Allegheny To Welcome Class Of 1961

President Lawrence L. Pelletier

Freshmen Show Varied Activities; Versatility Seen

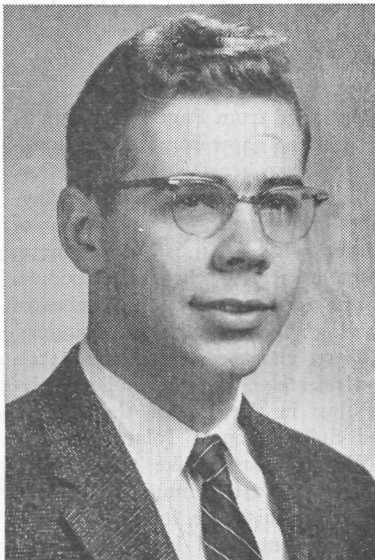

Orientation Week may be a mysterious expression to many freshmen but soon it will no longer remain an enigma. Also unknown are the students which will compose the Class of '61. In an attempt to introduce and familiarize members of the freshman class we delved through the applications in Bentley Hall and found the new freshman class members to be versatile with many varied activities to their credit. So let's meet some of the members of the Class of '61.

Possible New Cheerleaders

Girls who cheered for their high school teams may be before the Gator rooters come football season. Cheerleading is not the only talent possessed by these freshman girls; Sandra Andrews was not only a cheerleader but worked for her school newspaper and was on the girls' athletic council. Nancy Barr is also a journalist and possesses musical ability on the flute, piccolo and piano. From Erie comes Emily Eckman who extended her talents from the cheering section to the footlights. Joan Sarona has to her credit the presidency of her Baptist Youth Fellowship and was also on student council. Ellwood City's Arlene Powell may not only be seen cheering for Allegheny but also performing in Playshop productions. Arlene, winner of her school's best actress trophy has also had experience in the field of dance. Meadville High School's Patricia Walker has a record in student government having been student council treasurer in her senior year. Patricia was also Meadville High representative to the North-West District Chorus.

Varied Male Sports

Additions to Allegheny's sports program may include Michael Axelrod, Anthony Baranowski, and Robert Beggs whose activities include football, baseball, basketball and a less common sport, fencing. Bob's interests do not end on the athletic field but continue into student government as a representative to student council. Sewickley, Pa.'s Herbert Myers has proved himself quite versatile having participated in sports, in government as a class officer, a representative to student council and dramatics. John Gillespie and Paul Reslink, both from Erie, may introduce a new sport at Allegheny: waterpolo. Paul has had experience on land, too, work-

Orientation Week Features Meetings, Tests, Picnic

The freshman class, or the Class of '61 as it will be called from now on, is sure to be quite busy during the Orientation Week of the 1957-58 academic year. Officially, Orientation Week will commence on Sunday, September 15, with a cafeteria luncheon for both parents and students in Brooks Hall at 12:30 p.m.

Most of the mornings from Monday, September 16 to Friday, September 20, will be occupied with various examinations that are designed to explore the strengths and weaknesses of the desired vocational goals of the freshmen.

Counseling Center Services Offered To All Students

According to studies carried out here, many students come to college lacking adequate study skills. Freshmen classes have reported that their most common problem was learning to study effectively. Working with students to develop better study habits is a function of the Counseling Center, which coordinates testing and faculty advising.

Dr. William P. Wharton, Director of Counseling, extends a welcome to students to drop in to the Counseling Center in Bentley Hall for help in study skills, vocational goals, or confidential problems of a personal nature. Last year some 1,500 interviews were held with over 300 different students from all classes.

Student Ability Facilitated

These interviews included conferences with student leaders and A-students as well as with students trying to improve their work so that they will no longer be on academic probation. Although personal information given in confidence is kept strictly confidential, students are not regarded as "cases"; there is no crystal ball, black cloth or magic couch involved. Nor is counseling, in any sense of the word, a coddling operation. The whole aim of counseling is to facilitate an individual's ability to face his problems, stand on his own feet and become more responsibly self-directing.

