MEADVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA

FOREWORD

IN AFTER YEARS, WHEN ALL THOSE ELEMENTS WHICH GO TO MAKE UP OUR COLLEGE LIFE ARE BUT DIM MEMORIES, MAY THIS KALDRON HELP US TO RECALL THE PLEASANT EVENTS OF OUR MORE CAREFREE DAYS.

IF THIS VOLUME IS SUCCESSFUL IN HELPING US TO RELIVE OUR ALLEGHENY EXPERIENCES, THEN WE SHALL FEEL THAT IT HAS FULFILLED ITS PURPOSE.

IT IS OUR SINCEREST HOPE THAT THIS KALDRON WILL HAVE BEEN IN ACCORD WITH THE PROGRESS AND VISION OF A GREATER ALLEGHENY.

Allegheny Life . . . it's more than just Athletics, Organizations, and Classes. Isn't it, after all, the lighter moments that will remain the brightest in our memory? . . . the happy anticipation of returning in the fall . . . fraternity rushing . . . the campus in its fall splendor . . . football camp . . . and the boys working hard . . . the first chapel . . . always a thrill to the freshies . . . the old familiar cry of 'Line up' . . . and roll up those trou . . . coats on backwards . . . down on your knees . . . the girls who line the bank by the chapel . . .

Don't think the girls were neglected . . . they too suffered the humiliation of being razzed . . . here we see them offering a silent prayer for the sophomores . . . and get the intent look on the faces of the boys in the next view . . . just a little game of leap frog . . . oh yes, they play it quite often . . . and here we have the other side of the street . . . the dignified Juniors and Seniors who deign to view the proceedings . . . next a close up . . . of the species froshi . . . they walk, they talk, they're human . . . and finally one last view of the girls . . . showing their new freshman fezz . . .

Once again . . . football season . . .
 crisp October days . . . crowds . . .
 and pep meetings . . . the night before
 . . . with the BIG bonfire . . . that the freshmen have to build . . . and here they are building it . . . here is the bonfire that the freshmen built . . .
 and here is the cheerleader who bossed the freshmen who built the bonfire that was burned at the pep meeting . . . the next day . . . the game . . . at the top . . . crowds entering the stands . . . and at the bottom we offer you a cross section of a typical rooting section . . . during a thrilling play . . . and at the half . . .
 the freshmen must parade . . . with loons . . . another view . . . looking down on the stands . . . Kelly with balloons . . . or shall we say balloons with Kelly . . . a view of the balloons returning to their native haunts . . .

 and Doc Lee . . . on the bench . . .
 never misses a game . . .

And in between football games . . . the freshmen-sophomore field meet . . . first the field events . . . the three legged race . . . the coin rush . . . and you may see the before and after of that event here . . . quite a dirty fight, 'twas rumored . . . of course the sophomores won . . . you can't beat the organization . . . and the final event . . . the tug-of-war . . . the frosh had the numbers . . . and just couldn't be beat . . . even when the upperclassmen turned the hose on them . . . so the sophomores . . .

Borrowed a couple of horses . . . some where or other . . . but the naughty, naughty freshmen . . . pulled the horses down . . . to be perfectly plain . . . the horsies faw down . . . chalk one up for ye class of '33 . . . We present for your approval a view of the stands . . . during one of the warmer days . . . and a view of the percussion department of the Allegheny College Band . . . with an especially posed portrait of its leader . . . enjoying lunch . . . during a lull in the game . . .

Our cheerleaders . . . in action . . . and the students . . . or rather they who go to college . . . entering at the so called student gate . . . Homecoming Day . . . and all the fraternity houses bedecked with signs . . . the one of the Sig house just needed another nought . . . to make it correct . . . an exclusive ant eye view of the stands . . . The famous and much abused fire box . . . a future co-ed cheerleaderess . . . in action . . .

After football season . . . winter . . . snow and slush . . . the Phi Psi barrel roll . . . a group of the victims . . . lined up and ready to go . . . and one going . . . with Sig . . . doing his bit . . . and down below . . . The Kaldron

Another year at Allegheny has become history. Another Kaldron has appeared to preserve for future retrospection the events of the year just passed.

Our first year-book, The Alleghenian, a modest paper-bound volume, appeared in 1880, but was abandoned after four numbers had been published. The first Kaldron came forth in 1889 under the control of the fraternity men of the Junior class. In 1908 this plan of management was discontinued and the system now in use was inaugurated.

The Kaldron, from the first a student enterprise, now chooses its staff on a competitive basis. Its editor and its department editors are chosen each year from those of the competitors who have earned their positions by having proved their ability.

The Kaldron, while retaining its policy of recording all outstanding events of the college year, adopts a new form this year. The college as a whole occupies the front sections; the Seniors find the department devoted to them at the end of the volume, a fitting place for this record of the climax of the college career.

This year's Kaldron, in presenting a terse account of Allegheny life and progress during 1929 and 1930, will doubtless gain for itself a place in all college circles and a space among the treasured possessions of every student.

The Campus

The city newspaper has gained a prominent place in the life of today. Analogous to the progress of the city daily has been the growth of our Campus. From its humble beginning in 1876 as a general college publication it has grown, a student enterprise throughout, until now its circulation is an anticipated event every Wednesday. Its editor-in-chief coming from the Senior Class and his department editors from the Junior Class, the Campus has an opening for anyone who aspires to tamper with journalism and a position for him who earns it.

In its news articles, features, and editorials the Campus, a member of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle States, represents a high rank of college journalism. The power of the Campus to arouse student interest and to spread opinion has been shown on numerous occasions, notably, for example, in the case of the Athletic Situation.

The department which has drawn most interest in the present year's volume is "Dudley Michael's Asides" which sought out numerous weaknesses in our school and made interesting comments on college affairs. Carl Columnist III treated college life from a humorous angle in his "Scrubbing Brush". "Who's Who Among the Alumni" gave in each issue an account of one illustrious graduate; the Alumni Notes kept us in touch with Allegheny men and women of former classes.

So firmly established as a necessity is the Campus that were its publication withdrawn, an appreciable blank space would be left in college activities.

The Allegheny Magazine

Although admitting a smaller field of interest than either of the other two publications, the Allegheny Magazine has established its place as an invaluable school organ. Since its first appearance in 1896, the "Lit", although changing in form at frequent intervals, has continued to fill the first of its original purposes by providing an outlet for the work of Allegheny book-reviewers, poets, playwrights, essayists, and short-story writers. During the early years of publication the "Lit" made efforts to arouse the alumni to an interest in their alma mater. Of late this alumni feature has been abandoned, possibly on account of the small support on the part of the graduates.

This year the Allegheny literary magazine appeared as a reproduction in many ways of the Allegheny Magazine founded by Timothy Alden in 1816. The first number contained much valuable and interesting material on early Allegheny.

During the past year five issues of the Allegheny Magazine were published, commendable contributions having been made by the following, in addition to members of the staff: Rowena P. Baker, Ruth Farquhar, George C. Johnstone, William McMillan, Louise Power, S. R. Sternthal, Dr. S. S. Swartley, and Harry C. Thomson.

The duties of the Board of Publications are to control the three main student publications and their management. The Board is composed of three faculty members and the editors of the respective student publications. The Board has complete control over the financial matters relative to publishing and distribution of all college journalism and authorizes all contracts. The different editors of the publications are elected by the Board, which also has authority to let contracts for the different papers and transact other business pertaining to them. Dr. Julian Ross has been acting Chairman during the absence of Dr. Darling, who is away on leave.

Men's Inter-Collegiate Debating

The method of handling debating at Allegheny has undergone a complete revision this year. In past years eight men have been chosen to do the debating for the whole season: four to constitute an affirmative team and four to constitute a negative team. These two debating teams have met irregularly preceding a debate, with some faculty member of the Oratorical Board.

In contrast to this plan the following system is now in use. Students interested in debating register in a regular class in debating, English Language 4A. This group meets regularly three times a week. During the year questions used for debate are thoroughly studied in order that the truth on both sides of the question may be carefully determined. Debating is thus recognized as providing a training comparable to that to be found in other fields of study. Regular college credit is given for this work.

Before each debate the three men who are best qualified at that time to represent the College are called upon to speak. The policy is to give as many students as possible the chance to represent Allegheny, rather than to limit such representation to only a few debaters.

In addition to the regular intercollegiate schedule which has been increased this year, the debating class offers to luncheon clubs, lodges, and groups of all kinds any of its members who will present a debate of any length upon any one of the subjects under consideration. A great deal of interest has been shown both on the part of the debating class and the groups before whom they have appeared in this sort of extension service. It has provided a novel program for the group, practical experience for the debaters, and a very desirable type of advertising for the College. All of the men pictured here have debated in at least two debates this year. They have been used in all sorts of combinations.

The desirability of this general type of preparation is very nicely illustrated in the Allegheny-Dickinson Debate held at Carlisle, Pennsylvania. Through a misunderstanding between the colleges it was found, fifteen minutes before the debate, that both teams were prepared on the affirmative side. The Allegheny group very graciously offered to take the negative. The debate started in fifteen minutes and Allegheny won the decision.

Questions used by Men's Varsity Debate Class:

Resolved: That it is an unsound policy to provide a liberal arts college education for the average secondary school graduate who seeks it.

Resolved: That the adoption of the Wisconsin experimental plan by the colleges of the United States would be beneficial to the undergraduate body.

Women's Inter-Collegiate Debating

The first women's intercollegiate debating that Allegheny has known has been organized this year in connection with the reorganization of the debating policy.

In addition to the regular class of men, there has been organized a debating class for women, English Language 4B. The same general policy in regard to the study of questions, choice of speakers has been followed as in the case of the men's group. Every woman pictured here has participated in at least one public debate during the year.

In view of the fact that this has been the first year for women's debating at Allegheny, a rather modest schedule was undertaken. A great deal of credit should go to the women for the enthusiastic way in which they have undertaken this work.

The only decision debate the women have been involved in is the debate before the Mercer Rotary Club in which they were opposed by two men from the men's group. The club voted in favor of the position the women were supporting.

It is the hope of the instructor of these two groups that women's debating at Allegheny will hold just as important a place as that in which the men are involved.

The fact that debating has been taken up so enthusiastically by the women reflects very creditably upon the new Forensic Policy instituted this year. Credit for the renewed interest in debating which has permeated the school is due to the able work of Hurst R. Anderson, instructor in Debate. Prof. Anderson reorganized the whole debating system and improved it wonderfully. Under the new system much more interest in forensics has been shown by the students, and many more candidates have turned out. The debaters are also much better prepared because of the fact that they are in a regular class in debating. Also the haphazard method of freshman debating has been done away with and a regular class of freshmen debaters has been organized. Thus there will always be a group of well trained men ready to step into the places left by the graduating men. Another feature of this plan worthy of mention is that everybody in the class gets a chance to debate during the year while formerly only a small group of varsity men had this chance. The plan of debating before luncheon clubs also affords wonderful publicity for the college.

Questions used by Women's Debate Class:

Resolved: That it is an unsound policy to provide a liberal arts college education for the average secondary school graduate who seeks it.

Resolved: That the defects of the machine age outweigh its benefits.

Freshman Debating

The organization of a Freshman Men Intercollegiate Debating group has been another phase of Allegheny's new debating policy. This group was organized the first of November and continued to meet until after the freshman intercollegiate debate with Thiel on February the twenty-eighth.

Twenty-six freshmen presented themselves for this group. After cutting the group twice, the eight men pictured above were chosen to do intercollegiate debating. These eight men will be awarded a debating key for their service to the College.

Mr. Haberman, Mr. Cary, Mr. Corcoran, and Mr. Beebe debated Thiel at Greenville. Mr. Mansell, Mr. Thomson, Mr. Boetcker, and Mr. Beiler debated Thiel at Allegheny. The question used in the Thiel debate was—Resolved: That it is an unsound policy to provide a liberal arts college education for all high school graduates who seek it. Out of the six judges' votes cast, the Freshmen received four, losing the debate at Greenville and winning at Meadville.

Out of this Freshman group who receive the fundamentals of debating their first year will come the material for Allegheny's debating class in the future.

Robert Rutherford

Inter-Collegiate Oratorical Contest

Allegheny College as a member of the Civic Oratorical League composed of seven nearby colleges and universities will enter one speaker in the annual Inter-Collegiate Civic Oratorical Contest to be held on May 2 at Western Reserve University in Cleveland. Robert Rutherford as the winner of the Wakefield Oratorical Contest is to represent Allegheny. It is an annual custom that the winner of this contest shall be Allegheny's entrant in this Inter-Collegiate Oratorical Contest.

Inasmuch as forensics at Allegheny has been thoroughly reorganized, it is expected that local entrants in the future will go far along oratorical lines. With such a wealth of talent being brought out by the new forensics policy at Allegheny, oratory should be elevated to even a higher plane in the next few years.

