Schultz Inaugurated Saturday

Relief Drive With $2,000 Goal Opens October 21

Announcement has been made by "Deac" Crawford, chairman of the Consolidated Relief Chest Drive, that the dates of the program have been changed from October 25 through October 31, to October 21 through October 28. The goal of this drive, as has been aforesaid, is set at $2,000.

An extensive program is planned for this week. On the twenty-first there will be a chapel meeting, and also a town meeting. A pep rally, which will include a bonfire and its accompanying elements, is scheduled for October 22. A soccer game between the intramural teams in conjunction with the Block A club will possibly take place on Saturday afternoon, October 23.

An all-college dance, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the Scholarship Fund, will be held on the twenty-third. There will be soliciting throughout the entire week. Still an uncertainty at time of writing are plans for a bridge party for the girls and a poker game for the fellows.

The Consolidated Relief Chest Fund achieves an aim of the A. U. C.; namely, that of combining the various funds which have formerly been subscribed to into one net sum, thus avoiding a series of protracted and small annoying drives. The funds received from this drive will be divided between five distinct organizations: The World Student Service Fund, the Scholarship Fund, the Red Cross, the Community Chest, and the fund for United Nations War Relief. The major emphasis is being placed on the World Student Service Fund and the Scholarship Fund.

Inauguration Speaker

Alan Valentine

Valentine And Tolley To Address Audience

William Pearson Tolley, former president of Allegheny College and now Chancellor of Syracuse University, and Alan Valentine, president of the University of Rochester, will be guest speakers Saturday at the inauguration of John Richie Schultz as president of the college. The topic of Valentine's address will be "A Forward Look," while Tolley will give us greetings from the Association of American Colleges.

Valentine, a graduate of Swarthmore college received his degree of Master of Arts from the University of Pennsylvania in 1922. He has received two honorary degrees from Oxford University in England, as well as one from Yale in 1932. Valentine was an instructor at the University of Pennsylvania and was with the Oxford University Press in England and the United States until 1928, when he returned to his alma mater to become assistant professor of English and dean of men until 1932. He then served as professor in the History, Arts and Letters department at Yale University and as chairman of the board of admissions and master of Pierson College until 1935, when he became president of the University of Rochester, where he has served ever since.

He is a trustee of several colleges in the United States and a member of the executive commission of the New York Association of Colleges and Universities. He is also active in civic affairs, serving as a trustee of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce and a member of the advisory council of the Y. M. C. A. at Rochester. Valentine is the author of The English Novel and Dusty Answers and has written various articles and reviews.

Tolley, a graduate of Syracuse University, and now chancellor of his alma mater, served as president of Allegheny from 1931 to 1942. When he became president here, he

New Infirmary Offers Service To Men, Women

Hammett house, completely remodeled, is now in use as the all-college infirmary. Aside from the doctor's office, the first floor houses a laboratory, a diet kitchen, a general waiting room, and rooms to accommodate six men patients. On the second floor there is a suite for the head nurse and rooms for six women patients.

Daily office hours as announced last issue are as follows:

Doctor's hours—4:00-5:15 p. m.
Nurses' hours—10:00-12:00 a. m.; 3:00-5:30 p. m.; 7:00-8:00 p. m.

Contrary to what was implied in last week's issue, all nurses will be on duty there, thus providing 24-hour emergency service.

Those students (men and women) wishing to take the inoculations against colds, offered free of further charge, may apply at the infirmary for this series according to the following schedule:

Students with last initials from A through E—Mon. 8:00 a. m.-8:00 p. m. Oct. 18.

Students with last initials from F through L—Tues. 8:00 a. m.-8:00 p. m. Oct. 19.

Students with last initials from M through P—Wed. 8:00 a. m.-8:00 p. m. Oct. 20.

Students with last initials from R through Z—Thurs. 8:00 a. m.-8:00 p. m. Oct. 21.

