NAT'L MALE QUARTET PLEASES HEARERS

PROGRAM IS MADE UP OF MUSICAL AND NOVELTY NUMBERS.

Presenting a highly entertaining program in a most pleasing manner, the National Male Quartet won the hearty applause and enthusiastic response of its audience in the Ford Chapel last Wednesday evening.

While the entertainment was essentially of a musical nature, novelty numbers were frequently interspersed. The vocal selections represented a large variety of music, and ranged from sacred to humorous.

Among the songs rendered were "Where My Caravan Has Rested," "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Our Grand Uproar." The last named was a most amusing parody on "Rigoletto," in which the characters acted in a very realistic fashion.

Mr. L. Wickland, first tenor, possesses a voice of remarkable richness. Mr. Stanley Graham, second tenor, not only demonstrated his unusual ability as a soloist, but also served as accompanist on the piano. Mr. Ivins as baritone added to the evening's enjoyment by singing "King of the Forest Am I" and "Little Mother of Mine." Mr. Charles Cox, the basso, gave several delightful readings as well as singing "Little Brown Baby," from P. L. Dunbar. In his interpretation of the "Whistle of Saundry MacGraw" and some of the "Rhymes of a Red Cross Man," he showed unusual dramatic power. Mr. Cox also gave exceedingly clever characterizations of Bert Williams in "It's Your Move Now" and of Harry Lauder in "Roamin' in the Gloamin'." Particularly in these two songs did Mr. Cox please his audience, and the loud applause for him expressed its appreciation of his entertainment.

The National Male Quartet is an organization which has established for itself an enviable reputation in the world of music. It has travelled from coast to coast, and everywhere has received the praise of critics. This number represented the final entertainment offered by the Redpath Lyceum course, which the College Y. M. C. A. has brought to the city.

Allegheny Debaters Win at Both Places

Wooster Defeated Here, W. and J. at Washington—Both Unanimously

Thursday night featured a double victory for Allegheny's debating teams in the form of two unanimous decisions over Wooster and Washington and Jefferson.

By forceful speaking Allegheny won the debate with Wooster College by a unanimous vote at Ford Chapel on Thursday evening, March 16.

The subject of discussion was "Resolved, that the Kansas Court Plan for Adjusting Industrial Disputes should be extended to other states" and the men who composed the affirmative team were John Bozic, '23; Charles Bollinger, '23, and Mortimer Graham, '22, with Charles Sutton, '25, as alternate. Those of Wooster's negative team were Robert Wright, '22; J. Earl Jackman, '23, and Herrick Johnston, '22, and Paul Torbet, alternate. Dr. C. A. Darling presided.

The first speaker for the affirmative, John Bozic, explained the origin and nature of the Kansas Court. He said that in the winter of 1919 mines were closed in Kansas and consequently men, women, children and such institutions as churches and hospitals suffered greatly. Although volunteers offered to work the mines, yet the arrogance of a few men, whom the government did not suppress, caused untold suffering during that winter. As a result of this trouble, the Kansas Court of Industrial Laws was established for the settlement of industrial disputes, proving a protection for employer, employee and the general public. The court is composed of men appointed by the governor of the state.

After this explanation, Mr. Bozic proceeded to prove that the Industrial Court is right in principle because it keeps the public supplied with the necessities of life and prevents strikes from coming to a head.

The points taken up and proved by Mr. Bollinger and Mr. Graham were that the Industrial Court is fair and just, and that it has proved a success. The Court prevented losses through strikes to employers and employees and even to other industries. It should be upheld because it provides a means whereby labor and capital receive equal justice. It protects labor against capital, capital against labor and the public against both.

The men of the negative team, in their efforts to disprove the correctness in principle, fairness and justice, and success of the Kansas Court, put forth strong arguments and the discussion was a well-balanced one.

Before the debate commenced, the Men's Glee Club sang "On the Road to Mandalay" and "Sing Her Praises." During the time that the judges were deciding as to the outcome of the debate, Miss Postance sang "Homing."

