TRACK TEAM MADE GREAT SHOWING.

MITCHELL, CLARK AND GIESEY CARRIED OFF SILVER MEDALS.

Our Men Secured Third Place, Winning More Points in Proportion to Number Entered Than Any Other Team.

The track team, accompanied by Director Lewis, returned home on Saturday afternoon in high spirits as the result of the fine showing made in the inter-collegiate meet held at Washington, Pa., on Friday. Their exultation was the more justifiable on account of the high standard of the colleges competing. Those who took part were: W. U. P., Westminster, Geneva, W. & J., Allegheny and Marietta. Contrary to the statements published in the Pittsburgh papers Allegheny won third place. In summing up the points the officials failed to give Allegheny three points for winning second place in the one mile relay. This addition will give Allegheny 21½ points or one-half point more than W. U. P.

Director Lewis is well pleased with the fine form displayed by the men. None of the six men competing failed to get one or more points. In nearly every instance they established new records for themselves. Mitchell carried off the honors for Allegheny, scoring eight points and winning two silver medals. Clark and Giesey also won silver medals.

In addition to the prizes awarded at the meet the college will give to Clark, Mitchell and Giesey a "Block A" for getting second places in different events. Mitchell will also receive a sweater for the work of his Senior year.

Allegheny has good reason to be proud of the record made by the team, for if the number of points made by the different colleges is considered in proportion to the number of men entered, Allegheny made the best showing at the meet. W. & J., the winner, with thirty-six men entered, got only 68 points; W. U. P., with sixteen men, won 21 points; Westminster, with ten men, won 28 points, and Allegheny, with only six men, is credited with 21½ points.

In the hundred yard dash both Clark and Mitchell qualified for the finals, Mitchell winning a preliminary and Clark getting a second place. In the final Mitchell got a poor start and as a result finished badly. The race was nip and tuck from the crack of the pistol, Stewart, of Westminster, winning only by a very narrow margin. Clark ran second.

In the one mile relay Stidger was substituted for Mitchell on account of a slight injury suffered by the latter in the 220 yard hurdle. This was the race of the day and excited great interest. Allegheny showed up in excellent form and would have won but for the unfortunate circumstance of having an unexperienced man in one of the quarters. In the first lap Clark fairly ran away from the field, and, at the close of the suarter had the bunch

Class of Ninety Oratorical Contest.

Will Be Held in Ford Memorial Chapel Next Thursday Evening—Six Men Will Strive For Honors.

On Thursday evening at eight o'clock there will be held in the chapel the Oratorical contest for the prizes offered by the class of ninety.

The winner of the contest will receive a prize of thirty dollars and the runner-up will receive ten dollars.

Notwithstanding the fact that the prizes are not so large as that offered to the winner of the Wakefield contest the interest is none the less keen. The men who will contend are working hard and diligently and assure their friends of the effort of their lives.

The orators and orations entered are as follows:

The Call of the Century—H. M. Scott.

Marshall Ney—A. W. Robertson.

John Wesley, England's Greatest Religious Reformer—C. A. Hartung.

The United States as a World Power—F. M. Thompson.

The Liberator of South America—F. P. Miller.

Russia's Cross—H. E. Stone.

SENIORS WILL BID FAREWELL TO COLLEGE HALLS.

In a Formal Ceremony to Be Held Tuesday Morning, June 20—Appropriate Addresses Will Be Made at Each of the College Buildings.

The Seniors have completed arrangements for the formal ceremony of saying farewell to each of the college buildings. On Tuesday morning of commencement week the class will form in line in front of Bentley Hall. After a short address by the class president, Mr. Farr, the line of march will extend to the college buildings in the following order: Library, Gymnasium, Ruter Hall, Ford Memorial Chapel, Newton Observatory, Wilcox Hall, Huling's Hall and Bentley Hall.

A short stop will be made at each of the buildings, where an appropriate address will be made by a representative of the class, and college and class songs will be given.

The ceremony will be a new one in the class observances of commencement week, and every effort will be put forth to make it distinctively expressive of class spirit and yet have it so thoroughly Allegheny in tone and sentiment that it will strike a responsive chord in the hearts of all students and alumni.

The list of speakers will be as follows:

Library.....Miss Lettie Johnston
Gymnasium.....Mr. W. J. Hewitt
Ruter Hall.....Mr. Bruce Wright
Chapel.....Miss Katherine Dewey
Observatory.....Mr. C. C. Merrill
Wilcox Hall.....Mr. Harry Stone
Huling's Hall.....Mr. Frank R. Frost
Bentley Hall.....Mr. C. J. Scott

Faculty vs. Seniors.

"Has Beens" Will Cross Bats With the "Never Wases."

