With one exception there is always a campus on the Wednesday before vacation, but there is never one on the first Wednesday after a vacation. So if you have failed on certain dates to receive your Campus it is probably because of one of the above reasons.

The service was led by William Boetcker; Rev. Kennedy gave the charge to the new officers in the address of the evening. Following the installation ceremony a candlelight service was held in the church.

Next Sunday's meeting will be a business session devoted to the arranging of a budget for the coming year.

FACULTY MEMBERS SPEND INTERESTING VACATIONS

Free time during the recent Christmas recess was utilized by a number of the College faculty members in attending conferences pertaining to their departments, and educational affairs at various points throughout the country.

Mr. Benjamin attended the Modern Language Association Convention at Madison, Wisconsin, on December 28, 29 and 30. He was also in Chicago during the holidays, viewing operatic productions then current in that place.

Miss Schafheitlin also took part in the Modern Language Association Convention at Madison. While there, Miss Schafheitlin visited with W. Elory Leonard, a former instructor, whose poems are now to be found in Reis Library; Miss Meyer, a former instructor here, who is studying for a Ph.D. Degree at the University of Wisconsin; and a number of Chinese students whom Miss Schafheitlin had taught in Peking, China.

Drs. Henke and Buckingham attended on December 29 and 30 the sessions of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association in Pittsburgh. Here Dr. Henke received the unique honor of a Chairmanship, of no small credit to Allegheny, as well as to Dr. Henke, there having been sixty-one thousand teachers in attendance. Discussion there reviewed the Liberal Arts Colleges' part in the training of secondary school teachers.

Dean Adele Bowie and Dr. Elizabeth Spann spent a part of the Christmas vacation in New York City. There Mrs. Spann was occupied with the theatre and engaged in library research work upon her thesis on the work of one of the modern French novelists.

Professors Finney and Zempel attended a departmental conference in Washington, D. C., while Dr. Beiler busied himself in Reis Library. Dr. Beiler's research was centered about old Bibles in the library, some of which were printed two to four centuries ago. A summary of this work will be available in the near future.

Comparative lack of activity on the part of department heads during the recess was in large part due to their discretion in using school funds, now at a premium, for convention work and departmental research.

Owen D. Young, in a speech at Wesleyan University, during its centennial ceremonies, in criticism of American colleges, said that most students fail to get a broad economic outlook. Students are not gaining a knowledge of the complexities of our economic relations with the world.

LIT MAGAZINE

In this article the author makes skillful use of incidents requiring research, and by allusion to a well-known essay on college freshmen she constructs a good description of Oxford types.

A few more searing satires on college life will perhaps awaken some of the student body to a realization of the reputation for shiftlessness the Allegheny student has acquired. The worst feature of "Why I am Sending my Son to Allegheny" is that its fault-finding is just.

The Misses Hughes and Russell have produced a pair of charming articles in "My Garden" and "The Color of the Colorless". The thought of the writers seems to live in the words of both essays.

Perhaps it is obtrusive to make suggestions for Dr. Ross's criticism of "Arms and the Man", but it is a matter of personal opinion that Bluntschli's fatigue, praised by the critic, was rather suddenly assumed. The soldier has had little sleep for a number of days; he enters a warm room and remains alert and on his toes until he recalls that he has been long without rest. Then he immediately grows tired and falls asleep on his feet, overcome by an attack of fatigue sudden as a stroke of apoplexy.

As a whole, the Christmas issue of the "Lit" shows improvement over the previous issues in the quality and interest of its articles, but suffers a loss of caste throughout an increase of vulgarisms.

DEBATE LEAGUE FORMED

Allegheny College, desiring to foster this important training in the high schools of Northwestern Pennsylvania, is offering a loving cup to the high school successful in the final competition for championship of the League. Individual medals will be awarded the members of the winning team. The school winning for three years shall have permanent possession of the cup.

At Millsaps College in Mississippi tuition fees are paid according to the scholastic standing of the individual, "A" students pay least and "Flunkers" pay most.

'GATORS DEFEAT GENEVA IN HOME LOOP OPENER

Despite Rating as Underdogs Allegheny Experiences Little Difficulty in Beating Geneva.

