Vol. XLIX. No. 13.

MEADVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA

JANUARY 21, 1931.

FRATERNITIES ADOPT NEW COUNCIL HERE

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL NOW
PROCEEDING WITH INTERNAL ORGANIZATION

The Interfraternity Council of Allegheny College has been newly installed upon our campus. The constitution of the organization, which was passed upon unanimously by the eight fraternities of the college, was also adopted by the faculty at a meeting held last week. Two minor revisions were suggested by the faculty.

This organization was formed primarily to promote college activities and to perform a definite work in the assistance of the general student body. Its real purpose is to mutually benefit all the social fraternities on the campus.

The purposes of the Council are represented in four main provisions:

1. To represent the interests of fraternity members on the college campus.

2. To mutually benefit each of its members by a cooperative study and discussion of various problems, confronting the fraternity groups represented on the college campus.

3. To regulate and sponsor all interfraternity activities, social, athletic, and scholastic.

4. To assist the college both in an active and advisory capacity with respect to college and fraternity affairs.

The revisions of the constitution suggested by the faculty were to the effect that no keys or emblems should be provided for members, and that the number of officers be limited to Secretary and Treasurer. These revisions, which were adopted by the original council made up of the presidents of the various fraternities, were voted upon at the fraternity meetings last Monday night.

The original council was supplanted by members elected also in the fraternity meetings. The members of this organization shall consist of two men representing each fraternity. The members are to be designated according to class as Senior and Junior members. The Senior member will be a person having senior rating in the college at the time of his entrance into membership. The Junior member who shall represent his fraternity will be a person having completed at least three semesters work in Allegheny College at the time of his election. (Continued on page 3)

On Monday, January 19, Mr. Dennis, instructor in Biology, addressed the students assembled in Chapel, using for his subject the ancient philosophy that "Life is a vicious circle". Mr. Dennis enlarged upon this phrase to prove that there is really a great truth in these words which biology has discovered and recorded, yet failed to analyze.

In the first place, there are many vigorous tests to which this theory has been subjected. There are tales of wanderers who, lost in storm or fog or forest, have walked on and on only to finally fall exhausted after traveling many miles more than those which had stretched to their destination. The explanation is that they walked in circles instead of in a straight line. Game when pursued by hunters does not flee in ever-narrowing circles as a strategem, but because it loses its sense of orientation.

Recently many very interesting experiments have been conducted in an attempt to locate the source of this inevitable circling. Professor A. A. Shafter of the University of Kansas discovered that blindfolded mice run in spiral circles. Extensive research extending even down to the humble amoeba has shown that every animal moves in circles when unassisted by its organs of sight or a substitute.

Two theories have been advanced to explain this action. The Assymetry Theory has been exploded through the comparison of physical unbalance with the variation into a circle, because the spiral has occurred in the opposite direction than that influenced by a physical difference. The idea that the semi-circular canal in the ear was unbalanced with respect to the canal in the other, and therefore caused the phenomenon, has likewise been proved fallacious. These canals were removed from the ears of a dog and when he was blindfolded, he still walked in a circle. The same peculiarity holds with man as with the other animals.

Therefore there are two morals we may draw from these experiments. The first is that some of nature's simplest truths are more difficult to understand than the more complex ones. Secondly, we must have a good set of orientation devices if we would avoid walking through life in a circle.

Scribner's Magazine Announces Contest For Unknown Writers

New York, Jan. 20—In a contest which provides an opening for stories from unknown writers, Scribner's Magazine in its February issue offers prizes of $1,000 and $500 for the best narratives, 2,500 to 6,000 words, which are concerned with some phase of American life. All persons, regardless of nationality or residence or previous literary experience, are eligible for the contest, which closes June 20, 1931.

The amateur has his chance in this contest, the announcement states. It is an attempt to bring new vigor and life into literature by reaching those people who are living and creating America and not merely writing about it. The narrators may be, says the statement, a worker in an oil field, a business man, a miner, a forest ranger, a stock broker, a housewife, a debutante, a politician, a resident of a deflated boom town, an apple-grower, a bootlegger, an actor, a farmer, a bishop, an office clerk or a longshoreman—anyone who has something significant to tell either about his own life or life as he has observed it.

The manuscripts may be either narratives or articles or sketches. They will be read as quickly as possible and all found suitable will be purchased outright and published. From these the prize winners will be selected. The purpose of the contest, states the announcement, is to break through the literary shell and get to the real America. The editors are hopeful that the majority of the stories will come from non-professional sources, from individuals who are expressing for the first time their thoughts on paper and will, because of that, bring a strength and vitality and freshness of vision often lacking in conventional writing.