Wakefield Oratorical Contest

On Wednesday evening, December 5, 1929, Robert Rutherford of the senior class won the right to represent Allegheny College in the annual Inter-Collegiate Civic Oratorical League Contest to be held on May, 2, 1930, by taking first place in the Wakefield Oratorical Contest. In his winning oration, "Minds In Chains," the speaker presented in striking fashion a powerful warning against the concentration of the power of the press in the hands of a few men. Lloyd Gordon, also of the senior class, with "Yellow Journalism," was awarded second place.

The other speakers and the orations presented were as follows: Charles White on "Outposts;" Howard Plate on "Bridges;" James Hamilton on "The Sea's Strength," and George Moultrie on "The Tenth Man." The judges were Charles W. Gill, '07, Robert W. Thomas, '12, and A. Dickson Andrews, '08, all of Meadville.

This annual contest is made possible through the will of James A. Wakefield of Pittsburgh in memory of his grandfather, the Reverend Samuel Wakefield.

Howard Plate

Inter-Fraternity Extemporaneous Speaking Contest

Howard Plate, representing Alpha Chi Rho Fraternity, won the annual interfraternity extemporaneous speaking contest sponsored annually by Delta Sigma Rho on Friday, November 22, 1929, in Ford Memorial Chapel. Each social fraternity had the right to pick a representative for the contest. Various college issues furnished the material for the general topic. The specific topic, however, was not announced until a few minutes before the time of the contest.

The winning speech was based on the subject, "What is Wrong with Our College Teachers?" In it, Mr. Plate presented his details in a forceful and most logical manner. He clearly diagnosed the trouble with most teachers and skillfully showed how they might be overcome. As winner, Mr. Plate secured for his fraternity the loving cup presented by Delta Sigma Rho to the winner's fraternity. This cup is retained permanently only after some fraternity has won it three times. The other speakers and the titles of the speeches presented were as follows: Harmon Gilbert of Phi Delta Theta on "College and Old Traditions;" George Johnstone of Delta Tau Delta on "College in the Movies;" Donald Knapp of Phi Gamma Delta on "Apple Shining," and Roberts More of Phi Kappa Psi on "The Curse of Coeducation." Each contestant showed a thorough and careful research on the general topic and reflected a great deal of credit on Allegheny's reputation for extemporaneous speaking.

The judges were Drs. Swartley and Shultz and Mr. Anderson. It is a worthy ambition of Delta Sigma Rho to install greater interest in forensics at Allegheny. That they are succeeding is worthily testified by the great amount of interest displayed in this annual contest.

Philo-Franklin Oratorical Contest

The Philo-Franklin Oratorical Contest, one of the most outstanding features of Allegheny's forensic program, will be held this year on May 7. An endowment fund of six hundred dollars was presented some years ago by several members of the old Philo-Franklin Literary Society for the purpose of employing the income from this fund to furnish a first, second and third prize to the winners of the contest. The three prizes to be awarded this year are twenty-five, ten and five dollars.

The Philo-Franklin Forum in sponsoring such a program, has done much for forensics at Allegheny. Worthy college traditions created by the various societies do much to retain the original spirit of the college. During its stay on the Campus, the Philo-Franklin Forum has realized such an aim.

With the reorganization of debating at Allegheny, the Oratorical Board has a somewhat different function than it has had in the past. Instead of its very active position in controlling the oratorical contests and debates that it has maintained in the past, it is now an advisory group to the Coach of Debate, Mr. Hurst R. Anderson, who is directly responsible for the debating and oratorical work of the College.

Music

MORTON J. LUVASS
Director

Music at Allegheny

Culminating years of hope, Allegheny this year has included in its curriculum a department of music under the direction of Professor Morton J. Luvass, for several years the director of Allegheny Glee Clubs. Although he was the director of the musical clubs of Allegheny in recent years, Professor Luvass has also been an instructor at Erie Academy High School in Erie, Pennsylvania. Under the new music policy at Allegheny, however, Professor Luvass will devote all his time to music at Allegheny.

The new department of music will contain five courses. These are: "Elementary Harmony and Training," "Harmony," "Counterpoint," "History of Music," and "The Appreciation of Music." Additional college credits however may be secured by students who in addition to taking courses in the new department, are members of some college musical organization. The basis for securing such credit will be one college credit for each two hours of rehearsal. On the other hand, a student, while belonging to more than one musical organization, may not earn more than two credits a year in this manner. No credit will be given for such musical effort unless taken as a part of a regular course in music.

The various musical organizations play a most important part in the life of any college or university. At Allegheny they are no exception. Various concerts are given throughout the year which are extremely popular with the student body. These organizations furnish an excellent advertisement for the college throughout the tri-state district and are greatly in demand whenever trips to various points are planned. It has been the aim of the music administrators at Allegheny to give preference to only the best of musical entertainment here and it is due largely to this fact that the reputation of the various Allegheny musical clubs have risen rapidly during the past few years. Only glowing reports of admiration and pleasure have followed the groups in their journeys throughout the tri-state district. Competition for the various clubs, while not as keen as that of last year, yet gave favorable evidence of the interest of college men and women in this extra-curricular activity.

PAUL YOUNGER, 31

The men's glee club has established an enviable record during the past few years owing to the splendid work on the hill, in various schools throughout the tri-state district and by radio broadcasts. Although the women's glee club is not permitted to undergo such long trips as those taken by the men's glee club, it serves the college faithfully by their concerts on the hill and in nearby high schools. Their work in the May Day festivals for the past two years have been an inspiration to all who attended the pageant. The band served the college at the various football games and should rise to greater heights with the development of music here at Allegheny. Each organization has at all times been willing to aid in any worthy cause and have proven themselves worthy of the trust placed upon them.

With the rejuvenation of music at Allegheny, it is quite natural to view the future with rosy expectations. Through the new department of music, students will be given a greater incentive to compete for various positions on musical organizations. Success in music, as in any other line of music endeavor, can come about only through the whole-hearted support of the administration, the alumni and the entire Allegheny student body. The success of the musical clubs during the past few years have largely been the result of such backing. Next year should witness a greater amount of enthusiasm among the students of the college and thus lead Allegheny to greater honors in the music world.

Springer, DeGrange
Mansell, Knapp

Glee Club Quartet

The Glee Club Quartet composed of James Springer, Thomas Mansell, Alvin DeGrange, and Don Knapp had quite a successful season this year. In addition to singing at chapel and with the Glee Club they gave various other programs this year. This is one of the best methods of advertising the college and they have done much to make the college known among the surrounding high schools. Springer and Knapp are juniors and DeGrange and Mansell are sophomores so that with none of them graduating they will have quite a successful season next year.

Gardner
Green, Greenawalt

Women's Trio

In addition to the Women's Club the trio has sung at several of the Meadville churches as well as the high school and at various service club dinners. The trio is composed of Frances Greenawalt, '30, of Meadville, second soprano, Florence Green, '32, also of Meadville, alto, and Lois Gardner, '32, of Ludlow, Pa., first soprano. Miss Rowena Baker is their accompanist. They are planning to have a part in the May Day program.

Although the College Band has not been very active this year, it is hoped that under the new musical organization which will be inaugurated next year it will be an important factor on the Campus. Its principal activity was playing at all of the home football games. Several times during the year it entertained the student body with a chapel program. The Band ended its season by giving a program in chapel on May 16.

Drama at Allegheny

The Alice Huntington Spalding Theater, which is undoubtedly the foremost cultural achievement in Allegheny, is not only a striking novelty offered by generous donors, but more, a culmination of a spirit which has existed for years and which has evolved by means of the relentless determination and the earnest labors of our imaginative and colorful head of the Department of Speech, along with her many students and co-laborers in the field of dramatics. The Play Production Department has been greatly assisted by Francis Asbury Arter, President Beebe, Louis Magaziner, and the trustees for whose contributions all Allegheny is most grateful.

Since the organization of Duzer Du in 1909 and its sister organization, Klee-O-Kleet, dramatics have passed from the stage of the Academy Theater, where the first play was produced, from the crowded, unequipped, third floor plant of Bentley Hall to the little gem of a theater in Arter Hall. Throughout the whole world during the last century, dramatics has passed from a crude work carried on by playwrights, stagehands, and actors to a real art made possible by the entrance of the mechanical, electrical, literary and artistic forces, all of which, incorporated, aim to create a beautiful, living picture. Allegheny, too, has endeavored to make its drama a finer art, and due to the new equipment and the contributions of the following, it has succeeded far beyond the expectations of all.

SENIORS WHO PARTICIPATED IN PLAYS

"The Valiant"

After the cornerstone laying of Arter and Cafisch Halls the play production department gave a presentation of the famous one act tragedy, "The Valiant." Even though the little theater was by no means completed and the production work and rehearsals were carried on midst painters, carpenters, and what not, the play was so presented that the alumni were delighted and surprised at the excellent production.

CATHERINE GALLAGHER	The Girl

"The Valiant" was chosen as the best one act play by several critics and it was justly portrayed by the dramatic band on Homecoming Day, October the fifteenth. This first production of the 1929-1930 season was indicative of the spectacular success that followed.

"Dear Brutus"

The Alice Huntington Spalding Theater held its formal opening on Thursday, December the twelfth with the presentation of Sir James Matthew Barrie's "Dear Brutus." The complete furnishings of the auditorium had not been achieved but the new modernistic lighting fixtures, the painting of the lobby and auditorium which harmonized so beautifully with the lovely, rich proscenium arch curtain made a fitting environment for the opening production group. The scene of the second act of the magical wood was truly a remarkable work. The presentation of this play was admirable, and it will be repeated at the time of Commencement that others might realize the fine work that is being carried on in Allegheny dramatics.

"Much Ado About Nothing"

On Monday and Tuesday evenings, April seventh and eighth, "Much Ado About Nothing" was produced by the Allegheny Play Shop at the Alice Huntington Spalding Theater. This Shakespearian comedy was given with a most appropriate musical setting, by using lyrics written by contemporaries or near-contemporaries to Shakespeare. As difficult as it is to produce a Shakespearian drama, the dramatics group of Allegheny College presented this hilariously funny comedy in a professional manner. With the rich costumes selected by Geraldine Clancy and Louise Benn and the excellent scenery constructed under the direction of George Barco for the eleven different scenes, the play in toto was an achievement of which Allegheny may justly be proud. May progress that has been achieved in the Alice Huntington Spalding theater continue to inestimable heights.

Founders' Day

Signally successful for the third successive year of its observance, Founders' Day was celebrated this year on April twenty-fourth. Mr. Frank LaBounty, who instituted the plan in 1928, was again largely responsible for the delightful and interesting entertainment enjoyed by most of Allegheny's faculty and students and by a number of the alumni.

At half-past six the guests sat down in Montgomery Gymnasium to a delicious pioneer dinner amidst the glow of rows and rows of fluttering candles which lined the pine-board tables. Laughter, care-free conversation, soft music from the balcony, merry misses with sparkling eyes, happy young men—the vivacious banquet went blithely on until the entrance of several representatives of a bye-gone day announced the playlet, "The French Creek Valley."

A flare of light from the stage at one end of the banquet hall caused the diners to re-adjust their chairs as twenty young men and young women proceeded to draw back the veil of time which separates our day from early Allegheny.

Under the spell of having been carried back two centuries the craning audience was first allowed to see George II of England and his prime minister plan a war. When again they had been carried back to America, they were allowed to watch Gov. Dinwiddie hand George Washington papers the delivery of which to Fort LeBoeuf were to require our nation-maker's dangerous journey up the French Creek Valley. Glimpses three and four showed Washington and his associates amid the French and Indian War and during the trying days of the Revolution. In the final scene Timothy Alden and General Lafayette were on the steps of old Bentley discussing a new kind of war which Allegheny College had launched against ignorance and inexperience. Throughout the scenes the actors occasionally hurled themselves for a moment to the present with some reference to contemporary conditions which lent a spritful humor to the whole presentation. The curtains of time again obscured the past as a troupe of the players went through the light, slow steps of the minuet.

Exceedingly modern was the dancing which began at nine o'clock in that same hall. To the rhythm of the latest fox-trots and waltzes the Alleghenians of 1930, now mindful only of the present, danced light-heartedly round and round the well-waxed floor until one hour past midnight.

Marred only by the absence of Mr. George E. Akerson, ex-'12, Pres. Hoover's private secretary, who was to have spoken in a chapel exercise, but who was detained by unforeseen business matters, this third Founders' Day was so thoroughly enjoyed that Alleghenians are led to look forward to similar occasions in the future.

GRADUATE MANAGER STEWART S. TOWNSEND

The Athletic Board of Control, directing all athletics at Allegheny, is an organization which has for its aim the advancement and maintenance of a high standard of athletics, and in so doing this presents to the students and townpeople the most suitable program possible. The board is represented by the graduate manager, and is composed of three faculty members, two representatives of the student body, four of whom reside in Meadville and the other two living outside of Meadville. It is an indispensable instrument in the organization of the college, for through it comes the splendid athletic policy found in the activity of the school.

CHARLES E. HAMMETT
Director of Athletics

For many years Coach Hammett has served ably as Director of Athletics at Allegheny College. To estimate his worth would indeed be a difficult task. Besides supervising athletics, he is also head coach of cross country and track, and an indispensable instrument in football and basketball. In football he is considered as an excellent line coach, and his scouting ability ranks him with the best. Everyone knows "Smiling Charley" as a man whose untiring efforts have been largely responsible for the success of athletic teams at Allegheny. May we wish him many years of continued success in his present position at Allegheny.

