INAUGURATION OF NEW PRESIDENT TOMORROW

President Hixson Will Take Oath of Office in Gymnasium in Afternoon

GOVERNOR SPROUL, BISHOP McCONNELL, T. P. MILLER AMONG NOTED MEN ON PROGRAM. RECEPTIONS TO DELEGATES OF INSTITUTIONS IN EVENING

On Thursday, November 11, Allegheny College will inaugurate its new president, Fred W. Hixson, D.D., LL.D. Invitations have been sent to all the leading colleges and Universities in America. The Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, William C. Sproul, has promised to be present and will speak on the occasion. It is expected that hundreds of alumni also will return for the inauguration ceremonies.

The new gymnasium is to be used for the first time. Governor William C. Sproul, who is by virtue of his office a trustee of the college, will be heartily welcomed. Bishop Frances J. McConnell one of the outstanding men in American Methodism will offer the good wishes of the church. The oath of office is to be administered by Judge John J. Henderson, who twenty-seven years ago administered the oath to Dr. William H. Crawford.

President Hixson was born in Indiana, forty-five years ago, the son of a Methodist minister. In 1899, he graduated from De Pauw University, an honor man interested in many activities. He was then ordained to the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was in charge of several leading Indiana Churches until, in April, 1914, he was called to be President of the University of Chattanooga. During his six years' administration, the university arose to rank of one of the leading educational institutions in the South; a new standard of scholarship was set, and five new buildings were erected.

tenon Club, the Knights Templar, and the University Senate of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was a delegate to the recent General Conference of the Methodist Church at Des Moines. He is also contributor to the church press and a frequent lecturer before educational associations and lyceums.

President Hixson received the degree of doctor of divinity from De Pauw University in 1913, and the degree of doctor of laws from Dickinson College in 1918.

FORENSIC ACTIVITIES

TAKE ON NEW ASPECT AS TIME FOR CONTESTS APPROACH

As usual, the Faculty Oratorical Committee, consisting of Professors Henke, Darling and Swartley has prepared an elaborate schedule of oratorical activities for this year. This program is similar to those given in former years.

The first event, on November the seventeenth, is the annual Freshman-Sophomore Declamation Contest and Upper - Classman Extemporaneous Speaking Contest. In the former, the men are allowed the chance to prepare their speeches, in the latter, the contestants learn their subjects only on the evening of the program. Competent judges will be chosen and unbiased decisions assured. As will be remembered, Bozic, '23, and Meredith, '20, were the winners last year.

On December the third, the oratorical event takes place in the Wakefield Contest. This contest was originated by James Wakefield for the promotion of oratory and has a prize in the shape of a fifty dollar purse attached to it. In addition to this substantial purse, the winner has the honor of representing the college in the inter-collegiate oratorical contest which takes place during the later part of the winter. Participation in this event is usually limited to men above Freshman rank. By a specified date the orations must be in the hands of the committee to be passed upon.

In March comes a contest of lesser importance, namely the Philo-Franklin Oratorical Contest. This is open to all under the rank of Senior and is usually hotly contested. First and second prizes of ten and twenty dollars each are offered.

Plans are now under way for the enlargement of our debating activities. The annual triangle debate between Wooster, Washington and Jefferson, and Allegheny will, of course be held. In addition to this, the committee is considering the arrangement of another triangle debate between the University of Pittsburgh and Ohio Wesleyan. If this is done, the scope of Allegheny's forensic campaign will be doubled, thus giving places on the teams to men, who though unsuccessful in the past, are yet competent enough to represent this college upon one of its debating teams.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting, Wednesday, November 3, was in charge of C. H. Neely. There was a discussion of what the college student should do when he goes home from college. The people will judge the college by the actions of the students.

The meeting was well attended and general interest prevailed. A large number took part in the general discussion.

LIVE WIRE ALUMNI

NEW YORK ASSOCIATION KEEPS IN TOUCH WITH ALMA MATER. LETTER TO ALLEGHENIANS

That the New York alumni are on the qui vive is evident from the following letter just received by the editor of the Campus from the secretary of that association.

Our fall dinner was held on Friday, October 22, at the Aldine Club and there has been none better or more enthusiastic. It was necessary to hold it on comparatively short notice, for we wished to have President Hixson as the guest of honor, and that date was his only open one. Despite that disadvantage thirty-four of "the faithful" were able to come and if you could have seen the enthusiastic crowd and heard the demonstrative welcome given President Hixson, you wouldn't doubt the propriety of my feeling that the New York Alumni Association is most alive and merrily kicking.

