Wakefield Cadman To Be Here Friday Evening

College To Hear the Princess Tsianina In Original Indians Melodies

A great event in the history of musical activities in Meadville will occur Friday night, October 28, when Mr. Charles Wakefield Cadman and the Princess Tsianina appear in the opening number of the Allegheny College Concerts, the first exclusively high class artists' course that Meadville has had in years.

The program given by Cadman and Tsianina is absolutely unique. Their appearance always means crowded houses, and there is probably no other combination of artists who make a wider appeal to the musical public. Mr. Cadman, as is well known, is unquestionably the greatest and most popular of living American composers. His great specialty is Indian music. No one has made a more thorough study of the melodies of the American Indian than Mr. Cadman. And no one has so successfully mastered the unusual rhythms and harmonies of the music. Many of Cadman's Indian songs are known in every musical household, for example, his famous "From the Land of the Sky-blue Water."

But Mr. Cadman is not only a composer or rather arranger of Indian songs. He has written a great deal of other music, including songs, piano compositions, and even grand operas. In fact he is the only American who has composed a grand opera which did not pass into oblivion immediately after its first performances at the Metropolitan. It should be noted also that Mr. Carman is a remarkable pianist. Additional interest is given to his appearance in Meadville by the fact that he is a native of western Pennsylvania, although because of his somewhat delicate health he now lives in California.

Appearing with Mr. Cadman will be the greatest Indian singer, Tsianina. Gifted with a most beautiful voice, a high artistic ability, and a delightful personality, this Indian princess is a favorite wherever she appears.

BUFFALO GAME TO BE BIG EVENT

LARGE BAND OF ROOTERS TO ACCOMPANY TEAM TO ERIE.

Plans for the Allegheny-University of Buffalo game in Erie on November 5 are now being made, giving the Allegheny students and the residents of Meadville every possible benefit.

Special cars will not be chartered unless 300 men and women of the college sign up to go to the game. The faculty has agreed to dismiss the entire college after 10 o'clock on Saturday, Nov. 5, providing there are 300 on the list of those going to the game; if the students do not care enough to go, and lack the spirit of backing up their team, classes will continue as usual and those wishing to attend the game will have to take the responsibility upon themselves.

Arrangements, however, are being made whereby things can be closed up in a hurry if the required number are desirous of going to Erie. Special rates of $3.00 provide a round trip ticket on the trolley and a reserved seat in the grandstand. These are student rates, but the same rates, through arrangements made by the manager, will be extended to the people of Meadville if they purchase their tickets in advance.

A large crowd is expected to be on hand as the Allegheny Alumni in Erie are giving things their most hearty support. It is also expected that a number of Erie football enthusiasts will see the game, as it is the first collegiate gridiron contest ever held in Erie. The game will be played on the high school athletic field, which has a grandstand with a seating capacity of 1,000 and a bleachers holding about 400. Fine parking space for automobiles is provided for those wishing to witness the game from their machines.

Both colleges will have sections of the grandstand reserved for their students and cheering sections. Every effort will be put forth to show the people of Erie what real college spirit is. Allegheny students are expected to display their colors and bring Allegheny spirit to the front. The Athletic Association has ordered miniature footballs in Blue and Gold and having the word "Allegheny" on them. It is hoped that every student will buy one of these and wear it to the game. The selling price has not yet been determined, but it is (Continued on page 4.)

CHAPEL SINGERS GIVE FIRST Y. M. CONCERT

Varied Program of Sacred Operatic and Popular Music

Appearing before a small but appreciative audience last Thursday evening, The Chapel Singers rendered an exceptionally well selected program of vocal music. Each number represented the best of its type, and the pleasing variety gave a very agreeable effect.