As instances of the type of stories desired, Scribner's points to the cowboy tales of Will James, the "Hunkie" stories of Owen Francis and the Florida cracker stories of Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings. Each of these is said to be an accurate and interesting picture of life in a particular American setting.

NEWEST BOOKS OF ALL DEPARTMENTS SECURED

ABOUT TWO HUNDRED BOOKS
CLASSIFIED AND INDEXED
FOR STUDENT USE

All users of the library will find it to their advantage to glance over the list of more than two hundred new books which have been purchased by the library since the latter part of last year. Miss Edith Rowley, Librarian, and her staff have nearly completed the work of listing, classifying, etc., which is necessary before the books can be placed on the shelves for the use of patrons. Miss Rowley states that the greater majority of these books will be available this week.

Glancing through the list of new books is interesting in itself. The variety in subject matter and the queer names of the authors are very striking. For example one may happen on a book whose author is a Preserved Smith. Struck by the unusual first name, one is apt to refer to the title page of Mr. Preserved Smith's book and discover that Mr. Preserved Smith, in spite of his odd name, is a respected professor of Cornell University.

Some of the new books which should prove of interest to a wide class of readers are The Conquest of Happiness, by Bertrand Russell; Undergraduates, by Edward Fisher and Artman; The Women Lincoln Loved, by William E. Barton; Everybody's Guide to Broadcast Music, by Percy A. Sholes.

The present world-wide economic depression received its share of consideration in the purchase of the new books, the list including The Work of the Stock Exchange, by Meeker; Federal Reserve Policy, by Reed; The World's Economic Dilemma, by E. M. Patterson; Men and Machines, by Stuart Chase.

BASKETBALL FANS

All alumni and others wishing to assure themselves of a seat at the remaining home games of the basketball season may have seats reserved for these games by calling or writing Professor Horace T. Lavelly. The price of a reserved seat is $1.25. All reservations applied for will be held until within ten minutes of the starting time of the game, after which time they will be released.

SECRETARY OF CHILD LABOR BOARD SPEAKS

SPEAKER TELLS OF OPPORTUNITY FOR PIONEERING IN ALL FIELDS

"The pioneering job in America is just starting. America is practically raw material in respect to its future opportunities." These statements were made by Dr. Owen R. Lovejoy, who spoke in chapel Wednesday, Jan. 14th, seeking to refute the opinions of many people that the great time for doing big things was in the past. Dr. Lovejoy is Secretary of the National Child Labor Board.

The relationship between past achievements and future possibilities of the race was compared to the part good optical development had to do with Pasteur's spectacular germ discoveries. It was not until a high degree of perfection was attained in optical instruments that real pioneering was done in the field of bacteriology.

Dr. Lovejoy described the achievements of his generation as mostly physical changes. Harvesting of grain progressed from sickle to gigantic reaper-binder-threshing machines. Lighting moved all the way up the scale from candles to electricity. Transportation changed from buggy to automobile. Labor-saving, ease-promoting devices were the outstanding contributions of the past generation.

The problem of the present people is to enable oncoming generations to more easily adjust themselves to life, complex as it may be. Certain pretenses of the older generation today hinder this ease of adjustment. Parents tell their children not to buy what can't be paid for, but the parents proceed to buy on the installment plan. They teach a religion having many myths, but hold more advanced ideas for themselves. They teach respect for law, but violate it. They talk peace, but prepare for war. They advocate a single moral standard, but have one standard for men and another for women.

"The present generation is more sane, more self-controlled, more ready to give a square deal to the other fellow, while claiming it for themselves, than any previous generation," were the words of the speaker. "The dangerous period of flaming youth," he stated, "is between the ages of forty and sixty."

Unemployment, illiteracy, and child labor are a few of the major problems awaiting pioneering by the present generation. Dr. Lovejoy pointed out. "The United States now has the greatest army of unemployed in its history," he said. Dr. Lovejoy stated that apparently the human race could not even feed, cloth, and keep themselves clean without overworking certain classes, and he expressed the opinion that Russia will be able to teach us a lesson from her present experiment. Besides the existence of unemployment, there are vast numbers of children of grammar school age harmfully employed industrially, and there are between five and ten million illiterates in the United States.

"Go ahead optimistically. The golden age, if there is one, is ahead," asserted the speaker in the closing remarks. "The younger generation should strive for a nation of intelligent, virile, and friendly people."

Literature Students Build Exact Model Of Fortune Theatre

A most interesting piece of work was done by two students in the department of English Literature, when an exact replica of the Fortune Theatre was constructed for the use of the students of the Seventeenth Century drama. Ralph Grimm and William Guenon built the model on a scale of one inch to three feet, using as a guide only descriptions found in Philip Henslowe's Diary, printed in E. K. Chamber's "Elizabethan Stage". The model is exact in every detail and required a great amount of research and ingenuity. An inscription found on a corner of the model explains the Theatre and its history. It runs as follows:

YE FORTUNE THEATRE
Built by Peter Street for Edward Alleyn and Philip Henslowe outside Cripplegate between Goldney and Whitecross Streets, London. Completed August 8, 1600, at a cost of 520 pounds. Was destroyed by fire December 9, 1621.