Students wrestling with extreme parental pressures, with vocational goals, personal values, interfaith marriages, as well as simply with academic skills have managed to clarify their problems and, in many instances, arrive at more effective solutions by using their own resources more fully.

Efficient Ways Needed

Dr. Wharton told The Campus, "The need for learning more efficient ways of coping with college" (Continued on Page 4, Column 3)

AWS President Crandall

Comedy, Shakespeare, Opera Offers Varied Playshop Season

When the student body returns to Allegheny this month they will be looking forward to another exciting and entertaining season of plays from the Speech and Dramatic Arts Department. Last year the department presented at the College Playshop a varied program which included romance, biography, Shakespeare, risqué comedy, social commentary, high drama, and an opera.

The season opened with a fine performance of William Inge's Picnic. The play is written for only one set and in addition to providing a very pleasant evening, allowed the students, by comparison with the movie, to see the different requirements and advantages of films and the stage.

Classes Scheduled Early For Frosh

To help freshmen get acquainted with their teachers and give them a preliminary idea of college work, classes for freshmen only will be held Friday and Saturday, September 20 and 21.

Classes Friday will be held from 8 to 11:50 a.m. and 1:30-2:20 p.m. Classes are also scheduled from 8 to 11:50 a.m. on Saturday. They will be held at their regular times and places (see schedule card). Dean Ross believes it important for all freshmen to attend these meetings. If there is anything about the plans for the course which is not understood, freshmen are encouraged to ask the teacher about it.

Directly after classes on Friday, September 20, there will be sensory tests, library tours and musical try-outs held.

Classes for both freshmen and upperclassmen will officially commence Monday, September 23.

'Campus' Honored

The Campus, which is a member of the Associated Collegiate Press and the Penn-Ohio Collegiate Press Association was honored by these journalistic groups during the course of the past year. The former presented first class honor rating to The Campus while the latter presented an award for the best editorial to appear in a member journal.

One of the high points of the year followed: Abe Lincoln In Illinois by Robert E. Sherwood. A gripping Pulitzer Prize play about Lincoln's early formative years, the show was greatly enhanced by the stunning performance of Bernard Engel. A tall, lanky drama major of unusual ability, Bernie held the audience spellbound throughout the evening and sent them home with the warm glow that accompanies viewing a memorable artistic achievement.

Shakespeare's Twelfth Night and Jan de Hartog's bedroom comedy The Fourposter followed next. Shakespeare's comedy was highlighted by a large assortment of gorgeous costumes and the talents of many drama students as well as students from other fields. The modern comedy has been called "the case for the double bed" and provided a very unusual evening. Written for only two characters, it allowed Bernie Engel and his wife to display their varied talents—at the same time that Bernie directed the show as part of his senior comprehensive.

Exemption Exams For G-Courses

Exemption Tests for G-courses will be given Saturday, September 21 at 9:00 a.m. in Quigley 101, it was announced by Dr. Julian L. Ross, Dean of Instruction.

If a student is already proficient in the material covered in one of the G-courses (General Education Courses), he may take an exemption test in this field. Passing the test exempts him from the requirement of the course, but does not give academic credit-hours. Tests are offered twice during the academic year, once each semester.

G-Course Registration

A student who is considering one of these tests should first consult his faculty adviser and the instructor in charge of the course, and then register for the test with Dr. Ross in Bentley 206. The following is a list of the courses, the instructor in charge of each and where the instructors may be located:

- G-1 Communications—Mr. Hulbert, Arter Hall West Basement.
- G-2 Organism and Environment—Mr. Bugbee, Alden 109.
- G-4 The Physical World—Mr. Parsons, Alden 215.
- G-5 Introduction to Literature—Mr. Seeley, Arter K.
- G-6 Introduction to the Arts—Mr. Heeschen, Ruter 302.
- G-7 Ideas and Institutions of Western Society—Mr. Cares, Arter 103.
- G-8 Problems of the Modern World—Mr. Merrick, Quigley 113.
- G-9 The World of Values—Mr. Lindley, Arter F.