The Chapel Singers are composed of talented members who are highly recommended by those in musical circles, and came to Allegheny with years of experience as platform singers. Their voices were a happy combination of natural talent and effective training. Not only were the singers able to render solo work in an admirable fashion, but they were able as well to work together in part numbers with excellent grace and smoothness. That the group has been schooled in technique and harmony to a high degree was evident from the execution of selections varying from the lightest ballad to the most difficult classic. The personnel consisted of the Misses Sue Johnson, Lyons and Anabelle Kell, and the Messrs. A. F. Overton and John Schenk.

Twenty-five minutes of the program were devoted to sacred music, after which classic and popular numbers were given.

The program included the following selections:

Onward, Christian Soldiers—Quartet.

Mozart's Gloria—Quartet.

Rock of Ages; Dudley Bus—Quartet.

Plains of Peace—Contralto Solo.
Hallelujah Chorus, The Messiah—Quartet.

Second Part.

Rigoletto; Verdi—Quartet.

Young Tommie O'Devan, by Russell—Mr. Schenk, baritone.

Trade Winds, Ballad—Quartet.

I'm Seventeen Comin' Sunday—Quartet.

CHOOSING LIFE WORK WAS GIVEN THOUGHTFUL CON-SIDERATION.

"What vocation shall I choose?" was the subject for discussion at the Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday evening. Dr. Henke emphasized the necessity of a student fully knowing himself and the kind of work to which he is best adapted.

Mr. Gill expressed the opinion that some definite religious movement would take place in the near future similar to the movements taken at different periods in past years. He believed that the Christian college men of today will be called upon to lead the work of re-establishing the religious and moral equilibrium of the world.

Dr. Ross remarked that the choice of selection of a student's life work was necessarily left to the student himself and that each one must decide the important question with much thought. He also said that a preacher should not be the only religious leader in the community, but that men in all vocations should be expected to help in winning the world for Christ. It is a false idea that one must be a preacher to lead one's fellowmen toward Christianity.

After the discussion of the topic the Pennsylvania College of Music quartet gave two excellent numbers which met with hearty applause on the part of the audience. Dr. Henke offered a closing prayer.

NEXT GRID GAME AT

PITTSBURGH SATURDAY

TECH ELEVEN HAS SUFFERED
BUT ONE DEFEAT THIS SEASON.

Next Saturday, when the Allegheny eleven meets the Carnegie Tech warriors, they will go up against a veteran team, the best team that the Plaid warriors have had in many years.

Steffen's boys are all about the same weight as the Allegheny team. It is reported that they average about 170 pounds. The only advantage that Tech will have, lies in its veterans, men who have played together for some time and who are well versed in the art of chasing the pigskin.

The only defeat that Tech has suffered was at the hands of W. and J. two weeks ago, the final score being, 14-0. The team, however, has been whipped into shape after that defeat and will be all the stronger and more determined to run up larger scores against their following opponents to avenge that one defeat. The Plaid eleven won from Thiel, 42-0; Geneva, 7-0; Westminster, 42-0, and St. Bonaventure, 42-0. By comparing the scores of the Allegheny-Westminster game, in which the Blue and Gold saw victory by but one point, 7-6, and the Carnegie-Westminster game, it will be seen that Allegheny will have a tough battle on its hands Saturday, as the Plaid held Westminster scoreless and ran up six touchdowns.

It will be remembered that the Blue and Gold lost to Tech last year by a 42-0 score. This will be an incentive for the team to bring back a victory this year. McCracken's men are going into the game with the old Allegheny fight and if fight will win, the Blue and Gold will be on the long end of the score when the final whistle blows on Tech field next Saturday, Oct. 29.

QUILL CLUB ANNOUNCES INITIATES.

The Quill Club elected new members at a special meeting held Wednesday, Oct. 19, in Bentley Hall. The new members are as follows: Olive Hammerton, Elizabeth McLaren, Marjorie Lillie, Francis Pitt, Ruth Tuck, Wilhelmina Traum, Melville Jones, Courtney Dale, Mortimer Graham, Kenneth Fry, Elton Hickman and Theodore Siedle.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB.