This model was constructed on a scale of 1 in. to 3 feet, and is an exact duplicate.
RALPH E. GRIMM,
WILLIAM GUENON.

January 1931.
The model is on display in the office of Dr. Schultz in Arter Hall this week. Arrangements are being made to have it displayed in the display case at the Library soon.

Mr. Dana B. Reid, Treasurer of the college, has been confined to his home by illness since Friday, January 16.

WORKS OF ENGLISH WRITER ON DISPLAY

NOVELIST OF MANY ORIENTAL ROMANCES WRITES UNDER THREE PEN NAMES

A diversified collection of the writings of E. Barrington, well-known English writer, who died just recently, are to be found in the show case at the library this week.

The real name of the author was Mrs. L. Adams Beck but she wrote under three names and wrote three different type of stories. For her English historical romances, such as "The Exquisite Peredita," "Glorious Apollo," and "The Divine Lady," she used the pen name of E. Barrington. Her stories of the Orient bear her own name, and her numerous short stories are under the name of Louis Moresby.

Mrs. L. Adams Beck was an English woman of a distinguished family. An article in the Wilson Bulletin speaks of her as, "rather little, rather frail, yet quietly living with a sort of smouldering spiritual fire". After an early marriage she lived for many years in the Orient where she studied with Tibetan monks. From these teachers she received some assurance of obtaining to an understanding of Eastern religion and philosophy, and to a mastery in them. Her studies of the oriental manners and customs were the foundation stones for her books, "Story of Oriental Philosophy," "Splendor of Asia," "Key of Dreams," and "Perfume of Rainbows."

At the close of the World War, Mrs. Beck left England, her place of residence during that time, and sailed for Japan. On her way, however, she stopped at Victoria, Canada, the capital city of Vancouver Island, B. C. This quiet city, with its English gardens and estates and cultural atmosphere of the Old Country, proved such an attraction to her that she made her permanent home there.

As a writer of books, Mrs. Beck wrote with unusual speed. Before 1917 she had not written anything for publication. Ten years later she had written twenty-five volumes and they were under three different names. She said herself that she had written "Glorious Apollo" in a month. But she could not write a Barrington and a Beck book at the same time. They alternated. E. Barrington and Mrs. Beck were two different personalities and their books were written from two different points of view.

In the January issue of The Bookman, Grant Overton has written an article entitled "The Divine Lady, E. Barrington". He says, "She knows what to write, when to write it. She is not the least inconvenienced by not knowing what is to be written." In a closing paragraph he describes her as "a weaver of mystical oriental romances and a novelist of eighteenth century personages."

Committee Completes All Arrangements for Interfraternity Ball

Tuesday evening, February third, the Interfraternity Ball will be in full swing to the music of Austin Wylie's Recording Orchestra.

The extensive plans for the dance have been arranged and all is in readiness for the greatest event of the Allegheny social chronicle. A record attendance is already assured and enthusiasm never before witnessed is being shown for this spectacular product of the combined fraternities on the hill.

Dean Bowie and Mr. Boettcher, Dr. and Mrs. Schultz, Dr. and Mrs. Akers, and Dr. and Mrs. Darling are the chaperons for the Interfraternity Ball.

The orchestra under the personal guidance of Austin Wylie will come direct to Meadville from an important Chicago engagement. These famous artists of synopated melody have many times been engaged for radio broadcasts and those who have heard them will fervently vouch for Wylie and his band. The orchestra will furnish music lovers with rhythm that will be the best in years heard about this section of the country.

This dance, which will be held at the Balizet Ballroom on Chestnut Street, will be strictly a formal college and invited guests will be allowed at the great Interfraternity Ball.

LIBERAL CLUB TO HOLD MEETING ON THURSDAY

Reverend A. A. Lancaster, pastor of the Park Avenue Congregational Church and Chaplain of the local branch of the American Legion, will speak on the attitude of the American Legion toward armaments and war at the next meeting of the Liberal Club, to be held in the Quill Club room in Reis Library Thursday afternoon, January 22, at four o'clock. The meeting is open to the entire student body up to the capacity of the room.

Fourteen Men Will Organize New Local Music Fraternity

Under the chairmanship of James Springer, a group of the men of the College are endeavoring to form a local musical fraternity.