Allegheny's negative debating team defeated the Washington and Jefferson affirmative team in a lively discussion of the Kansas Industrial Court last Thursday night at Washington. The chapel was filled almost to capacity with enthusiastic students out to support their team. President S. S. Baker of W. and J. presided at the affair. R. T. Salmon, a W. and J. student, provided a very pleasant diversion in the form of a bass solo sung between the main and rebuttal speeches of the debate.

The affirmative, upheld by C. N. Riggs, R. M. Wayman, and W. W. Bland, advanced arguments to prove that the court was necessary, fair to all concerned, and practicable. The Allegheny team, consisting of Julian Ross, J. Edwin Larson, and Ralph Demmler, made it their purpose to try to prove that the court was unsafe, impracticable and unnecessary. The speeches of both sides were presented with an ease that indicated that material was well in hand. The decision of the judges was unanimously in favor of Allegheny's team. The judges of the debate were Rev. James A. Patterson, of New Castle; Mr. L. D. Nichols, of the Pittsburgh High Schools, and Mr. Henry Wasson, attorney at law in Pittsburgh. The alternate of Washington and Jefferson's team was J. A. Foley, and the Allegheny alternate was George R. D. Braun. Both of these men lent considerable aid in the preparation of their side's case.

The treatment accorded the Allegheny team was exceedingly cordial, and the debaters are loud in their praises of Washington and Jefferson's hospitality.

The program, in charge of Professor Goodfellow, consisted of the reading of three modern one act plays followed by a discussion by members (Continued on page 2)

MRS. HIXSON LEADS IN MISSION STUDY

AFRICAN SITUATION DISCUSSED AT WEEKLY MEETING OF
Y. W. C. A.

On Wednesday evening, March 15, the Y. W. C. A. held its first missionary study program of the year. Under the leadership of Mrs. F. W. Hixson a study of the character of the continent of Africa, as to its size and population, was taken up. In her talk she brought up questions that pertain to the treatment of the people of Africa by the foreign nations and the work that confronts the missionary there. Various girls, who were prepared upon the subject answered her questions, thus helping to inform those present upon some of the more interesting topics. Through the study of the existing conditions in Africa it was pointed out that the work of the missionary is most important and that serious difficulties have presented themselves through the interference of foreigners, who have subjugated and enslaved the natives, doing all in their power to prevent progress in any direction.

The Y. W. C. A. meeting on Sunday evening was in charge of Mrs. Beiler. An informal open forum meeting discussion characterized the meeting.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS AND CHANGES MADE IN LIBRARY

With a force of repair men working steadily since last fall, the Library has undergone considerable alterations. The re-decoration of the first floor, the addition of magazine racks to the main reading room, the repair of several of the consultation rooms on the second floor, and a complete overhauling of the plumbing systems are the general improvements made.

Three coats of cream-colored paint on the lower walls have bettered the lighting effect of the rooms, incidentally increasing the attractiveness of the interior. The tables of the main reading room have been relieved of the congestion that has been so apparent of late by the placing of racks along the walls. The tables are now available for study.

Many changes have been effected in the departmental rooms of the upper floor. The Classical Club room has been refurnished in olive green and Roman purple, with a very attractive key frieze. To the Economics room, some very useful shelves have been added. The Faculty room has been converted into a conference room for the department of English Literature, and the storeroom has also been repaired to serve as a general consultation room.

During Easter vacation, the woodwork on both floors will be varnished and a cork pavement will be added to the main reading room.

CLARENCE WHITEHILL WILL APPEAR HERE

NOTED BARITONE WILL PRESENT
FINAL NUMBER OF CONCERT COURSE.

On March 31, at Ford Chapel, Clarence Whitehill, baritone, will give the last number of the concert course brought here under the auspices of the Allegheny College Concerts.

