Sept. 1, 1922

Mr. William Wallace Lunt,
Hingham Historical Society,
Hingham, Mass.

My dear Mr. Lunt:

I have just come back to New York after several days' absence and in looking over the letters that I dictated before going away I find a paragraph in the one I dictated to you on August 21 that must have perplexed you.

The Historical Society of Reading did not tell me that you had published views of the home of Mordecai Lincoln, but my secretary thought I said so. You will pardon the error.

Yours very truly,