Showing mid-season form both offensively and defensively, the Allegheny Courtmen systematically disposed of a highly rated Geneva basketball team by a 27-21 score, last Wednesday night. It was the first home appearance of the Alligators this season and despite the fact that they were rated the under-dogs sped to an impressive victory.

With the elusive Dennison frequently slipping through the Geneva defense to receive bullet passes from Berger, and with the entire Blue and Gold team playing heads up ball throughout, the Alligators were unstoppable in the first half. The Allegheny passing attack functioned to perfection and had the Geneva zone defense severely shaken; passes zipped to all corners of the court and Geneva could do nothing about it.

Allegheny took the lead at the outset when Dennison cut in from the corner, took a pass from Berger, and flipped the ball through the hoop. Ralston converted a foul point before Geneva broke through to score from under the net. Dennison retaliated, however, and cut the strings for another two pointer. The best Geneva could do was two fouls out of four chances. But in the meantime Garbark had arched a shot from mid-court and the score stood 7-4 in favor of Allegheny. The Alligators then proceeded to tally eight points while they held Geneva scoreless. Foul points by Conn and Ralston and field goals by Dennison and Conn were the mediums of scoring. At this point Geneva steadied itself somewhat and began to decrease the Allegheny lead; by half time the Blue and Gold was out in front by five points, 13-13.

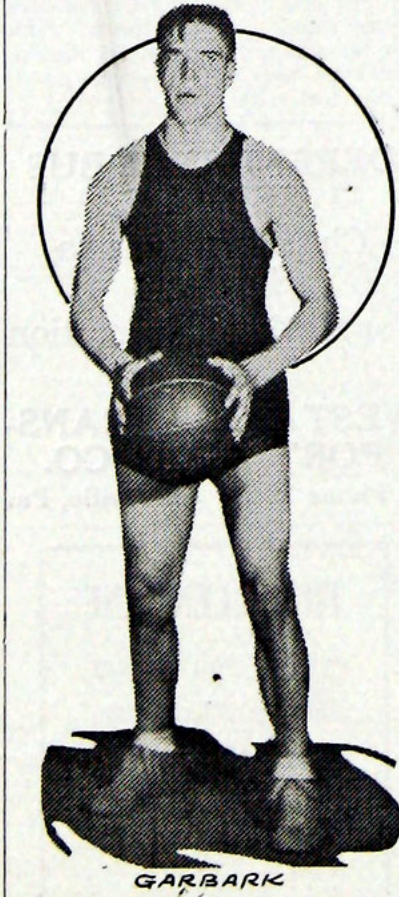

As the second half opened Geneva added two more fouls and a field goal to trail the Alligators by only one point. Dennison dribbled in for a field goal, but Fair of Geneva came right back with an arched shot from the side to continue things on a 20-19 basis. Allegheny stepped out of immediate danger for the moment when Berger converted two foul points. With ten minutes left to play the 'Gators began "freezing" tactics in their backcourt. Dennison dribbled the length of the floor to sink a goal when the Covenant defense was drawn out of position attempting to break up the intricate passing in the Allegheny backcourt. For the remainder of the contest scoring was confined to foul points by both teams.

The game ended with Allegheny holding a 27-21 advantage and successfully carrying on its freezing policy, with Geneva making frantic attempts to gain possession of the ball.

FOUR REGULARS END BASKETBALL CAREERS AT CLOSE OF YEAR

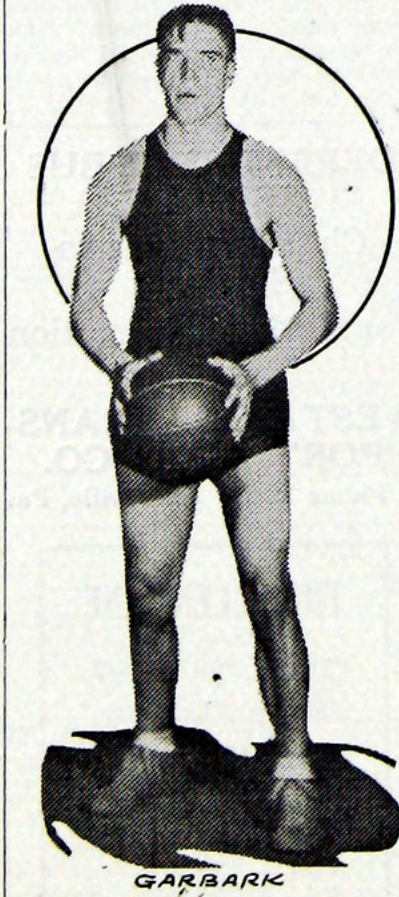

The opening of the present basketball season finds four Seniors playing their last year with the Blue and Gold. These four men help form one of the best offensive and defensive teams in this section of the state.