A Message From President Pelletier

To the Class of 1961:

Welcome to Allegheny. This is a college dedicated to the liberal arts tradition. We hope that you will find here challenging and stimulating experiences which will make you realize that the education of man is a continuing quest. If we are successful during these formative years, you will question, search deeply, form your own values, and develop the skills for achieving useful goals.

This is a friendly campus, and the faculty, the administration, and upperclass students look forward to assisting you to unfold your abilities. You will find all of us ready to help you make your next four years worthwhile.

You will be challenged by close contact with a fine faculty. In your courses you will discover the best thought of all ages and, we hope, make it your property. I am sure that you will soon come to regard the members of the faculty not only as scholars but also as friends. Outside of the classroom, there are also numerous opportunities where you can assume the responsibilities of leadership: in student government, in athletics, in The Singers, The Campus, The Playshop, The Chapel Choir, The College Union, and in many varied activities. Altogether, what you learn will prepare you both vocationally and personally; for these two learnings are necessarily intertwined.

If you will take full advantage of Allegheny's varied resources, four years from now you will look back on lasting friendships, intellectual development, and personal progress that will be memorable throughout your life. We are happy to have you as a member of the Allegheny community.

Lawrence Pelletier
President, Allegheny College

A Welcome from AUC

Dear Freshmen,

On behalf of the students of Allegheny I want to welcome you into our community. I am sure you will experience four of the most valuable years of your life. The actual value will be realized in many ways, but, there are a few basic ideas we can consider together.

First, in this welcome is a hope that you will accept the challenge that the Allegheny community will offer you. This challenge will be to your willingness to kindle the desire to learn and to your willingness to understand yourself and those around you. This is a challenge which is meaningless if rejected, but one that, if accepted, will become the most important part of your college experience.

Also, in welcoming you here, we realize that the experiences which you, as individuals, offer to our community will be as important to Allegheny as the experiences you receive. We must have a community then that stimulates the transfer of experience. In such a community freedom becomes an important concept.

Finally, we feel that ideas of student leadership and self-government are both important in this atmosphere. These ideas are expressed in the Undergraduate Council, in social group leadership, in our court system and many other areas. We hope that you will, in this too, realize your important part.

The responsibility that we at Allegheny have in creating the type of community and the atmosphere which permits this challenge and this freedom is now your responsibility.

It is a real pleasure for all of us in AUC and the student body to have you here at Allegheny.

Tom Jones
President, Allegheny
Undergraduate Council

... and AWS

Dear Freshmen,

You'll be hearing many "welcomes" throughout the first month of your college life, all of which will be truly sincere wishes for a wonderful first year at Allegheny. We who are entering our final year, envy you your opportunities to enjoy the traditions which we cherish here and to help us make improvements through your enthusiasm and new ideas.

One of the nicest aspects of Allegheny is the friendly atmosphere existing among students and between students and faculty members. Right now, you are absorbed in your own class activities, but soon you will find yourselves an integral part of the Allegheny community; and you'll find faculty members and upperclass students more than willing to help you, answering your questions and directing your interest.

Perhaps this is as good a time as any to share with you my feelings about student government and what it can mean on a college campus. Later this fall you will be electing your own class officers, but even now you are already members of the student body, which is governed by students. Student government at Allegheny offers real challenge and opportunity for you to be of service to your school as well as to gain invaluable experience working with other people. But in our student government, just as in our academic life, we receive only as much as we give. Allegheny is not a large school, but it is a busy one, and no one can afford to settle back and let others do the work or gain the benefits. Those of you who were active participants in activities in high school—why not try and see how much meaning can be found in academic life by well-chosen extra-curricular activities.

You are important to Allegheny student government and activities, for you represent a whole layer of a foundation which must be strong. We're looking forward to your ideas and your help in making Allegheny tops! Good luck in your first few weeks and throughout your entire four years here "on the hill".