Arthur Thompson was there and certainly the Board of Trustees has a live wire for their chairman. He gave us a ten-minute talk which overflowed with spirit and tonic for us alumni.

Ida Tarbell gave the formal address of welcome to President Hixson and it was only more demonstration of why we New Yorkers bristle with pride that she is an Alleghenian—and a New Yorker. Certainly President Hixson must know now, and can never forget, that we were glad to see him—she told him so as no one else could have done, and in that virile fashion which characterizes all her written or spoken words.

And then President Hixson spoke to us. In a few minutes only, he said much—very much— and now we know why you in Meadville are proud of our new President. No one could fail to be proud of him after hearing him tell his story of Allegheny as he finds her, his glowing testimonial to her faculty and students alike and his plans for the Allegheny of the future.

BAND WORKING DAILY

Prospects for a successful year for Allegheny's band are excellent. Working practically day and night with all their hearts and souls, Maitland and his followers are getting results.

There are a goodly number of musicians present at each rehearsal all of whom are doing faithful and constant practice at the meetings as well as at home during their spare hours. Although the men now out are fine musicians, several other ones could be used. Anyone contemplating joining the band should do so immediately, as no new members will be taken on after the first concert.

Full rehearsals are held twice a week, with some section practising separately every day. The steady attendance at these rehearsals goes to prove that the spirit prompting their ambition is of the right kind.

Plans are to have the band make its initial appearance sometime before Christmas. However, no definite date can be announced. The first concerts will be of the popular type, while those to be held later in the year will deal with the more classical style of music.

A four or five day trip south to Pittsburgh, with stops at Thiel College, Grove City College, Geneva College and Carnegie Tech, is being planned for early spring; it will perhaps be made in March or April.

It is probable that the band will assist in the Presidential Inauguration, which is to be held this week.

A course in the phychology of music has been announced at Johns Hopkins University. The course will cover the psychology of hearing, the psychological principle of underlying melody, harmony and rhythm and the musical work.

SUNDAY SERMOM UNUSUAL

IN ITS TREATMENT OF THE COMMONPLACE. DR. BOYD'S MESSAGE OF WIDESPREAD APPEAL

Dr. Boyd, pastor of the Park Presbyterian Church of Erie, and a graduate of Centre College addressed the Chapel congregation Sunday morning. Dr. Boyd took his text from the 9th chapter, 10th verse, of Proverbs: "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." "There is beauty in the most common detail of our lives," said Dr. Boyd.

"As we come to the end of the third century since the Pilgrim fathers faced their hardships in a new country, it is necessary for us to look to the future, as they did. They realized that hard tasks were before them. Americans of today have a repugnance for the small task and details. This is largely because of the pioneering instincts handed down to them from their ancestors. We have a feeling that we can move to some new task as soon as we become tired of our present job. We are forever seeking new goals.

"The beginning of the 4th century must see a reappraisement of the common task. We must realize that there is a divine sanctity about the most common task. This is necessary if we are to build a national morale.

"We do just as little as we may, hoping that some day we will find a task to our liking. We must recognize the beauty in the tasks before our hands. There is no task that can be assigned to you that is a trifle. A beauty has been placed in each task by God Almighty.

"The world never calls for a leader who has been sitting idly dreaming while the spiders build cob webs about him. A leader must be used to hard concentrated work. You must rouse yourself before weakness claims you for its own.

"The Ancients could not realize the magnitude of the carpenter's bench and choose to oust Christ from his leadership. When Christ chose men for leaders he picked men of humble origin. His three greatest blessings were on the most humble things of life. Just so, there is something big in the dryest subject of the college curriculum. And if

FORUM DISCUSSES IMMIGRATION

Immigration was discussed pro and con at the Forum in Bentley Hall Friday afternoon. Some interesting points were made.

Bollinger, of the affirmative, declared that foreign immigration to the United States caused a lowering of our wage scale thus causing overproduction and under-consumption. He also stated that immigration deprives our native laborer of opportunities which he would otherwise have and also lowers the conditions of employment because foreigners will work under conditions which our native laborer will not tolerate. He stated further that we are unable to assimilate the influx of foreigners and as a result they were not securing the necessary education.

Additional arguments in favor of the restriction of foreign immigration were presented by Bozic, who said that the quality of character of the average immigrant was gradually decreasing. He suggested improvement over present conditions by adopting the Johnson Registration Law which makes it necessary for the prospective immigrant to prove that he is worthy to enter the United States. As conditions are now, it is necessary for the immigration authorities to prove that a foreigner is not worthy and often this is very difficult to do in spite of the fact that the individual may have been a criminal in his own country.