Coming to Allegheny from four different cities and accustomed to playing under four different systems they soon fell into the swing of things and made the squad and team their Freshman year.

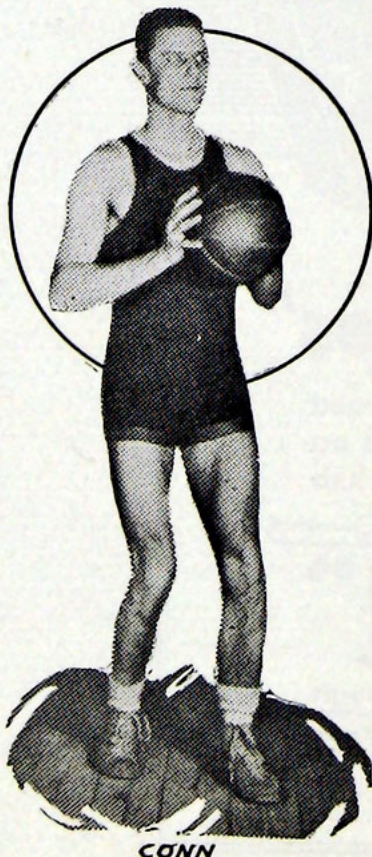

All four are accomplished athletes—and are not confined to starring at basketball, which fact is evidenced by the fact that two of them have received offers from major league ball clubs.

Successful Basket Ball Trip Conducted Through Ohio

A two day trip into Ohio gave the Allegheny basketball squad the opportunity to celebrate the New Year by successfully inaugurating the 1932 court season at the expense of Youngstown City College and Penn College of Cleveland.

Youngstown "Y" Very Easy

Youngstown City College fell before the Alligator onslaught on January 1 by a 44-21 score. With Captain Harry Dennison leading the attack, the Blue and Gold rolled up a comfortable margin despite the handicap of a small playing floor. The Allegheny freshmen performed for a considerable part of the contest and made a creditable showing; Jiles started at one of the forward positions, while Ralston, Willard Berger and Hibbs carried on for Allegheny after the first stringers had left the battleground.

Fenn College Well Coached

On the following night, the Alligators experienced more difficulty in beating Fenn College, 30 to 24. The Blue and Gold was slow in getting started and the score was 8 to 0 against the Meadville Boys before Allegheny could tally. At the half Fenn was still out in front, 17 to 13. However, in the second half the "Gators" showed better form and soon overtook their opponents, then added several more goals to chalk up their second victory in as many starts. Captain Dennison was again the shining light as far as scoring laurels were concerned.

CAMPUS CLIPPINGS

Co-eds at Oberlin college are allowed to smoke in their rooms if they supply fire extinguishers.

South Carolina sported a Jersey cow as its mascot in the parade before the Duke game. On the sides of the cow was painted: "We are going to beat Duke and there's no bull about this."

A professor of Franklin and Marshall reported the theft of his car to the police when he failed to locate his automobile after an eleven o'clock lecture. A check-up revealed that he had walked to class that morning.

Sounds logical: The University of Lehigh students contend it is useless to have the library open on Saturday night when there is a host of other diversions, and closed on Sunday night when one seeks diversion.

Franklin and Marshall. "Smoke your own" retort the "Anti Chislers" to the too prevalent "gimme a fag" situation on the campus. This newly formed club proposes to promote higher morals among the college students, and will meet weekly to determine the fines for offenders. Membership, thus far, numbers twenty-two students and one of the faculty.