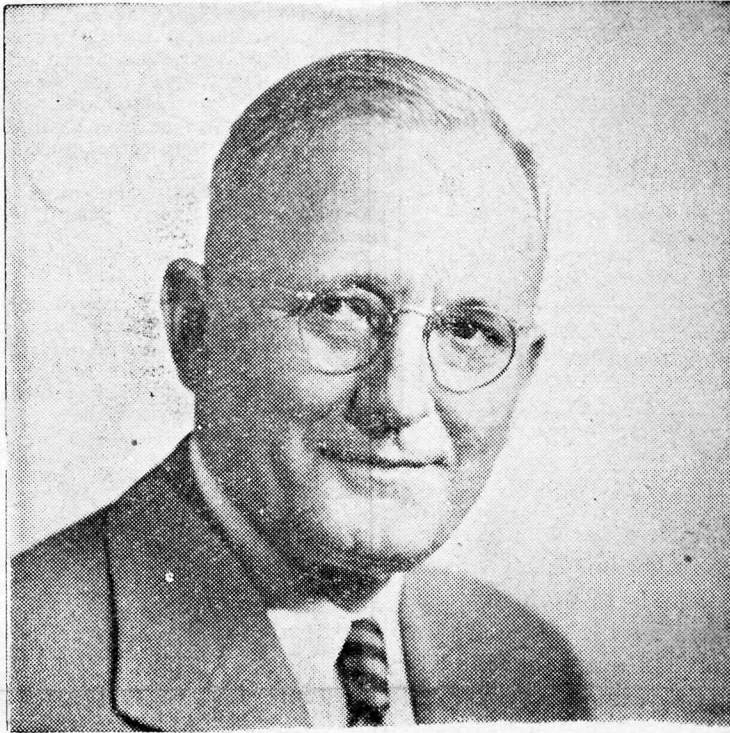

Students showing a positive result to the recent T.B. patch test will receive a letter from the Dean requiring them to have a chest X-ray on November 8, the cost of which is also included in the regular health fee.

This infirmary, already caring for two ailing students, is a new feature of the Allegheny health service and for the first time equal service is provided for men and women. Thus its benefits are open to every student in the college.

ALLEGHENY'S 14TH PRESIDENT

Shultz's Career Impressive

Born in Canton, Missouri, in 1884, John Richie Schultz has since made an impressive record up to his election as president of Allegheny college last May.

After receiving his degree of Bachelor of Arts at Culver-Stockton college in 1905, he continued his studies at Yale university, where he earned the degree of Master of Arts in 1909.

From 1909 to 1911 he served as instructor of English in East St. Louis high school, followed by five years as an English instructor in Yale college. In 1917 he was awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy by Yale university.

In the same year he became professor of English at Allegheny college, and in 1930 was also chosen dean of men. He held these positions until 1942, when he was elected acting president of the college after the resignation of William Pearson Tolley.

The climax of Schultz's career at Allegheny was his election as president on May 8, 1943. The formal inauguration will be held this Saturday, October 16.

Among his contributions to literature are the books Modern Essays and The Unpublished Letters of Bayard Taylor, as well as "The Method of Barclay's Eclogues," "The Life of Alexander Barclay," "Chautauqua Talk," and numerous shorter articles in American Literature, American Speech, and the Journal of Higher Education.

During his long career Schultz has been elected to membership in various honorary organizations, including Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha Sigma Phi, Acacia, Round Table, Literary Union, Rotary Club, American Dialect Society, and Association of College Presidents.

Schultz To Get Degree

An honorary doctor of laws degree will be conferred on Allegheny's president, John Richie Schultz, on October 20 at the Founder's Day celebration of Mount Union college, Alliance, Ohio.

Honored with Dr. Schultz will be Dr. Walter K. Greene, president of Wofford college, Spartansburg, S. C., who will be a recipient of the same degree.

The annual Carr Lecture will be given by Dr. Greene during the morning chapel exercises; and in the evening at a formal banquet in the Alliance Women's club, Dr. Schultz will deliver the Founder's Day address, which is to be broadcast over Station WHBC, Canton, Ohio.

Observing its 97th anniversary, Mount Union looks back to Allegheny college as its "mother school," because in 1846 when Dr. Orville N. Hartshorn founded Mount Union, then known as the "Select School," he was still a student at Allegheny.