S. S. TOWNSEND
Graduate Manager

Few individuals seem to realize the difficult position that "Towney" fills at Allegheny. He is the underlying foundation of Allegheny's athletics, and in many respects is not given the due appreciation he deserves. Upon his shoulders rests the responsibility of obtaining players for the different athletic teams, which is indeed a difficult task. Although the athletic teams at Allegheny have not been exceptional during the past years, "Towney" certainly deserves a lot of credit for the men that he has chosen. He has carried out the duties of managing the inter-collegiate athletic relations very successfully. After we have seen the attitude that he takes towards advancing athletics at Allegheny, and have studied the situation carefully, we cannot fail to appreciate "Towney's" work, and to commend him highly.

H. WATSON CRUM
Coach of Football

This year was Crum's debut at Allegheny, and in the short time that he served as football mentor we all grew to admire him and to respect him as a great coach. From the outset he proved his sterling worth, and although the season ended with two victories, four defeats, and two ties, this by no means reflects on his coaching ability. Coach had a very difficult task. The fact that he knew hardly anyone, had new material to deal with, and was at a new school, were all handicaps to him; but these were speedily overcome, largely through his coaching ability, his cooperation with the team and student body, and his untiring effort to maintain a winning football team. Coach Crum will be back with us next year, and we know that we may look forward to a bigger and better year in every respect.

C. D. BAKER
Basketball Coach

Five lettermen anxiously awaited Coach Baker's return this year. These men, immature last season, have been molded by Dick into real basketball players. This has been brought about only through the able leadership and keen coaching ability of Baker. Coach is undoubtedly an outstanding mentor, and largely through his untiring and unselfish efforts a real team has been built up this year. Dick brought the boys up through the season with very few defeats, and it can be readily seen that his heart is still with the school of his former days. We cannot praise Dick too highly for his work, which has won for him the praise and admiration of the entire student body.

JUDDY JOHNSTONE
Head Cheerleader

"Juddy," filling the capacity of head cheerleader at Allegheny, won the esteem and favor of Alleghenians this year. Having had no opportunity to lead cheers before coming to Allegheny, "Juddy" certainly showed us that he had the inherent ability and only needed a chance to prove his worth.

KELLY, GRUNNAGLE, CARLSON

Largely through their own initiative, and under the careful guidance of head cheerleader Johnstone, these three men have developed from raw material into real cheerleaders, and are ready to make their debut into varsity ranks next year.

As a fitting tribute to a fellow player passed on, taps was sounded at the Allegheny-Geneva game for Ronnie McKay, loyal Alleghenian, 1929 football captain elect, who died June 17, 1929. Ronnie was in his senior year at Allegheny, and besides being football captain elect, was a member of the Athletic Board of Control, and a member of the Student Senate. Ronnie was beloved by all who knew him, and his memory shall always be close to the hearts of his fellow students.

Robert Garback, Captain-Elect, 1930

In February, Robert Garback was elected Captain of the 1930 football team. The election was entirely justified by the excellent showing Bob made on the squad this year. A letterman since his freshman year Bob has seen plenty of action. Unable to participate in all the games this season due to a badly sprained ankle we saw only flashes of his ability but next year it is hoped that he will be in old time condition. His election as Captain in his junior year shows with what great esteem he is held by his fellow players. Always a flashy back and dependable gainer, one who emphasizes sportsmanship above everything, Bob will prove a worthy leader for the 1930 team.

1929 Managerial Staff

The staff this year was composed of four exceedingly capable men, namely, Jones and Spencer, representing the senior managers, and their understudies, Whitsett and Johnstone. These men have carried out their work very efficiently this year, and the two Junior members are men who are capable of filling their positions next year.

Members of the sophomore class compete annually for the manager-ships. Out of the six or seven competitors, two are elected by the point system after the football season is over with. It is found that the system of having two managers is much more efficient, and enables the work to be accomplished in a much better fashion.

CHARLES BAIR

Charley Bair

Captained again this year by Charley Bair, the midget forward of so great repute, our team made a commendable showing in every respect. One cannot think of a game at Allegheny without remembering a fast, shifty, tiny forward, darting from one spot to another, taking now a long shot, now a short one, keen accuracy characterizing his every move. With the completion of his last year at Allegheny, Charley has a record of three years captaincy, having guided the team to many victories, snatching them even from the brink of defeat. For four years his brilliant shooting and flashy dribbling have brought the crowds to their feet; and when next year's squad reports for action, Charley's absence will be keenly felt. But the fans expect to see a squad just as fiery, carrying on in the spirit left them by Charley, the midget wonder, who made up for his size in skill and spirit.

WALTER BERGER

Walter Berger

The team again passes on into the hands of a stellar player, Walt, our flashy, stalwart guard, has been destined to lead the squad next year, his third and we feel we can well expect a lot from him. In spite of the handicap his bad knee gave him, his playing this year placed him in the esteem of his fellow players. Fast and powerful, he played his position exceedingly well and formed part of a defense that was hard to penetrate. The old stand-bys of Allegheny's team all join in the hope that Berger will continue in as fine a style as Bair, the guidance of the 1931 quintet, and that, with his ability and determination, he will produce a winning team.

1929-1930 Basketball Season

The 1929-1930 season was one of which the Bakermen might well be proud. The team, composed of Captain Bair, Berger, Garbark, Dennison, and Conn, completed the season with a record of eleven games won and four lost. Every man on the squad acquitted himself creditably and the team may well look forwards to a successful season next year. 'Granny' Bair is the only man on the team to graduate and his services will surely be missed next season. The 'midget' provided quite a bit of the fight and ginger which was always present with the team. At the last game of the season Granny's teammates, together with students and townspeople, chipped in and presented him with a Gladstone bag. This is the first time that such a testimonial has ever been accorded a graduating player and serves to show the esteem that the fans had for the little fellow.

During the season the team bested such opponents as Adrian, Alfred, W. & J., Waynesburg, Thiel, Grove City, and Geneva. As can be seen Allegheny won over some of the best teams in the tri-state district.

Lane and Mills will be competing for the post left vacant by Bair and no matter who wins out Allegheny is assured of veteran floorman. Mills was laid up almost all of this season with a bad knee and consequently did not see much action. Ross Brown, a freshman, got into the game quite a few times during the present season as center and proved himself a dependable player. Berger and Garback, two of the best guards in the Tri-State district will enter their third year of playing next year and consequently Allegheny will experience no trouble from that department.

1930 Varsity Track Prospectus

The Allegheny track team of 1930 got off to a successful start by defeating Washington and Jefferson, Saturday, May 3rd, by a score of 70 to 65. Although the meet wasn't decided until the points of the last events were counted, and although W-J took nine of the first places to six for the Hammet-men the victory was well deserved for Alligators took places in every event, while the Presidents failed to place men in either the mile or two mile runs. The Blue and Gold showed much power on the track but was weak in the field. Captain Worrall ran the two miles in the remarkable time of 10:19.2, failing to set a record by seconds. Notwithstanding the fact that one victory has already been hung up the prospects of a successful season are slim. According to Coach Hammett we are due to take drubbings in the three remaining meets unless a couple of "miracle men" are discovered to compete in the field events. Saturday, May 15th, Allegheny invades New Wilmington to engage the powerful Titans, while the following week the Geneva Brownies are going to romp on Montgomery Field. The Season will be brought to a close May 24th when Allegheny will attempt to overpower the strong Grove City squad.

At this writing it looks as if Paul Dreibelbis, Bill Boetcker, Willard Conn, Harrington Smith, Capt. Worrall, Tommy Gill, Glen Greer, and Haddon Rocky will garner many points on the cinders for the Alligators, while Knapp, Showers, March, Boetcker, Bair, Pooley, Prindle and Lowry will attempt to keep Allegheny in the running by placing in the field events. Nevertheless, whatever is the outcome of the remaining meets, it is certain that Old Allegheny will be represented by a well-coached, and faithfully trained team.

1929 Track Resume

Suffice it to say that the 1929 track season was almost disastrous. The Allegheny squad engaging in only three meets met serious defeat in all of them. On the track and field Allegheny was well represented, but our men were not stellar enough to compete with the strong teams of Westminster, Grove City and Geneva. All three of the meets were decisively won by the opponents. Allegheny only making a few points here and there. Dreibelbis, filling the captaincy position, proved an excellent track captain, and largely through his earnest efforts, the team obtained as high a position as it did. Coach Hammett had quite a problem filling the gaps left by the graduated track meteors, having a great deal of raw material to deal with. This in all likelihood was one of the reasons for such a disastrous season. A few of the old standbys, namely, Gill, Eighmy, Lunn and Moon, endeavored to uphold the laurels of old Allegheny and succeeded in obtaining a few points here and there, to save the Blue and Gold from absolutely being wiped out.

Our men in the track events seemed to have a little edge on the field men, who were quite inconsistent throughout the season. Neither however performed up to the standard that was expected of them. However, when we consider the strong opposition that Allegheny had to contend with throughout the season, it is no more than likely that a very prosperous season should be looked forward to.

Coach Hammett should be commended however on the showing that the team did make. Dealing with such material as he had to deal with is no easy job, and the result of the season cannot be ascribed to him.

It can only be hoped however that the new material which will come under his leadership will prove to place the Allegheny track team on a higher plane, and to continue the maintenance of such a team as Allegheny deserves.

1929 Tennis Season Resume

OFFICERS

Lloyd GordonCaptain and Manager

Tennis at Allegheny has only lately caused any enthusiasm. The team that was organized last spring was the first since the previous year, and was greatly handicaped by financial conditions, which of course resulted in a self-supporting team.

Again the handicaps of weather conditions and poor playing courts endangered a successful season. The result of the season was not however entirely disastrous. Out of five matches played, 2 were won and 1 was tied, and two were lost. At the hands of the Pittsburgh players Allegheny suffered defeat, but came back against Thiel to take both matches. Westminster succeeded in winning one match from the Blue and Gold racket wielders, who came back to tie the return match.

All the men played well, and although the team was forced to play on fraternity courts, which did not facilitate the attendance of a great many spectators, the matches that were played were exceedingly interesting and exciting in every respect.

The scores of matches played are as follows:

May 6.....Allegheny 4....Thiel	2	at Meadville

Varsity Tennis Prospectus---1930

With the prospects of two of Allegheny's new tennis courts being in readiness for the first home meet the Tennis Team is looking forward to the 1930 season with much interest and propitious hopes. The outlook for this spring is unusually bright for none of last year's team is missing because of graduation, although Mills, a regular of 1929, is laid up because of a leg operation. In addition to this Bill Heydrick, a mainstay of the 1928 squad, has returned to school and is holding down a position on the team, in addition to Bugbee, Gordon, Johnstone, Anderson, and Booth, who are hold-overs from last year. "Juddy" Johnstone has been elected captain, and already has lead the team to one victory over Bethany, not mentioning a close defeat at the hands of the Westminster racket whielders. The Bisons proved to be tough to down but finally succumbed to the superior stroking of the Alligators five matches to four. The match with the Titans which was the second of a two day trip was decided by a score of 4-2. The schedule of matches is at yet undecided due to the lack of sufficient funds, however at least five or six matches will be played with various schools in this district. There is a slight chance that this team may derive a little of the money which will be on hand because of the raising of tuition fees.

1929 Cross Country Season

C. E. Hammett	Coach
Paul Dreibelbis, '30	Captain
Fred Holmes, '30	Manager
James Hamilton, '31	Assistant Manager

Although the Allegheny harriers failed to win their third Tri-State crown, they completed a successful season by losing but one of their three meets, notwithstanding the fact that the 1929 edition of Coach Hammett's Cross Country Team had but two letter men, Dreibelbis and Minnis. However, Worrell, Eastman, Rockey, and Ish, holdovers from the 1928 squad, and McAdam, a freshman, developed into dependable runners, and turned in some very creditable performances.

In the first meet of the year Westminster invaded Allegheny, but the Titans were repulsed by a score of 25-30. Because the meet was held Homecoming Day the finish was watched with interest. Dreibelbis lead the pack, but was followed by Smalley of Westminster. Minnis was the next runner to finish, but he too was followed by a visiting harrier, Stalker. At this point the outcome was very doubtful, however the next man to enter Montgomery Field was Ish who was closely followed by two more wearers of the Blue and Gold, Eastman and McAdam.

October 19, the Hammettmens suffered their first defeat in three years at the hands of the powerful Pitt aggregation. Only two of Allegheny's men were among the first nine to finish. These were Dreibelbis, who finished first, and Ish, who finished sixth. The Blue and Gold were greatly weakened for this meet due to the absence of Worrell and Minnis, who was forced to give up competition because of extra scholastic work. Pitt by taking four of the first six places kept their total down to 21 points, while Allegheny was running up the not too respectable total of 34 points to be overwhelmingly defeated.

