

Homecoming Scheduled For October 27; Grove City, Dance, Playshop Highlights

Allegheny's annual Homecoming has been scheduled for the weekend of October 27, according to Gustave Rylander, Alumni Secretary.

The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees, scheduled for 10:00 a.m. in the Alumni Office, will open Saturday's schedule of events for undergraduates and returning alumni. The Alumni Association Board of Directors will meet at 11:00 a.m. in Reis Library.

Following an informal alumni luncheon in Brooks Dining Hall will be the Allegheny-Grove City football game, scheduled for 2:15 at the college field. A cider and doughnut party will be held in Montgomery Gymnasium immediately after the game.

Saturday evening will feature two more social events. The annual Homecoming Dance, which is to be informal, will be in Brooks Hall from 9:00 to 12:00 p.m. "See How They Run", a comedy by Philip King, will be presented in the Playshop at 9:00 p.m.

A Homecoming service in Ford Memorial Chapel at 11:00 Sunday morning will close the weekend event.

Mr. Rylander has announced an innovation in the organization of Homecoming plans. Will Dicome and Jan Turner are co-chairmen of a student committee formed to assist in the weekend's preparations. Committee members are Bob Mowry, inter-fraternity decorations contest; Bill Tillotson, cider and doughnut party; Bud Cooley, band; Dave Mitchell, freshmen decorations; Jim Smith, freshmen customs; and Glenn Dunmire, Homecoming dance.

Rod Terry Elected Junior Class Prexy

Rod Terry won the presidency of the junior class in the run-off election held Tuesday, October 9, in Brooks Gym, according to Joyce Lowry, chairman of the elections.

Terry, who was nominated by petition, ran against Bob Barkley, Tom Mustio, and Don Neely in the regularly scheduled election last Friday, October 5. Runoffs were held the beginning of the week between Terry and Neely, because the former won only a plurality over his nearest contender, rather than a majority.

While approximately fifty-eight per cent of the class voted in Friday's election, only forty-three per cent voted in the runoffs.

The nominating committee consisted of Nancy Tolley, Jan Turner, Grant Alpaugh, Jack Heffner, Dave Barkley, and Joyce Lowry.

College Union Seeks Volunteer Assistance; Board Members Elected

Two innovations in the organization of the College Union, previously called the Student Union, were formulated at a meeting of the Student Affairs Committee last Thursday.

The Committee has asked for student and faculty volunteers to undertake supervisory tasks connected with the College Union. Anyone with ideas regarding sound equipment, decorations for the Union, or program and party planning is asked to contact Dean Charles W. McCracken as soon as possible. Volunteers are also needed to check game equipment in and out at the main desk.

Another innovation was the establishment of a board composed of four faculty members and six students, to coordinate the planning, policy and procedure of the Union. At Sunday's AUC meeting, the following appointments to the board were made: Dean McCracken, Dr. Allen B. Edwards, Dr. Louis Pino, and Ed Brink, representing the faculty and administration; Dick Uhrich representing AUC; and Don McCafferty, Abbie DeLellis, Pat Reisenman, Joe Dickson, and Gail Brinkman, representing the four classes.

Ed Brink, chairman, has announced an all-college cider and doughnut party to be held at the Union following Saturday's football game.

Concert Tonight

This evening, October 11, at 8:15, Margrethe Hokanson and Dr. Herbert Neurath, both members of the Allegheny music department, will present a recital of sonata music.

No admission will be charged for the following program:

Sonata in C major (K.296)
----- W. A. Mozart
Sonata in D minor, op. 103b
----- No. 1 Max Reger
Sonata in F major, op. 57
----- Antonin Dvorak

Hollywood Here Tomorrow!

Vera-Ellen, Hollywood dancing star, and an accompanying group of screen celebrities will be on campus tomorrow at noon in connection with the area celebration of "Movietime, U. S. A.," 50th anniversary of the film industry.

L. M. Conrad, manager of the Park Theatre and area chairman for the observance, reported that Vera-Ellen will appear with Philip Reed and Judith Brown, film stars, and William Lively, a scenario writer.

The screen stars will be guests of the College for luncheon in Brooks Hall at 12:30 p.m. In addition to Conrad, various local officials will join the party for the noon meal.

President Benezet, Dr. Allan B. Edwards, John W. Hulburt, Deans Charles W. McCracken and Ruth E. Williams, and Valeta Hershberger will represent the College.

If time permits, a short tour of the campus has been arranged.

Vera-Ellen

Also included on the Meadville agenda are visits to The Tribune Publishing Company and radio station WMGW.

Mr. Conrad, whose "Movietime" area includes nine northwestern counties, said the group would come here from Oil City with a probable visit to Erie later in the day.