Mr. Whitehill began his musical studies in Chicago; meeting with encouragement he went to New York and later travelled to Paris on the advice of Mme. Melba whose interest in the young American did much to further his success.

At the Birmingham Festival under the leadership of Sir Henry Wood, Clarence Whitehill scored tremendous success. He created the role of John the Baptist in "Salome," at Covent Garden, where he sang for several seasons. He is considered one of the foremost interpreters of Wagnerian roles in this country, having prepared the same under the personal supervision of Frau Cosima Wagner at Bayreuth. He was soloist at eight performances of Mahler's Eighth Symphony with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra.

In 1902 he was engaged at the Opera Comique in Paris, being the first American male singer to receive this distinction. Following this engagement he accepted a five years' contract at Cologne, during which time he received many tempting offers from Vienna and Berlin, but preferred to return to his native country to sing at the Metropolitan Opera House. From 1909-10 until the present time he has been associated with that institution and the Chicago Opera Company continuously. He has sung with all the leading Symphony Orchestras in this country, and is one of the popular festival artists of the day.

Allegheny is especially favored in having Mr. Whitehill appear here, as the Metropolitan allows him to make only two outside engagements during a concert season. The other engagement he has made for this season is at Boston.

MISS SPALDING ENTERTAINS AT RECEPTION IN HONOR OF VACHEL LINDSAY.

A reception was given in honor of Vachel Lindsay Monday evening, March 20, at Hullings Hall, after his recital in the Chapel. Those present were the faculty and their wives, professors from the Theological School, a few town friends, and the Senior girls. Everyone enjoyed the selections given by Mr. Lindsay and considered it a rare privilege to know him personally.

Noted Poet Gives Interesting Recital

Large Audience Chants the Chorus of Several Poems

Reading poems to the strains of vocal music, Vachel Lindsay gave a unique recital to a large audience at Ford Memorial Chapel on Monday evening. Mr. Lindsay read several of his most popular selections and each received the hearty approval of his hearers. The lecture was of a very different type, in that Mr. Lindsay introduced the novelty of having his audience chant with him the refrains to the different poems. This was Mr. Lindsay's second visit to Allegheny, his first being in 1916. Since 1916 Mr. Lindsay has made a tour of England, where he was very enthusiastically received.

Mr. Lindsay opened his lecture by giving a short review of his tours in the United States and in England. He told of the many colleges and universities he had visited and the spirited enthusiasm of these institutions which impressed him greatly. By the end of the year Mr. Lindsay will have visited and lectured in every state in the Union. His first reading was that of his latest poem, "Gypsy Fiddlers." The theme of this piece was the return of the gypsy to India and had in mind the ordinary commonplace gypsy as a picture of the gypsy highways and a description of the gypsy camp west of Chicago. Finally came the call of India and the great longing to return to his native land. All this was clearly described in the reading by the author.

His second number was that of the poem, "Samson." In this piece the audience joined in with Mr. Lindsay on the refrain, "Let Samson be coming into your mind."

The ability of Mr. Lindsay as a reader was strongly brought out in this selection. The audience was quick to catch the spirit and joined in on the tuneful refrains. The reading of the poem, "Daniel Jazz" brought a hearty response from the audience. Mr. Lindsay requested the audience to "roar like lions" and many weird sounds came forth as the result. This piece is a little more serious in intent than the name would indicate. It is the story of a negro preacher who puts himself in the place of Daniel, giving an account of his experiences. This poem appeared in the volume, "The Golden Whales of California."

The reading of "The Congo," with its rhythm and weird expressions was probably the best selection. "The Congo" is a study of the negro and his irrepressible high spirit. The redemption of the negro as dreamed of by the negro race is the theme of the poem. Mr. Lindsay made the picture seem very vivid by his enthusiastic reading. In conclusion, the poet gave "The Ghosts of the Buffalo," a poem picturing the west and how it was influenced by the spirit of Lincoln. This spirit is not a routine matter to Mr. Lindsay, which fact with its significance was brought out in the reading of the poem. It also vividly describes the west, picturing the great cavalcades of buffalo upon the plains.