Skinner, for the negative, read sections of the Immigration Law regarding the restrictions now in effect and attempted to show that further restriction is unnecessary.

Stanley Thoburn maintained that we need more immigrants because of the labor shortage and cited several instances to prove his point.

The members of the Forum decided the debate in favor of the affirmative.

Modern languages have been eliminated from the required curricula of the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena.

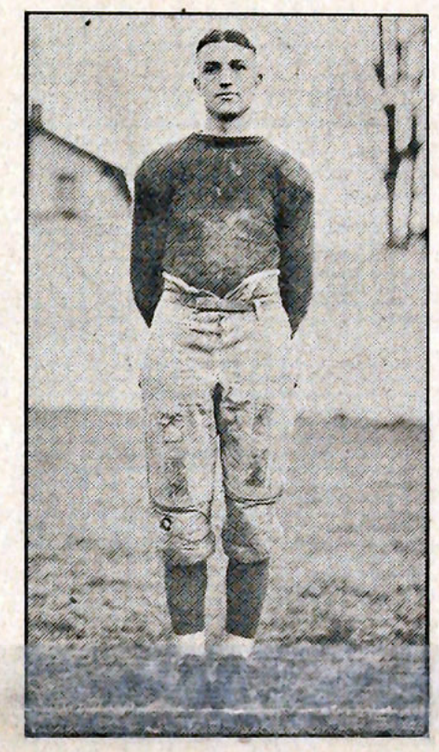

GRID HERO INJURED

Allegheny Suffers Severe Blow in Disablement of Roger Baldwin

Roger Baldwin, Allegheny's greatest end, has played his last football game for the Blue and Gold. He is now in a helpless condition in the hospital where the best men of the medical profession are working over him in hopes of putting him again on his feet. Captain Baldwin was injured in practice last Wednesday afternoon when he and Loomis tackled Dykes running with the ball. Baldwin was paralized from the waist down. He was transferred as soon as possible to Spencer Hospital where everything was done to help him.

Baldwin this season has proven himself a capable leader. He was half the team on the defensive and was the greatest asset to the eleven on the offensive. Captain Baldwin was the headiest player on the squad. This was his third year on the team, he did not go out for the team in his Freshman year. This year's team was centered about Baldwin, and his injury was the most severe blow that the team could possibly suffer. So far this year Allegheny had lost Miller and Dale but there were substitutes that were able to partially fill the gap. When Baldwin was lost the coach was up against a real proposition, trying to get a man who could fill Baldy's shoes.

Not only will Roger be missed in football but his loss will be a hard blow to the floor team. Last year Baldwin proved to be one of the best defensive men that Allegheny has produced for some time. This year with his added experience he was scheduled to be the best guard in this section. Last season he outscored his man, seeming to know just when to get into the offensive and when to look after his man. It will be better to lose him in the first part of the season than in the middle as the coach will have a chance to develop some the second string men for his place.

The whole school mourns the loss of her able football captain and basket ball guard. His loss means more to the team than many people admit. The team will have to play harder now to keep up, with its early season record. The Tech game showed what Baldwin was to the team and the folowing games will no doubt bear the same evidence. The whole school is hoping for his complete recovery for he is not only missed on the field but on the campus and in the numerous college activities in which he is interested.

THE LITERARY MONTHLY

A CRITICAL REVIEW

The Literary Monthly (not too much emphasis on the "Literary") is erroniously defined as the monthly publication of the student body of Allegheny College.

In the first place there has never been more than seven numbers during the school year; and again, the work that has appeared has been the sole output of the much slandered and little appreciated "Lit Board." The student body has not participated.

This year however, the early appearance of the first number points toward the realization of the promise of eight editions. With the 100% circulation, due to the changed financial basis, it is hoped that the school will feel like sharing the "glory" which is bound to come to the, as yet, little appreciated magazine.

The staff plans to put the Monthly across as something worth reading—something peppy, interesting and well organized. The November number which appeared last week showed two well written, interesting stories and a most original clever essay which any one with a particle of humor will thoroughly enjoy. Poems covering a variety of subject, added their bit.

In addition to these usual departments, the editor has added a calendar which (to use a trite phrase), will entertain and instruct. The Review section contains material selected from old files of the magazine.

The staff, while most likely a very efficient organization, feels the need of support and begs that readers will be kind in criticisms and generous in contributions.