Vera-Ellen, born Vera-Ellen Rohe in Cincinnati, is one of Hollywood's newest dancing discoveries. Her film debut was opposite Danny Kaye in "The Kid from Brooklyn." She appeared with Gene Kelly in "Words and Music."

Her other film appearances included: "Three Little Girls in Blue," "Carnival in Costa Rica," "Love Happy," "On the Town," "Three Little Words," "Happy Go Lovely," and "Belle of New York."

She has appeared on the stage in "Very Warm for May," "Higher and Higher," "Panama Hattie," "My Jupiter," and "The Connecticut Yankee."

Chapel Will Feature Seventy Voices Sunday

Chapel Choir will make its first appearance of the school year this Sunday, October 14, at the regular Sunday service in Ford Memorial Chapel at 11:00 a.m.

Under the direction of W. S. Wright North, the Choir of approximately seventy voices will sing "Chorale for All Saints", by Ralph Vaughn Williams. Dr. Herbert Picht, Chaplain, will deliver the sermon entitled "Unemployed Carpenters". This Sunday's organist will be Emily Engle.

Teaching Staff Lists Eleven New Members

The Allegheny faculty, while its number has been decreased by ten from that of last year, has eleven members new to the student body.

First on the list is Dean of Students, Charles W. McCracken. Dean McCracken received his A.B. from Duke University in 1938, his M.S. in Education from Stanford in 1938, participated in a Workshop in Higher Education at Chicago in the summer of 1939, and earned his Ph.D from Ohio State in 1950. In 1938 and 1939 he acted as Counselor at the White Williams Foundation in Philadelphia, and was Dean of Men at Muskingum from 1939 until 1942, when he left to serve in the Army Air Force. At the close of his military career in 1946, he acted as Vocational Appraiser at the University of Florida, and later that year he returned to Muskingum, where he served in the capacity of Dean of Men until 1948. From 1948 to 1951 he held the position of Dean of Students at Muskingum.

David J. Rogers, Assistant Professor of Biology, graduated from the University of Florida in 1941 with a B.S. degree. He was a student at Washington University from 1947 to 1951, receiving his M.A. in 1949. Between 1947 and 1949 he was a graduate Assistant in Botany at the same university.

William Edgar Curtis, Assistant Professor of Biology, received his B.A. from Oberlin in 1939, after which he went to Cornell, where he served as Assistant Professor in Biology from 1940 to 1942. He held the rating of Medical Laboratory Technician with the U. S. Army from 1942 to 1945, and returned to Cornell in his previous capacity from 1946 to 1948. 1948 to 1951 saw him as Assistant Professor of Biology at St. Lawrence University, while he spent the summers of 1949 and 1950 at Cornell.

Deane C. Carson, Instructor in Economics, is a 1948 graduate of Colorado State, where he received his A.B. In 1949 he received his M.A. from William and Mary, and spent 1949 to 1950 as Instructor in Economics and graduate student at the University of Colorado. He was Assistant Professor of Economics at State Teachers College in Bemidji, Minnesota, during the year 1950-51.

Vet Reports On Korean War

Jack Howie

by Erik Woit

There are many of us on Allegheny's campus these days who are on Uncle Sam's list of "desirables" and look forward to receiving a suspiciously large envelope in the mail. Some are less concerned about this than others, but the way it looks now many will have contact with the armed forces in a temporary but very professional way.

All discussions on the draft topic eventually reach the point where an important question comes up—what is it going to be like if they happen to send us to Korea? Well, we have the answer right here on campus. Jack Howie, a junior from Jamestown, New York, was recalled to active duty for ten months and was assigned to Korea. Now he has returned to Allegheny and is continuing his studies here.

The story Jack tells is very interesting. He came here as a transfer from Purdue University, in his sophomore year. Since he had been in the armed forces before, he was a member of the inactive reserves. He had spent only a few weeks of

Better Music

The Campus during the course of the next few weeks will conduct a series of editorials in which the primary aim will be to fully inspect the health of our democratic process. President Benezet in his convocation address stated that one of the moral sicknesses facing America was its short-sighted view of the very system which we are holding to the world as the ideal for all freedom loving people.

It is the opinion of the editors that if the United States is to stand as one of the two poles in our contemporary conflict, then it is necessary for us to fully understand what it is that we are supporting. The tree is known by its fruit, and so American democracy is viewed from afar by all its institutions and practices. Thus the occurrence at Cicero, Illinois, shatters our prestige in the worldly market place of values.

Our scope must be broader though, than that of only viewing American democracy as a show for the outer world. To state that every undemocratic action that occurs at home is bad because of the reaction in the world to it, is not the proper way to study our maladjustments. If a Negro family is dislodged from its home then the act, per se, is wrong, and the treatment should be one motivated by a desire to cure the illness; not simply to improve our nation's place in the world.

In searching through this problem we call for the aid of everyone on campus. We request your participation in this series, for it can only be through the diverse ideas represented that we can hope to achieve a unified conclusion as to the health of our democracy.