The third and final meet of the year found the Allegheny runners returning to their winning ways by decisively defeating Geneva by a score of 21-34, November 16. Paul Dreibelbis, Blue and Gold captain, finished his fourth and final year in cross country competition with a victory giving three straight victories for the season. Other men to finish for Allegheny were Worrell and Rockey who finished second and third respectively, and Ish and McAdam who came in seventh and eighth.

Showers, Rumsey, Bugbee, Ledger

Swimming

Swimming as an inter-collegiate sport at Allegheny has been gradually dying for the last four years until this year it finally expired. The cause of the demise was due more to the lack of funds than to a lack of interest. This year but one meet was scheduled, and unfortunately, it was impossible for it to be held, although a team had been selected and had trained diligently. It is hoped that a little of the extra money derived from the increase in the tuition will be expended on the swimming team in future years.

As in past years an Inter-fraternity Swimming Meet was held the first Wednesday in December and from the point winners in this meet the members of the team were selected. The meet was won by the Phi Gams who amassed a total of 22 points but were closely pressed by the Phi Deltas who managed to compile a total of 19 points. The two leaders were followed by the S. A. E.'s and Phi Psis who garnered 10 and 9 points respectively. Those placing in the meet and consequently being members of the mythical team were: Ken Showers, L. Bugbee, Brown, and Scholl, of the Phi Gams; Haberman, Sankey and Markle of the Phi Deltas; Klicka and Ledger of the Sigs; Rumsey and Duncan of the Deltas; and Storrie of the Phi Psis.

Inter-Class Basketball

Inter-class basketball again held the interest of court fans during the winter of 1929-30. A close league race being the result of strong entrants from each of the four classes. Games were played on Saturday and Tuesday afternoons with good crowds and much rivalry in evidence.

The Juniors, champions from last year, again won the crown with five victories and one defeat. The champions, although having lost two men, Alter and Haase, from their 1928-29 team, presented a well-rounded outfit with a flash attack and a steady defense. The team was composed of Smith and F. Johnstone, forwards; McCleary, center; and Fickinger and Knapp, guards, with Whitsett and Duncan in reserve. Smith and Knapp served as the fighting pilots of a fighting team.

Trailing the league leaders, tied for second place were the Sophomores and Freshmen with three victories and a like number of defeats. Both of these teams were hard hit by loss of men at mid-semesters, while the faltering seniors who pulled up in last place were unable to get started, flashing real form in but one game. The Sophomores starting the season with Anderson and Milliken at forwards, Moody at center and Wescott and Storries at guards, probably the most formidable team in the league, were forced to play the majority without the three last named players. The yearling team composed of Ramsay, Redmond, Roos, March, Ungerman, Horne, Koehler, and Showers had a wealth of material but no organization, and on but three occasions flashed their expected brilliancy. Gornall, G. Johnstone, Gillies, Rutherford, Harrer, and Lewis made up the senior roster.

Inter-Class Track Meet

Pulling a complete surprise, Allegheny's freshmen walked away with the 1930 mid-winter track meet, with the comfortable margin of 13 1-3 points over their nearest competitor, the seniors. The Plebes scored 39 1-3 points, the fourth year men, 26 points, the juniors 21, and the sophs 3 2-3. Bill Boetcker, freshman, proved to be the satellite of the meet. Entered in five events, he garnered 17 1-3 points. Other high scorers were Dreibilbis, and Smith with 8 and 9 points respectively.

Considering the fact that the meet was run indoors, and so early in the season good marks were hung up. Gill took the mile run with the time of 4:45.6, while Dreibilbis managed to outlast him in the two mile run which he covered in 10:30. In the 220 yard dash, which was run in pursuit form, Boetcker eked out a win over Smith in the good time of 25 flat. The last track event of the day, the 440, proved to be the fastest of the meet. Smith defeated Needham and barely missed a record by a scant second, his time being 54:00.6.

As for the field events, the results did not prove so encouraging, although they proved to be better than those made last year. Beible won the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 5 inches, beating Lowry, Conn, and Boetcker who tied for second at 5'3". In the pole vault, the freshmen took a clean sweep. Poole and Pringle were tied at 10'3", with Simmons, third. Heaving a 12 pound shot 39'4 1/2", Showers took first place with March and Gibson placing second and third respectively.

Although medals were given to men winning places in the events, very little interest was shown in the meet. However, the meet served its purpose in demonstrating that Allegheny would be well represented in track events this Spring, but somewhat weak in field competition.

Inter-Fraternity Bowling

Sweeping through three straight games without tasting defeat the Sigma Alpha Epsilon bowlers captured the interfraternity bowling championship by downing the representatives of Phi Kappa Psi in the five game play-off. The Sigs led League A with little difficulty losing but two games throughout the season, and in the championship match rolled their three best games of the year, winning with little difficulty 681 to 633, 629 to 577, and 717 to 504. The Phi Psis experienced more difficulty in taking League B, being hard pressed by the Phi Delts, 1929 champions.

The usual good interest was evidenced in all the matches this year, and every match was closely contested, and, although the new crowned champions ran away with their league, all scheduled matches were rolled. This was due to the fact that comparatively strong teams were entered by the eight fraternities as well as the faculty and non-fraternity groups. As a reward for their fine efforts, the Sigs were presented a beautiful silver cup.

Inter-Fraternity Volley Ball

Phi Delta Theta regained possession of the silver cup which is symbolic of the inter-fraternity volley ball championship by winning their league without feeling the sting of defeat and then easily defeating the team representing Phi Gamma Delta in the championship game by scores of 21-14 and 21-12.

In the first game of the season the 1929 title holders, Sigma Alpha Epsilon went down to defeat before their arch rivals in volley ball, the Phi Delts, in a match that took three games to decide. All three games were hotly contested being decided by scores of 21-15, 15-21, and 21-16. After this match the Phi Delts experienced very little opposition, and went on to win their league in easy fashion.

In the other league the Phi Gams proved to be too tough for the other clubs in their league. The Delts who were runners-up failed to provide any opposition whatsoever and the Phi Gams took that match in two straight games by scores of 21-7, and 21-10. However, in the championship match the Phi Gams had an off-night and were unable to cause the strong Phi Delt team much trouble.

As usual volley ball proved a very popular winter sport. Every scheduled match was played this season, and much interest was shown by each of the nine teams.

Inter-Fraternity All-round Indoor Meet

Repeating honors of last year, Beta Upsilon took first place in the Inter-fraternity All-round Meet held in the middle of January, by virtue of taking first place in four out of five events and tying for first in the fifth. The B. U.'s topped their nearest competitors by $7\frac{1}{4}$ points. The leaders garnered 43 points, and were followed by the Sigma Alpha Epsilon team with 35 $\frac{1}{4}$ points; Phi Gamma Delta, 18 points; Alpha Chi Rho, 11 $\frac{1}{4}$, and Phi Kappa Psi, 10 points.

One record was broken and one tied. Hoke of the B. U.'s, broke the fence vault record by winning it with a leap of 6'6", topping the former record by 1". An outstanding event of the day was the 85 yard dash, wherein no less than 4 men performed the extraordinary feat of tying the college record in this run at 9 9-10 seconds. Greer, Phi Delt, Boetcker, B. U., Ledger and Gamble, both S. A. E., were the men who participated in this unique feat.

Marks, B. U., beat Dreibilbis of the same fraternity, to win the mile run in 4:54. Minnis, S. A. E., took third, while Ish, Non-Frat, pulled up in fourth place. March, B. U., placed first in the shot put with a 40 foot, 4 inch heave. In the final event of the day another B. U., Beible, captured first place in the high jump at 5 feet 5 inches.

As in former years, points were given for the group qualifying the most men. The Sigs again gained 15 points by qualifying 27 men. B. U. was given 12 points for qualifying 14. The Chi Rhos and Phi Gams each 10, and the Phi Psis 8.

Inter-Fraternity Track---Outdoor

A repetition of the results of the Interfraternity indoor meet was staged at the outdoor inter-fraternity meet, which was run off April 26, 1930. Per usual Beta Upsilon finished first with a total of 63 points while Sigma Alpha Epsilon pulled up second, with 21 $\frac{1}{2}$ points, and Phi Gamma Delta, Non-Fraternity, and Beta Kappa trailing far behind. The representatives of Beta Upsilon took no less than eight first places as well as numerous seconds and thirds. There never was any doubt as to the outcome of the meet for the supremacy of the B. U.'s with Dreibilbis, Smith, Beible, Needham, Rocky, and Boetcker was never doubted. The Sigs might have contested the strength of the B. U.'s more closely if their full strength had been entered for with but three men, Conn, Blair, and Rans Showers entered, they procured three firsts, a second and a tie for third. Conn by winning both hurdle events and tying for third in the high jump became high point man for the meet. Following the two leaders were the Phi Gams and Non-Frats who managed to garner 14 points each.

As a whole the marks made in the meet were very poor although the distance men hung up some respectable times. The first events showed up very weak although there seemed to be better material for the broad jump and pole vault than there has been in recent years. Boetcker and Bair did well for their first meet in the former event while Poole showed to advantage in the latter.

Inter-Fraternity Baseball

1929 Resume

Finishing the game and season in whirlwind fashion the Sigma Alpha Epsilon baseball team put up a fitting climax on a very successful inter-fraternity baseball season by scoring 12 runs in the last three innings of the championship game to win it from the team representing Alpha Chi Rho by a score of 18 to 7. As in former years two leagues were formed. The championship of League A, consisting of Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Gamma Delta, Beta Upsilon, Phi Delta Theta, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, was captured by the latter team, while the crown of League B of which Delta Tau Delta, Beta Kappa, Non-Fraternity, and Alpha Chi Rho were members was won by the Chi Rho's. As indicated above the Sigs, after completing their schedule without a semblance of a defeat, had little difficulty in annexing their second consecutive baseball cup. The strong offense presented through such clubbers as Smith, Alter, Bair, Berger, Moon, and Forbes was augmented by the strong hurling corps of Moon, Berger, and Bair, to make an unbeatable team. The Chi Rho's were always dangerous with such stars as Hughes, Gillies, Bowen, and Garbark, while the Phi Psis, Phi Gams, Phi Delt, and Delt presented strong fronts and caused trouble in their respective leagues.

1930 Prospectus

Two leagues of interfraternity baseball teams have again been organized this spring with the hope that a full and interesting schedule of games may be played. Each of the eight fraternities and the non-fraternity group participated in the league drawings in which Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Alpha Chi Rho, 1929 champions and runners up respectively, were carded. Unfortunately the drawings resulted in one strong league consisting of five teams, namely: Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa Psi, Delta Tau Delta, and Non-Frats, and one weak league consisting of four teams: Alpha Chi Rho, Phi Delta Theta, Beta Upsilon, and Beta Kappa. Nevertheless many interesting and hard fought battles are expected.

Although each group is expected to be represented by strong clubs, the Chi Rhos and the Sigs are expected to repeat their successes of last year, win their respective leagues, and engage in a bitterly contested game for the championship cup. However, it would not be a surprise if the dope were upset, for in League A the Phi Psi's, and Phi Gams will furnish the Sigs bitter opposition while the Non-Frats and Delt with much new material may be looked upon as dark horses. In the other league the Phi Delt should cause the most trouble for the Chi Rhos who are looked upon as sure shots to take the league again.

In addition to the hard ball league an innovation is being introduced this year in the form of an interfraternity mushball competition. It was due to many requests that Athletic Director Hammett added this to the list of inter-mural activities, and it is expected to be very popular.

The Women's Athletic Board controls all the athletic activities of the women of the college. In order that all the girls may participate in a sport of one kind or another the Board maintains a system of competition based on honor points. Participation in any kind of a sport gives a certain amount of points. The board also has complete charge of all the inter-collegiate matches which is now limited to basketball competition with other schools. It is composed of upperclass girls who are interested in the various sports.

Women's Basketball

Perhaps the greatest single sport to suffer as a result of the lack of enthusiasm and ability in athletics was women's basketball. When the nine Allegheny girls went to Edinboro State Teachers College to play the first game of their season, they went as a squad with little organization and few practices to their credit. But the ability that they did have aided materially in holding Edinboro to a narrow margin. The other games Allegheny had scheduled had to be cancelled because of the intermural regulation of the Athletic Association of which Allegheny is a member. The home game with Edinboro was one that held the attention of the spectators as well as any athletic contest this year. The home women brightened up in the last half, but were beaten by a lucky Edinboro basket. The nine who will get letters are: Forwards: Alice Luther, Dorothy Fritz, and Carol Moore; centers: Ruth Farquhar and Vera Dawson; guards: Sara Dixon, Wilma Kuhnert, Margaret Herr, and Rosella Norton, who spent several months on crutches as a result of a severely sprained ankle—the most material result of the Edinboro game at home. Practically the same group will compose the team next year, and the resolution to practice seriously and regularly has already been carried.

The Classical Club, the first of the departmental clubs of Allegheny, was established in 1897. The club is an organization primarily for students who are particularly interested in classical subjects. The programs are stimulating and of such variety as to insure interest. The purpose of the club in promoting a closer acquaintance among its members, and a greater devotion to sound scholarship has been abundantly realized.