President, Associated Women Students
Lynne Crandall

Incoming Frosh

(Continued from Page 1, Column 3) ing for his school newspaper. Robert Clark, of Meadville, who has had experience in his school rifle club may find a partner in Virginia Taylor who has won awards in both archery and riflery. Another archery and riflery enthusiast is Donald Riggs.

... And Female, Too

Sports at Allegheny are not merely a male pastime. The WAA (Womens Athletic Association) will welcome girls like Jacqueline Dorwald. Jacqueline's sports participation includes baseball, basketball, bowling, tennis and swimming. Kathleen Smith, a Valley Stream, N.Y. girl, held positions on the tennis and bowling honor teams at her high school. Government plays its role in sports, too, as illustrated by Agnes Tartara, vice-president of her school's Athletic Council. In student affairs Agnes was vice-president of student council and copy editor of her school newspaper. Having been treasurer of her class during her junior year did not prevent Janet Ruslton from winning the girls' bowling handicap tourney and also the good citizenship award.

In an artistic vein freshman Stephen Marks is a member of National Thespians. Vice-president of the Thespian group, of which she is a member, Marlo Pease has had a wide variety of experiences. In the dramatic line Marlo's roles include those in Our Miss Brooks, Terry and the lead in Stage Door. With this and having been editor-in-chief of her school paper, president of her church youth group and head majorette, Marlo must have been a busy girl during her high school career.

"Longhairs and Shorthairs"

Contributions to Sinfonietta may include Bob Taylor whose musical talents cover a variety of instruments: the flute, piccolo, bass, tenor drums and the string bass. Pauline Shissler, American Legion Medal of Honor winner, is musically inclined when it comes to performing on piano, organ and violin. Larry Cunningham's achievements are varied in field and type. Larry was in his school band and chorus and plays the piano, organ, and saxophone. In the realm of student government Larry was a class officer and student council representative. He has worked on his school paper and was also a cheerleader. Larry also holds the distinction of being the only entering freshman from Indiana. Should alarm clocks fail in Baldwin Hall this year there is always Frederick Stanley, bugler from Salamanca, N.Y. The Blue Knights, Allegheny jazz band, may find an addition in Thomas Simmons who has been a member of a jazz group.

Tourists and Politicians

The class of '61 has its travelers and student government leaders too. For example Ann Stone was an exchange student to Berlin, Germany, and possesses musical talents as organist for her church. Kristin Westfall hails from Maryland and was her school's delegate to the Maryland Association of Student Councils. Chester Baffa occupied a position on Senior Advisory Committee and was a class officer in his high school.

There is journalistic talent which may be perpetuated in Tholia Reynolds and Lorraine Sebbt, both editors of their high school papers.

Playshop

In ending the season, the Playshop continued the practice of joining with the music department. After a hectic rehearsal schedule, opening night found the orchestra striving hard in the pit, singers, dancers, choruses and actors excelling on stage, and the audience delighting in the joy of the Gilbert and Sullivan opera Iolanthe.

With a season like that behind it, and at least as much in the offering for this year, it is easy to see why students will be looking forward to this year's season at the Playshop.

A Message From Dean McKean

To the Freshman Class:

Your past is rapidly fading behind you. A new world will open for you during the next four years. What comes of this experience only you can determine. The past means very little, as you will be judged by your actions on the Allegheny campus.

In your individual development a basic part will be the growth of self-responsibility. The other freshmen will be facing many of the same problems, so you will not be alone. Many people already at the college are ready to help you. Your professors, your fellow students, and the officers of the administration have an interest in your future. The Student Personnel Office offers personal guidance and general assistance. Dr. Wharton, Director of Counseling, will aid you with testing and individual counseling. Mr. Cooper, Director of the College Union, has elsewhere in this issue extended a welcome to you; and I wish to further his invitation, as I believe you will find varied activities at the College Union which will provide many pleasant hours of recreation as well as personal development. When you arrive at the dormitory the Student Counselor and the Faculty Resident Adviser will be there to welcome you. During the coming year you will develop a close association with them as friends and counselors. Mrs. Knights, the Associate Dean of Students, and I will meet you in a variety of ways and hope to become closely acquainted with you during the coming years.