The Twentieth Century Club held its first regular meeting in the Library Monday evening, Oct. 24. Miss Coral McMillin had charge of the program for the meeting.

SENATE DECIDES ON IMPORTANT MATTERS

STUDENTS WILL VOTE ON RE-TENTION OF HONOR SYSTEM.

The disposition of the Honor System at Allegheny and the enforcement of Frosh rules were the principal items brought before the Men's Senate at its meeting last week. The former is to be brought before the students some time this week for secret ballot, while the latter was settled at the meeting.

Because of lax enforcement by the students of the Honor System at Allegheny in the past two or three years, considerable comment has been aroused among not only the Faculty, but also large parts of the student body. The principal argument, aside from the honor of the matter, is the injustice upon the ordinary student who studies hard, but because of the comparative grades, receives low marks. Feeling that a crisis was approaching, the Senate has been considering the matter for several weeks, and has put the decision out of its hands by submitting it to the college at large. Included in the ballot will be the agreement to report all cases of violation. It is believed, however, that if the vote is not overwhelmingly in favor of its retention, the Honor System will be abolished.

The tendency toward promiscuous hair-cutting of the Freshmen was also given due consideration. In the future, the Senate decided, all disciplining must be approved by the organization, before any action. This takes the authority from the hands of the Sophomores, and changes hitherto-misleading to pre-determined punishment.

Several other lesser important affairs came to the notice of the governing body, one of which was the tendency of the Freshmen to eat at the Cochran tables in fraternity cliques. This habit was spoken of rather disparagingly, and all of the fraternity representatives urged greater sociability among members of the first-year class. Freshmen should recall that the entire lower floor of Cochran is for their use, including the lounging room; Cochran is not a boarding house, but rather a home for the men not living in fraternity houses.

PHI BETA PHI HOLDS FIRST OPEN HOUSE

BIOLOGY FRATERNITY GIVES EN-TERTAINMENT FOR ALL AD-VANCED STUDENTS.

Phi Beta Phi on last Wednesday evening, made its debut as one of the professional fraternities of the college with its first open house. With many of the rare specimens of botanical and zoological research upon display, Alden Hall presented its most festive appearance.

The main entertainment of the evening, in addition to the cordiality of the hosts, was a contest of discrimination of the various animals, flora and other types. Oscar L. Cartright, '23, was winner of the prize, a book on evolution, with his eighty-one correct answers from a possible hundred. John S. Roach, '23, received a manual of the flowering plants for having but one less answer correct than Mr. Cartright.

Following this contest, refreshments that could not be termed dainty in the common sense of the word, were in order, and the basement soon filled with the seventy odd men present. Different kinds of sandwiches, with all sorts of fillers from weiners to limberger, pickles, cookies and coffee completed the salad menu.

The chapter room was thrown open at this time, and many were the expressions of pleasure at the artistic and beautiful manner in which it was furnished. Skulls, time-honored and weird, an American eagle, a pair of elk, and less conspicuous forms comprise the greater part of the decorations.

At about 10 o'clock the guests departed, with the opinion that they had passed a very happy and profitable evening.

"What did he die of, Mrs. Maloney?"
"Gangrene, Mr. Finnigan."
"Well, thank hivin' for the color, Mrs. Maloney."—Ex.

ALLEGHENY REPRESENTED AT STUDENT CONFERENCE

Armament Discussion Will Be Held At Princeton University

An Armament Conference will be held by the students from various American colleges at Princeton University, Princeton, N. Y., on Oct. 26, 1921, for the purpose of ascertaining the attitude of American college students upon the subject of disarmament.

The conference seeks to find out the attitude of our college students upon the important question of disarmament. Since a large proportion of the soldiers who bore the brunt of the conflict were college students, their opinion should carry some weight. The result of the conference will be made known at the disarmament conference at Washington, D. C., on Nov. 11.

Delegates are being chosen by the various colleges and universities. Over sixty different institutions will be represented. Each college has been invited to send its delegates. These men will be entertained by Princeton University. They will present the views of their colleges at the meeting to be held on Wednesday, Oct. 26.