The Classical Club meets twice a month; meetings are devoted especially to papers and discussions on assigned topics in classical study.

The Quill Club was organized in 1899 to stimulate the literary interests of the students. Meetings are held twice a month at which programs on literature, journalism, oratory, and drama are given. The club maintains the Quill Club Book Club, which any student may join. Membership in this club permits the students to read many recent fiction books, which the club purchases with the two dollar admission fee. At the end of each year these books are given to the library.

Le Petit Salon is composed of students who are especially interested in French. Those students who contribute most and who will receive the most benefit from the club have been selected. The aim of the club is to give practice in French conversation, and at the meetings which are held twice a month at the French Club room in the Library, conversation is entirely in French. The programs at the meetings are varied and interesting. The club gives several French plays every year.

This organization, one of the oldest on the campus, strives to keep interest in forensics at a high pitch during the college year. All students who are interested in any branch of oratorical expressions are eligible to join the forum, which intends to provide a means for any student to practice public speaking. This forum conducts the Philo-Franklin Oratorical Contest each spring and occupies a high place in the mind of the student body. It is under the guidance of the Department of English Language.

The organization, formerly known as the Oxford Club, was established for the purpose of keeping alive interest in lines of Christian endeavor throughout the campus. During the past year the constitution has been amended so that women are now eligible for membership. Only students who are interested in careers of Christian service are included in its roll. The club believes that the development of Christian character should always be a paramount aim of the college. For many years it has been one of the most forceful religious groups on the campus.

Only those men who have won varsity letters in one or more of Allegheny's three major sports are eligible for membership in the Block A Club. The insignia of the organization is a small gold A worn on the lapel of the coat, and their aim is to cooperate with the Athletic Association in all of its programs. Also, the club strives to uphold a spirit of good fellowship among Allegheny's athletes.

This club, new on the campus last year, has already established itself as a permanent organization. Its purpose is, of course, to foster the German language in the college and to provide an opportunity for fuller expression and discourse among the more talented students. The success, which it has enjoyed during its first two years is indicative of a prosperous future.

Membership in the senate, as it should be, is limited to upper classmen. Each fraternity nominates three sophomores from its members, one of which is elected in the spring. The entire student body has a vote in the election so whatever evils may arise from student government are the results of negligence and insufficient interest. The prerogatives of the senate are such that its power and influence embodies many possibilities for the common good of all.

Every type of society requires some controlling body. The purpose of the Women's Senate is to create and enforce the laws governing the residents of Huling Hall. Its functions, however, do not consist entirely of the promulgation of laws, for its jurisdiction extends to all business matters and problems that may come before the women of the college. Its constituency includes three seniors, three juniors, and two sophomores, the president being selected each year from the senior members.

The primary purpose of the Pan-Hellenic Board is to insure co-operation among the sorority women. To this end the group formulates and enforces rushing rules, which must be obeyed implicitly by the various sororities. It endeavors as far as possible to keep rushing from the public gaze. During the rushing season the Board convenes four times a week.

VIRGINIA SIGENDALL	Alpha Chi Omega
LEAH SMITH	Alpha Xi Delta
HELEN BAIRD	Theta Upsilon
NELLIE RUSSELL	Tallegewe

The Women's Student Council was organized by the women of the college last year. This group handles the social problems which come up from time to time. Meetings are held once a month, at which time questions regarding parties, dances, and socials are discussed, and appropriate legislations are enacted. Succeeding years will undoubtedly find this organization taking its rightful place on the campus, for its field is one where powers, wisely applied, can be made to have a beneficial influence.

The primary aim of the Young Men's Christian Association is the development of the lives of its members in the fullest manner possible. Thus it lays stress on the religious side of our lives not neglecting the educational, the social and the physical. The "Y" at Allegheny strives to live up to these aims in all possible ways. During the year it presents a varied program. It sponsors the get-acquainted social at the first of the year and also brings noted speakers to the college at various times.

Perhaps the most active of the women's organizations is the Y. W. C. A. This group constitutes the only medium for the expression of religious activities. In conjunction with the Y. M. C. A. the Y. W. sponsors the reception held for the students at the beginning of each year. Through its vesper services all who wish are given an opportunity to worship, and through its program of leadership training, student forums, and parties it keeps in touch with the educational and social sides of the college.

*A*ND finally---the Seniors---the result of four years at Allegheny. Is it not fitting that they who have entered into every department of the school should come as a climax? Have they not captained the teams, edited the publications, debated, taken part in dramatics, entered into the various organizations---become an integral part of the school? They are the favored few who have survived four years at Allegheny and it is only just that they should complete the cycle---Allegheny Life---Athletics---Organizations---and finally ---the Seniors

Today, as I laid aside my precious volume of 'The Rover Boys in the Alps' to wander among the oer-towering trees and list to the twittering of the birds as is my daily habitude I wondered as to the futil-ity of this willy-nilly ex-istance which we are undergoing.

When I cogitate that in the near future we care free creatures will find it necessary to reach matur-ity and assume some bla-tical responsibility in this dull and humdrum world my eosinophilic serum fairly vaporizes. Think of Casonova, Alexander Bell, Horatio Alger, Shakes-peare, Bernard McFadden—this long list of ionic celebrities inspires me, drives me on. Ah they did not affiliate with the Lions, The Rotarians, the Kiwanians, the Pi Delters, the O.D.K's.

Once I worked in a bologna factory and next to me one old grizzled bologna chopper inspired me to oilifactory premudi-tations of the nth degree. How well I remember his last words of advise "Son, chop your Bologna fine". Now I have been to col-lege and as I wander amoung the towering and

Several Fraternities Banned from Classes

Mr. Philip Soon, the lo-cal health officer, late last night was forced to quar-intine several prominent fraternity houses. It was found that a large per-centage of the members were suffering from hed-i-ous maladies. The houses which received the pad-lock were: Delta Sigma Rho, Phi Beta Kappa, Kappa Phi Kappa, and Pi Delta Epsilon.

At the last debate at the chapel several spectators in the fifth row complain-ed of feeling faint due to the dense halitosectic fumes which were wafted back at them. It was due to the complaints of these people that the Delta Sigma Rho boys were pla-carded. Down at the dear old Phi Beta Kappa manse the boys complain of great gobs of dandruff. It is thought that they acquired this insidious disease by scratching their craniums over their A.B.C's. Mem-bers of Kappa Phi Kappa were quarintined due to the fact that their expidi-tions up and down the hill from practice teaching gave them severe cases of B.O. The most malig-nant case of all was re-ported at the Pi Delt shack. It was found that the entire 67 members of the lodge were on their back from athletics foot. Mr. Soon confiscated all typewriters in the lodge and it is thought that this will soon clear the trouble up.

Student Revolvers Plan Succeeds

At the Wednesday Meeting of the Faculty the revision of the rules con-cerning the conduct oi women students, as spon-sored by the Dean of Wo-men, and approved by the committee on rules, was definitely adopted. The change will become effec-tive September next. This drastic revision is primar-ily the result of the pres-sure brought to bear by the students, who met a-gainst college orders, who petitioned the deaf ears of the existing ad-ministration, and who, fin-ally, walked out of class on strike until their cries were heard.

The features of the new code of conduct that are the most outstanding are briefly this. Whereas for-merly women students were not allowed in tea-rooms, they are now free to frequent such places, provided they are unes-corted by young men and accompanied by approved chaperons. The second drastic change is that be-ginning next fall the resi-dents of Hulings Hall will be allowed to chew gum in their rooms. The third outstanding revision is that compulsory church attendance of Sunday Evening Services has been switched to the optional list of approved functions which the young ladies may attend. It expected however that the attend-ance of church services will continue undiminished. Another new privelege granted to the women is

SPIRITS

We must go on. We must not falter. Last night at the mushball game we never witnessed such verve and flash before in our collieth career. But as I said we MUST go on. We are at the turning point, the apex, and to falter now is to fail. We MUST forget our petty differences, we MUST unite, we MUST support the team if we are to beat Calmut. Remember that you have a duty to yourself, your school, your fraternity, your family, your faculty, your classes, your recreation, your life—you MUST be loyal. Now rally round the flag, boys, and FIGHT. We know that the Oratorical Board is not at fault because our swimming team lost its match. And it seems to us in interests of fair play that it cannot be the Women's Senate or the Board of Publications. Therefore it must be Women's Athletic Board. They MUST go, ah, they M U S T go.

THE SCUDDLING
SLUSH

Well, well, well, well, old Carl XLII surely had to cudgel his brains to get this column out. Oh, oh. Anyhooo our motto is something comic and funny each and every week. Tasty, eh what.

And that remind us all the co-eds were busy looking at the Northern Light last night. Careful girlies. The boogie man might get you. Ha, ha.

It seems that conundrums are quite the rage now. So here goes: Why is our department of Romance Language religious? Because there is a Church at the head of it. Why does the head of the Bible department perspire? Because he is a Beiler. Do you get it? Who is the most affectionate member of the faculty? Why our Darling. Jiminy Crickets, thats too easy!

Shall we pun? A pun what subject? The King. Ah, he is no subject. Nuf sed.

that they may go buggy-riding, provided that they be back on the Campus by dark and that the horse is not equipped with blinders, and that the horses be inspected and approved by the proper college authorities.

This change in the administration's policy is more or less of an experiment. If the girl's prove that they are capable of enjoying such great freedom without abusing it, it is the plan of the faculty to continue the new program; otherwise it will be necessary to revert to the old standard of unrelenting vigilance.

WHO ZOO AMONG THE ALUMNI

Adolph P. Whiffleberry, A. B.

Our own Adolph was graduated from dear old Alleghie in '04 and ever since has been a credit to his dear old alma mater. Mammy! During his college days Adolph was very active in activities. In fact the only thing that he did not do was cook at Cochran Hall. Here is a partial list of his honors: Varsity football, track, swimming, tennis, baseball, mush ball, volleyball, chess and checker squad, etc., 1, 2, 3, 4. He also played hooky. Winner of the Philip T. Phorum Oratory Contest, 1, 2, 3, 4. College Band, Drummer, Leader, 1, 2, 3, 4. Voted handsomest man in freshman class, 4. Voted the best advertisement for Blisterine, 4. Kappa, Beta Phi, Alpha Ki Cigma, Kappa Fly Kappa, Omikron: Doddle Krapper, and so far into the night.

The big point in his success, he pointed out, was work. Just plain hard work, and nothing else. "Why I can remember," he told our reporter, "when I used to take all my professor out with me." "And if you don't think it was a job to hunt up enough gingerale, your crazy." "Since my college days I have followed this plan and look at me now." "Yes, just look at me." "I now have an estate of $5,000,000.00 and no sense." "Of this amount $1.39 was saved during my 54 years with this firm." "The remaining $4,999,999.61 I inherited from my dear old Uncle Ed, out in California." Mr. Adolph P. Whiffleberry is at present the President of the United States toothpick company. Good luck, Adolph!

CAMPUS SLIPPINGS

At the University of Leipzig the student body selects, hires, and fires the faculty at its own discrimination. This certainly ought to be the height of something, possibly Student Government.

Four of the Faculty of the State College of Maryland have been dismissed by the Trustees because of the complaints of the students that they were not learning anything in the Professors courses.

Due to the lazyness of Walla Walla College the administration has authorized the making and consumption of dandyion wine, provided that the students take the greens from the Campus lawns.

Students at the U. of P. complain that the new ruling concerning dances is tyrannical. Dances must be over by 8:00 a. m. in order that they may not conflict with classes.

Professors at Muddy Creek College are at their wits end over the decision of the Student Senate to require attendance of the Faculty at Chapel.

Miss Doris Harper, beauty queen of the U. of Wheeling, was sent home recently, because she endorsed a popular health machine.

Men students at the University of the North have refused to buy books at the College Book Store until control has been taken out of the hands of the nightwatchman. They refuse to stand for the hold-up any longer.

SOCIETY

Alpha Zee Gamma held their bi-annual spring debauch yesterday afternoon at Conneaut Lake. All the boys and girls gathered at their respective houses and were later transported to the lake in busses. After a hectic afternoon of wild flower picking, the happy boys and girls enjoyed several fascinating games such as Hidy-go-seek, Ring around the posey, Run sheeepy run, etc. Promptly at six a delicious picnic lunch was served. After the dinner came the climax of the party. The good steamboat 'Togo' steamed up and was boarded by the happy crowd. After the queen of the lake had circled the lake thrice it returned the people to the waiting busses and they returned home tired but happy. Lets hope there are more parties like this.

Last Saturday afternoon the Economics Majors held their weekly quilting. They have progressed far on a beautiful quilt which they plan to present to the winner of the Philo-Franklin Oratorical Contest.

A wonderful marshmellow puff roast was held by the Pan-Hellanic Board last Tuesday. It was held at the Stone Quarry and SUCH a good time was had by all the girlies. Oh what fun it is to attend College. I can hardly wait for the next roast.

