My dear Miss Tarbell:

If you should be in town at this time & still have that half hour to spare, which we have so long anticipated, may we avail ourselves of it?

Since my last letter, Miss Pierce has had a different capacity.

In case you are away, or too busy, & the hour has not yet struck for us, we send you all good wishes & thank you again for your cordial letters.

Sincerely yours,

Frances E. Simpson