The conference should stimulate a wider discussion among undergraduates and among the public. Wide publicity will be given to the conference and its results with the hope that it will culminate in some form of action.

Allegheny responded by immediately electing a delegate to the conference. Through the Men's Senate Mr. H. H. Buchanan was chosen as the representative from this college.

The program and general information of the conference, Wednesday, Oct. 26, is as follows:

Morning—Arrive at Princeton station, where delegates will be met by representatives of the Senior Council and escorted to an upper-class eating house, where they will stay as guests until after breakfast Thursday.

12:1 p. m.—Luncheon at upper-class clubs.

3 p. m.—Afternoon meeting, Alexander Hall, open only to delegates, and undergraduate members of Princeton University.

7 p. m.—Banquet in University Dining Halls for delegates and members of the Princeton Faculty and Senior Council.

8:30 p. m.—Mass meeting, to be addressed by prominent speakers.

PRESIDENT HIXSON MAKES UNUSUAL CHAPEL ADDRESS

ANCIENT COLLEGE ARCHIVES
RECEIVES HIS ATTENTION.

Finding a pile of old, worn volumes filling the seat usually occupied by the speaker of the morning, the students at chapel last Thursday were nonplused as to what was about to take place.

After the opening exercise President Hixson explained that in the archives of our library there were many very interesting old books and that he believed the students would be pleased to know something about a few of them.

Picking up a large yellowed volume, the President stated that it was a subscription book which bore the subscriptions made toward the erection of Bentley Hall. The signatures were written during the years of 1815, 1816 and 1817, the earliest date being November, 1815. Although the accounts were written entirely in long hand, they were exceptionally accurate and legible. Among the subscribers was the name of John Adams, one of our first presidents, who contributed $20 to the fund. The amounts of the subscribers varied from 25 cents to 20 dollars. At this point President Hixson reminded the students of the contrast in the financial ability to build a college then as compared with today. The entire amount subscribed at that time was no larger than was given by one contributor during the recent endowment campaign.

The second volume which the President described was a record of the minutes of the Literary Society of Allegheny College. Another book of much the same content is the record of the Philo-Franklin Literary Society of days before the Civil War. President Hixson jokingly added that the people could write at that time as well as the faculty could now.

A ledger of considerable size contained the prize essays which were recorded for permanent keeping. A similar book constituted an old journal giving the account of the founding of the Allegheny Society, which identified its development with the second centenary of the Pilgrim Fathers. The fact that reference was made to the Pilgrims signifies the truth that Allegheny College took its root in the New England soil of tradition.

Friendship Conference Was Held In New York City

One Hundred Seventy-five Men and Women
Discuss Student Problems

A conference on the Student Friendship Fund and the Student Memorial, which is to be expressed on Armistice Day, was held in New York City on Sunday, Oct. 17. About 175 delegates, both men and women, from the colleges of New York, New England, and from seven schools in Pennsylvania, met at the National Y. W. C. A. headquarters, 600 Lexington avenue, to discuss relief for European students this winter. The possibility of all the American colleges and universities taking a united stand upon disarmament to be explained to the Washington Disarmament Conference was also discussed.

In the morning Dr. Hoag, of Philadelphia, speaking of world situations today, asked if there were not two fields, the international and industrial which are pagan in belief and practice. Again he said, the world must be taught that it is the natural instinct of every man to love his fellows. The call comes to take an unequivocal and radical stand in regard to the root causes of war and of all philosophy which tends to hasten or cause war. The issue is being met by those who are not under the obligations which Christian students are, by soldiers, scientists, socialists, Jews and trade unions; America's colleges and universities must not fail.