The strong impression left by Mr. Lindsay cannot be over estimated. His deep voice and strong expression added greatly to the reading of the poems. Because of his enthusiastic spirit and unconventionalism he can truly be called "The Real American Poet."

ALPHA CHI SIGMA MEN ENTERTAIN BIOLOGISTS

GUESSING CONTEST IS MAIN ENTERTAINMENT OF SMOKER AT PHI PSI HOUSE.

Phi Beta Phi fraternity was entertained by Alpha Chi Sigma fraternity at a smoker held at the Phi Kappa Psi House Tuesday evening, March 14.

The main attraction of the evening was a guessing contest, in which the members of both fraternities participated. Numerous advertisements taken from several of the most popular magazines were posted around the walls and the guessers tried to give the thing for which each ad stood. The first result was a tie among four men (?). A second time around revealed the fact that Dale Kirkpatrick was the champion guesser of all who were present. He received as a prize a two pound box of chocolates, which was greatly relished by all.

Fraternity Group Is Organized Here

Allegheny Club Takes Name of Phi Alpha Kappa With Faculty Permission

With the announcement of the formation of Phi Alpha Kappa on March 15, the second men's local fraternity assumes its place in Allegheny.

The group of men which formerly composed the Allegheny Club, after receiving faculty recognition, announced to the student body that it would be known as a Greek letter fraternity under the caption of Phi Alpha Kappa. The announcement came as a complete surprise to the college, as no mention of the formation of another fraternity only a year after the formation of Beta Upsilon, was even made. The petition as approved by the faculty automatically initiated the new men, who are charter members: Walter W. Bingham, Maurice J. Brevoort, Samuel M. McKinley, Marian E. Russell, I. Burdine Estep, Floyd H. Moore, Roy F. McGarragh, Ralph M. Powell, Samuel M. Sparks, Glenn F. Andrews, Charles L. Cusick, Clyde L. Friend, Howard R. Lillie, Edwin F. Luse, Clyde C. Miles, Milo M. Mook, Louis S. McCleery, Lawrence B. Weigle, Leslie B. Wright, John R. Vinton, Marvin H. Cadwell, James R. Farrell, Maurice A. Mook, Arthur A. Reams, Robert B. Reams and David C. T. Swanson.

The formation of this new Greek letter fraternity leaves the college without a non-fraternity organization, of which it is in dire need. The Allegheny Club was formed in 1919 for the non-fraternity men and the club was given Cochran Hall as its home. While in existence the club served its purpose admirably, and some of its members were leaders in activities on the hill.

Since the present enrollment in Allegheny is greater than it has been in past years there has been a need for another secret society. This has been evidenced by the fact that a greater number of men were taken into Allegheny College this year than in former years.

EDITORIAL

You can't guess what that big question mark means!

The Ides of March ushered in an organization composed of twenty-eight Greek-letter men. The Campus welcomes the new local fraternity, Phi Alpha Kappa, and wishes the baby Greek fraternity abundant success.

"A college cannot make brains; it merely trains them. It usually makes a smart man smarter, and a fool a bigger fool."

Did anyone chance to notice that the yells for Lincoln and Central that resounded through the gym on Saturday night were made by about half a dozen rooters in each case? What was the reason? THEY GOT TOGETHER AND YELLED.

The Seniors won from the Juniors in the Class Basketball championship game yesterday afternoon at the gym. This is the fourth championship game the class of 1922 has won. Three cheers for the Seniors!

Allegheny won, 3-0! The excitement at Montgomery Field, where several thousand people saw "Stan" Plum kick a field goal and win the game from Grove City, is one thing; but to have had a good seat at Ford's Chapel last Thursday evening would have been good, too; the Allegheny debating team intellectually clinched with Wooster as to whether the Kansas Court plan of settling industrial disputes was right or wrong.

