'Gator Trackmen To Open Season With Clarion Sat.

Vanaman Captaining Squad Built Largely From New Material

After a lapse of one year, Allegheny again places track on its intercollegiate sports schedule when it takes the field against Clarion State Teachers' College on Montgomery Field at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Earl "Red" Vanaman has been chosen captain of this year's team by the lettermen. This is the third major sport which he has captained this year—a new record in the history of Allegheny athletics.

Coach H. P. Way has termed his track team this year a "noble experiment". All of the lettermen of '32 but three graduated last year, taking away "a crack team that didn't have its chance". There are only two lettermen on the squad, Vanaman and Wolfe. Fifty-seven new men have faithfully reported for practice, however, and the outlook is not so dark.

Men furnishing potential material for Saturday's meet are:

100 yd. dash—Dave Smith, Unverzagt, Wolfe, Weber, Byers, Rowe.

220 yd. dash—Wolfe, Horn, L. Miller, Ober, Weber, Dave Smith.

440 yd. run—Wolfe, Horn, O. Hawkins, R. Ralston, Duncan, Lang.

880 yd. run—Wilson, Shirk, Tate, Ralston, Duncan.

Mile run—Wilson, Frost, Shirk, Beiler, Hyde.

Two mile run—Frost, Smith, Shirk, Richardson.

Pole vault—Chester, Serene, Shetterly.

High jump—Shetterly, L. Miller, Ober, Hibbs.

Javelin—Overdorff, Becker, Sebring.

Broad jump—Ober, Rowe, Keck, Weber.

Shot-put (16 lb.)—Vanaman, Haines, Diaz, Cousins, Hinton.

Discus—Vanaman, Haines, Froelich, Whitaker.

No hurdle races will be held.

Coach Way's big problem is to develop men in the field events.

Following is the program for Saturday's meet:

2:00 P. M.—Pole vault.

2:15—100 yd. dash, high jump, javelin, shot.

2:30 P. M.—440 yd. run.

2:45 P. M.—mile run.

3:00 P. M.—220 yd. dash, discus, broad jump.

3:15 P. M.—2 mile run.

3:30 P. M.—880 yd. run.

The referee and starter will be J B. Stoeber of Thiel College.

Action was deferred until the delegation has an opportunity to talk with the local secretary, Mr. Hall.

Highlights of the program were five outstanding addresses which were thoroughly enjoyable. One was by Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, President of Westminster College; two were by the Rev. Schuyler E. Garth of Christ M. E. Church, East End, Pittsburgh; and two were by Dr. Richard Aspinwall of Morgantown, W. Va., present Director of University Extension at West Virginia University.

The Interfraternity Sing will be held on May 21. Plans are in charge of an Interfraternity Council committee consisting of William Glass, Joseph Serene, and Arthur Vangeli.

The committee decided that the sing should be more informal this year and not be judged so much on adherence to a uniform basis in the matter of clothes, position, and marching.

Tentative plans were also made for bringing in three judges from out of town.

Fraternities Adopt Former System Of Open Rushing

Interfraternity Council Votes To Resume "Lead-Piping" Methods.

Endorsing a return to the traditional "lead-piping" system of former years, the Interfraternity Council voted last Wednesday evening in favor of a new set of rushing rules presented by John Corcoran, chairman of the rushing committee. The meeting was held at the Delta Tau Delta house.

The new set of rules were evolved by Corcoran in an effort to give the fraternity men what they wanted, judging on the basis of the recent poll of the fraternities on a tentative set of rushing rules proposed by the committee. The earlier proposal, in substance a plan to defer rushing next fall for one month, was decisively voted down by the majority of the fraternities.

The new rules, which have been formally accepted by the Council, are drastically simple. Following Freshman Week there will be immediate rushing and pledging. Unless there is a change in the calendar for next year, this will be Sunday, Sept. 16 at noon. There will be, however, no entertainment of freshmen outside of the fraternity houses for two weeks following the conclusion of Freshman Week. No upper-classmen will be allowed on the campus during Freshman Week except those duly authorized by the administration. Summer pledging is permissable.

No penalty for violation of these rules has as yet been set.