Miss Leslie Blanchard, a member of the executive board of the World's Christian Student Federation, told of the work of that organization and of the starting of the Student Friendship Fund last June for the relief of students in Europe. Mr. George Stewart, Jr., a Y. M. secretary who has been studying conditions in Berlin and Vienna, pictured the plight of the students there. In the central countries between 20 and 24 per cent. of the students have tuberculosis. The worst conditions exist not among the peasants, nor among the rich, but among the middle classed class. The time has come, he said, when either we do or do not mean the Lord's prayer.

In the discussion which followed, each delegate decided when the needs of Europe's students were contrasted with recreation and other campus expenditures here, that his college (Continued on page 4.)

EDITORIAL

The Allegheny-Buffalo game at Erie a week from Saturday is going to be one of the biggest athletic events in the history of the college. In order to carry it off in the proper manner every Alleghenian should be in one section reserved for Allegheny when the whistle blows on Nov. 5. The expenses in going to the game are extremely reasonable and ought not to keep any Alleghenian away. The college will get some splendid advertising if the students turn out in a body. Let's show Erie and Buffalo University what a real college Allegheny is.

An excellent musical program was given in the Chapel last Thursday evening. And it is a deplorable fact that there were less than sixty college students present. The program was entirely up to the standard of all the previous Y. M. C. A. courses. Outside of the facts that such an attendance was an injustice to the entertainers and that it shows the college in a bad light, such a state of affairs is putting the Y. M. C. A. badly in debt. Herebefore this organization has had the support of the students and those who have attended the meetings this year will testify to the fact that they have gained in interest. The Y. M. C. A. is doing its work in a very commendable way and ought to receive the backing of every student in Allegheny. It is not their intention to make anything from these entertainments, and it could not if it chose, since the entire collections up to date would not pay for the first number alone. And this does not take into account the succeeding programs. If the Y. M. C. A. is to continue its work it must receive the whole-hearted backing of the entire student body, a support that is no more than its just due. Alleghenians must be loyal to their own institutions.

Do you wish to see the honor system abolished at Allegheny? The time has come when it should either be enforced or abandoned. If it is discarded then Allegheny will have to put in its place a police system of examinations. Such a change should never be allowed to take place. In permitting it, Allegheny would be taking a backward step.

The students should first answer "Yes" or "No" to the question, "Do you want the Honor System at Allegheny?" Then they should stand back of their decision. It is the students' duty to enforce the honor system.

There is nothing wrong with the honor system itself. The error lies in its enforcement. The student, alone, should see that the system is upheld, by reporting all offenders. Then such offenders should be dealt with to the full letter of the law. Students now will not report those they see cheating, for fear of being branded as a tale bearer. The student who, under the honor system, reports another, is not a "tell tale." Since the honor system is a movement of the students, who can enforce it if they do not? A citizen who sees his house being entered by a thief is not going to keep quiet about it, for fear of being called a tale bearer. No one would think of him as such. In reporting the thief, he is working for the benefit of the community. So it is at Allegheny. The cheat and rogue is not wanted here, any more than the thief is in the outside world and he should be dealt with in the same manner. The student, like the citizen, should not be afraid to see that he is punished. Everyone, of course, believes in the theory of a "second chance" for people who have made mistakes. The honor system provides for such a chance for the students. However, after a man violates his oath, after being given such a chance, he should be expelled. The other students are the persons to see that he is expelled. How will the students ever learn to become self-governing if they, by their own choosing, submit themselves to faculty police regime while in college. Let us keep the honor system at Allegheny, and enforce it.

This issue is in charge of George L. Bird.

PHILO-FRANKLIN FORUM.

The Philo-Franklin Forum held its regular meeting on last Friday at 4:30 in the Forum room in Bentley Hall. The first business taken up was the election of the following officers: Julian Ross, speaker; Stanley Hanst, speaker pro tem; E. F. Luse, secretary; Ralph Demmler, sergeant-at-arms. The debate that followed was on the question: Resolved, That Congress should levy a tax on sales. Mr. Ross spoke for the affirmative and Mr. Henry for the negative. The arguments presented were both logical and forceful. The ballot cast by the Forum was in favor of the affirmative.