WHAT IS RELIGION?

A scientific discussion of the origin of religion was given by members of the Scientific Discussion Class which meets in the Chapel Sunday mornings at 10 a. m., under the leadership of Dr. Darling. It was pointed out that the most primitive types of man had some form of religion. Among the American Indians this took the form of a worship of the sun, moon and stars. At first they had many different gods but they discarded them one by one until they had only the one god left whom they called the Great Father, or Manitou.

It is a difficult thing to give a definition of religion and possibly the ones found in the dictionary are as good as any. Religion is an instinct even in primitive man. At first it was a religion of fear. Now our religion is one of love.

Last Monday evening the Sophomore girls held their annual secret spread. About 8:30 they left the Hall and sought the solitude of the Glee Club Rooms in Bently. There they made merry and everyone enjoyed herself. Of course they had something to eat or it would not have been a spread. Before they returned to the Hall, they gave a serenade, a thing which has not been done by girls for some time. Some time during the night each Freshman girl had a little green yarn doll, fastened to a tag on which a verse was written, left at her door.

An unusually large number of applications have been received at the University of Michigan by women who desire to work their way through the university. Over half the applicants signify a desire to do housework.

EDITORIAL

Thursday afternoon Dr. Fred Whitlo Hixson, president of this college since last June, will formally take the oath of office. It is a solemn oath which he takes, and a difficult task which devolves upon him. In choosing the man to undertake the work of directing the policy of the college at this period the trustees were exhaustive in their inquiries and deliberate in their decision. For they knew the magnitude of the job and the wide scope of the policies which are ushered in with the new president.

Allegheny students and faculty are emphatic in their support of President Hixson, and those who have met him have expressed pleasure at the choice of the trustees. The Campus, as the voice of the study body, can express only confidence and good will towards President Hixson, and pledge its loyal support.

That Allegheny is productive of loyal and active alumni is the strongest argument that has been presented in support of the Allegheny type of education and college life. In this issue of the Campus appears an account of the activities of the New York Alumni Association. Their loyalty and interest in the college has never lagged.

We are the recipients of numerous other such letters from Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Boston, and other cities and districts where former Alleghenians are living.

Alumni associations can be, and are formed where there are five or six alumni and up. The college appreciates their spirit, and their spirit makes them appreciate the college.

The Campus Staff meets every Friday at 1:15 o'clock in the Campus office in Bentley Hall.

REPLY BY A WOULD-BE ROMEO

That sedate old building looking so mysterious and inviting, which we call Hulings Hall, is full of happy young life. Their care free outlook upon life necessitates many rules to be laid upon them, not only their behavior when absent from the fold is looked after but their actions within are likewise shackled, and concerning this latter point, Dear Editor, was that front page piece in the number five issue of the Campus, and concerning this same point I have been stimulated to scribble this epistle.

Well known is the fact that the Juliets of the Hall have quiet hours, and if we must speak to our fair one we must do it when we can and not when we want to. Where the shoe pinches the foot of most of the male users of the Bell System is in the results obtained in so doing. They have deprived us this year of the convenience of calling the Hall from a choice of two 'phones, which results in very little standing room for the telephone fans. The inmates always stand near the phone during the alloted time for calling and seem to do their utmost in making as much noise as possible so that you can't talk to your fair one after missing dinner to get her to the phone.

And then there is another thing. There are a few, they seem many, who camp on the wire. They not only coo and tell fairy stories while they have the wire but they go through the long process of getting mad and then making up. There is another type of time wasters and that is the couple who agreed to talk at a certain time and don't do it. HE calls at a time unspecified and SHE is away, the farthest away she can get from the telephone at that time, and then begins the old game of hide and seek to bring her to the telephone. She realizes like most of the girls do or should do, that it is her duty to hang around the 'phone when it has been prearranged that she is due for a call. In this case it is the fault of the male.

As I stand on one foot, then on the other counting the heart beats in my left heart, Dear Editor, I wonder if it will be necessary for history to repeat itself—that of passing notes as we did of yore in grammar schools.

She (tenderly)—"When did you first know you loved me?"

He—"When I began to get mad when people said you were brainless and unattractive.—The Brown Bull (Kansas Aggies).

OVERSEAS CLUB

Members of the Overseas Club have been more or less hindered in their efforts to make plans for the fitting celebration of Armistict Day, owing to the inauguration of President Hixson, which will take place on that day, and will take precedence over all other events scheduled for November 11.