VARSITY PEANUT PUSHERS TRIUMPH

Allegheny College's sterling squad of peanut pushers defeated the daunt team of the Pennsylvania College of Music Friday afternoon at the Saegertown Bowl. Although our boys were out-lengthened two inches to a nose they were not faint hearted as the gun exploded for the start. It was the annual twenty-five mile derby and both teams new that indurance alone would win. Abie Klotz, Captain of the Penna. team lead for the first twenty-three miles with three of our men close behind him. On the twenty-fourth lap he skinned his nose on a pebble and was forced to take time out for repairs. Taking advantage of this break our men forged to the front and we won 5-3.

Jake Ziff our reliable coach would make no lengthy statement to the press but would merely say, "I knew that our lads would come through. You can't beat their noses when it comes to running."

The next match will be with the Poke County Koo-Koos and it is thought that they ought to prove worthy opponents for our team.

SPORT ITEM

Allegheny's grid team defeated New York University's eleven last Saturday by the one-sided score of 87-0. The game was uneventual but was attended by a huge crowd of New Yorkers who wished to see the Blue and Gold warriors in action. It is hoped that in the future Allegheny will not schedule such set-ups as the game really did not prove to be a good work out for our team.

Students at the University of Alaska who take their exams on the honor system are limited to the number of textbooks which can be taken into the examination with them. This rule certainly makes us think less of that school.

Of thirteen men elected to Phi Beta Kappa at Kalamazoo Prep only fourteen admitted that they drank, while none of the Kappa Beta Phi neophytes at Pitt ever touched a drop.

THESE and THOSE

We want all the loyal supporters of Allegheny's teams to rally to the aid of the Tennis Team. Last week several of the boys held a tag day, but due to the fact that all the students cut classes the day was somewhat of a failure. However the drive was a partial success as one of the boys forgot what day it was and ventured out doors. Some of the members of the team have a plan hatched up whereby they will accost the students while they are taking final exams in the gym. We hope that no one would flunk out for a quarter.

Just a tip. Watch our new hundred yard dash man. Last night in practice he clipped the distance off in the record time of 12:3. This come near to equaling the college record of 12 flat. We know that the boy has it in him and we are yelling for him to break 12. Good luck kiddo.

It is rumored about the campus that the girl's basketball team is planning to extend its schedule next year. Instead of just playing Ed & Buro, here and there; they are planning to take a trip thru the east during the Christmas holidays and engage with the big league teams.

Allegheny's Interclass Contests will soon have another sport on its roles. It has been said that an interclass spelling contest. This should prove thrilling sport and no doubt will become increasingly popular as the years go by.

Liberalism is reaching out to engulf all the colleges in America. Dances are now held in fraternity houses in a certain middle western college.

Look Before You Leap or Know the Facts

The students of Allegheny have been in doubt too long. We have always maintained that the young men of this school ought to be furnished with the facts of the case. When one calls a fair young damsel we feel that it is his right to know what kind of a date he is getting. Is it a heavy date? What kind of sorority does she belong to? How many times have questions of this nature clouded your mind?

Well, young men of Allegheny, be at ease. One of our untiring Kaldron reporters has done much research on the matter and has produced the following facts. Below in a handy compact table one may find the gross tonnage of any girl or sorority in school. Consider the advantages of this system. One has merely to glance at the table, grab the phone, ask for 1166 and presto: a date. And what is better, a date that is made to order. One need no longer secure dates under a cloud of ignorance. We feel that this simple table will do more to help the young students than anything published in the Kaldron for the past fifty years.

Consider for a moment the astounding fact that Hulings Hall contains 9,951 tons or 19,704 pounds of co-eds. Just think of the pounds and pounds of sweetness housed within those walls. Now if an Inter-fraternity Dating Bureau could be formed, the matter of having several parties on one night with the resultant cut throat method of securing dates could be done away with. This Bureau could divide the girls up among the eight fraternities—that is, allow 2,463 pounds of femininity to each fraternity—in assorted sizes of course. Thus there would be no squabbling. As soon as the quota of a particular fraternity was filled, the rest of the members would have to resort to out of town dates. Thus everyone would get a break. And when we mean a break we mean a break.

Anyone with an ingenious mind will be able to think of a thousand and one different uses for this table. And now here it is:

Name	Gross Tonnage	Total Weight	Highest Individual Weight	Lowest Individual Weight	Average Individual Weight
Theta	1.990 tons	3980 lbs.	139 lbs.	95 lbs.	117.1 lbs.
T. U.	1.929 tons	3858 lbs.	188 lbs.	93 lbs.	116.9 lbs.
A. G. D.	1.604 tons	3208 lbs.	182 lbs.	97 lbs.	118.8 lbs.
A. X. D.	1.170 tons	2340 lbs.	182 lbs.	95 lbs.	117.0 lbs.
Kappa	1.1275 tons	2255 lbs.	143 lbs.	93 lbs.	107.4 lbs.
Alpha Chi	1.109 tons	2218 lbs.	130 lbs.	93 lbs.	110.9 lbs.
Tallagewe	1.0215 tons	1845 lbs.	167 lbs.	98 lbs.	120.1 lbs.
Totals	9.951 tons	19,704 lbs.	188 lbs.	93 lbs.	115.45 lbs.

CHURCH'S CHAPTER
Established—on Loomis Street
Address—Kerstown

Baiter Kipper, Allegheny's own commuters club, is the latest arrival in the fraternity world here. Unfortunately they are still late. But they have some excuse for this, for while men may walk a mile for a camel, who wants to walk five miles for an 8:00 class. The chapter is now considering a plan whereby each member of the fraternity will be equipped with a bicycle or a kiddie car. But then again it takes energy to push one of those up the hill. Anyhow why all this discussion? It does them no good to come to class. One great advantage of their location is that they are very near the Meadville Business College; and then too they get to look over the prospective freshmen first in the fall. They can interview them while they are motoring through.

Their pin is diamond shaped but this adds no glory to their fame on the baseball field. The crossed rake and fork are very symbolic. The rake is shown to denote the personnel of the frat, while the work makes the boys feel at home. And at that it comes in quite handy at times. The milk bottle symbolizes their embryonic position here and also the fact that they are just being weaned.

The Baita Kipper Frat was founded in 1929. Since that time they have accumulated 399 Chapters, thus making them almost eligible for the Four Hundred. Church's Chapter got its charter due to the fact that the frat was young and expansion was absolutely necessary—the Grand Chapter had to pay for the new stationery. Since they purchased that stationery, their position has not changed.

The frat is quite musical, each and every member doubling on the swionette and "sweet potato". Their favorite tune is "Church in The Wildwood". This is an exception to the general rule of the frat, in as much as the instrument required in their ceremonies is the piccolo. The frat is further engaged in developing their aesthetic tastes being given over to dancing. Their favorite game is "Ring Around the Bathtub." A close second, however, is "Farmer in The Dell".

The only difference between a dance at the Baita Kipper and one at Balizet's is that the men at B.K. dance are brothers—or is it a difference? They are quite proficient in dancing the "Lame Duck"; of course this is due to walking up hills.

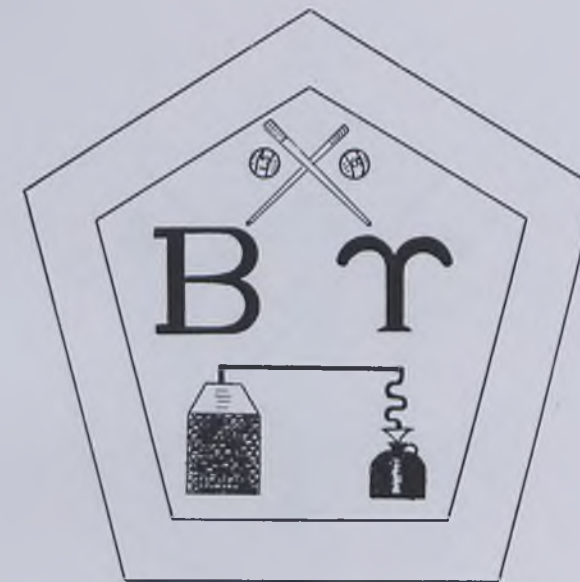

During the last few years the frat has been going down hill due to the discontinuance of the Northwestern Inter-urban Transit Company. Recently they tried to remedy remove this handicap by petitioning the Odd Fellows Home for permission to ride up the hill in the school bus. The petition was ultimately denied due to the fact that they were unable to prove that they attended school.

Do not confuse this frat with Phi Beta Kappa—but then we know you won't.

ALPHA and OMEGA CHAPTER

This conglomeration of harriers can always be depended to shine in inter-fraternity competition. Since the founding of the school they have not lost a track meet. In fact when the track team goes on a trip the B.U. House closes for repairs. After each meeting they gather round the fireplace and sing: "We may not climb the heavenly steeps"—but we walk for our classes. And this is one reason why they can't be beat in track. No other fraternity is so constantly in training except the Baita Kippers, who do their running—well not with their feet.

Due to their distant location they are constant readers of the Campus. Thus do they keep in touch with matters pertaining to the college. But with the advent of the radio and the telephone we hope that in the future that they will keep better informed. As was remarked to someone or other, "Ain't science swell".

The apparatus on their pin might denote that they are chemists—but still we don't know. The frat is not honorary but there must be some secret meaning to the set up. Its probably hidden in some dark recess of their house. As to the crossed cues and balls. This is to symbolize the idea that this bunch of pool room sharks are proficient in more than one sport. One has only to visit the house most any night to see the boys gambling on the cloth.

The pentagon shape of the pin demonstrates the fact that the pent house in which they live is about gone. But its really not that bad. Its worse. Remember that the great advantage of belonging here is that one always has fresh vegetables. Then too one probably derives great pleasure from puttering around the garden or helping with the spring plowing. To get back to the shape of the pin. The five sides of the pin denote their manysidedness. Unfortunately all these sides are bad.

This was the Oxford Club when first organized but several members of this order resigned when they resented the strong language used at the meetings. They got together and formed this noble order which since has prospered more or LESS. The Beta's have a great advantage over some of our nationals. One never has to suspect that there may be another like this one. But then there couldn't be.

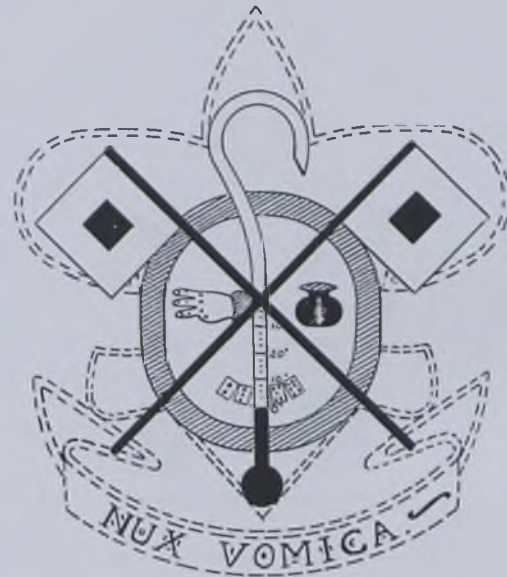

In the winter the boys have access to a dog team and sled. Thus they are able to receive letters during the long winter months and can also get supplies from the outer world. In the spring, much as we regret to state it, there are seen about the campus much more frequently.

And in closing let us all join in that stirring song "It Had To Be You."

APPENDIX CHAPTER
Established—before the war
Address—Edinboro

What ho! Are you prepared? The Appendix Chapter boasts of Polar fame. They have the honor in this illustrious Brotherhood of having the first, the Alpha, Chapter of all Fraternities at the University of Anarctica. You heard about "the Man from the South", yes. Well he is an A.X of P.

Unfortunately their original pin was designed by a jewelry salesman; it has proven too heavy for dresses. As a result this new insignia has been adopted. Regarding the secrecy of this badge may it suffice to add that the third card of the spade flush has been omitted for the sake of symmetry. Also the three fingers of the hand do not stand for the characteristic dose of the medicine that so many men get proscriptions in order to purchase. Not on a threppenny piece! The first finger, the index, is to remind all wary Runts that once they stray they will become the butt of scorn and the cause of slander. The middle finger was put in for the sake of accuracy. The third finger, and you will notice that it is the third on the left hand, is stretched out, waiting for a ring. The goal of the organization seems to be to get a pin out and a ring on. The only rings the women have given them so far, however, have been around the eyes. The signal flags were added to the pin in an effort to carry out the idea of making the pin usable. They will now have the edge over other tramps, because the flags will serve to stop freight trains. Another theory advanced for the inclusion of this item was that the flags would cover up the space where the diamonds had been on the old pin. The committee on revision thereupon suggested that black diamonds be included in the center of the flag. Of course, they really got two chunks of slag, but the intention very adequately explains the lowness of the thermometer. The crook in the thermometer is a tribute to their patron saint, Little Bow Peep. And finally the remaining bearing is a testimonial to the foremost weakness of the lodge. It was from this habit that they conceived of the adoption of their Chapter flower. The motto however indicates that there are a few men who have been left unstained by this scourge. These men can always be recognized by the tint of their soup strainers.

Strange though it may be this group of men claim the distinction of being the only chapter with a bathtub schedule. The lads are so anxious to bath in their tin tub (not the body of a model T) that the privilege of a sitting is said to sell for one dollar. The men who refuse their right in an effort to keep clean have been christened by their Brothers as "The Knights of the Tub."