At a recent meeting Springer was chosen acting chairman of an organization composed of fourteen men interested in forming a local musical society. This organization is made up of those particularly interested in choral and instrumental music. It is their aim to be incorporated as an association which can sponsor musical programmes and further utilize the talent which is present in Allegheny.

A petition will be submitted to the faculty for permission to establish the group as a local fraternity. Providing it is accepted the fraternity hopes at some later date to unite with Phi Mu Alpha. Dr. Church, Professor of Romance Languages, is a member of this national society.

February tenth the organization will hold its second meeting at the Phi Delta Theta House.

COURSES ANNOUNCED FOR NEXT SEMESTER

ENGLISH LITERATURE XIII AND COURSES IN FENCING NOT LISTED IN CATALOGUE

One new course is to be adopted into the college curriculum for the second semester this year. The new course, to be known as English Literature XIII, is to be a study of "Contemporary Prose". It will include a study of the most important influences on present-day prose together with considerable reading in the works of present day masters including Conrad, Galsworthy, Wells, Hardy, Cather, Hergesheimer, and Lewis. This class will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 10 o'clock and will be under the supervision of Mr. Benjamin.

Along with this change the customary second semester courses will be included as usual. These courses will be as follows: Bible V, Economics IX, Education III, Education IV, Education VII, Chemistry VII following Chemistry IX of the first semester, Economics IV following Economics III of the first semester, English Language VII succeeding English Language VIII of the first semester, English Literature VIII following English Literature III of the first semester, Philosophy IV, Philosophy III, Philosophy VII, and Physical Education III. All of these courses are listed in the college catalogue.

At the present time no new teachers have been elected. As printed in last week's Campus Coach Way will include a course in Fencing in the Physical Education Department for the second semester. This will be a two hour course and will count as sophomore credit in physical education work.

THREE MEETS ON NEW CROSS COUNTRY CARD

Westminster, Pitt, and Geneva are on Allegheny's Cross Country Schedule for next Fall. These three schools will be faced on consecutive Saturdays, because of the difficulty in arranging the schedule. In other years the meets were farther apart, began the latter part of September, and ended with the last run just before Thanksgiving.

This year, the Alligator's team takes on Westminster at home, October 3, then goes to Pittsburgh to face Pitt on October 10, and for the last encounter, October 17, the team meets Geneva at home.

PI TAU EPSILON MEETS TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Pi Tau Epsilon, honorary economics fraternity, held its monthly meeting at the Phi Gamma Delta house Wednesday evening, January 14.

During the evening the question discussed was "Is the Government Justified in Offering Relief in an Attempt to Relieve the Depression". It was planned at a previous meeting to discuss some important economical question at each meeting, hoping in this way to become better acquainted with the economic questions and problems of the country.

After the meeting an informal discussion of several minor questions was held.

A student has been studying at the University of Omaha for sixteen years without obtaining his degree.

ALLEGHENY DEBATERS TO OPPOSE MT. UNION

FIRST SCHEDULED DEBATE OF SEASON TO TAKE PLACE ON FRIDAY

Intercollegiate debating opens for the present season on Friday, February 6, when two Mt. Union College speakers invade Meadville to convince their audience at the local high school that the worker should be insured against unemployment. However, Warner White and Howard N. Plate of the Allegheny men's varsity will also be on hand to show the folly of any such contention. No decision will be given.

Although the strength of the Alliance, Ohio, school is uncertain, the Allegheny negative pair should be hard to beat. Plate is a member of Delta Sigma Rho, a veteran debater, and winner last year of the Extemporaneous Speaking Contest. Last month he added the Wakefield Oration prize of forty dollars to the term's revenue. In addition to his work with the varsity team, he is also coaching the freshman debating squad for a dual meet with Grove City. This is White's first year in the Language 4-A class, but he is already an experienced speaker.

Meanwhile, the luncheon club schedule will be continued, Harmon H. Gilbert and James Hamilton paying a visit to the Oil City Kiwanis Club on February 4. Hamilton will maintain against his teammate the affirmative of the varsity question, "Resolved: that the states should enact laws providing for compulsory unemployment insurance."

The same question was debated on January 15 before the Kiwanis Club of Franklin, Frank Whitsett, affirmative, opposing Charles C. Shaw, negative. Donald Knapp, affirmative, and Paul Cares, negative, spoke in the Titusville High School chapel on the same day, but used last year's intercollegiate question, "Resolved: that the policy to provide a liberal arts college education for all high school graduates who seek it, is unsound".

Alleghenians Attend Convention of Speech Teachers in Chicago

On December 29th, 30th and 31st two members of the Faculty attended the National Association of Teachers of Speech held at the Stevens Hotel in Chicago. Miss Alice Huntington Spalding and Mr. Henry F. Boettcher attended the lectures given at that time.