It is probable that the club will take over the chapel exercises that morning, but to just what extent they will celebrate is undetermined.

It will be remembered that the only college observation of Armistice Day last year, aside from the chapel service, was the planting of a tree in memory of Ralph Graham by the Biology Club, of which he was a member.

The Meadville chapter of the American Legion will present Victory Medals to its members and hold other fitting services.

ALUMNI

PROMINENT ALUMNUS DEAD

James A. Gary, postmaster general under President McKinley and prominent Allegheny alumnus, died at his home in Baltimore on October 31.

James A. Gary was born at Uncasville, Conn., October 22, 1833. He was educated at Rockhill Institute, Maryland, and Allegheny College, Pennsylvania. When he was aged 7 his parents moved to Baltimore, where he later became his father's partner in a cotton duck manufacturing enterprise. He had been active in politics since 1858, when he was the Whig nominee for the Maryland Senate. He was a delegate to the Republican National Convention on five occasions and in 1872 was the Republican candidate for Congress. He served as postmaster general in President McKinley's cabinet from March, 1897, to May, 1898.

Miss Gladys Raymond, '20, is teaching in the Rocky Grove High School, Franklin, Pa.

Rev. and Mrs. O. C. Jones formerly of Cleveland, have moved to Kansas where Mr. Jones has accepted a charge in the Methodist Church.

Newsy Notes

Dr. Frederick G. Henke, Professor of Philosophy at Allegheny, has recently been chosen a member of a committee of three to represent the City of Meadville in an appeal to the Public Service Commission of this state. The dispute relates to the matter of the raise in the price of gas by the United Natural Gas Company, which controls the gas distribution in this part of the state.

It is interesting to note that on November the nineteenth of last year, the cornerstone of the new gymnasium was laid. The first function in this new edifice will be held on Thursday afternoon of this week, one year lacking eight days, from the date of the breaking of ground.

On Thursday evening the new dining room of Hulings Hall was formally opened with President and Mrs. Hixson, Dr. and Mrs. Elliott, and Dean and Mrs. Ross as the guests of honor. The dining room was effectively decorated with blue and gold. During the course of the meal, the girls sang various songs. Afterwards Miss Madeline Stanford, '21, acted as toastmistress; Pres. Hixson, Dr. Elliott, Dean Ross and Dean Spalding spoke.

A jazz orchestra is being planned by the Y. M. C. A. This is to form an important part of all the future meetings.

The Y. M. C A. meetings have never been attended as the officers think they should be attended. They are anxious to add everything of general interest possible in order to build up the attendance at the weekly meetings. This is only one of the steps being taken by the officers of this organization to arouse enthusiasm. The exact personnel of the orchestra is not yet known but it will be prepared to take part in the meeting this evening. The Y. M. C. A. hopes that an especially large crowd will be present to hear it.

It has just been learned that Doctor R. E. Lee has recently declined an urgent invitation to enter the State Bureau of Education, which is under the supervision of Doctor Finnegan, Superintendent.

The system of organization is rapidly being reorganized and the work has been divided into bureaus with experts in charge.

Dr. Lee was asked to take the position as Head of the Scientific Bureau in which capacity he would have had charge of all the scientific work in the public school system in the State of Pennsylvania.

Doctor Lee has stated that, whereas the work as well as the financial inducements were very attractive, he has decided to remain in college work. Doctor Lee has been at the Head of the Department of Chemistry in Allegheny College for the past thirteen years.

QUILL CLUB ELECTIONS

A special meeting of Quill Club was held Saturday morning to elect new members. Since a change has been made in the constitution whereby there shall be no ex-officio members, the following were elected into full membership: Miss Ethel Powney, '21, Harold Ruse, '21, Ralph Limber, '22, and John Bird, '22. The newly elected members are Jerome Hixson, '22, R. T. Doing, '22, and the Misses Ruth Lermann, '21, Louise Hulin, '22, Martha Brown, '22, Alicia Tobin, '23, and Helen Bowman, '23.

Allegheny Might Do This for Her Freshmen

To foil the profiteering landlady at Ann Arbor, the University of Michigan authorized the purchase of army barracks from Camp Custer, and ordered them fitted up to meet the needs of male students.

Y. W. C. A.

On Tuesday night the Y. W. provided voting places for the girls of Hulings Hall as well as refreshments. Contrary to usual rules, electioneering was allowed within one hundred feet of the poles; so various signs were attached to the booths; as: "Vote for Cox. He will help the elements keep off dry weather. The Man for the Hour—but an hour is only 60 minutes. How about the other 48,567,000 minutes in four years?" The final vote gave the election to Mr. Harding; it is evident that Hulings Hall fairly represents public sentiment in politics.