That is not a cow on the pin, my Friends; it has horns. Our artist has also made a slight mistake in that this bovine's head is much too level. Did you ever see a level-headed S.A.E.? (Chorus—"No!!!") In fact many of them part their hair in the middle in an effort to correct this disability.

The Y.M.C.A. triangle represents the Fraternitie's exclusiveness. Despite the handicap of a rather small house and a limited membership of sixty, the President has said "We will outnumber the Y.M.C.A. by 1932—providing, of course, that the Freshmen classes are as dumb as ever."

Their colors are Red, White and Blue; long may they waver. To continue this staggering story the same line of thought explains their present address:—The Chem Building; where every good Sig learns to mix mighty concoctions, and to brew over making his adjustments.

Their reputation for sleeping and eating was very nearly wrecked at the time of their Province Convention, particularly the sleeping part. At the hour of writing they are still four days behind schedule.

To distinguish the dog, Sig, from the rest of the lodge, he has been supplied with a collar. His habits are most Siggish, particularly so in the case of chasing Kats. However, their chief weakness appears to be escorting Lyres.

In Interfraternity sports these lads would have us believe that they excel. Concerning swimming and their defeat in this sport they are wisely silent. One cannot swim and talk simultaneously, you know.

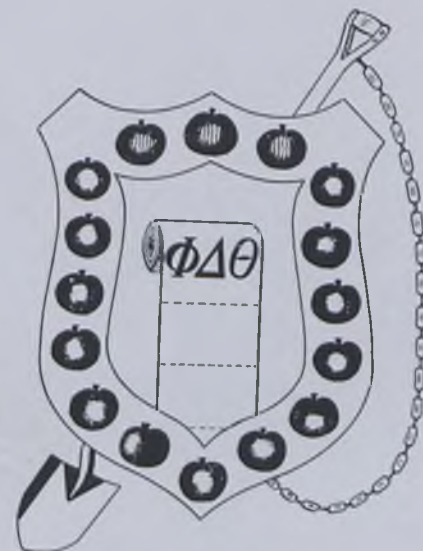

Requirements for membership are that the pledge must be of the white rase, an American citizen (preferable), of the Male sex, and have a speaking knowledge of English—he need not be able to sign his name, just a cross.

Sig. Freshmen will walk into the House backwards, so that they cannot see what they are getting into; they walk out of the house backwards to carry out completely their general way of doing things.

Believe it or not but Phi Delta Theta is supposedly a fraternity. (Ripley). But it will have to be proven to us. For instance although women are not officially initiated, several wenches have been intimately associated with the chapter. The chapter house is a small barnlike affair but if one were to visit it in the evening they would more than likely find it quite crowded.

The Phi Delt Frat pin is a rather good looking pin. Why every so often some women will go so far as to wear one around openly. This only goes to show that women will stoop to almost any level to get a piece of jewelry. But at that they don't have to go very far to get it. The apples around the border of the pin represent the shining influence which they have on the faculty of Allegheny College. Why shouldn't they? They are brothers. The shovel is not used to throw coal upon the furnace. Tut-tut, Willy, you must NOT ask what it is used for. The chain of canine fruit represents where the chapter has gone. Hot dog. And the scroll upon which the mystic letters—P.D.T. are inscribed—er, ah—ah yes the scroll—

Back in '08 the chapter was—but that reminds us. They are members of the faculty now. Well anyhow in '00 they did have a fair chapter—but he graduated. The present group of dim bulbs is the natural residue of what rolls down the hill from the other houses.

Another factor much held against this group of greasy grinds is that they make fairly good grades. They ought to inasmuch as they mark all the papers. Just as a sample of their gross ignorance we might cite the fact that they think that one comes to college to study. But we all make mistakes—why shouldn't we forgive them?

The grip of this frat is very simple—but what else could you expect? Its exactly like the Daily Dozen even to the inclusion of the shower. It is rumored that they even practice this grip with their femmes. But of course this is now barred by the new rules adopted by the Women's Athletic Board of Control.

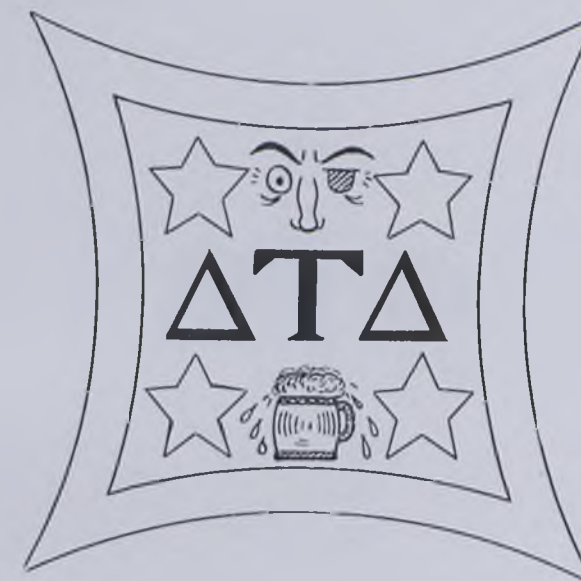

The house is so barn-like that the secretary has to send out cards to notify members of meeting. Why one fellow went to Allegheny four years and graduated without meeting some of the members of his own class. To remedy this they have a tour of the house before commencement so that the outgoing brother will have seen all the rooms. Many a pledge has been lost for a semester or two in this manse. But this has its advantages because they are able to hide half the chapter during rushing season.

Many people frequently confuse Phi Delta Thoddle with Delta Sigma Rho, but we would like to remind our readers that D.S.R. is an honorary fraternity. It is very evident why such an error could have been made for both require their members to be hot air merchants.

PENNSYLVANIA AWFUL CHAPTER
Established—in the cellar
Address—Balizets

"If you want to be a Tau Delt just come along with me, by the light of the moon, by the bright shining moon." Of course nobody wants to be a Tau Delt so this doesn't apply to you and anyhow they don't pledge men by moonlight. Its all done on some dark stormy night when the skies are leaden.

But to get away back to the Alfalfa Chapter which, unfortunately, is located at Allegheny we will say that they do possess a fine bunch of boys. Yes, yes, boys. Have you heard the story about the portly alumni who yelled to the porter at the dressing room, "Hey there Sam, are there any fraternity men in there?" "Oh, no," replied Sam "theh ah jus a few of us all Delts in heh." But again we are digressing from our subject.

The schooner on their pin denotes the root-BEER which they drink on hot summer days. Of course—a few of them have a nip in the winter for the cold. The blinker on the eye shows that they see no evil, while the open eye is symbolic of the fact that they are quick to see good. Or vice versa.

The chapter is active in that each year it pledges a freshman class. Of course the members room and board at the house and occasionally they have meetings. This is due solely to the fact they possess a house. Aforementioned house was acquired in 1746 from the Indians. The price was one case of fire water. The boys would gladly sell it back to the Indians if they thought they could get one bottle of the previously before-mentioned fire water for it. But you can impose on the Indians just so far.

In former years this fraternity provided some competition for the others; but 'when eight ride a hores ONE must ride behind'. But some claim that it is a donkey they ride, not a horse. In that case they ride first'.

The four stars symbolize the four objects: diapers, dandruff, dodos, and dillies. We hope that these are self explanatory. Any one desiring further information will please send a stamped, self addressed envelope to the editor, Hong-Kong, China.

Among their prominent alumni will be found: Number 35748x, Ohio State Penn, Rin Tin Tin, Volstead—(believe it or not), and Bagabond Prince. Of course all these men were not pledged by the Alfalfa Chapter. They can claim as their own Rin Tin Tin. But this happened when he was a pup. Bow-wow.

Anyhow, here's to the Delts—let's hope they stay hidden in the ravine.

POT PI CHAPTER
Established—Under Hulings window

In a fraternity it is men; with the Phi Gams it is songbirds. Tweet-tweet! Songbirds and our fair and unfair Co-eds would be more accurate. Yes, Sir, that Pot Pi Chapter of Practically God's Dumbest is and was the original, first, and only genuine co-educational fraternity in the school. Of course, some of the other lodges will come second and third, but it would be more accurate to classify the P.G.D's. as first, and then begin to count the others as fifth, sixth, and so on. Actually it has come to the point where next fall there will not be a pin in the House to show to the newly arrived Frosh. They will have to take the inquisitive to visit the Hall. But then, who would ever want to see a Phi Gam pin?

Upon inquiry it has been revealed that the Phi Gam canon is not a canon at all; it is a cap pistol. Every February in the early hours of dawn the deep booming peep-peep of the Phi Gam canon resounds over the Campus and three and a half pledges awake to find pins on their pillows. And as they pull on their lace panties, they clap their hands and say "Goody, Goody".

This lodge must also be classed first in one other respect. They are the fashion setters of the school. By reading College Humor they ascertain exactly what the well-dressed man will wear. Thereupon they proceed to buy and wear such clothes, with the result that no one else in school will follow the style. But about the time that they begin to realize their failure a new issue of their fashion chart is delivered, a new hope is kindled, and the process is repeated.

Although not generally known, it was out of consideration of the Figis that the college decided to dedicate the new tennis courts behind their house to the use of the women. The exact reason is still dark, but probably it is a case of convenience; for why make people go out of their way. Or maybe the Administration wants the Phi Gams to be the first 100% all-engaged chapter. (They don't have far to go.)

The bird that graces their coat of arms is an owl. Before this happened the owl was regarded as a wise old bird. But he sure has lost his reputation now. If they ever make a change we suggest a crow.

PENNSYLVANIA MEW CHAPTER
Established—(False alarm)
Address—Al's kitchen

We are not sure whether this is a fraternity or a William J. Burn's detective Agency. In fact only last week it is rumored that two Phi Psi's went into a speak easy for a coke and the proprietor took one look at their vest and yelled, 'Cheese it the Bulls'. And tis many the Phi Psi that has been mistaken for a fire marshall. But after a staff meeting the vote stood 5-4 in favor of a fraternity so a fraternity it is.

Anyone qualifying for membership in Phi Kappa Psi automatically becomes a member of the Meadville Volunteer Fighters Corps. It is hoped that as soon as the mortgage on the firebox is lifted that they will be able to equip the house with complete uniforms for each member. They also have hopes of several little red wagons.

The two stars on the pin are symbolic of the aims of the frat. (1) To make whoopee, (2) To make whoopee.

The first aim is generally disregarded by the members of the frat while the second ideal is adhered to rigorously. The motto is 'Get that pin out—quick'. In fact any member who has been initiated for more than three weeks and still possess his pin is liable to a fine of $5.00.

On September 15th, 1867 Si Hethkins, President of the Psi Frat wandered into the Highland park zoo. While there, due to some misunderstanding he was caged up with the apes. After he was released through political pull the chapter passed a by-law that all members must have their noses cut. This cleared up the trouble to some extent.

They have several beautiful songs amoung which are: Frankie and Johnnie, Face on the Bar-room Floor, and Hi, hi, hi, which does NOT refer to their rating, temperature, or scholarship.

As is indicated by the hereldry on the pin the frat recently became affiliated with Republican National Organization. They qualified to this high honor due to the fact that all their members vote the straight Republican Ticket. Their association with the Stewart Senate also helped them considerably. The step qualifies their members for membership into the "Sons of Allegheny's Revolution".

The official organ of the fraternity is the 'Campus'. In fact it is the only frat on the hill which publishes a weekly newspaper. It also contains some news of college affairs.

And in summing up our arguments why you should or should not affiliate with the Psi Frat we repeat, 'Join the Phi Psi's; the girls can see your pin a mile away'. Oh yes, their greeting is, "Hi Psi".

A Freshman's Dairy

Sept. 11, 1929. Tomorrow, diary, you and I are going to leave good old Gibsonia and go to Allegheny College. Uncle Wilbert went to Allegheny about fifteen years ago. He was president of the Philo-Franklin Forum for three years, and just before he left this evening he said, patting me on the shoulder, "Will, nothing would please your old Uncle more, than for you to take my place in the old Forum." Then he shook my hand very queerly; I think that was the Forum grip. Darn it, Diary, I'll show them back here at home. I'll never quit. My slogan will be "For the Forum and Uncle, Forum I will die."

Sept. 12th. Hot Zippety! I'm a college man. I got a job waiting on table. There was a big banquet for all the freshman tonight. There are 205 freshmen all together; 73 girls and 132 boys. I think that will be enough girls. There was a girl there tonight who kept looking at me and smiling. I think she is an upper-class girl, because freshmen don't begin to smile until after Thanksgiving. Gosh, but that girl looked collegiate. I'll have to be careful, a young fellow like me. Oh, what the ham, a fellow's got to have his fun.

Sept. 16th. All kinds of men having been pestering me to come to their houses and eat and meet the boys. They all have fine bunches. They told me they did. Father said I could join a frat, but to watch my step. A great big fellow heard me say "frat". Said he, gruffly, "Where do you think you are, Pitt? Say Fraternity." I'll get even with that guy, I won't join his frat.