"Mort" Graham, a member of the varsity affirmative team, followed his interference, John Bozie and Charles Bollinger, with consistent gains and in the last few minutes of play made an oratorical field goal. Or to express it in baseball terms, "he put the ball over the right field fence with two men on bases."

At any rate, Allegheny won unanimously from Wooster here. And our negative team won unanimously from Washington and Jefferson at Washington. This was the first double victory for our college debating team in at least seven years. The chapel was well filled with students who, by their generous applause, appreciated this form of collegiate activity which has hardly had its share of interest in the past. Much credit is due those who furnished the music, which was an entertaining feature of the program.

It appears that the winter is only half over by the snowfall today.

CLUB ACTIVITIES FOR WEEK.

of the club. "The Golden Doom" by Dunsony was read by Mildred Ellis and discussed, from its symbolic point of view, by Louise Hulin, "Overtones" by Gutenberg was read by Charles Havice, while J. E. Larson read "Man in the Stalls."

HISTORY AND POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB.

A meeting of the History and Political Science Club was held Tuesday evening, March 22, in the History rooms at the Library. Miss Wilma Lander read a paper entitled "The Genoa Conference," which was followed by a general discussion.

Preceding the program a short business meeting was held, with Russell Doing, the president, in charge.

20TH CENTURY CLUB.

"Immigration" was the subject discussed at the regular meeting of the 20th Century Club Monday evening. The program consisted of current events in answer to roll call, and short talks by Eloise Fink and Verene Collins. "The Characteristics of the Immigrants," "The Problems of Immigration," and "The Solution of the Problem of Immigration," were the phases of the subject which were discussed.

PHILO-FRANKLIN FORUM HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING.

"Resolved, that the United States should Cancel Her European War Debts," was the subject for debate at the meeting of the Philo-Franklin Forum held last Friday afternoon in the Forum room of Bentley Hall.

Program and Chilcote, contenders for the affirmative, lost after a very spirited argument to Travis and Jones, the upholders of the negative side of the question.

Read 'Em and Weep

A PLAYFUL PUSSY.

As L. J. Devney was peacefully studying in his room in the gym tower he was awakened by a scratching noise. Thinking the disturbance was due to an innocent mouse or a mischievous pussy, Devney picked up a galosh and hurled it at the noise. Lo and behold, it was a kitty, but it happened to be a pole kitty, commonly called a skunk. The galosh puffed the pretty little animal and, as a result of its anger, friend Devney dug a hole in the ground and buried his clothes.

CAMPUS HAS WEIRD LANDMARK.

Along with the new spring grass there has shot up over night a new pipe-like growth at the northeast corner of the Library. A cloud of steam issuing from it day and night is leading strangers to believe that the Library is on fire. The Campus staff, after sending out our committees of investigation, offer the following explanations:

Before the time of prohibition, Miss Edith Rowley, Allegheny College Librarian, found it necessary now and then to indulge in a mild stimulant. At first she indulged only infrequently, but the habit has grown and grown until, acting on her own initiative, she has set up a still in the basement of the library, the steam from which is pumped out by the iron piped. At the time when Miss Rowley is not at the desk, the committee has concluded that she is at work with the still. It is rumored that she is bottling the brew on a small scale and that if any applicant at the desk who is a particular friend, will offer a small sum, she will be only too glad to slip him a bottle behind a copy of "Efficiency in Business," or "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea." (This report is not to go beyond the student body.)

It is generally known that the Allegheny Faculty hold frequent meetings in one of the upper rooms of the library and it is generally guessed that these meetings are of a highly-heated nature. Towards the close of the discussions of the deep and mysterious problems interesting only to faculty members, the excess pep, enthusiasm, opinions and ideas go through a chemical change, resulting in a compound known as "intellectual heat," which must be disposed of if the roof is not to be lifted off the library. At Dr. Lee's suggestion, this heat is being piped out by the subterranean plan.