Every chair was occupied. This indicates an increasing interest in the society and augurs well for the future of the organization.

His days are empty, gay and free, while I expend my youthful powers and wear my brain out recklessly. This human magnate draws the "A's" without the throbbing of his brain, while I cram on for days in scholarly and noble pain. I've tried a hundred different ways to rival him, but all in vain. I cannot relish food I eat; I cannot relish what I drink. My life is anything but sweet and hope will soon begin to sink. My room-mate meets me on the street and dares to look at me and wink. He takes his "bugs" book from its place and gives the binding half a glance; with confident and beaming gaze, he takes the daily happy chance that leaves me fuming in disgrace and makes his lazy spirits dance. START PRACTICE

VETERAN MATERIAL SHOWS UP IN WORK OUTS.

TRACK MEN ARE ROUNDING INTO SHAPE.

Pre-season basket ball practice has started in earnest, under the direction of Captain Kofford. The first practice, which was held Monday, Oct. 17, brought out about twenty-five recruits. The men started into the practice in fine style and some of them have already shown remarkable ability in their knowledge of the game. There is without question some excellent material among the new men.

This pre-season is for all men who claim to have any basketball ability and who are not letter men of Allegheny. From the men now out it will be necessary to pick a second team and other substitutes for the varsity. It is, however, quite likely that after football season, more men will report for basketball, as it is reported that there is some fine basketball material among the football men. From present indications, with practically a veteran five on hand, Allegheny will have an exceptionally successful basketball season.

Gym classes for the Freshman and Sophomores, who are not out for any team, have been getting into shape under the systematic hand of Coach Hammett. The men are reporting regularly and are taking an interest in the work outlined for the coming year by Professor Hammett. The physical examinations have not been completed, but will be by the end of this week. Many new features are being planned and will be announced in the near future.

Some of the track men have been doing a little work on the cinder track. This year they will have the wonderful advantage of being able to work indoors on a well banked track. At present carpenters are at work in the gymnasium making the necessary repairs to put in a well-formed bank. Work is progressing rapidly and will be finished as quickly as possible.

Cross-country work-outs are being held daily as the trials for the team to run the Tech cross-country team on November 11 will be held very soon. Some fine material is to be found among those on the cross-country squad and from them it is expected that an excellent team will be picked. Kirschner, Troup and Bliss are showing up the best at present, although there is some chance of other men coming to the front before the final trial. A good cross-country team is to be expected—the first to compete in a dual meet with another college team.

CURRENT EVENTS.

The nation will observe Armistice Day November 11. It will be celebrated by the burial of the body of an unknown American soldier in the National Cemetery at Arlington.

The problem of unemployment is being seriously dealt with by the National Government. At present there are at least 900,000 unemployed ex-service men in the country. The American Legion is spending a great deal of its time on this serious problem.

A new nation came into existence recently, when the governments of Honduras, Guatemala and Salvador ceased to function and the Provisional Federated Council, of the Central American Federation, composed of these countries, took charge. This new nation has an approximate area of 100,000 square miles, and a population of 4,000,000. Just what this formation will be called, has not been announced.

All the troops of the six New England states will be mobilized, if necessary, to give protection to railway operation and to keep food supplies moving in the event of a railway strike. The governors of the other five states are in accord with Governor Cox of Massachusetts in this plan.

WHO WILL BE NEXT?

Miss Helen Louise McMahon and Mr. Donald Calder, of this city, and both former students at Allegheny, were married here Saturday, Oct. 15th. The bride and groom have just returned from their honeymoon, which was via auto to Baltimore and Washington. The groom is the agent for the Cadillac Motor Car in Meadville. The Campus extends congratulations to the young couple, who are paying the way for the "Who will be next?" column. Next week the result of another romance will be published. Who are they? Wait and see.

should average at least a dollar per student for some off campus cause. Mr. Frank Olmstead, the Y. M. secretary at Penn State, has been released by that school to supervise the raising of this fund throughout the state.