Over Fifty Students Will Assist Saturday

Over fifty students, under the direction of faculty members and student committee heads, will work together to help make Saturday's inaugural ceremonies an unforgettable occasion.

The committees are as follows: Ushers—John E. Cavelti, Virginia Bennett, '44, Nancy Sutton '44—chairmen; assisted by Ellen Boyd, Caroline Emerson, Arlene Fegley, Nancy Konstanzer, Anne Rinehart, and Charlotte Snell, all of '44.

Information and guides—John W. McMahan and Charlotte Snell, '44—chairmen; assisted by Charles Geisler, '44, Laura Greenebaum, '45, Jean Griffith, '45, Georgia Kohl, '45, Mary Lou Sweet, '46, Florence Von Wahl, '45, Carol Waechter, '46, Roberta Waite, '44, and Ralph Waldo, '43.

Approximately 1,500 persons are expected to attend the inauguration of John Richie Schultz as 14th president of Allegheny, to be held this Saturday at 2:30 in Montgomery gymnasium. The ceremonies will highlight a gala week-end program of faculty dinner, academic procession and informal reception.

Opening the afternoon ceremonies, an academic procession composed of Allegheny faculty and visiting educators, will wend its way from Bentley to the gymnasium, where students and guests will be assembled. Due to lack of transportation only local alumni, friends and trustees are expected to attend, but souvenir programs of the event will be sent to all persons on the mailing list of the Alumni office.

The program for the afternoon ceremonies is as follows:

Processional
The National Anthem
Invocation—Bishop James Henry Straughn, D.D., LL.D.
Greetings from the Alumni—Sumner Ely Nichols
Greetings from the Community—Robert Sackett Bates.
"A Forward Look"—Alan Valentine, LL.D., L.H.D., Litt.D.
Greetings from the Association of American Colleges—William Pearson Tolley, Ph.D., D.D., LL.D., Litt.D.

Installation of President—Andrew Robertson, LL.D.

The Inaugural Address—"Allegheny and the Years to Come"—John Richie Schultz.

Alma Mater Beatissima
Benediction
Recessional

An informal reception at which everyone may greet the new president will be held in the dining room at Brooks hall Saturday evening 8:00 until 11:00 p. m.

All plans for the event are being made by a faculty committee headed by Charles S. Miller. Assisting him are Chester A. Darling, in charge of the academic procession; John E. Cavelti, program; Paul H. Giddens, invitations; John W. McMahan, entertainment; Laila Skinner, reception; and Frederick F. Seely, publications.

A student committee from the senior class, headed by Harry Conroy and consisting of Virginia Bennett, Caroline Emerson, Charlotte Snell, Nancy Sutton, and Donald Mogg will aid the faculty by taking care of hostesses, information, ushering, parking cars and checking wraps.

Start '44 Kaldron Now

Shall we have a yearbook this May?

With the tape in view on the race to get out last year's Kaldron, the time has now come for students to profit from past mistakes and start planning a new one for 1944—one that will come out on schedule. This matter has not lain completely dormant to date, for the A.U.C. has appointed Nancy Sutton editor of whatever is to be.

But a big issue still must be decided before any work may commence—Shall we have a less expensive, less comprehensive yearbook which will be published next spring, or shall we combine this year's material with that of years to come and publish at the end of the war a large volume which will present a complete record in words and pictures of Allegheny in War-time, and which will be sent to all students attending Allegheny during these years?

The A.U.C. must decide this matter immediately. An issue such as this, however, is not merely a matter for representatives; they want to act as the students wish. But in order for such action to take place, there must be student opinions voiced either orally or by letter to the representatives. At once!

We must never have another year like this. The other day some of us heard: "The first sixty-eight pages of the Kaldron are now coming off the press!" As "Reviver" Sutton exclaimed these words, her responsive listeners hurraed with anticipation.

Of course we're happy about it; but this whole business is terrifically ironic. While the nation is demanding speed-up production, and factories are striving night and day to beat schedules, Allegheny is still running the last race over six months behind, and many dollars over the budget.