This new world in which you are to be given an opportunity for individual development will be a completely different experience. In secondary school your day ended with the dismissal bell, while at Allegheny the day never ends. Your whole life will be centered about the college community of which you will be an important part. Many traditions are already firmly founded on the campus, but there is room for your contribution to the college. Remember, it is up to you what happens during the next four years, to yourself as well as the community in which you are a participant. When you come to the campus, be determined to make something of yourself.

John R. O. McKean
Dean of Students

CU Offers Educational Social Activities Planned By Students

To Our New Friends at Allegheny,

Can your social life be educational as well? The College Union believes it can. Listening to music in our hi-fi rooms is educational. So is participating in informal discussions with prominent figures, such as Louis Fisher, the world-famous biographer of Ghandi. Our Thursday "Coffee Breaks With Your Professors" series gives you a chance to trade ideas and explore concepts with other students and members of the faculty. Folk singing sessions, concerts and art shows are other social events that are educational as well.

It takes a lot of people and ideas to prepare this lavish spread for the whole college and we want you to roll up your sleeves and pitch in with us. All our events, from reception-information desk to the fabulous Friday night dances are run by students. We need your help, not only to help carry on these programs, but to add new ones as well.

What new programs does the Union plan? Actually, any you want. Perhaps you'd like to start a play reading group, a music listening group or a square-dance club. We have the facilities and will be glad to help you organize whatever kind of activity you want. (It could also be a one-shot session, they're fun too.) We also have bicycles for your use, a kitchen you might reserve for a party or dinner, public meeting rooms (tastefully decorated), offices for the college newspaper and student government and two lounges with the latest magazines.

Consider this a big welcome to the College Union. Come on over soon.

Wm. Hawley Cooper
C.U. Director

Chaplain Extends Welcome; Tells Of Religious Program

As Chaplain of the college, I would like to join the others in welcoming you to Allegheny. I do hope that this paper-welcome is short-lived and that we can meet individually before too long.

The religious activities and program of the College are so designed that each of you may find expression for your faith and opportunity for service in the college and community. We hope, through our Sunday Worship Service, the Allegheny Christian Fellowship, and the various church groups, to bring you the finest and most mature expressions of religious experience and tradition. It is our hope that with the development of your mind there will be a comparable growth of spirit, and that the depth of faith which you achieve will remain with you throughout your mature life.

I would like to extend a most cordial welcome to any student who wishes, at any time, to discuss a problem of a personal or confidential nature.

Coach Looks Forward To Good Football Season

by William R. "Red" Moore, Head Football Coach

Last fall Allegheny College football got back on the plus side of the won-lost record, and there is a good possibility that the 1957 team will continue the good work.

Twenty-nine members of last year's varsity squad will be back; seven other upperclassmen, many of them with high school experience, will be coming out; and at least fourteen entering freshmen have signified their intention of making the squad.

This is a situation any coach looks forward to, but I must say that we're going to have a job replacing the two guards, two ends, and a four-year center we lost by graduation. John Carman, a three-year guard good enough to be named on practically every all-opponent's team, and receiving honorable mention in the Little All-American and all-Methodist College squads, will be missed. So will big Pete Croft, who played four years at center. Jim Smartz, an alert end who scored three touchdowns last year, Bob Miller, guard, and John McCreary, end, are also players this coach would like to see coming back.

Veteran Candidates Capable

The line appears to be the big problem at the moment. There's going to be a lively scramble for places in the backfield. Jim Villa, all-Pennsylvania and all-Methodist College fullback and a Baltimore Colts' draft choice, will be back to try to repeat his performance as Pennsylvania's leading scorer. We'll also have Don Smith, a senior half and quarterback who holds the Allegheny record for the longest touchdown run, 107 yards. Other capable backs include Bill Baker, Bob Baker, Mason Cady, Frank Maldonado and Chauncey Mann. John Arcuri, Bucky Crabb and Roger Donodeo are among the veteran end candidates. At tackle are Tom Biggam, all-Methodist College honorable mention, along with Dave Blauch and Bob Westervelt. Reeb, Glenn and Greenwood are experienced guards. Guy Williams, who understudied Croft at center for two years, will be back to vie for the pivot position.