The National Association of Teachers of Speech had two groups added this year. One, a group of teachers from the normal schools of the country, and the other addition was made up of teachers of speech in the high schools. One of the new departments in which lectures were given was that of Radio Speaking. Many of the prominent broadcasters of the country were present.

Speakers read papers on Interpretative, and Extemporaneous Speaking and Debate, which Miss Spalding attended. Mr. Boettcher was present at lectures on Play Production and Lighting for the Stage. Although the Play Production Department was added to the Association only a few years ago, it was one of the most largely attended sections of the convention.

Keeping pace with the schedule established early in the year, the "Kaldron" is rapidly taking form and should be ready for the engravers soon.

The staff is planning many new innovations in an attempt to beautify this year's issue. Many "finds" have been made this year in students who possess artistic ability but who have never had a chance to exhibit it. These students draw various sketches and from the contributions are chosen the best to be reproduced in the "Kaldron". By means of these drawings it is hoped that the school's best year book will be put out.

Due to the increasing interest being shown in Dramatics, Radio, Music, and Intra-mural sports it is evident that the section devoted to activities will be larger and better developed than the same section in any previous issue.

Besides these two definite improvements many others are being planned and no doubt will be used in the attempt to make this Kaldron a most interesting one.

NOTICE!

This will be the last issue of The Campus until February 11, 1931, due to the intervening examination and vacation periods. The Campus staff will meet on Thursday, February 5, at 1:15 o'clock.

HOW ABOUT DEBATING?

Student support is important, even vital, to the success of athletic teams. "The Campus" has spent most of a semester strumming on this chord for the benefit of a surprisingly stone-deaf college group. Yet there is another of the school's activities, by its very nature doomed to be less popular than athletics, to which a sympathetic crowd of spectators is absolutely necessary. One wastes one's time, of course, with the old arguments that young people enrolled as college students should, even more than in muscular agility of gridiron or court, interest themselves in intellectual rivalry, such as debating. Nevertheless, the fact remains that empty seats and good speaking simply do not fit into the same harness. The participants in an athletic contest lose themselves in concentration on the business in hand; they may actually forget that anyone is watching them; the presence of the crowd, if felt at all, becomes merely a subconscious influence. But the audience is part and parcel of a debate: nothing more easily discourages a public speaker than trying to convince vacant chairs and nodding listeners.

These facts aren't new. And still, while accepting their truth, Allegheny students will probably continue their past policy of following this year's intercollegiate forensic contests only in the news columns of "The Campus". The unbeatable combination of excellent Language 4-A and 4-B groups with a worthy schedule and important, timely questions will simply go to waste if the school is represented, as formerly, only by those who already have a special knowledge of the subjects considered.

THE INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

Culminating several years' work by both students and faculty is the organization of the Interfraternity Council. Accepted unanimously by every fraternity save one with a few dissenting votes, this new body has the assured support of every social group. Suggestions tendered by the fraternities, by the faculty, and by the national Interfraternity Council have moulded a strong constitution comparatively free from the odium of campus politics. These practices, it is believed, will be eliminated by several features not incorporated in the Men's Senate. Members of the Council will be elected or appointed by their own fraternity, not by an Iron Link. No outward display of the Council's authority, the greatly coveted activity key, will adorn the watch chain of an ambitious campus politician. Only one minor officer, the secretary-treasurer, will be chosen for the usual term of one year. Even this official will not be tempted by the necessity of handling large sums of money.

The impressive program to be conducted by the Interfraternity Council includes the delicate question of rushing in all its phases. Cooperative buying, an aid to the commissary and treasurer, may be attempted. As a body representing the fraternities before the faculty the Council has been granted sufficient power to act quickly and decisively.

However, the student body will be unfair, if it expects the Interfraternity Council to immediately remedy every evil of fraternity politics and association. The perfect ideal of such a situation, if at all possible, can be reached only through a long educational period of interfraternity cooperation.

LET'S BE OPTIMISTIC

Much to everyone's surprise Allegheny's basketball team has suffered three defeats in a row. Every victorious team is considered one of the best in the district. Yet we criticize everybody from the coach to the sophomore managerial competitor because of these set-backs. Let us forget this silly attitude we have taken, and give the boys a break. The season is young yet. We can talk when it's all over.

Campus Clippings

A new method of advertising is to be tried at Washington and Jefferson College. The plan calls for the students returning to their home towns to urge prospective students to enroll at W. J. All expenses incurred by students engaged in this advertising are met by the college.

According to the Dean of Hunter College, college girls don't have enough parties—they stay home and study more than is good for them.

In a questionnaire circulated in the 30 sorority houses on the campus of the University of Iowa, it was found that the ideal man among the co-eds didn't smoke, pet, or drink. The man in question, in the flesh on the campus, is a Phi Beta Kappa, and the winner of a major athletic award.

