June 27, 1931.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

As I have had occasion to write you before, Professor Fox and I and the Macmillan Company desire above all things to keep you in the series if that end can be attained without delaying its completion unduly. Your letter of June 20 reassures me on the latter point for you promise "faithfully that, whatever happens, after this Young book is off, which should be around Christmas, you will give all your time to your volume in the series. I trust, however, that this pledge will not involve mortgaging your farm!

I hope you won't mind my writing you again in regard to the status of your plans some time in December.

With all good wishes for a pleasant summer, I am

Sincerely yours,

A. M. Schlesinger