The Council also passed a resolution shortening the period of probation for a pledge-breaker to two months instead of three.

A committee consisting of Joseph Serene, Arthur Vangeli, and William Glass was appointed to arrange details of the Interfraternity Sing.

The next meeting of the Interfraternity Council will be held at the Phi Delta Theta house on May 9.

Amusing Skit Given By Women Students In Chapel Friday

Under the direction of Grace Ralston, the women students put on a clever program in the Ford Chapel Friday noon.

The skit entitled "Allegheny's Amazons" was written by Amy Bishop and introduced by Mary Jane Anderson. Helen Walker as a page chanted the names of the various Amazons as they entered.

Helen Edmundson, dressed like a little girl, opened the entertainment by telling the audience not to expect too much. Helen Morrow was "Queen Wistina", and her court consisted of: Gwen Patterson, Annabelle Ralston, Mary Agnes Miller, Dorothy McDowell, Lois Richards, Dorothy Demmler, Jane Grey, Lois Starke, Margaret Robinson.

Impersonating Mae West, Helen Wicks sang "Minnie the Moocher" ably assisted by the court chorus. Mary Virginia Jones followed with a "Spring Dance".

Then Kathryn Miller, the grind, and judge of the court came in, and the cases with which the court had to deal were brought before her. Lillian Tamplin, as "Fire Ahead", asked for a fire in Hulings; and Helena Mumaw as "Sow and Reap" asked for help with the garden in the hall. Emma Robertson, Ruth McKibbin and Virginia Eicher, as equestriennes, sang of the death of Emma's horse. Mary Jane Anderson, dressed in an original tuxedo acted as ambassador from the Men's Senate.

Dorothea Ely and Martha Shreiner, seconded by Marian Grey and Doris Fuhs, had a bitterly contested game of Allegheny's favorite indoor sport, parchesi.

Grace Ralston, impersonating the Beebe House skunk, ended the show by frightening the actors from the stage.

O. D. K. Elects Officers

Officers for the coming year were elected by Omicron Delta Kappa at its last monthly meeting. Earl Green was chosen as president and Professor Akers as secretary-treasurer. The faculty advisor will be chosen later.

Looking For a Pet? Try a Hellbender

"Water-Dogs" are Exclusively Northwestern Pennsylvania Animals.

By PROFESSOR DARLING

If one should wade at night in French Creek or the Allegheny River, or in any of the larger tributaries of these streams, he might find swimming about or crawling over the stones a peculiar animal, the hellbender,—also called water-dog or alligator by some people. When in distress this creature may give out a coughing sound, something like a bark to a partially deaf person, hence it might be given the name water-dog; the name alligator is quite a misnomer, maybe so called because it lives in the water, swims at night, and scares the timid.

Why the name hellbender was given to the creature is conjecture; the most plausible suggestion is that when a superstitious fisherman finally succeeds in getting the squirming, bending animal off his hook, he throws it as far as possible with the suggestion to continue until it reaches the internal region.

These salamander-like animals are from fifteen to thirty inches long, weighing as much as three pounds. Curiously enough they are found nowhere else in the world except in this general region; where they came from no one knows; they probably originated from some of the other large salamanders which existed long before civilization began. In Japan there is a relative of the hellbender which is somewhat larger; all other salamanders of the world are considerably smaller.

The scientific name of the hellbender is Cryptobranchus allegheniensis; the first means "concealed breathing organs", the second, "from Allegheny". During the day they are found under large flat stones or under ledges which extend from the creek's bank, rarely are they seen in the open water unless they have been disturbed. They feed mostly on worms and crayfish; they have the reputation of eating small fish but I have never found any evidence in their stomachs or in the food which they spit out of their having eaten fish. In the laboratory acquarium they eat worms readily and strips of fresh meat; we have been able to keep some alive as long as eighteen months without feeding,—an economical pet. They have lungs and are able to breath air; however, they will remain under water for hours at a time without coming to the surface, oxygen being furnished them from the water through the skin; this feature is found in many of the amphibians.