At Y. W. service Sunday night Miss Gretchen Wood, '21, discussed prayer. Just as it is not necessary to understand the reasons for all physical and scientific phenomena, so it is not necessary to understand why prayers are answered, in order to pray.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB

A regular meeting of Twentieth Century Club was held Monday evening, November 8. The constitution, its amendments, and early history of the club were read by the secretary. Miss Belle Bollinger, '21, was in charge of the program. Miss Mary Gealy, '22, reviewed an article on "The Unpuritan Puritans" emphasising their humanity. "The Pilgrims' contributions to America," their ideal of democracy, influence upon education, and moral leadership were stated by Miss Francis Pitt, '22. Under the title of "Three Centuries of Expansion" Miss Marie Charlton, '22, linked up the Pilgrim fathers with the America of 1920.

THOBURN CLUB

The Thoburn Club met last Thursday evening to arrange a program for the year. Plans are under way whereby some noted speaker will be brought to Allegheny. Arrangements are being made for this meeting and the entire college will be invited to attend.

The students' expenses were paid by the Venezuelan government.

Kansas U.'s cheer leader is mobilizing the student body into companies of Minute Men with such fine system that the whole student body may be summoned "on deck' 'on 30 minutes' notice. Each fraternity house, boarding house and rooming house is to elect its captain, whose duty is to get his men together on a minute's notice from the cheer leader. These Minute Men will respond as those of old, giving the next crowd that tries to paint the campus something to think about.

Prof. Herbert A. Miller of Oberlin College upon returning from a three month's visit to foreign countries declared that English money had a chance to return to pre-war value. Of the other countries he doubted their ability to ever regain their former position sufficiently to make American investors anything who purchased their script.

"The Appreciation of Music" has been added as a course to the curriculum of Georgetown University. A student to receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts must pass an examination in this study.

A course in commercial engineering has been started at the University of Utah. Some of the subjects included are western economic resources, western natural resources, Latin-American trade and business organization.

Columbia will then be the largest educational institution in the world. Their enrollment at the past summer session was over 10,000, the largest in the history of the university.

THE TECH GAME

ACTUALLY TOOK PLACE DESPITE RUMORS TO THE CONTRARY

Allegheny, minus the services of her able Captain, Rog Baldwin, lost to Carnegie Institute of Technology on the latter's field Saturday afternoon, by the score of 42 to 0. This is the worst defeat suffered by any Blue and Gold team for years. On the offensive Allegheny was completely outplayed. Captain Baldwin's absence no doubt had a great deal to do with the defeat. The Tech line completely outplayed her opponents especially on the Plaid right side where most of the large gains were made.

"Scoots" Nelson did his best to fill Baldwin's shoes but try as he might his inexperience was the greatest asset to the Plaid warriors. The other men, Kirkpatrick and Mansfield proved to be no better. Every man fought his best but lack of experience told the tale.

For Tech, Wierman and Brumbaugh proved to be the most consistent ground gainers. Marshall came in for his share of yards also. The Tech backfield had the best of interference and able assistance from its line making the great number of gains possible. Wierman seemed able to circle the ends most every time that he was called on, while Brumbaugh hit the line like a bullet and usually made from two to ten yards.

Tech's attack consisted mostly of successful attempts of Wierman to scamper around end and of Brumbaugh shattering the Blue and Gold line. Each of these two men made two touchdowns. Until the final period Tech did not use her open passing game to any advantage, but when it got to working it netted her many yards. One pass, Wierman to Anderson, netted one touchdown.

Allegheny fought brilliantly from the start to the final whistle, but they were outclassed. The Tech team seemed to be better trained and played together with more team work. The Blue and Gold eleven fought hard but could not stop the Plaid. Even early in the game Coach Applegran started to send in substitutes to stem the tide of the crashing line plunges and the mystifying trick plays which Coach Steffen's usually built around the speedy Wierman or Hable. Carnegie protected her runners in fine style and more than one Allegheny man, who looked as though he might make the tackle was clipped off.

The Tech ends Wittmer and Hable were too active for the Blue and Gold when they tried to skirt the ends, and Comfort and Springles, tackles, together with Henderson and Rosenbloom guards were almost impassible. Irwin at center was in the midst of nearly every play and followed the ball closely. The whole backfield, even down to the substitutes, played good ball.

