Old Looks. Wagon-Lit Address for Home and Spain

Dear Ida Mc I'll not let your natal month go by without expressing something of the good wishes that have been pressing me for frequent recording with the passing thought of you since the 5th & 6th and last date I commanded your blessed self in my mind since my inability to remember the precise date has become a confirmed fact of habit.

This is Spain, or Iberian, day in the Republic, & me. Have been so relatively trained to play at your that one did during it. I frankly want a little knowledge of his reflections and comments about Italian affairs since I attack you. It is very possible that as it appears [illegible] general statements I give it interesting. The big thing to my mind is that the workers people, while being taxed & legislated as never before & to their detriment, are pretty generally disposed well for the Corporate State because they feel themselves protected from exploitation by employers. Understandingly employers do not like it but the Government has and keeps a strangle hold on everybody and there is not a [illegible] kick against it anywhere. So any thing [illegible] talked to readying them indifferent to private enterprise & actively detesting fascism. There is perhaps a degree more freedom of speech here & there, but only as people have decided where it is safe & dangerous to express [illegible] ideas of the Government is such that everything is regulated — as seems so. Wild stories are published about as to the numbers of political prisoners & troubles that are never heard of in the public prints. Certainly there was a lot more blood shed earlier than the world ever heard of — that Russian Revolution was a story that the returned correspondents could tell. By the time Denikin and Kolchak are through by destroying Petrograd, a dear town — & Moscow is about as far back in a dreary feminine way as any of the fly specked cities in these days of printing. I can't understand escaped deportation by curious accident.

She tells of saying to a Dominican (Ah yes, pretty dead Cuba) something that brought out this answer: "Yes, but the Spanish who died died in our homes, but we dead in our own homes".
A good answer wasn't it? I have sympathized with my Mrs. Gradin in her childlike delight in just the beauty of Spain, the accounts of bullfights flourishing and political destruction followed by attacks of a different completion. That makes her dear Carg Rodin has no great ages of Raphael Gayet and he has been one of my great friends there. But no pictures reign as the work of man against time like Barcelona Cathedral of the Cathedrals at Toledo. That makes me think of Mrs. Lathrop Van R—. If I can think of it in seeing her again I must do her could hurt I do not see her again because of the smashed ankle.