In September the female will deposit her eggs in stringy masses underneath shelving rocks; each egg is about three-eighths of an inch in diameter and is enclosed in a jelly-like covering which swells up to an inch through. Several males are usually found near the eggs soon after they are deposited, the sperm being spilled in the water in the same manner as by fish. The egg is entered by a sperm and then divides into a mass of cells; the mass lengthens, a groove appears on the surface, little buds grow out to become the legs, a head develops; in about four weeks after the egg is laid the little hellbender begins to whip about in its covering and finally swims out as a young individual about three-fourths of an inch long, with a large yellow belly filled with yolk for food and with tiny gills on each side of its neck; these gills disappear in a few months as the lungs are formed. Just how long a hellbender lives is not known, but some of the larger ones are estimated to be fifteen years old.

Some people believe that hellbenders are poisonous even when touched, others believe their bite to be fatal, but there seems to be no basis of fact for either of these contentions. The only harm that they seem to do is to profoke fishermen by getting caught on the hook.—but then, think of the thrill that comes when the line is being tugged and the pull is like a three pound sucker.

RUSHING

The Interfraternity Council did the expected thing last Wednesday when they adopted the unrestricted rushing system of former years. The system is preferable to the brief deferred rushing period employed this year; but it shows that the Greek letter groups are still unwilling to give the freshman a fair chance to size up the fraternity situation at Allegheny before they attempt to "lead-pipe" him.

From the fraternity standpoint. the new system will not cause the Council the sort of difficulties and hard feelings which this year's rushing system precipitated. There will be the usual cut-throat tactics, but everyone will concentrate on convincing freshmen instead of watching each other for violations of the rules.

From the standpoint of the freshman, however, the new code will not solve any of the major problems—in fact, it will only make him as confused and uncertain as he has always been when he finds that the good start he was going to get by preparing and studying is smashed to bits by a siege of upperclassmen who invite—or better drag—him "down to the house" for the evening.

It's probably useless to continue advocating a system in which there would be no pledging during the first term so that the freshman could take his time about deciding on a fraternity. However. it still does not seem fair to us that the new collegian should be virtually co-erced into making a decision within a month after his arrival in Meadville.

A PLACE TO DANCE.

Though it's almost sacrilegious to call attention to needs at a time of national financial crisis. it it generally recognized that the next thing Allegheny needs is a suitable place to hold all-college dances.

The Leap Week cabaret dance only re-emphasized the two important drawbacks about planning a really big social affair for the gym: (1) that it is too ugly to be made attractive no matter how much hard work is done by decorators; and (2) that it is too small to accomodate adequately even a fairly large group of dancers.

Forgotten Man Tells Reporter His Views About Leap Week

One of the more prominent men in the college, a man who carried off one first place in the Senior Superlative contest and placed well in another, was approached the other day in an effort to find out his opinions on Leap Week. He granted an interview willingly, but refused to allow his name to be published.

Although the gentleman was inclined to be slightly evasive, some surprising information was obtained.

"Leap Week is definitely a grand success," declared our friend.

"What do the girls call you when they ask for a date?" we inquired.

There was a deep sigh. "They don't call me anything. In fact they don't call me. I am the Forgotten Man."

Asked to elaborate, he continued. "I have not received a single phone call. I don't rate."

When asked what he thought should be done about such a deplorable situation he replied cryptically. "Take out the telephone."

To cheer him up a little we asked if he didn't think there were any girls in college who wanted to date him.

"Oh hell yes. I'm sure there are a few."

The Forgotten Man made some interesting observations: There are no timid girls in Allegheny. There are "approximately two" girls in the college whom he would like to date. The ideal girl on the campus is no longer the ideal girl.

To the question "What do you think of the morals of the women at Allegheny?" he replied, "Moral be said about that later."

He has not been a victim of the childish joke of the girls who call up and ask if one is busy tonight and say "That's too bad" if the answer is in the negative. He terms such a practice "demoralizing".

He volunteered the information that very probably the girls are saving him for Saturday night. He interrupted the next question and said, "Eskimo questions I'll tell you no lies."

We begged to ask just one more question, "Does Allegheny College offer adequate facilities for romance "

"Well," he said, "there's horseback riding."

We left.