Tech deserved to win and to get all the credit for the victory. Like Allegheny, Tech was without the services of her leader, "Red" Godden. In the course of the game Tech made a total of five hundred and sixty-four yards to but seventy-three for Applegran's men. The Plaid made eighteen first downs to but one for Allegheny. Two passes went through for Tech and one for her invaders. In the penalties Tech suffered the most with a total of seven penalties for seventy yards loss, while Allegheny's five netted but twenty-five yards loss. Over the aeriel route the Plaid made forty-seven yards to thirteen for the Blue and Gold. Tech fumbled more often than did our boys but on the score of recovering fumbles both teams were even.

It was the Allegheny secondary defense men who kept the score as low as it was. Time after time it would be Ford Miller or Morley or Cunningham who would stop the Plaid runner after he had evaded the first line of defense. Ford Miller played a whale of a game on defense and on more than one occasion broke through the Tech defense and stopped the runner either for a loss or on the line of scrimmage. Cunningham while he was in the game played the same kind of football. Though somewhat hindered by a bad leg Cunningham played a superior defensive game, backing up the line on both sides and in the middle. Morley at quarterback showed up well on the defense. He had little or no chance on the offensive to make good. Secor, who replaced Graham, proved to be one of the sure tacklers on the team and played a very good game. Secor's passing was very good and the only Allegheny pass to go through was from Secor to Nelson. He looks very promising as a back.

In the line, "Abe" Kramer stopped everything that came his way. Most of the Tech gains were made on the other side. After a few tries, Marshall, the opposing quarterback, showed his good judgment by not running any plays at "Abe." Kramer had a good assistant on each side of him in Parker at guard and Shultz at end. Parker, though he has been playing at most every position on the team, was a thorn in the side of the Steffen's men, breaking through the line continually and many times getting the man with the ball. He fought all through the game and gave his man a real tussle. Shultz on end played well but needs more experience.

It was the left side of the Allegheny line that was weak. Nelson tried to step into Baldwin's shoes but had too large a job and lacked the experience. When Baldwin is on the end he holds up the other positions by doing some of their work but Loomis without the aid of his captain did not show up so well. Wright fought hard at guard until replaced by Potter.

From the first, Allegheny had to send in substitutes to try to stem the tide of defeat. Kirkpatrick was given a chance in Nelson's place but failed to do as well and "Scoots" was later sent back into his old position. Houser replaced Shultz but showed even less football knowledge than his predecessor. When the game ended it found two backfield men playing ends as Parker was found at right end and Mansfield at the other extermity. Mansfield played a good game but his place is in the backfield and not on an end. The line-up:

Tech—42.		Allegheny—0.
Wittmer	L. E.	Nelson
Comfort	L. T.	Loomis
Henderson	L. G.	Wright
Irwin	C.	Dundon
Rosenbloom	R. G.	Parker

Hable	R. E.	Shultz
Marshall	Q.	Morley
Wierman	L. H.	Plumb
Anderson	R. H.	Graham
Brumbaugh	F.	Cunningham

Score by periods:
Tech .....7 7 7 21—42

Substitutions: Allegheny — Miller for Cunningham, Kirkpatrick for Nelson, Hauser for Shultz, Nelson for Kirkpatrick, Secor for Graham, Murphy for Loomis, Potter for Wright, Mansfield for Murphy, Cunningham for Miller. Time of quarters—15 minutes. Referee—McFarland of W. & J. Umpire—Miller of Penn States. Head linesman—Bloom, Iron City Commercial College.

CROSS-COUNTRY RUNNING

Saturday afternoon as a preliminary to the Allegheny-Westminster football game the annual cross-country race will be staged. This race should hold more than passing interest in so far as it is the first race of its kind to have been held during this present school generation. The last race was run in the fall of 1916. The following year the men who had been training for this event were disappointed because of the very poor weather that confronted them on the evening of the race. There was no race during the war as every one was supposed to have been doing intensive work in their studies.

The course of the race will be mapped out between now and the time for the race and all contestants will be made familiar with the route. As has been planned for some time, the finish will be in front of the grandstand on Montgomery Field, after the runners have made one lap on the track. The track will be in good condition as the contractor has been cleaning up the debris in the rear of the gym and has restored the track to its former condition.

The race will start about two o'clock or one-half hour before the start of the football game. This will give the early arrivals something to wait for and those who come in at the time for the game to start will see the finish of the race.

The judges have not been chosen as yet but capable men will no doubt be selected. The race will be held under the supervision of track coach Herman Fahr, who is on the lookout for some good material for next spring's track team.