But the end is near, and the time for blame is past. In place of that, cooperation is needed. "Sutton" deserves praise for her efforts to relight a pile of fast-dying coals. Her goal, though, is not the 1943 Kaldron, but that of '44. We can help her achieve this; we can be proud of a Kaldron again. But to do this we must first come to a decision!

The Campus staff extends its heartiest congratulations to Doctor Schultz upon his inauguration as 14th president of Allegheny college.

A Word About News

In past years editors of the Campus have always promised to print timely news, features, and such things that would be of most interest to the students themselves. That is still our ideal and we shall continue to strive for it. However, due to the fact that almost half our readers are not on campus, a certain modification must be made this year.

For them we shall print stories which may already be well-known on campus. Allegheny is constantly changing in some phases these days, and for "our boys" we are trying to preserve a record of their school.

This is not an apology. We know you understand, that you feel as proud as we that we at home are striving to maintain what they are fighting for. We are proud to let them know about it.

The Social Whirl

By PEGGY OWENS

This week's social activities are highlighted by the Intersorority wiener roast to be given for all sophomore, junior and senior women this Friday evening at 6:30 p.m. in the field back of Arter hall. This promises to be a gala event with a large attendance expected.

The cemetery ravine was the scene of a treasure hunt and wiener roast when members and pledges of Alpha Chi Omega held an outing last Sunday evening.

Aileen Dain and Elizabeth Whiting will be guests when the Alpha Gams hold their pledge banquet at Gray's this evening.

Last Saturday evening the pledges of Alpha Xi Delta entertained pledges of other sororities at a kiddie party in their rooms.

Ruth Fenn and Jean Stark are new pledges of the Alpha Xis.

Dressed in elaborate Mexican costumes, Miss Blair Hanson and Jane Hahne presented some Mexican dances when the Independent Women held their meeting Monday evening. Jane Hahne then spoke of her trip to Mexico this summer.

Kappa Kappa Gamma celebrated their national founder's day Monday evening following an Active-Pledge meeting at which Meadville alumnae were present. Social privileges of the Kappas have been accepted by Joan Hexter, '44.

Paulina Reaghart, Jean Swan, and Marge Wible were recent guests of the Thetas.

Phi Delta Theta announces the recent initiation of Willard Davidson.

Jack Struve was a recent guest of the Phi Gams.

We wish to correct an error made in this column last week when we announced that George Hartung and Don Ludwig were pledges of Delta Tau Delta. They are new pledges of the Theta Chis.

Debaters Chosen For Frosh Team

After the delivery of qualifying speeches last Monday night, the members of the Philo-Franklin union chose for the freshman debate team the following: Emily Dunn, George Hartung, Rae Marsteller, Sophie Morrow, Barbara Rothschild, Betty Shirer, Ted Sturm and Joan West.

The Philo-Franklin union, which sponsors all extracurricular speech activities on the Allegheny campus, is planning various speech activities and contests for all interested speakers during the year. For the freshman debaters regular weekly classes are being held which will progress from the fundamentals of debate to actual debating within a few weeks.

Plans are going to be attempted for one trip this year to give the debaters experience in intercollegiate competition. In the spring new members for Philo-Franklin will be chosen from the most promising freshman speakers.

NEW BOOKS ARSENIC AND OLD LACE

By JEAN MERRILL

This week the new books to be circulated confuse me mightily since the majority of them are in French, German, or Spanish. If you are apt at any of these languages, I will let you discover them for yourselves.

In German we have the latest books of Thomas Mann and Franz Werfel. If you like either of these writers I can recommend them on reputation.

Andre Maurois is author of two of the books in the French line—Toujours L'Inattendu Arrive, which is a collection of short stories, and his Histoire des Etats-Unis.

The one book in the collection that I can speak of with any sense of security is The Collected Poems of William Alexander Percy. Perhaps you remember his autobiography, "Lanterns on the Levee." The poems are lyric in quality with a rather persistent reference to Greek tradition. It is not great poetry, but it is above the average.