On next Monday afternoon the Seniors for a last time. The Seniors, on the other hand, will try to show those who sit in the "stalls of the mighty" that, with a fair field and no favors the proud eagle of victory will perch on their banner, and that the dignity of learning that doth hedge about a doctor "cuts no figure" on the diamond.

The games of past years have been close and interesting, and have been marked by sharp playing on both sides. The line up of the teams for this year and the officials who are to direct the mighty contest give promise of something weird and spectacular in the national game of base ball.

Faculty line up:

Right field—Crawford.

Short stop—Knudson.

First base—Rickey.

Pitcher—Wells. (Capt.)

Second base—Smith.

Catcher—Baker.

Third base—Lewis.

Center field—Elliott.

Left field—Ross.

Substitutes—Lockwood, Breed, Bernstorff, Brown.

Senior line up:

Catcher—Davenport.

Pitcher—Reynolds.

First base—Ballantyne. (Capt.)

Second base—Morrison.

Third base—Hewitt.

Short stop—Mitchell.

Right field—Frost.

Center field—Merrill.

Substitutes—Van Riper, Wood, Scouten, Stone, Hyskell.

Faculty coach—Dutton.

Senior coach—H. M. Scott.

Umpire—Hamnett.

The Yale Alumni Weekly strongly supports the erection of five additional college dormitories, stating that it sees in the luxurious private dormitories a grave danger to democracy. The Sophomore societies were killed because they formed a cult in the college world, but the private dormitories can form a more dangerous cult by the addition of wealth as a credential to the requirements for social honors.

MUSICAL CLUBS CLOSE SEASON.

BEFORE AN APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE AT EDINBORO.

On Account of Commencement Week Organ Recital the Glee Club Concert Has Been Canceled.

The College Glee and Mandolin Clubs gave a most successful concert at Edinboro on last Monday evening. The boys left Meadville at 2 p. m.

Monday and upon arriving at Edinboro were hospitably entertained. Some of the braver were induced to take supper with the girls at the Hall, while others were entertained at private families.

Over 400 gathered in the large chapel auditorium to listen to the concert and a more appreciative audience could not be asked for.

The concert was given under the auspices of the Literary societies, which at Edinboro form an important part of school life.

This concert closes a most successful season for the clubs and Manager Wilson is to be congratulated on the efficient manner in which he has looked after the interests of the club.

Owing to the organ recital which will be given in Ford Memorial chapel on Wednesday evening of commencement week, arrangements for the Glee Club concert, which usually comes at that time, have been canceled and there will be no commencement concert this year.

At the University of Nebraska a squad of fifteen is kept in mental and physical training for two months, preliminary to selecting two teams of three each for inter-collegiate debating contests.—Ex.

Harvard has adopted association foot ball as a regular feature in her catalogue of sports, and steps are being taken to introduce the game at other colleges. Columbia has a team which has already played one outside game.

Entered as Second-Class matter October 30, 1904, at the Postoffice at Meadville, Pa., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Of all forms of college sports, track athletics are the most nearly ideal. They lack the brutality of foot ball, the expense involved in aquatics, and the trickery and element of luck so manifest in base ball.

Track events involve purely a contest of strength, endurance and alertness. It is man against man, and usually the best man wins. In the contests of life, every man is thrown on his own resources. It is not a question of team play, or brow-beating the umpire or working the "foxy" trick, but in the long run individual merit must win. So in track-athletics, there is little chance for winning by the methods which are so often resorted to in foot ball and base ball and which so often make the weaker team the winner in these contests. There is no advantage in delaying the game to keep down the score, as scores are made at the end of each event and stand in their own right. There is no occasion for the bitter animosities aroused in foot ball and basket ball. Every man stands or falls alone and there is no chance for hidden "slugging" or the sly trip which may put some star opponent out of the game. Track contests are open to the view of all, and, as Theodore Roosevelt has taught us, publicity is the death blow of unfair dealing.

Track athletics combine the requirements of all other forms of college sport. Weight and endurance are the main factors in foot ball, skill and endurance in basket ball, and skill in base ball, but endurance, strength and skill, all are necessary in track contests, and to attain a winning degree of these, months of the most careful training are necessary.

Besides track athletics are surrounded by the halo of mythology and history. Ever since Atlanta offered herself as a prize to the fleet footed and the Greek youths strove for the laurel crown at Olympia these games have been popular among all peoples; and the colleges of our own land would do well to emulate ancient Greece in placing these games above all others.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Mrs. Alta Moyer Taylor, a former Allegheny girl, is visiting her parents in Meadville.

Rev. R. E. Brown, '01, of Fredonia, received a purse of three hundred dollars for his European trip from his congregation.