Soup kitchens and shows will be established on the campus of Oberlin College. Hunger-stricken students will find help through this work which is sponsored by the Student Council. A coffee-house will be situated in the center of the campus and will dispense drinks to the hordes after they have negotiated the breadline.

Men students at the University of Wyoming refuse to attend classes until the president of the university apologizes for a remark he passed to the effect that all the co-eds were just so many "petters." To date the proxy hasn't reclaimed his statement.

A cadet at Virginia Polytechnic Institute wrote Jean Harlow asking her to attend the Thanksgiving dances at that school. Although Miss Harlow was unable to attend on account of her screen work, she did write the cadet a personal letter.

New York University—Professor Shaw from that place, who declared that whistling was the sign of a moron, now claims that a Phi Beta Kappa key is useless and that pants are a sign of patriotism.

Each first year student at Smith College receives a small gift—edge volume which tells the holder "what Smith is all about." A few of the "hints" are: "Communism has never been successfully worked out. Wear your own clothes and let others wear theirs. Remember you came to Smith, not to Amherst. Answer your parents' inquiries about Smith. The president hasn't time to fill out questionnaires."

A survey taken at Reed College shows that college students read the sports pages and comic strips more often than the affairs of city, state and nation.

Students at St. Xavier College, feeling perhaps the acuteness of the current economic situation are demanding a course in bricklaying.

A cultural test of 1,700 students in sex colleges, conducted by the Carnegie Foundation, reveals that on the average the freshmen know more than the seniors, especially in mathematics and English.

Startled young women discovered a freshman, ink in hand, wandering about the second floor of their sorority house at Pinn State. Upper-classmen had told him he could find an English professor there,—well, you never can tell.

A near-riot took place on the Carnegie Tech campus when two co-eds of the University of Pittsburgh were seen reading copies of the Pitt Weekly while eating in a Tech cafeteria.

The latest collegiate stunt for the news column is hitch-hiking by air. An undergraduate of Marshall College at Huntington, W. Va., "thumbed" his way from the school to San Francisco entirely by the air route.

A senior at Case Tech was responsible for a brilliantly conceived idea which saved the lives of about forty of his classmates, or at least their suits. This senior was one of a group of students waiting, in one building for a pouring rain to stop so they could attend a lecture in another building. The senior conceived the idea of calling the professor and asking him to come and hold class there. The professor came and by this procedure one person, and not the whole class, got wet.

Two theological students at Texas university turned bandit so they could get enough money to complete their education for the ministry. They received five years instead of the degree.

We have heard that the students at Missouri have been forbidden to take baths before 6:00 o'clock in the morning. Is that regulation really necessary.

beautiful music in the way of old ballad tunes, cleverly fitted into the dialogues of a regular comedy. The British company carries a special orchestra to render the music in authentic eighteenth-century style, including the harpsichord effect. A live story laid in the underworld of London lends spice to the piece, and the droll characters, drawn with a touch of burlesque, race through the plot in attractive fashion. Charming costumes give an atmosphere of art to every scene, in direct contrast to the disreputable garb of beggar, highwayman, and other specimens of low life. It is in picturing so vividly the lower classes that the author gets his social satire against the aristocracy. "The Beggar's Opera," the oldest English musical comedy, after a marvelous record of over two centuries has also been called the best. Tickets, at one dollar apiece, will be placed on sale immediately. These are to be exchanged at the box office of the Little Theatre for reserved seats Friday or later. Since it is imperative that a large number of students buy tickets in order to successfully finance the production Miss Bowie has given the women dating privileges and late permission.

Society

With the approach of final exams and mid semester the fall social season was brought to a close with the Fall Formals of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Gamma Delta Sororities First All-College Dance of the New Year draws a small but satisfied crowd the first night back from vacations.

All College Held Mon.

A small but propitious number of couples attended the New Year's Hop on January 4, the first of a series of All College dances to be held during the next few months. The affair, held in the gymnasium, was sponsored by the Student Senate and was arranged by the Senate Committee on All College dances under the direction of Homer Moody.

Since the dance was held on the evening of the student's return from the Christmas vacation, the committee had little time to make elaborate preparations for the function. The gym was, however, decorated to a certain extent in blue and gold with penants and bunting. The music for the dancing which lasted from eight until twelve was furnished by Maurice Lord's Rhythm Artists.