A campaign is being waged by the Michigan Daily against professors using the text books they write on the grounds that only one view-point is obtained.

At Brigham Young University, instead of tapping the partner of the girl you wish to dance with, the "cut-in" merely hands the "cut-out" a lemon and dances away with the fair damsel.

Freshmen at the University of Hawaii are required to carry at least two brands of cigarettes and pass them out whenever they are asked.

Purdue University has been forced to drop baseball and track as minor intercollegiate sports because the expected financial returns from football were not as large as had been anticipated.

When students are expelled from Cambridge University they are tendered a mock funeral ceremony.

Students who use the Widener library at Harvard University must enter and leave the building through turnstiles. The reason advanced for this procedure is to inspect the students to see that they are not trying to smuggle books to other places.

Students at Ohio State University taking chemistry are supplied with platinum crucibles valued at one hundred dollars each.

Dean Mandel, of Yale University, says that the abolition of the old-fashioned beer garden is responsible for the growing taste of college students for hard liquor, the decline of group singing, and instructive conversation.

Legal action may be taken at the University of Michigan on any co-ed found wearing a fraternity pin to the extent of a fine of fifty dollars or six days in jail.

Co-eds at Antioch College claim equality with the men. They ask men for dates, call for them in cabs, take them to dinner, and pay the bills. That isn't equality, it's Utopia.

Negro butlers on the University of Georgia campus has organized a fraternity which is to be known as the Silver Kings. Requirements for admission are: Butlership at a Greek fraternity, wearing of clothes obtained from fraternity men, and attendance at every football game.

The fossil of a common morning-glory that blossomed 21,000,000 years ago has been discovered near Florissant, Cal., by the field expedition of the Field Museum of Chicago.

In tests made at the University of Minnesota, it was proven that students studied best under the influence of radio jazz.

The Pollyanna club is one of the largest societies on the campus of Union College, consisting of fifty members. The idea of the club is to create better friendship between the girls who commute to school and resident members of the college, and to help newcomers to Union to become adjusted to their new surroundings.

Alumni Notes

Friends of George Akerson, ex-'21, who though not a graduate of Allegheny still holds a warm spot in his heart for the College, will be interested to know that he has resigned as secretary to President Hoover in order to accept a position with the Paramount Public Corporation at three times the compensation he has been receiving. Associated Press dispatches carried the story of his resignation on January 2.

Earl Lester Fix, '21, is a research chemist with the Duplate Corporation. His address is 371 Vernon St., New Kensington.

Captain Allen Grant Hutcheon was married on January the eighth to Miss Rotha Clarke, daughter of Sir Geoffrey and Lady Clarke, at Cumberly, England. Captain Hutcheon is the son of Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Hutcheon, formerly of the faculty of the Meadville Theological Seminary, and a non-graduate member of the Class of 1919, Allegheny College. He left college during his freshman year to enlist with a Canadian regiment in the World War. He is a Phi Gamma Delta.

An important event in the life of William Wallace Youngson, '91, was chronicled recently in The Morning Oregonian, for Doctor Youngson had a birthday on December 27. The writer of the article, in sketching Doctor Youngson's life said: "Pittsburgh in Pennsylvania did not have an 'h' on it when William Wallace Youngson was born there December 27, 1869. In that h-less city he attended the public schools, graduating from Central High in 1887. He then went to Allegheny College where he became a Phi Beta Kappa and a bachelor of arts in 1891. He has received a master of arts and doctor of divinity from this same college. Having decided to enter the ministry, the student enrolled in Drew Theological Seminary, graduating in 1895. Upon graduating from Drew Mr. Youngson was ordained a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church. His first pastorate was in the Redstone circuit, Pa.

"After having charges in Pennsylvania and in New Jersey, Dr. Youngson came to Portland on a visit. He liked the city and river and hills, so he lingered. He became pastor of the Rose City Park Church in 1913, continuing until 1916, when he was made superintendent of the Methodist Church for the Portland District. Serving the allowed terms of years as superintendent, Dr. Youngson returned to the Rose City Park parish as pastor. He collected funds for the beautiful new church there. Last fall at the annual Oregon conference he was again made Portland superintendent."

It is of especial interest to the world of masonry to note this further statement in the article from which the above was quoted: "Dr. Youngson is a nationally known Mason and is the only minister in the world who has been grand prelate of the Knights Templar and supreme chaplain of the 33d-degree Scottish Rite Masons."