For those who like music there is David Ewen's new book, Dictators of the Baton, which is composed of short personal biographies of the thirty leading symphonic conductors in America. The range is all the way from the Master Toscanini to rising young artists like Izler Solomon and Dean Dixon. The book gives a history of the nation's leading orchestras. Ewen writes with warm sympathy, conveying clearly the personalities of these conductors and their influence on the musical taste of the American people.

Pan-Hellenic Plans Wiener Roast

Hot dogs and the customary delicacies that make up a wiener roast will be enjoyed at 6:30 Friday evening, October 15, when the Pan-Hellenic council will sponsor an Intersorority-Independent Women's picnic to be held behind Arter hall. The plans have been set up by a committee consisting of Betsy Pfleeger, '45, Jean Sawtelle, '44, Libby Hart, '44, Mary Pierce, '44, Shirley Miller, '45, Jane Adams, '45. An Intersorority Progressive Bridge party is also being planned by the Pan-Hellenic council, the details of which will be made known at a later date.

You Get No Bread With One Fish Ball

By JEAN MERRILL

Black and white shirts . . . sitting around a roaring fire singing the Whiffenpoof song . . . Paddy Murphy . . . I used to go to school with Mamie Riley . . . and the Fishball song . . . singing like anything . . . drinking muddy black coffee, the strongest you've ever tasted (worse than Brooks) and calling it good because it was hot . . . getting the Healers dizzy spinning on a broomstick under the wagon wheel . . . trimming the Christmas tree with strings of popcorn . . . cooking stew in a big black kettle . . . tossing plates down a brigade line to the cupboard . . . doing Shoo Fly till we fell on the floor . . . scorching our mittens and socks in the fireplace . . . shooting down the old ski run through the woods by moonlight . . . cracking up our skis and our heads . . . swimming in Siple Pond in March . . . washing at the pump in mid-winter when the washcloths froze to our faces . . . chopping wood like crazy . . . putting on bigger and better Winter Carnivals . . . skating under the stars . . . climbing to the loft to crawl into sleeping bags . . . freezing to death even with all our clothes on . . . pretending we were asleep Sunday morning till the boys built up the fire . . . going to the little white church in our checked shirts and ski boots . . . dozens of us piling into the little pea-green station wagon to sing all the way back to town . . . filthy dirty . . . dead tired

. . . but oh, so happy . . . That's Bousson, kids . . . all that and a hundred other funny, foolish, gay, beautiful things . . . that's Bousson, the most democratic place in the whole of Allegheny life. Perhaps you have guessed that I am talking of something I love very much. Things we love are always better shared, so I want everyone on this campus to know Bousson because to know it is to love it.

Bousson is the domain of the Outing club. The Outing club was once one of the most virile and vital organizations on our campus; now it is staggering a little under the apathy and general slump that permeates many of our activities since Allegheny isn't what it was four years ago. That is sad; it is always sad to see a strong man sick.

Granted that an organization like the Outing club in a co-educational school is somewhat of a farce with no men to carry the bulk of the membership, especially since Bousson is in a way of speaking such a "he-man's paradise" . . . Now we haven't the men . . . but we've got Bousson . . . it's ours and our responsibility. We can save it till they come back and we can make it the gay enthusiastic place it once was.

We are lucky to have such a place. Very few colleges have a lodge equipped with all the facilities of Bousson, located at a reasonable distance from the campus; very few outing clubs even have such a perfect set-up. I can't understand why it isn't mobbed every week-end . . . why there isn't a waiting list to go out . . . there used to be.

FRESHMEN!—because you're a part of Allegheny and therefore very dear to us, we who are a vestige of the old Outing club are going to put everything we've got into making it the lively exciting thing it was once, that we may pass onto you intact one of the gayest and finest traditions—"The Spirit of Bousson."

Would you like to go on a week-end ski trip? Would you like to go on a moonlight hike some night? Would you like to go on a pack trip on horseback? Would you like to hear Dr. Darling's famous legend of the ghosts of Bousson? Do you just plain like to get out doors sometimes where you can't worry about studying even if you want to? Would you like to wear a big black and white shirt that is the key to the jolliest week-ends you've ever known?

