President Lincoln's last.- The President looks haggard and care-worn. , and who wonders at it?- yet he preserves his good nature and some new story or bon mot from him is always in circulation. The last was uttered on Saturday at a public reception, when a Western paymaster in full major's attire was introduced,, and said, bowing low, "Mr. Lincoln, I thought I'd call and pay my respects." "From the complaints of the soldiers," responded the President, I guess that's about all any of you do pay." - War Correspondent, Boston Journal.

Story to illustrate - Sherman's memoirs