DOCTOR BEILER ATTENDS MEETINGS IN NEW YORK

Monday and Tuesday, December 29 and 30, Dr. Beiler attended the fiftieth anniversary meeting of the Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis. He also attended the twenty-first annual meeting of the National Association of Biblical Instructors, which met at the Union Theological Seminary, New York City. As president of the National Association of Biblical Instructors, Eastern Section, Dr. Beiler gave the opening address on "Some Implications of Our Teaching Aims." With the exception of one other year the presidency has been held by institutions in the east.

The organization was founded by Professor Charles Foster Kent, of Yale University, who was the president from 1909 till his death in 1924.

Several Compositions and Arrangements by Mr. Luvaas Published

It is very gratifying to note that Mr. Morten J. Luvaas, head of the newly established Department of Music has had a number of his compositions and arrangements accepted by several prominent publishing houses.

Recently, C. C. Birchard Company, Boston, accepted twelve arrangements and one original composition for mixed voices. Oliver Ditson Company, Boston, accepted two arrangements of an old Swedish Choral, "Prepare the Way to Zion", which number will be off the press in a few days. Mr. Luvaas has just returned an original composition, "Nunc Dimittis" to Schirmer's New York house. This number he has dedicated to the Allegheny Singers. H. W. Gray, New York, accepted a Norwegian Folk Song, "My Jesus Makes Me Free", arranged for solo voice with chorus.

INTRAMURAL BOWLING TO BEGIN FEBRUARY 16

Interfraternity Bowling will begin soon after semesters, on Monday, February 16. The complete schedule will be announced in the next issue of the Campus.

There are two leagues—A and B. League A is composed of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Beta Upsilon, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Delta Theta, and Alpha Chi Rho. League B includes the Phi Kappa Psi, Delta Tau Delta, Beta Kappa, the Faculty, and Non-Frats.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

Phi Gamma Delta—Kenneth Showers, Charles Shaw.
Phi Delta Theta—Arthur Keltz, Harmon Gilbert.
Alpha Chi Rho—Guilford Jones, Tom Lawry.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon—Irwin Winters, Theodore Harper.
Delta Tau Delta—John Knapp, Joe Stirling.
Beta Kappa—Robert Fairing, John Coffin.
Beta Upsilon—Ransford Riddle, Hasson Rocky.

It is hoped that this new organization will indeed be a worthy one. A meeting of the representative men on the campus will openly discuss certain existing evils of fraternity systems, and will cope with many difficult problems which will confront it in the future.

A great attempt has been made to keep this new organization as free from politics and corruption as possible. No offices will be made a political prize, no keys will be offered, and only small amounts of money will be handled.

Some of the important activities of the Interfraternity Council are that it will attempt to issue questionnaires on fraternity finances; to promote cooperative buying; it will attempt to remedy the rushing situation by possibly installing a deferred rushing season; it will act as a petitioning body to meet the faculty, and to consider all matters relative to the regulations of fraternity affairs.

The Council will hold its meetings at the various fraternity houses once a month, and a special meeting may be called by the Secretary. The chairman of each meeting is to be selected at the previous meeting so that all offices will be abolished.

Dr. J. R. Schultz, as Dean of Men of the college, has shown unfailing interest in the establishment of this organization at Allegheny College. His cooperation in working with the original Council committee has been well appreciated. Dean Schultz attended the Interfraternity Council in New York during Thanksgiving vacation.

This organization at Allegheny College is the result of action taken last Spring by the honorary activities fraternity, Omicron Delta Kappa. The work, which has been carried on since that time, has been under the direction of Robert S. Bates, representing Omicron Delta Kappa. After attending the Interfraternity Council meeting in New York, he drew up the constitution of the Council here, which was later revised to some extent. His competent initiative has done much also in establishing this organization here.

Allegheny's Blue and Gold quintet lost its first game of the season to the big Crimson team from Grove City last Friday night, 33-33. Although Allegheny entered the game favored to win, the Grove City outfit outplayed and outscored them throughout the game.

The Grove City team opened the game with a beautiful passing attack and a defense that was simply too good for the Alligators. Time after time the big Grove City guards took Allegheny's shots off the back-board and immediately started the ball up the floor. They did not give the Blue and Gold a chance to form anything like a systematic defense, with the result that one or two men had to take the brunt of the defensive work. Since it is impossible for two men to cover five, the Grovers simply passed the ball around the guards and under the basket for an easy shot. Now and then they varied the attack by trying a long shot, which were, by the way, very successful; Burke, the star for the Grovers, seemed to be carrying a rabbit's foot. He was the high scorer of the game, making eight field goals and one foul.

As compared with the Grove City team's play, the Alligators seemed rather slow, although on a few occasions they showed some really fast basketball. When the 'Gators got possession of the ball under Grove City's basket they could not get started down the floor as fast as the other team, with the result that almost invariably they ran into a stonewall defense. This defense forced the Alligators to try long shots and shots from the corners of the floor, and with few exceptions these shots were taken off the board by Grove City players, who immediately started their fast passing attack. These quick returns caught the Alligators off guard.

