

chap.
notes 2 85-

I think certainly something of this in the early pages makes it necessary that here you recognize that the matter has been mentioned before; a word would probably do it. ^{entirely} I wish a place a few pages back, but here I could not
not having the ~~former~~ earlier text before me.

There is such an inequality
 between a / Musical & the ~~Principals~~
 that it calls for a word of only of ~~Commitment~~

X off his guard & with an excited smile of his feet on the table, and then, with catching himself & with a remarkable change of tone — "That is if he could do it
 honestly; Mrs. Tarbell, if he could do it honestly (that's how I hoped to know much better; You are a grand talker & a womaness)

No. 110 That sentence
X does not match
any in its expression unintended as if that is the true, this may be a commentary of the country, and standards of a history of its etc