The reader is free to take either of the above explanations.

SIDELIGHTS.

The Deck-Dougherty combination amassed enough points between them to defeat the Allegheny aggregation.

Captain Hoffman was the only outstanding star of the Allegheny team, scoring four goals from the field for the losers.

Frank and Bennett, the Cleveland midgets, presented a smooth working pair of forwards and contributed very largely to the Lincoln success on Friday evening.

Manguso was the one bright light of the Canisius team.

Wolf and Miller formed the cleverest pair of defensive men seen in scholastic circles for some time.

It remained for MacMahon, the elongated pivot man from Pittsburgh, to furnish the unique shot of the evening, when he made a dizzy heave from the center of the court.

The entire Allegheny five displayed a vast improvement of their play of Friday evening. The work of Hoffman, Kaufman and Ebitz featured the Smoky City win on Saturday evening.

Some of the fans who witnessed the games on Saturday evening were heard to say that the Lincoln-Central game was the best exhibition of the court game which they had seen in Meadville.

Cal Bolster surely had his hands full when the "Cleveland Midgets" once got started. The large crowd also sympathized and lent their moral support to the youngsters.

MISS SPALDING BECOMES A "SHIFTER."

On Thursday evening a number of the Hulings Hall Shifters witnessed the solemn and impressive initiation of Miss Alice Spalding into their high organization. The ceremony was conducted by Miss Mitchell.

Although at times there was a marked lack of poise and dignity on the part of the initiate quite out of keeping with the deep and significant meaning of the organization, Miss Spalding feels now that no one can afford to be anything but a Shifter. She is doing all in her power to promote "Shifter" interests. Just ask her for the grip.

GIRLS CELEBRATE ST. PATRICK'S DAY BY SPECIAL PROGRAM.

St. Patrick's Day was appropriately celebrated in Hulings Hall Friday evening. Following the usual custom, the Sophomores entertained the other classes. The attractive decorations, the excellent dinner, and the Irish songs created a truly festive air. After the dinner all proceeded to the "ball room" and were pleasantly surprised to find Gage's Orchestra. It was evident that everyone enjoyed the evening.

Lincoln of Cleveland Wins Tournament Cup

Buffalo and Pittsburgh Eliminated Friday.
Erie is Second Two Years

Through its ability to maintain an unusual fighting spirit, Lincoln High School of Cleveland defeated Central High of Erie in the last minutes of play in the finals of the Tri-State Inter-City, Inter-scholastic basketball tournament in the local gymnasium last Saturday night. The final score was 21-17.

Erie was the first to score. Deck put in a one-pointer from the foul line in the first minute of play. This was countered soon after by a goal from the free throw line by Frank, the little white-headed forward for Lincoln.

Lincoln was somewhat off color in their shooting. Many long shots went wild, and close-in shots were prevented because of the close guarding. Both teams had a very effective defense, for as the score would indicate, close guarding featured the game throughout.

Erie Central was the first to score from the field. After six minutes of play Deck put one through the ring from the side. Frank scored the first two-pointer for Cleveland two minutes later.

Toward the close of the first quarter, Sweet, the lanky center on the Erie team, tipped in a pretty one from beside the basket.

The first quarter ended with the score at 8-6 in favor of Erie.

Deck scored from the field immediately after the tip-off at the beginning of the second quarter.

Both teams were passing well but were unable to solve either's defense. The Cleveland five had a splendid organized defense, which proved itself in the final minutes of the game. The Lincoln team because of its speed was able at times to break through the Red and Black from Erie.

The half ended 12-8 with Erie on the long end.

The second half opened with Frank scoring from the foul line followed by a similar shot by Deck for Erie. Deck scored the most spectacular shot of the game by putting one through from mid-floor.

Wolf, a very close guard of the Cleveland quintette, put in a two-pointer on a neat shot from the side of the court after a pretty recovery.