If it sounds good to you, come to the girls' gym Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. We're having a big shindig . . . Bousson style. Wear your old jeans and the rattiest shirt you can dig up . . . whatever is the most comfortable thing you own. We want to tell you all about our plans for the year. It's an open party for anyone in Allegheny college who wants to help us and be one of us . . . professors included. We're going to put this thing back on top where it belongs and we'll give the Dartmouth boys some competition.

Tests Planned For Army-Navy Specialized Training

Men students between the ages of 17 and 21 (inclusive), as yet not enrolled in a military specialized service program, are eligible to compete for the Army specialized training program and Navy College Program V-12 which will be given on campus Tuesday, November 9. A pamphlet of general information which contains an admission-identification form may be obtained at the office of Horace Lavelly, dean of men.

The same examination will be taken by both Army and Navy candidates. The examination is designed to test the aptitude and general knowledge required for the program of college training and all qualified students are urged to take the test. At the time of the test each candidate will be given a choice of service preference, but taking the test does not obligate the candidate to enlist in the service.

The Army Specialized Training program and the Navy College program enable students to continue academic training at government expense following induction into the armed services. Successful completion of the prescribed courses may, following further officer training, lead to a commission in the Army or the Navy.

Those selected for the Army will, after further screening and basic military training, be sent to college. Students chosen for the Navy program, after selection by the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, will be detailed directly to college. Students who attend college under either of the programs will be under military discipline on active duty in uniform with pay. All expenses, including tuition, food, housing, books, and uniforms will be paid by the Army or the Navy.

Ladyhood Unmarred By Army Training

Many girls have refused to join any of the auxiliary services, the WAC, the WAVES or the SPARS, because they are afraid that they will lose through their experience and associations the qualities of ladyhood they possess.

They are worrying unnecessarily because a girl who goes into one of the services as a lady will come out a lady, ladyhood being an inner quality that is indestructible. Ladyhood is unaffected by either environment or circumstances. A lady may go anywhere and meet any condition without being contaminated in the slightest degree. She may be thrown into association with men and women who are strangers to gentility and still keep her gentle approach to them and to life.

There is an appearance of ladyhood that is but a thin veneer, possessed by girls and women who think it expedient to show, but which they drop when they are not on guard or parade. And that veneer, exposed to harsh conditions, may easily be chipped off.

The girls need not worry about losing their ladyhood if they enter any of the services. If they have it when they enter, they will come out with it. Alice Reynolds, writing in the Oklahoma City University Campus, entrusts ladies to the auxiliary services.

Wolves Win Over Demons In Soccer

Showing a thrilling last half punch, Frank Fuhrer's Wolves broke a halftime scoreless tie to defeat Sum Nichols' Demons 2-0 in an intramural soccer game last Tuesday.

Halfback Dave Roese tallied first for the Wolves and "Chic" Matthews added a penalty kick in the fourth quarter to account for the afternoon's scoring.

The victory gave the Fuhrermen the first round title in a two-round round robin series. A week ago the Wolves walloped Cal Miller's eleven 3-0 in their debut. Dick Coon, "Chic" Matthews and Don Brebner booted goals for the victors.

Matthews' two goals give him the scoring lead in the league, as he is the only player to count more than once.

At the close of the first round, the standings are:

Team	Won	Lost
Wolves	2	0
Tigers	1	1

was the youngest president of a class A college in the country. Before this time, Tolley was an instructor of theology at Drew Theological seminary and was assistant to the president. In 1929 he became dean of Brothers College of Drew, the position which he held when he was elected president of Allegheny in 1931. He has received honorary degrees from Syracuse University, Mt. Union College, Dickinson College and Grove City College. Tolley is chairman of the Executive Committee of Co-operative Study in General Education of the American Council on Education and is a director of the Association of American Colleges.

Hockey Opens Tournery Season In Girls' Sports

With a wave of enthusiasm girls' intramural sports officially got under way on Thursday and Friday afternoons when a number of hockey contests were held on Eberhardt field. The teams were composed of representatives from the sororities, Independents, and freshmen houses. Despite the fact that a goodly number of girls claimed to have had no past experience in this particular sport, the games were by no means dull.