Sept. 17th. The "Y's" gave us a party. It was a real nice sociable. That girl was there. She didn't see me. We played games, and sang, and everything.

Sept. 20th. I was at a fraternity house. What a funny place. A fellow came and got me and took me there. He kept hinting around about a fine boy I was and what fine fellows all his brothers were. When we got there I met the whole darn family all at once. They stood around me and looked at me and blew cigaret smoke in my face untill I could hardly see or breathe. By Heck, that's no way to treat a man. They kept telling me how fine their house was, what a great bunch they have, how good their meals are, until I thought I'd die. Finally, they all went away except one, the one that did most of the talking. He said, "The boys like you, won't you take our pin?" I didn't know what he meant so I thought I'd better change the subject. I thought I'd do a little talking. "Do you live here? With all this gang, how do you ever stand it? The dum rummies. If I were you, I'd move out of here. You know what George Washington said, "It is better to be by yourself than in bad company." Why don't you take the chance." The fellow said, "You look tired." I guess I made him forget about the pin.

Sept. 21st. I went to another house today. I got away by jumping out the bathroom window.

Sept. 24th. The sophomores made us sing and yell in front of the place where the girls live. I fooled them, I sang through my nose. The boys were arrested for ringing the fire alarm in front of the Fie Fie house. It serves them right. A fellow told me that I could never be president of the Forum unless I was a Fraternity man. Gosh, all hang it. I almost forget to say that there were classes today. A teacher named Dr. Lee told us for an hour how dumb we are, we freshman. He thinks, I'm Blase.

Sept. 28th. I spent the morning running around in a bag, looking for pennies in a manure pile, and pulling a lot of fellows and horses down the street on a rope. They call it the Freshman-Sophomore Track Meet. They even squirted us with a hose. I don't know why the Sophies put two horses on their end of the rope. We pulled so hard that the horses fell down. I went to the football game with Geneva. I went by myself. The score was 13-13. All that playing for nothing. They should have had a peanut scramble to decide it.

Oct. 3rd. I think I am going to join a fraternity. I have it all picked out. I haven't told them yet. Tomorrow is the first meeting of the Forum. I can hardly wait.

Oct. 4th. They elected a cheerleader in chapel today. His name is Carlson. I think he won because he could wave his arms and yell at the same time. There lots of goings on in Arter Hall tonight. They were warming house. A play was put on. "The Valiant." We had a great big fire and a parade down town, then everybody took in a show, free.

Oct. 6th. I forgot to write what happened about the Forum. I couldn't find it. I looked all over for it. I went to the top of Bentley Hall and looked in a room and saw three or four teachers sitting in front of a couple of fellows. I wonder if that was it. I thought at first that it was teachers meeting.

Oct. 9th. The Sophomores were awful impolite to us in Chapel this morning. Every time we got up they told us to sit down and when we sat down they told us to get up. I got sore and walked out and the rest of the Freshman followed me. I guess I'm just a natural born leader.

Oct. 10th. I had to buy the nicest little purple cap. It's a dink. It cost three dollars. They say that Student Senate needs the money to buy suits. I think I'll join the Senate. Then I'll get a Student Senate Suit.

Oct. 26th. Pitt beat us 40 to 0. We didn't even use our first team, and Pitt did.

Oct. 30th. I am a fraternity man. That means that I have the privilege of listening to the phonograph in the living room of a house, and that I have brothers all over the world.

Oct. 31st. Dr. Lee is still telling us how little we know and how blase we think we are. I like Chemistry.

Nov. 1st. I was at Forum Meeting today. We are going to build it up.

Nov. 6th. We tied Thiel today on our field. I think that I will go out for the Freshman Debating Team.

Nov. 7th. It rained, so I went to church. I am going out for Epworth League. I wonder if I'll make O.D.K.

Nov. 15th. I saw that girl again today. She was smoking a cigarette, you could have knocked me over with a discus. I wish I had never seen her. I hate her. If I killed myself, I bet she'd be sorry. I have a notion to drink a cup of Cochran Hall Coffee.

Nov. 19th. I think I'll go out for Duzer-Duz and Kleet-O-Kleet. I bet Uncle Wilbert will be proud of me.

Nov. 20th. We beat Waynesburg. Another girl smiled at me. I simply ignored her. I won't be fetched in again. I'm not no sucker. Pardon the double negative, diary. Diary, I have something to tell you. I smoked a cigarette, but nobody saw me. I'll pray double tonight.

Dec. 2nd. I got back from home today. Mother looked bad, I think she works too hard. She sure can cook, and I sure crammed down the turkey. Uncle Gumbert said that I et till my eyes bulged and then I et some more. You can easy tell that Uncle Gummy never went to college. Aunt Hernie said that she was awfully sorry that I joined a sorority. I started to laugh, but she said, "Will, it ain't no laughing matter. You're jist liable to turn out like young Flinders, that good-fer-nothin'. I hear tell he beats his wife." I bet Mrs. Flinders belongs to a fraternity I asked Aunt Hernie if she didn't think after we died we all went to the same place, and that there wasn't no Heaven or Hell. She said, "Humph, is that what you learn at college? If I thought that I'd put on my hat and coat and step out." I bet she'd put on her rubbers and take an umbrella, too.

Dec. 9th. I didn't make the freshman debating team. I made Squad B, though. Wait till we scrimmage against Squad A, I'll show them. I hope my ankles hold up.

Dec. 17th. A big fellow named Rutherford won the Wakefield Oratorical Contest. Lloyd Gordon won second. Gee, I hope I'm like those two fellows when I get big.

Dec. 18th. Everybody says that we are going to have a humdinger of a basketball team.

Dec. 20th. Home for Christmas. I like everything up here but the weather. It just takes turns snowing and melting.

Dec. 26th. I had the best Christmas, except for Aunt Hernie. I bet you couldn't guess what she gave me diary, A pair of woolen mittens and a cap with ear muffs. It's a wonder that she didn't give me a slate and a box of crayons to bring back to school.

I could have given them to that little Jones boy to play with, they would keep him out of trouble.

New Year's Day. I have a headache. It's all Uncle Wilbert's fault. He started it by saying that New Year's Eve only comes once a year. That satisfied him, but, diary, I still refrained. Finally, Uncle began to say to me, "Ain't you a college man, ain't you a college man." By cracky, then I showed him. Oh, diary, my head. But, I couldn't help it, after all, am I not a college man?

Jan. 3rd. I saw my old girl today, Ella. She said, "My, Will, how you've changed, you ain't your former self. I always said that college would be the makings of you." Humph, diary, humph. I guess that I will have to give the girlies a fling when I go back to school. There's no use being selfish. The preacher told me this morning that I was the pride of Gibsonia.

Jan. 7th. Gee, but it is great to get back to school. I didn't know that I liked it so well until I left it. Well, I guess, that's life. Two weeks until exams.

Jan. 15th. Oh, diary, I had a date. I think that I am in love.

Jan. 16th. I can't remember my girl's name, so I guess I'm not in love. Life is a tragedy.

Jan. 18th. Our basketball team is undefeated. They sure do look sweet. There was a fellow at the fraternity house today who felt heads and then told people what they were. They made him feel my head. They smiled when he began to feel my head, but when I got up they marvelled and were jealous.

Jan. 30th. I have been very busy with exams. I passed them all, I think. I guess I'm just naturally a good student. I must not forget to write home tomorrow and tell Mother to put some buttons on my underwear. I don't know what happens to my buttons, I think my roommate steals them. Today the new term began, I hope that I have as much success this next term as I did last term. I think that I will get a job teaching at Thiel in the afternoon this term.

Feb. 5th. Fraternity initiations are beginning. The freshman are carrying everything and parts of everything around the campus.

Feb. 25th. Dear Diary, I have neglected you something awful, but for a period of a certain number of days I knew nothing except that I was a freshman being taught that I was a freshman. However, my very dear diary, I am a fraternity man. And, my most precious diary, that makes me very happy. I feel like a new man. I have been made to forget that I am from Gibsonia, that I ever lived in Gibsonia. I fear that I am becoming smooth and sophisticated, and when I read the beginning of you, my diary, I am amused and I sometimes laugh.

Feb. 27th. I wore my fraternity pin for the first time today.

Feb. 28th. Snow, in great quantities.

Mar. 1st. Slush, in great measure.

Mar. 2nd. Water, Water, everywhere, and not a place to step.

Mar. 3rd. It is reported that the sun was seen near Meadville.

Mar. 4th. Snow.

Mar. 5th. Slush.

Mar. 6th. Water.

Mar. 15th. The Juniors presented a very nice Prom this evening.

Mar. 20th. Did I ever tell you, diary, that Dr. Eliot has a broken arm. Well, today was one of the first few times that he has had it out for a walk. I'm afraid that he is going to get shot for an Indian with that blanket he wears. Or else, he will be claimed as the Jewish Messiah.

Mar. 26th. I am very sorry to tell you, diary, that Dr. Beebe is going to resign from his position as President. I have waited on him at different banquets, and I earnestly say that no waiter has ever served a more considerate and thoughtful man than our President. May we get another as great.

Mar. 31st. Tonight being April Fool's Day Eve, Judd Johnstone and I went around ringing doorbells.

Apr. 2nd. I had a lot of work to do tonight, so I went to the show.

Apr. 3rd. I went to hear Robert Frost, the New England poet, tonight. He was excellent. I liked his style of delivery and his humor, very subtle. Dr. Schultz said that he would get our books autographed by Frost, even if he would have to do it himself.

Apr. 5th. This spring weather certainly does get the fraternity pins off the boy's vests. I think that they should start inter-sorority competition to see which sorority could get the most pins in a month.

Apr. 8th. I went to see "Much Ado About Nothing" at the Little Theatre tonight. That Playshop is some organization. The production was almost professional in its smoothness. Miss Spaulding can not get too much credit. I never saw so many handsome men on one stage before, Anderson, Shafear, Spenser, Thompson, and many others. Three Phi Delts shouted, "Author, author," at the end of the performance.

Apr. 9th. I understand that Charles Schwab, the great, is going to speak at Commencement. I hope that he will not want to merge Thiel, Grove City and Allegheny into a Chain College, or something of the sort.

Apr. 10th. The dances are happening thick and fast. Last Saturday we had the Pan-Hellenic and tonight the Senior Prom. This college life is a tough racket. A man doesn't get a chance to study, does a man? Christmas vacation spoiled me as far as studying is concerned. Easter will just put the finishing touches on.

Apr. 22nd. Back again. Now for some real hard work. Exams in about a month.

Apr. 24th. Mr. LaBounty, Miss Mina French, and Miss Mary Dale combined their efforts and a great Founder's Day program resulted. There was much eating and drinking, music and merry-making. This was followed by a series of tableaux portraying the incidents concerning the founding of Allegheny College. Then, due to the kind heartedness of the President, we danced until one o'clock in the morning.

Apr. 25th. I cut my eight o'clock class. This night life kills one. The track team is working hard, and Coach Hammett expects and deserves to have a good team. There are a great many freshman out for the team. I said grace today in the dining room. That's another activity for me, I wonder if it counts toward O.D.K.

Apr. 26th. Cleaned windows at house.

Apr. 27th. Mowed lawn at house.

Apr. 28th. Fixed tennis court at house. It's great to be a fraternity man. Nothing like it.

Apr. 29th. I can't find my books, and I felt like studying. That might not happen again for a long time. I bet my roommate sold them to that fellow from Columbus, Ohio. Well, then we are even.

May 2nd. Spring parties are beginning to occur thick and fast, two and three every week-end.

May 5th. Baseball and mushball are, along with spring parties, fighting for the center of the spring spotlight. School work has been pushed clear off the stage. However, the Exam schedule announcement has evoked a wave of excitement and worry.

May 6th. I played mushball today. I am not very good, but I find that I can hit much better if I keep repeating to myself, "I can do it, I can do it." It works occasionally, and it is great diction practice.

May 7th. We, the freshman class, had a great riot tonight. It all started with water throwing from the windows. The boys had just about enough of that when the proctors tried to make them stop, which of course started things anew. The freshman class in body and pajamas then marched to Hulings Hall and serenaded the girls after a fashion, of course. The spirit to kill, or at least annoy, not having died down yet, the boys collected all the old Fords in the vicinity and placed them at different angles about the campus. The boys were then about ready to quit, when four or five policemen arrived, and they furnished another hour of amusement for the frosh. Of course, someone had to turn in a false alarm, and the evening was climaxed by the arrival and departure of the fire trucks.

May 17th. More parties. More ball, mush and base. Great weather. What a moon! It's going to waste, too, I must arrange to fall in love. I must see Lena, to see who is eligible. I heard about a fellow who tried to study, and he got so lonely that he wrote a letter home, and found that the family had moved three weeks before. Moral: never write home.

May 29th. Good-bye, diary, and all, exams start tomorrow.

June 6th. The exams are over. I took them, nothing more can be said. I am going to leave for good old Gibsonia tomorrow. In a couple of months I will be telling freshmen that the freshman year is the best (isn't it?), and to study hard in their freshman year and they will be all right. Well, diary, I am going to close you with a snap and throw away my fountain pen until next year.
