Miss Ida M. Tarbell
Youngstown, Ohio

Dear Miss Tarbell,

Your letter of the 5th just received and I am writing to tell you how delighted I am over your promised visit.

We - my husband, my son, and I - hope to hear your talk at the Forum on Sunday afternoon. Would it not be fine if you could arrange to come home with us, or if you have other arrangements for Sunday night, as I suppose you have, could you not spend all of Monday with me? There are so many records to compare and so many things to talk about. When we see you on Sunday we shall know just what plan suits you. If you can not come home with us Sunday afternoon, Dr. Rudolph will call for you any time Monday.

This morning's mail brought a letter from Mrs. White. She incloses a pamphlet by Dr. Tyler, one time president of William and Mary and now editor of Tyler's Magazine in which he refutes Barton's claim that Lincoln was related to Lee.

Dr. Louis A. Warren speaks in Boston on Wednesday next and Mrs. White entertains him and Mrs. Hitchcock at dinner afterward. Would you not like to hear how they settle some very important questions? By the way, I sent Dr. Warren a great stack of papers only last Tuesday; but I have duplicates of everything I sent him.

I can not tell you, Miss Tarbell, how happy your letter has made me. I have wanted to write you ever since I first learned you were to be in Young's town, but I was so afraid something would happen and I could not get there, so I did not write. You can well understand how uncertain the comings and goings of one in a wheel-chair are. When one is dependent upon a physician whose time is well taken up.

John is in school this morning & he will be delighted when he learns that you are coming to see us.

Very sincerely Yours,

Myra Hyde Rudolph

(Mrs. J. T.)