(Note: Though we hate to spoil a good feature interview. we are sure you will be glad to know that before Saturday night, the deplorable situation described above was remedied.)

Old Time College Students Used to Play Rough.

If the students of today think that they are the cause of worry to the administration, they should investigate the pranks of students one hundred years ago.

Throwing bricks, books. stones. chestnuts, chalk, bottles, and spittoons at the teachers was not uncommon.

A proctor had to accompany a certain teacher to class to prevent the students from throwing chestnuts still in burrs at the teacher.

Arson was another common pastime. The Yale coal yard was fired annually from 1866 on; the fire in 1870 was accompanied by the smashing of tutors' windows and the mutilation of the chapel organ. Presidential homes were often fired.

At Hamilton College a heavily loaded cannon was discharged at the door of a college tutor. Although it missed the tutor, it blew his clothes. which were lying on a chair, through the wall of the building.

In a conflict between the students of Yale and the town boys of New Haven two or three of the town boys were shot and one stabbed to death. The citizens of New Haven seized two cannons of an artillery company and would have bombarded the college if the policemen had not managed to spike the guns.

Wed., Thurs., May 2. 3—It would be impossible for a picture to have more narrow escapes and thrills along with romance and love than "Murder in Trinidad" with Heather Angel and Nigel Bruce. The mystery is as alluring as the title. Who of five suspected men is the murderer of the Governor at the head of the diamond smuggling investigation in Trinidad?

Fri., Sat., May 4, 5—We find Richard Barthelmess and Jean Muir's picture of "A Modern Hero" tinged with considerable melodrama. A circus performer succeeds in building up an automobile plant and becoming prosperous. Finally he loses everything on the stock market, his illegitimate son is killed in a new car which he had given him, his legal wife walks out on him, and he returns to the circus defeated but unbowed to start again.

Mon., Tues., May 7, 8—"As the Earth Turns." starring Jean Muir and Donald Woods brings to the screen the human and unadulterated story of New England farm life. Jen, a sturdy New Englander and lover of farming, refuses at first to marry the man who loves her because she thinks his love of the soil is not strong enough to give them a common tie. But when she sees his love for farm life put to a test, she is satisfied and goes to him gladly.

She loves the primitive and mourns her jungle lover's near death—but why?

She, however, is a clever enough heiress to win the love of her sailor, a college graduate in disguise.

Popular Plays Recently Added To Library Drama Shelves

Three new plays recently received by Reis Library are "Men in White", by Sidney Kingsley. "Days Without End", by Eugene O'Neill, and "Mary of Scotland", by Maxwell Anderson.

"Men in White", in addition to being a current movie, is still running on Broadway. It tells the story of a hospital interne who has to decide between service to humanity and love.

"Days Without End" is a modern morality play. Though it did not have such a successful run on Broadway. it shows that O'Neil is still effectively original and versatile.

In "Mary of Scotland", the third play, Maxwell Anderson has "clothed English history in the rich fabric which a poet can weave from the English language". This play is one of the most successful of the season and will close its run in New York when leading lady Helen Hayes returns to the movies.

Beta Upsilon Victorious in Intramural Track Meet

Close Competition Marks Meet, But Weather Hampers Performances.

Beta Upsilon fraternity captured its initial first place in this year's intramural program when it captured the track trophy at Friday and Saturday afternoon's meet on Montgomery Field.

Team competition was close, with the first and fourth teams only 2 1-2 points apart. Individual performances were not record-breaking, however; although, considering the bad weather and heavy Leap Week social calendar, the coaches are not worried about the quality of the potential varsity material which the meet brought to light.

When the first half of the meet was concluded on Friday afternoon, the B. U.'s were in third place, but Saturday's events brought them to the top with 21 1-2 points. The Independents were second with 21 points; Phi Gamma Delta a close third with 20 points; and Phi Kappa Psi fourth with 19 points. The other rankings were: Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 17 1-2; Beta Kappa, 14; Phi Delta Theta, 9; Alpha Chi Rho, 6; and Delta Tau Delta, 3.