The score was 17-16 with Erie leading at the end of the third quarter.

The score was tied 17-17 with but six minutes more to play. Both teams were fighting hard, but Lincoln outgained the Erie aggregation.

Frank, the foul shooter for the Cleveland five, had two chances to break the tie, but he was off on his shooting. Leahy, who had been substituted early in the game, came through with a two-pointer, followed by another just before the final whistle blew, giving Cleveland the victory over Erie by a four point margin, and the cup offered by Allegheny for the 1922 Championship.

Deck and Sweet were the only men on the Erie team to secure counters. They amassed Erie's 17 points between them.

Frank and Wolf played a splendid game for Lincoln High.

In the preliminary to the Erie-Cleveland game, Allegheny High School of Pittsburgh won from the Canisius High of Buffalo, 31-25.

The Pittsburgh team displayed an altogether different brand of basketball in this game than it did in the game with Erie on Friday night.

In the first half Pittsburgh amassed eight field goals while in the second period Buffalo managed to get seven. The teams were quite evenly matched in floor work and speed, but Allegheny through Hoffman was able to find the basket when the counters were needed.

The first quarter ended at a 7-7 tie. The half found Pittsburgh on the long end of a 21-8 score.

Buffalo had hard luck in their shots, for many long ones just missed going through and apparently sure shots from beneath the basket failed to pass through the ring.

Buffalo came back strong the third quarter but were unable to overcome the lead that Allegheny had secured. McMahon, the center for the Pittsburgh team, made the most spectacular shot seen on the local floor this year; on receiving the ball while crossing the court in mid-floor he shot side-ways and put in a two-pointer.

The third quarter was 25-20 with Pittsburgh leading.

Hoffman and Kaufman played the best game for their team, while Campbell and Manguso played a nice game for Canisius.

Lincoln High, of Cleveland, successfully won its way into the finals of the Tri-State Inter-City basketball tournament here last Friday night when the Red and White five defeated the heavy and more experienced Canisius five of Buffalo, in the opening game by a score of 27-18. The Buffalo representatives drew first blood after one minute of play, when Campbell scored from the foul line, followed a moment later with a field goal from beneath the net by Manguso. Bennett then started the scoring for Lincoln with a pretty field goal. From this time on the game was a nip and tuck affair until the third quarter, when the Cleveland youngsters commenced to draw away from the Empire State passers.

work coupled with a strong defense featured the play of the Cleveland five and gradually wore out their opponents, who weakened to a considerable extent in the last quarter. Frank and Miller proved to be the back bone of the Lincoln team, and broke up play after play of the Catholics, Frank and Bennett, the diminutive Cleveland forwards, bore the brunt of the offensive and outplayed the heavy Canisius guards.

For Canisius the work of Manguso stood out brilliantly. He not only scored three field goals, but also played the best floor game for the Buffalo champions.

In the second game of the evening the well-filled gymnasium was given a rare treat when the Central High passers of Erie and the Allegheny High team of Pittsburgh got together for their forty-minute tilt. The final score read, Central 39, Allegheny 19. The Erie outfit wasted no time in getting started and Deck scored a goal from the floor in less than a minute after the opening whistle blew. By virtue of the excellent work of Kaufman the Smoky City representatives played the big Red team even and the quarter ended 8-6 in favor of Erie. With the opening of the second quarter the Deck-Daugherty combination commenced an offensive which was to eventually spell defeat for their opponents. The Allegheny defense was unable to stop this pair, although Captain Hoffman played a wonderful guarding game. Ebitz, the other guard, did not cover fast enough, with the result that Hoffman was usually left to check up the entire Erie offense.

Lightning passwork was the bright feature of the Gem City attack and more than offset the dribbling offensive of their opponents. Lannon and Hart broke up this play with apparent ease and after the second quarter the final result of the contest was never in doubt, as the Pittsburgh five showed only occasional flashes of championship form.