If present plans are carried out this dance will mark the beginning of a series of two or three all college affairs. It is hoped that at least one of these dances can be held somewhere outside of Meadville.

Phi Psi Formal

Pennsylvania Beta of Phi Kappa Psi held its pre-Christmas formal at the chapter house December 17. A delightful dinner in the Kepler Hotel preceded the dancing. The hall was decorated with artificial ceiling and wall cleverly woven of evergreen branches. A snow storm was represented in the south room while a tropical Christmas was portrayed in the north chamber. Music for the party was delightfully rendered by Maurice Lord and his Rhythm Artists. Dr. and Mrs. L. D. McClean were chaperones, and guests of the chapter included the Misses Sigendall and Boyd of Meadville, McDowell of Sharon, Way of Cleveland, Argow of Erie, Weeks of Butler, Truman of Brookville, Brayshaw of Vandergrift, and the Messrs. Bates and Roha of Meadville.

Alpha Xi Formal

Alpha Rho chapter of Alpha Xi Delta held its annual fall party December 17 at the Bartlett Hotel, Cambridge Springs. The music for the enjoyable occasion was furnished by Jack Horwitz and his Collegian Serenaders from Cleveland. Their program, which was excellent to say the least, was enjoyed by all present. Miss Mina French and Mr. Edward Palmer acted as chaperones for the evening. Guests of the chapter were Miss Eddy and Miss Smith of Meadville, and Miss Anderson.

Kappas Dance at Springs

The Mid Winter Formal of Kappa Kappa Gamma Fraternity was held Friday, January 8. After dinner was served at the Bartlett Hotel, the party continued with dancing at the Riverside Hotel. Dutch Kress and his Olympians furnished the music. Margaret Carpenter of Meadville and Marion Pulse of Cleveland, Ohio, were the guests of the chapter; Dr. and Mrs. Lee and Dr. and Mrs. Schultz, were the chaperones.

Apha Gam Fall Party

The annual Fall Party of Alpha Gamma Delta was held on Saturday evening, January 9, at the Hotel Bartlett, Cambridge Springs. Dancing preceded the dinner with music furnished by Dutch Kress and his Olympians. Dr. and Mrs. Akers and Mr. and Mrs. McClean acted as chaperones for the evening. Guests of the chapter were the Misses Alberta Argow, Erie; Alice Sedgewick, Mildred Gilmore, Mary and Dorothy Kerr, Oakmont; Luella Rutter, Turtle Creek; Jane Wright, Canonsburg; Grace Borgeading, Pittsburgh; Flora Munford, Warren; Elizabeth Steele, Virginia Boyd, Wilkinsburg; Harriet Thelss, Charlotte Shields, Meadville; Martha Bernard, Virginia Tufts, and Mary Manley.

Apha Chi Sigma Elects

Jack Hershelman, president of the Allegheny chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma, called a very important meeting last evening to elect a representative to the biennial convocation which will be held on the campus of the University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland, which is about five miles from Washington, D. C.

The George Washington Bicentennial will be held in Washington at the same time—namely, June. This convocation should prove of fruitful and beneficial inspiration to the delegates of the chemical fraternity and provide ample opportunity for educational observation and pleasure.

COLLEGE HEAD SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

President Tolley presented a scripture lesson, taken from Paul's Epistle to the Galatians, Monday, January eleventh. "You are called to enjoy freedom, but do not let your freedom be an excuse for self indulgence," was the sentence which he picked for the general of his speech.

Paul wrote that we all have a number of selves all struggling with one and another. Pres. Tolley applied this to the present times. He especially treated the selves which are temptations. He quoted two ways of dealing with temptation. First, keep the impulse before you, and struggle against it, but you will finally succumb to it. Second, substitute a good impulse for a bad one.

Pres. Tolley said that the purpose of life and college is to tempt up-

FRESHMEN WOMEN STILL DENIED PRIVILEGE OF AFTERNOON DATES

Campus Staff Wishes to Take This Opportunity to Correct a Recent Mistake.