Winners in the various events were:

Tennis Team Meets Youngstown Y Here Saturday Afternoon

The varsity tennis team will open its season against Youngstown Y on the college courts at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Peterson, veteran star, will play number one man; and "Tut" Ralston will take the number two position. For the other three singles matches Lubic, Sowers, and Goodrich will probably be chosen; but the order in which they will play is not yet decided.

In the two doubles matches, Peterson and Lubic will make up the number one team. Bob Sowers and either Goodrich or Lubic will play in the second doubles match.

The ladder system of selecting players, which Coaches Heller and Ufford have decided to use, may result in a change in the tentative line-up for Saturday's matches.

All five of the men to meet Youngstown have had experience in intercollegiate tennis and a fair brand of play should be afforded spectators at Saturday's matches.

'GATOR TRACKMEN

Coach Way requests those who plan to attend to cooperate by viewing the meet from the stands instead of holding up the work of the officials and the contestants by crowding on the field.

Students will not be required to present their tickets, and no admission will be charged to non-collegiate fans.

Instruction in life-saving will be available for upperclassmen. Any who are interested should consult with Mr. Daniels before the end of the week.

B. U. Mushballers Win From Phi Kappa Psi; Schedule Announced

After several false starts, intramural mushball really gets under way this week with five games in three days.

Yesterday evening Beta Upsilon came through with a 27-10 victory over Phi Kappa Psi, last year's second place winners. Dick Smith pitched for the winners; and Scott Widmann tossed them in for the losers.

Coach Daniels has experienced considerable difficulty in making out a schedule for mushball because of the large number of fraternity and sorority parties booked for the near futrue. However, weather permitting, the sport should move right along now and be finished up by May 20.

All games will be played on Montgomery Field at 6:30 p. m., sharp. The field will be divided into two grounds: number 1, near the gym; and number 2, at the far end of the field. The schedule follows:

Wednesday, May 2—Phi Delta Theta vs. Delta Tau Delta, Grounds 2. Officials: Powell, umpire; Clarke, scorer.

Monday, May 7—Phi Kappa Psi vs. Delta Tau Delta, Grounds 1. Officials: Erickson, Masman.

CAMPUS CLIPPINGS

Prof.—This examination will be conducted on the honor system. Please take seats three apart and in alternate rows.

A sarcastic professor at Rider College instructed the students to pass all the papers to the end of the row and insert carbon sheets under each one so that he could correct all the mistakes at one time.

One of our prominent Eastern universities reports that a class in Economics walked out when the professor failed to appear. The latter was rather indignant when he did arrive because "they could easily have seen that I was coming because my hat was on the desk." Next day upon his entrance into the classroom, a strange sight greeted him. The room was empty save for a hat on each desk.

Seen on a chapel bulletin board at Muckinham College: "'Will Sunrise Come?' at seven tonight."

Swarthmore students who cut the last class preceeding vacation or the first one following it are deprived of one hour's credit.

For 10c one may purchase a list telling the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of all University of Pittsburgh freshman co-eds.

The way tobacco is cut has a lot to do with the way Chesterfield burns and tastes

There are many different ways of cutting tobacco.

A long time ago, it used to be cut on what was known as a Pease Cutter, but this darkened the tobacco, and it was not uniform.

The cutters today are the most improved, modern, up-to-the-minute type. They cut uniformly, and cut in long shreds.

The tobacco in Chesterfield is cut right—you can judge for yourself how Chesterfields burn and how they taste.

Everything that science knows is used to make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder . . . the cigarette that tastes better.

They Taste Better!

Luckies are all-ways kind to your throat

WHEREVER the finest tobaccos grow—in our own Southland, in Turkey, in Greece—all over the world, we gather the very Cream of the tobacco Crops for Lucky Strike. And that means only the clean center leaves. The center leaves are the mildest leaves—they taste better and farmers are paid higher prices for them. These clean center leaves are the only ones used in making Luckies. Then "It's toasted"—for throat protection. And every Lucky is fully packed with these choice tobaccos—made round and firm, free from loose ends--that's why Luckies "keep in condition"—why you'll find that Luckies do not dry out—an important point to every smoker. Naturally, Luckies are always in all-ways kind to your throat.