J. Robert Anderson, '90, formerly of Randolph, N. Y., is now in Parkersburg, W. Va.

Major Henry Hall, '69, of San Francisco, Cal., brother of Dr. Charles Hall, '64, who was formerly pastor at Titusville and Meadville, is visiting friends in Fredonia, N. Y.

J. W. Cary, '93, preached the baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class of Apollo high school on a recent Sunday evening.

The Rev. W. J. Lowstuter, '98, accompanied by his wife, will sail from New York on the Deutschland, Thursday, May 25, for a visit to Europe. He is pastor of the Fourth Street church, Braddock.

Bishop Thoburn, '57, will preach the annual missionary address before the students of Drew Theological Seminary during commencement week.

O. O. Coon, '01, formerly principal of schools in Saegertown, is now an instructor in the Edinboro Normal school.

E. E. Miller, '91, of Youngstown, was in town Sunday.

Dr. E. F. Phillips, '99, has been appointed to a government position at Washington as an expert in agriculture.

Religious Notes.

On Friday evening the last meeting of the Mission Study Class was held. "Results and Opportunities" in the mission field was discussed. Mr. Miller, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was present and gave a talk. Miss Rowley, Mr. Wright and Mr. Hewitt also discussed various subjects of interest to the class. Miss Jennie Fitzgerald, a former member, sent a letter of greeting, which was read to the members of the class.

Best Things In College Life.

As Seen By Some of Those About to Be Separated From Its Influences.

Were I asked what has been the most beneficial phase of my college course, I would say: "I do not know." It surely does not lie in any particular realm. It may be in that greater knowledge of and sympathy for human nature which our college associations give to us. It may lie in that added power of coordination which the complex college life demands. Or it may be in the friendships that we have made. College life is a riddle. We feel its benefits but what to call the supreme good, future time alone can tell.

Harry Stone.

The best thing in college is that it trains one for the life of the scholar.

F. E. Baker.

Most students regard their college course merely as a means to an end, merely as so much effort and time expended, merely as something to be gotten through with and accomplished so that they may begin life. But many a Senior will admit that this was the great mistake of his college life. His deep regret is that he went through college with his eye only on the future, without regarding the present as an integral part of his life. Now, when about to graduate, realizing that he has completed and must leave a period which will be the most pleasant and rich in his whole life, he awakens to the fact in his haste to get his diploma he has failed to improve and enjoy to their greater extent his college days. So many a Senior's one wish is that he might go back over his four years of college and take each day by itself and live and enjoy it to its fullest extent.

In college, work mighty hard when you work and have the biggest time possible when you play.

I have done neither hard enough. Don't let dreams or ambitions for the future rob you of the richness of the present.

C. J. Scott.

Four years of learning is a college graduate supposed to have; and yet, not alone are the four years of book learning, the four years devoted to science, philosophy, history and language of the most value to me. It is the experience gleaned during that time from a contact with life in all its variety; the polishing that comes from being knocked about over rough places; the victory in mastering the situation; all this is to be worth while to me when my memory no longer retains book knowledge.

Lettie Johnston.

College life should mean development along all lines—mental, moral, social and physical. We cannot afford to cultivate one of these various phases of our nature to the exclusion of the others, for by so doing we become narrow, and fail to grasp the true meaning of a college education. And above all things, a college student should not be narrow-minded—that is an attribute fit only for the ignorant.

Mabel Appleby.

In the mind of the uninitiated, college life is a world of books and bookworms; in reality it is a sphere embracing all the activities of the world at large. In its politics, social life, athletics, literary work, public speech, and religious opportunity college life offers a field of experience and training rarely found in any other place. The man best equipped for the civic duties of the future is the man who avails himself of the opportunities of the present.

J. E. Morrison.

The work of the college is to develop rather than to cram the student; to draw out rather than to pour in; to untie rather than to tie Gordian knots; to fit for living among men rather than aloof from them; to simplify rather than to make complex.

C. G. Farr.

College is privilege. These words are synonymous. Most of us do not fully realize this until the years are gone, then we suddenly awake to our loss. The best thing that college does for us is to develop the gift we may have. The best thing we can do for the college is contribute to its spirit something of worth.

Bruce Wright.

The principal thing in college life, in my estimation, is not so much the deepening influence of books and studies, although that is not to be belittled, as it is the broadening influence of all college activities and associations which tends to make up the well rounded man. It is not a good thing to "let your studies interfere with your education."

Wilber J. Hewitt.

College training is not mere devotion to books, to athletics, to society, to oratory, or to college spirit. Any one of these is too narrow. The object of a college training is to fit one to do a strong man's work in the world. Spotless character and thorough scholarship are the foundation, but by no means the whole structure. In practical life a knowledge of Greek syntax is usually of less importance than the ability to meet and to influence men; and whatever, in the ceaseless whirl of college life contributes to this ability should be grasped and appropriated.