On Thursday afternoon Alpha Xi Delta bowed to the Independents, 1-0. The game held between Beebe and Hulings will be played off in the near future, since at the call of "time" neither side had scored. On Friday the girls from Crawford house were downed by the Alpha Chis who marked a score of 1-0. Theta Upsilon lost by default to Alpha Gamma Delta.

All contests are played on a regulation field which is 60 by 100 yards.

Shultz Honored At Dinner Tomorrow

Dr. and Mrs. John Richie Schultz will be guests at a semi-formal dinner to be held in their honor by the faculty and staff of Allegheny college in Brooks hall tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock.

Arrangements are in charge of a faculty committee headed by Philip M. Benjamin. Other members of the committee are Louis J. Long, John E. Cavelti, John W. Hulbert and Blair Hanson.

Exhibits At Library For Schultz

In honor of John Richie Schultz a series of special exhibits will be on display in the Octagon room of Reis library this week-end. Included in the exhibits are rare items in the history of Allegheny College and recent acquisitions for the collection rooms, announced head librarian, Philip M. Benjamin.

For many years chairman of the library committee, Schultz probably has a more intimate knowledge of his college library than most college presidents of our day. In 1936 he presented to Reis library a clipping collection which was the result of 25 years' accumulation of literary and critical material particularly related to contemporary authors. Since 1936 the library has continued to add to the collection.

Among the articles in the exhibit which are important in the development of Allegheny College are a sketch of Timothy Alden's birthplace and a picture of Ida Tarbell as an undergraduate, both of which will later be placed in the Treasure room.

New additions to the Lincoln collection, obtained through the John H. Scheide fund, are also being displayed, as well as other items of interest in the founding and growth of Allegheny College. One of particular interest is a Republican delegate's ribbon for the election of 1860 sponsoring Abraham Lincoln for president and Hannibal Hamlin for vice-president.

At the same time the art department is planning a special display in the Octagon room for the inauguration week-end.

All men who have a valid reason for not attending chapel are asked to see the Dean of Men for approval before November 1.

Dates For Initial Play Announced

The Allegheny Playshop announces the dates for its forthcoming play, One Sunday Afternoon. It will run from Tuesday, October 26, to Saturday, October 30. So you see it's simply a matter of choosing your night, boys and girls!

One Sunday Afternoon was written by James Hagan, and is it funny! Why, in that one scene—Omigosh! I nearly spilled the beans that time! So I'm afraid you'll have to wait for the next Campus to learn more about the play, but we can give you the names of the members of the cast:

Biff Grimes.....Robert Clohecy, '46
Snappy Downer Brad Broughton, '46
Hugo Barnstead.....Fred Sturm, '47
Virginia Brush.....Barbara Grund, '47
Amy Lind.....Rita Rogers, '45

Also appearing are Arlene Fegley, '44, Don Ludwig, '47, George Hartung, '47, Betty North, '45, Ruth Schreiber, '46, Gloria Keller, '46, Helen Cox, '47, Sumner Nichols, '47, Stephen Hart, '47, Francis Diana, '47, A. J. Scolio, '47, James Boulger, '46, and John Cremer, '47.

All Freshmen are expected to attend the college Library tours. Be sure to check your name on the lists posted on the bulletin boards in Brooks hall and on the Library steps and be present at the assigned hour.

Have a Coca-Cola = Welcome, Short-Snorter

...from family fireside to far-flung fronts

When short-snorters (trans-ocean flyers) meet and compare their autographed dollar bills, the invitation Have a "Coke" is fairly sure to follow. At home and abroad Coca-Cola has become a symbol of those who see things in a friendly light.

We are making every effort to send the Campus to Alleghenians wherever they are, but it is extremely difficult to keep addresses up to date. Students can help in a big way if they will notify Marguerite Kift, Brooks 255, when changes are made.

The ocean voyage was a bit tough. You can't imagine the amount of men and material they packed in one small room of the hold. However, we were given the run of the ship and spent most of our time on deck. Most of us were seasick for the first few days, myself included. I'll never forget Sunday dinner. The ship was pitching pretty badly. I waited in line three quarters of an hour for chow, and was feeling rather shaky. I got my food and sat down, trays were sliding to the floor all around. The benches and tables were constantly on the move. I had hardly touched the meal, and decided to start on desert—apple pie and ice cream—when it hopped the table and landed on the floor. All the while the loudspeaker played "Begin the Beguine."