Both Penn State and Princeton have suggested plans by which the American institutions of higher learning shall reach an unanimous opinion upon disarmament. Both plans involve a discussion in each college and decision upon that college's attitude. Then, in some way, one delegate from each place will confer with those from other universities, and these will make their convictions known to the Washington conference.

Allegheny was represented at the conference by Miss Francis Pitt, '22. As there were delegates from only seven Pennsylvania schools, each delegate is responsible for the colleges in a certain district of the state. Thus a conference of the colleges and normal schools of Northwestern Pennsylvania will be held at Allegheny within the next few weeks to start plans for both the Friendship Fund and disarmament stand.

PRES. HIXSON MAKES ADDRESS

shown to the students. One of these was written to Timothy Alden by James Winthrop on September 19, 1817, and refers to the degree of doctor of laws which was conferred upon Winthrop at that time. The letter was written in that pleasing, old-fashioned way which is typical of the culture of that time.

An interesting paper then received attention, it being the original contract for the erection of Bentley Hall. The President mentioned that those who could not give money, gave timber and other building supplies. That the contributor be permitted to use the college library was a stipulation frequently added by those who made Allegheny possible.

The last volume in the pile, and the one creating the most merriment, was an old fine book which recorded the fines imposed on the members of the literary society for various offenses. Putting one's feet on the chairs and spitting on the floor were punishable by a fine of five cents. Fifty cents was assessed those who failed to be present at the meeting in which they were to take part on the program, and twenty-five cents was the fine imposed for absence at other times. The names of four offenders were then read, after which the President explained that two of the persons were living and the other two were dead. It appeared that these members formed a sort of conspiracy for the purpose of destroying the dignity and order of a meeting. The students were highly amused to hear that the four mischievous ones were Thomas Woodring, a man who has since been prominent in the Pittsburgh Conference; M. C. Harris, one of our Bishops in Japan; Dr. Beedy and Dr. J. W. Miles who is not unknown to Alleghenians.

That the students appreciated the efforts of their President to break the monotony of chapel service by introducing such matters of interest, is evidenced by the manner in which they accepted this deviation.

thought that they will not sell for more than 25 cents, practically cost.

It is rumored that Buffalo is bringing an exceptionally large cheering section down to out-do Allegheny, if such a thing is possible.

A section of the grandstand has also been reserved for the football teams of the three Erie high schools, who are to be the guests of Allegheny. Entire arrangements for the game are in the hands of the Allegheny Athletic Association.

Those who have not already signed up to go to Erie on November 5 can yet do so by getting in contact with Wilson R. Flint, or one of the assistant football managers. The special cars will leave Meadville shortly after 10 o'clock and the round trip tickets will be good until the last car returning to Meadville on Sunday evening.

Consent has been obtained to allow the girls of Hullings Hall to attend the game, the only provision being that they be back in Meadville before 11 o'clock to give them time to get into the hall before it closes.

It is hoped and expected that Allegheny will make a good impression on the Erie Alumni and other Erie residents by turning out en masse and giving the city a good taste of college spirit.

Billy Cleary, little right end of the New Wilmington Collegians, put up a sterling brand of ball. Last spring he appeared here with the Erie Central High track team.

Vic Wright was in there every minute of the game. Consistency seems to be his middle name.

ALLEGHENY DEFEATSWESTMINSTER, 7-6*Slip Shod Playing by Both Teams and Heavy Penalties Slow Up Game

Launching a vicious attack in the first half of the game, the Westminster Collegians held Allegheny to a 7-6 victory at New Wilmington last Saturday.

Wide end runs by the fleet Westminster backs completely baffled the Blue and Gold ends, and resulted in the first touchdown of the game by Westminster just after the second quarter had opened. Failure to kick goal eventually resulted in the Presbyterian's defeat, as Allegheny took the ball on the next kickoff and steadily marched down the field, with Miller and Alec Graham making most of the gains. Alec Graham pushed the oval from the one-yard line, and Miller kicked goal.