The marksmanship of the teams was about on a par. With the exception of Burke, both teams had some difficulty in finding the basket. The Blue and Gold players were forced to take more shots from difficult positions than were the Grovers, but nevertheless missed several shots under and near the basket which would have been good had the 'Gators been playing in top form. Burke was the high scorer of the game with a total of 17 points, and Garbark led the scoring of the Alligators with four field goals and a foul for a total of 9 points. Dennison was second with 8 points, while Conn added 7 to the 'Gator's score.

WESTMINSTER GAME

The tall boys of Westminster were a bit too much for the Allegheny Alligators on Saturday night, when the Blue and Gold team journeyed to New Wilmington and were defeated by a score of 22-22.

A 13-1 score after twelve minutes of play, with the margin all on the side of the Titans, was the factor that spelled defeat for the Allegheny quint. After that the game was practically even, but it was rather hopeless for the small 'Gator team to try to ride through a defense like Westminster's to overcome a lead like that. With such an advantage, Westminster assumed a safe game, centering their offense about Brownlee, center, and Rice, guard, and maintaining a tight defense against continued passing. Nevertheless, entering the second half on the decidedly small end of a 17-6 score, the 'Gators held their opponents on better than even terms during the rest of the game, and the score stood at a smaller margin at the final gun, 22-22.

Allegheny's chief difficulties were the same as were noticed in the Grove City game the night before— inability to get a fast passing attack under way, and hurried, inaccurate shooting. Dennison and Garbark were the only two Blue and Gold men to find the Titan's basket at all. Dennison sinking four fives, and Garbark looping in three. With eight minutes to play, and the score 26-17, Westminster resorted to stalling, and Allegheny was unable to improve the score.

WAYNESBURG GAME

On Monday night at Waynesburg the Allegheny team lost its third straight game to the tall, rangy Yellow Jackets by a one point margin, 30-31, in a two extra period game.

In the first eight minutes Allegheny led with nine points to the home team's two, but Waynesburg rallied and tied the count soon after the substitution of Curry and Janasik, and ended the half with a one point lead, 13-12.

During the second half neither team could secure the advantage for any length of time, and when the half ended the score was tied at 26 all.

Dennison was fouled early in the extra period and made both free tries count, but Mancuso offset this by intercepting a pass and dribbling half the length of the floor to tie the score, and the period ended with both teams having 28 points.

Janasik lucked in a long try in the middle of the second extra period, and Avery added a foul point. Garbark dropped in a long shot as the game ended, 31-30.

Waynesburg outscored Allegheny from the field, 24-16, but Allegheny chalked up 14 out of 20 free tries while the victors made only 7 out of 15 attempts.

Tumblers Entertain

Spectators at Grove City Basketball Game

Between halves of the Allegheny-Grove City game last Friday night, three Allegheny students put on a six-minute exhibition of tumbling. The team, composed at present of Leroy Lonahue, Ronald Gregg, and William Boetcker, gave the spectators something new and different in the way of entertainment and amusement during the half.

On the mats lying down the middle of the floor the tumblers presented front and back rolls, cartwheels, head and neck springs, dives, and somersaults in great form. This warmed them up to round off into double work, which included hand-springs over knees and off feet, shoulder-stand, sailor-roll, and throws for back-somersaults.

Because of lack of time, the tumblers ended the program with individual routines of broncos, hand-balancing on chair, and a row of galner back-somersaults.

Beginning with the second semester, a tumbling class will begin for all those who are interested. If enough interest is shown in this work, regular gym credit will be given.

Game of Badminton Placed on Women's Athletic Schedule

The Women's Athletic Association has just purchased a fascinating game called Badminton. Although like the game of tennis, this is played indoor on a court 44x20 feet. It is played with very light racquets (weighing only 5½ ounces) and shuttle-cocks. At first the game seems rather slow, but after a little practice it becomes swift and one must be quick at returning the small "bird". Only underhand strokes are allowed when serving, so one must use great force lest the "bird" does not fly all the way across. It soon results in a fast struggle to keep the 'cock on the other side. If one succeeds in this he wins an "ace", and when eleven "aces" are won, the game is finished.

Badminton was founded in India. British Army officers seeing its possibilities, took hold of it and made a few changes, principally in the shuttle-cock which was transformed by gradual stages from a wooden ball with feathers in it to its present condition of standardized accuracy. The racquets also were changed from the original wooden bats to the modern gut-string racquets, a vellum-headed, drum-like bat intervening.

Badminton is the name of the seat of Gloucester and as interest in the game centered in this district, the game was christened "Badminton". It spread quickly over the British Isles