New Candidates Have Experience

Among the first year candidates will be four veterans of military service. They include Tony Baranowski, a quarterback who played studies is only natural. One soon finds that high school study was about seven times easier. How a student thinks through his notes, and how he ties together the ideas in his courses, play an important part in the grades he achieves.

"There is no charge for any of these services. We rarely call students in. They come in voluntarily on their own initiative. Allegheny treats students as adults who are capable of taking responsibility for their own work and expects them to take initiative in seeking out members of the faculty and staff for whatever help is needed." as well as with each other.

On Saturday morning, September 21, regular classes will again be held for the freshmen, but a picnic at 1:30 p.m. serves to break up the day's routine. This highlight of Freshman Week will be held at the athletic field. Rounding out the day's activities is an All-College dance at Brooks Hall with upperclassmen attending, as well as freshmen.

Orientation Week officially ends on Sunday, September 22 with Chapel Services in Ford Memorial Chapel. The service will be under the direction of the new college Chaplain accompanied by the music of the Chapel Choir.

then our high school guests really went to work for Allegheny, and before the half was over we had four touchdowns. Make no mistake about it, the men on the bench and the men on the field know it when you're behind them. With real support from the student body you're going to see a team of which you can be proud.

Rough Schedule

We open away from home on September 28 with Hobart; W & J comes here for our home opener on October 5; to be followed by Oberlin, away, on October 12; Grove City at home on October 19; Bethany, away, on October 26; Dickinson, here, on November 2; Case, here, November 9; and Thiel, away, on November 16.

It's a plenty rough schedule and any game could go either way. You'll enjoy the four home games on Allegheny's hilltop field, one of the finest in the country, and it would be fine if you could make a trip or two to support our men on their travels. We'll be looking for you and listening to your cheering next fall.

We Want You, Need You, "Campus" Calls To Frosh

The Campus joins President Pelletier, AUC, AWS and Coach Moore in welcoming you, the Class of 1961 to Allegheny, and, in addition, welcomes you to the newspaper itself.

We would like you to take part in helping us in our efforts to put out a newspaper that fulfills student needs and a newspaper that students will look forward to reading. Those of you who have worked on high school papers may already be interested in working for The Campus.

Even without previous journalistic experience, those of you who want to work on the paper can be trained in any of the many and varied areas of The Campus which suit your talents and interests. The opportunities range from the business side to the editorial side, including reporting, feature and sports writing, proofreading and makeup.

Those of you who do not join our staff can offer your help in another way. So often campus organizations are subjected to many criticisms, but too often the criticism is destructive rather than constructive. Therefore, we ask you for your constructive criticism, because in this way only can we know just what aspect of The Campus needs improving.

The Campus strives to report the news to you students objectively and accurately, in order to keep you well-informed on campus issues and to stimulate thought on these issues.

On Sunday afternoon you will have the chance to hear more about The Campus and what it can offer to you. Be sure to drop in if you intend to join the staff and even if you are just thinking about it. There is always the need for more staff members and The Campus wants to be an integral part in the school life of all of you in the years you spend at Allegheny.

We hope to see you on Sunday!

Quigley Hall, and the Coffee Hour will be after the meeting in Brooks Hall.

New Routine

Scheduled classes will be held for the freshmen on Friday, September 20, from 8-11 a.m. and 1:30-2:30 p.m. One of the main purposes of the classes is to give the Class of '61 a taste of the Allegheny routine before the semester officially begins on the following Monday. Friday evening the College Union plays host to the newcomers at the traditional "Whing Ding" party. This informal get-together is held so that the class of '61 may better acquaint themselves with the College Union,