This completed the scoring for the day. Westminster, relying on end runs, pushed the ball to within a shadow of the goal posts on four occasions. During the remainder of the game the Blue and Gold line tightened and prevented further scoring.

Penalties aggregating 150 yards were imposed upon Westminster, while Allegheny was more fortunate in this respect, being set back for a total of sixty yards. In the matter of first down the New Wilmington lads exhibited their powerful offensive, making twelve first downs to eight for Allegheny.

Line plays by Allegheny formed the chief method of advancing the ball, as the Blue and White line was weak. On the other hand the Westminster backs found the Allegheny line almost impenetrable and had the Blue and Gold ends been able to solve the Presbyterian's end runs, a much larger score would have been made.

Three placement kicks, two by Westminster and one by Allegheny were attempted, but all went wild. Miller did some fine punting for Allegheny, his kicks averaging from 55 to 60 yards.

Dishman, Hoezle and Goldstrom for Westminster accounted for a goodly number of the gains made by that team. Miller, Alec Graham and Mort Graham were the chief ground-gainers for Allegheny. Capt. Kramer ably supported by Braun, Wolz and Wright, repeatedly broke through the line of scrimmage, to throw the opposing runners for losses.

A delegation of 100 rooters accompanied the team to New Wilmington, and gave a good account of themselves in the matter of cheering.

Score by periods:

Touchdowns: Allegheny—A. Graham 1; Westminster—Dishman 1.

Goals for touchdown—Miller 1. Substitutions: Allegheny—Fuller for Kramer, Kramer for Wolz, Houser for M. Graham, Myers for Houser, Dale for Sides, Judd for Dale, Wills for Morley, Rowbottom for Braun, Blackwell for A. Graham. Westminster—W. Snyder for Dishman.

Referee—Story, Tufts. Umpire—MacFarlan, W. and J. Head Linesman—Pfeifer, Franklin and Marshall. Time of periods—15 minutes.

W. and J. experienced no little difficulty in defeating the Lehigh grid-ders by a 14-7 score.

Princeton, without the services of Garrity and Lourie, may be likened to Pitt without Capt. Davies and Stein. Same difference.

Kopf, end on the W. and J. eleven, is a brother of Larry Kopf, Cincinnati infielder, while Coach Neale's brother plays a guard position on the same team.

Bucknell and W. Va. University battled four periods to a scoreless tie. Fumbles and unsuccessful attempts at goals from the field were the outstanding features of the game.

The next few weeks will be replete with football classics. Penn vs. Phila., Georgia Tech vs. Penn State at the Polo Grounds, Pitt vs. W. and J. at Pittsburgh, Army vs. Navy at Polo Grounds, Yale vs. Harvard at New Haven, Conn.

Watch W. and J. next Saturday when the Presidents invade Syracuse. Compare the scores for the dope on the W. and J.-Pitt clash.

Abie Kramer nailed those Westminster backs for losses time after time.

That old "stonewall defense" was very much in evidence last Saturday. Thank goodness!

Buck Wolz played a great game Saturday. His pretty tackles were a feature of the game.

Westminster's fast quartet of backs surely did run the ends with great success. Dishman and Hoezle were the principal participants in this method of ground gaining.

Hoppy Miller kept up his splendid work of the Grove City game, and made numerous substantial gains when they were most needed.

Rowbottom went slightly out of his class in his fisticuff with the big Westminster lineman. Nevertheless, Rocks was right there.

will be filled to the doors. There are about 100 seats which may still be purchased at $5.00 for the course of five numbers or $1.50 for the single concert. All seats are reserved.

To accommodate some of the choirs of the city, the program will start at 8:30. The program will consist not only of songs and piano numbers, but also an "Indian Music Talk" by Mr. Cadman, which he will illustrate by genuine Indian musical instruments.

Capt. Dishman was the outstanding star for the Presbyterians. His end runs were particularly brilliant.