H. J. Wood.

The benefit derived from contact with the faculty and the students I consider of more value than the studies themselves. The most treasured things of my college course are the friendships formed and the memories of four happy years spent in Allegheny's atmosphere.

FALL TERM.

Sophs. Won by Pounding Freshman Pitchers While the First Year Men Were Unable to Connect With Horne's Delivery.

The smouldering embers of class spirit burst forth into a flame Saturday afternoon in the guise of a base ball game. The Freshmen's ardor was slightly dampened, however, when the Sophomores crossed the plate eleven times to their three.

The game started off with a dash, neither team connecting with the ball for a run until the third inning. Then, Miller and Clark, each presented Challenger with a "three-bagger." From this time on the game was a "walk away" for the Sophomores. The Freshmen rallied in the fifth netting three scores.

Seven innings finished the game with a final score of 11 to 3 in the Sophomores favor.

SPECIAL Y. M. AND Y. W. C. A. SERVICES.

Joint Meeting Held Monday Evening in Oratory of the Chapel.

On Monday evening a joint meeting of the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations was held. A very interesting program was enjoyed by all. There was special music by a quartet consisting of Miss Stolzenbach, Miss Berkey, Mr. Murray and Mr. Frank Miller. Miss Stolzenbach and Miss Berkey also sang a duet.

Mr. Hartung led the meeting and talked on "What the Christian Associations in College Stand For." He said there are four definite purposes for the organization: First, saving of souls; second, the development of the spiritual side of life; third, higher ideals; fourth, a high standard of manhood and womanhood.

Miss Rowley in her talk on "The Development of the Spiritual Side of Life," said that the student comes to college with definite ideas concerning what he is going to do in athletics, social or intellectual ways, but his ideas of the spiritual side are vague. The student is to be pitied who allows college to lead him away from Christ.

Miss Foster spoke of "The Mutual Benefits Derived From the Association." She showed how prominent a place the associations occupy in college life and how they allow us not only to receive help from others, but also to give help. In closing she said: Let us work that we may not only make a living but a life. "Our acts, our angels are, and whether for good or ill, they stay by us still."

Mr. Mackey next spoke of "The Benefits of the Association to Character." He said the word character comes from the Greek word meaning "impress" and our Christian character shows the impress of our Lord. As we live from day to day that impress should be more fixed and deep. The associations should stand for fair dealing and clean living.

beaten by fully fifteen yards. In the second relay Stidger started out in good form but killed himself before he had gone half the distance. At the end he was five yards behind the leader. In the third quarter, Fish made a game effort to close up the gap and succeeded in lessening the space between him and the leader to two yards. Giesey finished the mile and reached the tape five yards behind the winner. Considering the conditions of the track the time, 3:39, was unusually fast.

In the shot put Giesey surpassed his former record by four and a half inches, making 34 feet 8½ inches, winning second place in the contest.

In the hurdles Mitchell made a fine showing and would have won the 220 yard event had he not been thrown badly by the winner whom he was out-running.

In the broad jump, Clark qualified but in the finals missed his stride and failed to get a place.

"Brooklyn University," a project of some citizens of that city, has begun to appear in the newspaper correspondence. Nothing has been said to show who is back of the movement nor what success it has had, but a great many laudatory statements about Brooklyn as a site for institutions of learning have been made by citizens who seem to be waiting for the endowments as the only absent factor.

That's The Place Where College Boys

LIKE TO BUY THEIR Clothing and Furnishings,

and they do buy them there.

This place has been the college boy's store and it is more popular than ever this season — for many reasons. First, because they are used as they like to be used; because we make a specialty of Clothing and Furnishings for Young Men and College Men; because we have extra style if you want it.

Here is what we've done since college closed last term: We've taken the second floor of the block and remodeled it and now have as well a clothing place as you'll find in any city, and this improvement gives us four times the room that we had last term. We have four times the stock of clothing and fixings that we had ever seen in Meadville. Great purchases of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothing, and many other good makes.

There's no use of talking so much about it to you in the paper; come in and see what we're like.

Any of the fellows will tell you about us, and the kind of goods we have.

We'll be glad to meet you here.

Spalding's Official Athletic Almanac

For 1905

Edited by J. E. SULLIVAN

(Chief of Department of Physical Culture, Louisiana Purchase Exposition.)

Should be read by every college student, as it contains the records of all college athletes and amateur events in this country and abroad. It also contains a complete review of the Olympic Games from the official report of Director Sullivan and a resume of the two days devoted to sports in which savages were the only contestants, in which it is proved conclusively that savages are not the natural born athletes we have heretofore supposed them to be. This is the first time in which the athletic performances of savages have ever been systematically recorded. This is the largest Athletic Almanac ever published, containing 320 pages. Numerous illustrations of prominent athletes and track teams.