GLEE CLUB

Always seeking to introduce innovations in their program, the College Glee Club has decided to change the second half of their programs from the type presented in former years to a light opperetta. The club has chosen "Trial by Jury," a Gilbert-Sullivan production for the first of the year's programs. People acquainted with the Gilbert-Sullivan productions know what to expect—something snappy, clever, and extremely musical.

During the inauguration events Thursday, the Glee Club will appear twice on the program.

"It's a great life if you don't get serious."

FOOTBALL DOPE

ON COMING GAMES GIVE HOPEFUL OUTLOOK

With the Tech game now a thing of the past the attention of the football followers is turned to the last home game of the season. Westminster College will be the worthy opponent of Allegheny in this encounter when the two teams line up for the kick-off on Montgomery Field Saturday afternoon.

Though the record of the Presbyterians is not as good as that of some of the teams that we have run up against this year, a real contest is expected. Westminster has always been a hard opponent for the Blue and Gold and this year will be no exception as the visitors are being pointed for this encounter.

Like the Maroon team of Grove City the visitors will have a very heavy line averaging about 190 pounds from tackle to tackle. They have a backfield which is about up to the Westminster standard. Their punter, however, is not up to the usual calibre and so far this season has not done very well.

n the past three encounters the Presbyterians have not won a single game. As a matter of fact they have not crossed the Blue and Goad goal line. The scores of the games are: 1917, Allegheny 21, Westminster 0; 1918, Allegheny 7, Westminster 0; 1919, tie game 0-0.

With Captain Roger Baldwin out of the game the two teams will line up about evenly matched. The two lines have proven to have been the greatest amount of worry for their coaches. Tech went through one side of the Blue and Gold line easily Saturday while Bethany simply walked over the Westminster line on the same day. Allegheny has the edge when the backfield is alone considered. If the line upholds its job and plays as it did against Colgate or Grove City, the backs, no matter whom Coach Applegran chooses will do their work well. The backs cannot gain when the line does not hold. Plumb, Cunningham, Miller and Secor did splendid work against Tech while Morley played a great game sustaining Apply's choice for the pivot position. With a little more experience so that he will have the necessary confidence in his own judgment Morley will prove to be a star. Mansfield, with a little more signal practice will hustle all of them to keep their jobs. "Yoc" is not only the best punter on the squad but is a fine open-field runner and a strength to any defence. It is hoped, by those who saw him in action in the Thiel game last year, that he will be given a chance in the coming games.

Allegheny knows about what to expect from the team from New Wilmington, while the visitors are pretty well supplied with information as to the Allegheny style of play. When the Allegheny men saw the big W. & J. team defeat the Westminster team they did not have much of a chance to see many Presbyterian plays in action, as W. &. J. had the ball in their possession most of the time. Westminster got its dope from the Grove City and Carnegie Tech games. The work of the linemen will be the deciding factor in the final outcome of this game. Against Tech the line fought hard but did not work as smoothly as it will have to work against their next opponents if they expect to come out on top. More than likely the loss of Captain Baldwin was the chief instrument in this disorganized team play but it must be remedied before Saturday's game.

In short, it was a truly fine meeting and the New York alumni have been revivified—I mean just that, and we have been filled with all the needed pep to make this next year the most active and successful one to date.

R. R. Ross, was elected President of the Association for this next year, splendid insurance that it will be a year of "doings," not "thinkings." As is quite customary, there was much argument over the secretarysnip, and after definite assurance that there would be no embezzlement of association funds, they elected C. Alan Eckels, '13.

The New York Alumni Association is on her way to a brilliant year and we hereby serve notice on all other alumni associations and individual alumni that they had best put on their goggles if they wish to preserve their eyesight while watching us rush past.

Congress has appropriated three and a half million dollars for the army schools at Camp Grant at which 107,000 soldiers are taking courses.

Eight hundred and eighty-four courses are offered at Indiana University this year. The new school of commerce and finance opened with a large enrollment. Difficulty in retaining faculty members has been apparently due to salaries paid.

SUNDAY SERMON

we see it as part of the preparation which is to make the world worth while, we will find ourselves driving forth to the most difficult task.

In closing Dr. Boyd quoted from Edgar A. Guest:

My Creed

"To live as gently as I can;
To be, no matter where, a man;
To take what comes of good or ill
And cling to faith and honor still;
To do my best and let that stand
The record of my brain and hand;
And then, should failure come to me
Still work and hope for victory."