In a recent issue of the Campus it was erroneously stated that as a result of the recent agitation against the rules governing freshmen women reforms had been made and that freshmen women would now be allowed to be escorted on the campus by men and be allowed to have afternoon "dates". This statement is only partly correct and the Campus wishes to take this opportunity to make the correction.

According to rule six of the regulations governing the actions of women a freshman woman is not expected to have afternoon dates until after the Easter vacation. But is allowed to have the escort of men students after the Thanksgiving vacation, exceptions being made of a fixed number of occasions when permission may be granted.

So since the Thanksgiving vacation is passed a man is allowed to walk with a freshman woman on the campus. But a freshman girl is still not allowed to have afternoon dates.

TENTATIVE DATE SET FOR JUNIOR PROM

The Junior Prom Committee was appointed by Carey March, president of the Junior Class, at a short meeting which was held following chapel exercises on Friday, January 8. Although February 13 has been suggested as a date for the Junior Prom, this matter as well as other arrangements are to be decided by the Committee.

ward and to discourage our downward temptations.

In conclusion; he said, "Yield to the temptation to be your highest self, your best self."

ORGAN RECITAL ENJOYED BY STUDENTS

The chapel, Friday, January eighth, was one of the most interesting this year. Mr. Roessing gave a very entertaining organ recital. He was assisted by Mr. Benjamin at the piano. This program was gratefully received. The fact that it was a break in the monotonous succession of speeches was but a minor cause for its appreciation.

Before he started the program Mr. Roessing presented a short explanation of the beauty gained from repetition. He compared repetition in other branches of art with repetition of the theme in his first selection.

Mr. Benjamin played the piano with Mr. Roessing at the console of the organ for two duet compositions. Mr. Roessing played several other numbers, the final one which was, according to general comment, especially appreciated.

The complete program was as follows:

Fugue in A MinorNeidermyer
Allegro Annabile from the Violin Sonata, Opus 100 and Waltz in A FlatBrahms
(Mr. Benjamin at the piano)
GavotteGossec
The Nightingale and the RoseSaint-Saens

BUFFALO CONVENTION

(Continued from page 1.) R. Mott, chairman of the International Missionary Council, outlined the part which students will play in the future of missions. In the other principal speeches and in the shorter talks, students heard more than twenty additional important foreign workers.

At the center of the whole convention were a series of round table discussions. Delegates were given their choice of 25 topics selected for consideration. Each round table held four sessions. Mr. Crawford chose to study "Nationalism and Christian Missions"; Mr. Hartung, disarmament; and Miss Charlton, the application of Christ's teachings in modern life.

Entertainment varied from a trip to Niagara Falls to an international tea. Music for the convention was furnished by the Westminster Ensemble, composed of eleven singers from the Westminster School of Music at Ithaca, N. Y. The life of a Burmese missionary was depicted in a one-act play, "Ba Thane," by Edna Baldwin. Folk dancing, singing, and good fellowship contributed to the success of the international tea. Christ was the means of deliverance from industrial poverty, disease, ignorance, international conflict, and philosophical confusion was the theme of a pageant, "Release". In addition to this organized entertainment, delegates viewed an exhibit of objects collected by various missionaries. A book store, offering books on the subjects dealt with at the assembly, proved an attraction to many.

Of his stay in Washington, with the disarmament delegation from the convention, Charles Hartung has many interesting things to say. The two spokesmen of the group, one from Yale and the other from Wooster, talked with President Hoover for about 15 minutes, voicing the request of Student Volunteers for a student representative in the disarmament delegation to Geneva, and presenting him with a petition favoring disarmament signed by 26,000 college and university students. Although unable to grant this request, President Hoover expressed his cordial approval of the attitude which the Buffalo assembly had shown toward the disarmament question. Senator Borah talked with the delegation for nearly an hour. The Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs agrees with students in favoring the 25 per cent disarmament cut. As to the outcome of the Geneva conference, the Senator is rather pessimistic.

DR. AND MRS. TOLLEY GUESTS OF BETA UPSILON

Beta Upsilon fraternity entertained Dr. and Mrs. Tolley and Dr. and Mrs. Julian Ross at dinner Saturday, January 10. Sanford Chilcote, Dr. Stewart and Price Kerr were week-end guests of the fraternity.