The set-up here is pretty good—P. X., movies, library, etc. On the whole I like being "over." The only pang of real homesickness came when we arrived, set up a radio, and for the first thing got a recording of "White Christmas," which is something we'll never get here.

The infiltration course was hardly anything as long as you kept your head down. The only thing I could think of during the trip down was how tired I was . . . my arms and legs were practically paralyzed from fatigue after the 120 yards. Bullets above your head sounded like someone was tapping a window with a half dollar, plus the sound of the gun shots; all in all a very real battle was going on. The dynamite charges lifted you a couple of inches from the ground and the sound of their going off added something to soothe the frail nerves of some individuals. Two weeks from Monday we shall go through again after dark and the guns will have tracer bullets making a second 4th of July. So we are finished for awhile and until next time we have pleasant memories of the course.

I finally shipped out of Sheppard Field and they sent me to Scott Field, Illinois. It is really swell, and I like it loads. Had a letter from Bob Fry who has broken his toe. He's still griping, though he was able to get home.

We finished our eighth week of training last Wednesday, and the same day were appointed to Seaman's School here at M.B.T.S. It is a three months' course, so we shall in all probability be here until January 15 or so. Then for the "blue." They also gave us our rating of Seaman Second Class. Off came the boots and on came another stripe. Believe me, it feels grand to be another notch—one more step to that rate.

There's no use denying it, I've been blue all week—most likely because school is starting and I'm not there. That is the thing I miss so much here at training.

The last time you heard from me I was wandering about down in North Carolina. Along about the last part of May I decided to try to come back up North to civilization, but somewhere along the line I got lost and look where I ended up. None of the trains out of this town seem to go through Meadville (typical Erie service, I guess), and they tell me it's too far to walk, so I guess I can't go to college this fall. Of course I get a free course in Italian every time I try to talk to anyone that isn't in uniform, and I'm keeping in form in a manner which very nearly approximates the Way way, and the food is just as bad as it was in Cafisch, so naturally I feel quite at home over here.

However, there's one thing I miss. Oh yes, they have quite a lot of them over here, but they don't compare at all with those at Allegheny.

In the first place, they don't speak English. Of course, this is very disconcerting. In the second place, most of them go barefoot. Don't EVER go out with a man barefoot. People will talk. Besides they're not very pretty, anyhow. (The girls, I mean.)

I haven't heard from school since last May, but suppose it's not the same old place anymore. A letter from my old boss at the Meadville Inn dated last June tells me that there seemed to be a lot of new girls at Allegheny at the start of the summer session. So I see friend Younger or somebody is strictly right on the ball.

I was in North Africa for a while. What a place! Dress up in a bedspread and a pair of beach sandals and cover your head up so that only one eye shows and wander around the streets of a North African town balancing a jug on your head and you'd pass as an ordinary citizen. Until you dropped the jug. The men use both their eyes. I had dust and sand in mine most of the time. So I guess women are pretty smart after all. (There will be a slight pause while the reader observes quote naturally unquote period.)

I met a native who could speak Spanish one day and had a little talk with him. After about an hour of trying to make each other understand I found out his age, (he held up his fingers), his name (he had an identification tag on), and his home town (Algiers is Algiers in any language). Quite a handy thing to know, Spanish. (Or it MIGHT be me!)

I have a clerk's job here in the 36th (Hence the typewriter.) Not very hard work generally. I get to see some interesting country and I like the fellows I'm with very much, so I can't complain one bit.

If you're thinking of taking a vacation this fall or this winter, visit sunny Sicily, as thousands of other athletic young Americans are doing this year. Enjoy the never-forgotten thrill of sleeping with ants and lizards and waking up in the morning to find one of your shoes full of rain-water. (Personally, 454 N. Main St., Meadville, Pa., sounds pretty good to me for a spot to spend the winter.)