Violin Music

Bring out the stringed instruments and play a soft note or two. We are going to cry! We are going to cry over the Allegheny Student Body. We are going to cry because we think we must be the only campus in captivity where in successive weeks editorials on Communism and on sororities can be published without receiving any written response from the student body.

Play on and keep it mournful. We could conclude that no one cares very much about Communism and therefore it is not wanted at Allegheny. Or we could conclude that in itself it would not be bad. But then we must conclude that no one cares about sororities and that they thus serve no function on the Allegheny campus.

One of these days we shall print an editorial in The Campus expressly asking for a revolution. Don't believe us if it should appear—it will only come out of frustration. We are willing to admit a normal amount of thick-headedness on campus. But out of all of you, wasn't there someone who was disturbed about our comments? If not we must truly conclude that the student body is in thorough agreement with us, and with that proof we shall see that the AUC and the Pan-Hellenic Council take the appropriate steps to follow the silent will of the student body. The violins will be lowered softly into the ground where they may rest with their players.

Band Music

"Why isn't the band marching?" was asked at the Rochester game. "Why didn't the band come to the game?" was heard among those who attended the Oberlin game.

Why didn't the band march at our first home game nor travel to Oberlin, even though there were funds appropriated to make such a trip possible?

The answer is to be found in the student lethargy, which now has apparently reached a musical high on Allegheny's campus. There just aren't enough interested students to put in the time and effort required to maintain a student band.

Bud Cooley this year showed commendable spirit in undertaking to keep a band at Allegheny. The thirty present members of the band are willing to work to put on good shows. But before they can march on the field in their new uniforms ($210 worth of improvement) they need at least ten to twenty more musicians.

We were always under the impression that the band was an organization of, by, and for Allegheny College. But when there are nearly 100 students on campus who are capable of playing in the band and are not willing to offer their talents, we lose some of what little confidence we had left in Allegheny spirit. It has actually been necessary to recruit students from Meadville High School in an attempt to bring the band to a decent size.

With a student enrollment of 1018, it is a sad situation when fifty students, not even five per cent of the student body, can be found to carry on the band.

Senior Sketch

Bob Stuckenrath

Bob Stuckenrath is a history-political science major from Lewistown, Pa. In February, 1950, he transferred from Swarthmore, where he was vice-president of the Phi Delta Theta Chapter.

At Allegheny he is chairman of the Phi Delt House Rules Committee, and is on the House Decorations Committee; last year he was fraternity alumni secretary. In 1950 he was chairman of the Christmas Dance, and was chairman of the all-college carnival last year. He is head of the decorations committee for the Homecoming Dance this year.

He has participated in intramural bowling, track, and handball. Hobbies include hunting, fishing, oil painting, and sketching. He favors "reasonably long-hair" music, although he doesn't care much for chamber music.

Bob was in the Navy during 1945 and 1946, spending a year outside the States in the Azores and Africa. He was attached to the Seabees, and held the rating of storekeeper, third class.

At present he is an assistant to Dean Charles W. McCracken in assigning student housing. Following graduation from Allegheny he plans to attend Penn Law School.

Out Of The Closets For The Semester

With the freshman men safely barred from entrance to a fraternity house until next semester, it's safe to come out of the closets, fellas.

Congratulations to Betty Leahy and Mike Goldstein who were pinned over the weekend. Also to Jack Lang and Donna Cannon (Grove City).

While we're on the subject of congratulations, we find that they're also due the new Theta Chi pledges, Dick Jennings and Dick Foreman. Also Jim Simmons, who has been awarded social privileges by the same fraternity. Also to Sig pledges Dick Wasserman and Snuffy Welte.

The Golden Teacup Awards are presented to the Phi Gams and Delts this week for the entertaining Open Houses given last Sunday. And while we're on the subject of awards, how 'bout one for the swell "street" dance? Too bad, girls, but the weatherman will have his say . . . The Meadville movies had better look to their laurels, 'cuz from the looks of things, they're being strongly outclassed by the Playshop . . . Music at Brooks Dining Hall sounds great, but it would certainly be a lot better if the repertoire would be increased to include more than three numbers . . . Speaking of repertoires, Dave Barkley certainly exhibited a varied one in chapel, Wednesday . . . unique is a good word for it, don't you think? P.S. We wonder where Dave left his umbrella.

About the football game Saturday . . . We hereby go on record as saying that the sale of Confederate flags reached an unprecedented height in Crawford County shortly after the first quarter.

With this cheery thought in mind, we sew our informer back into the cushion of Arter Hall's renowned davenport until next week.

Activities Board And Student Affairs Topic Of AUC Veep In Third Of Series

Editor's Note: Glenn Dunmire, vice-president of AUC, presents the third article in the series explaining the student government's relationship to the student body and administration.

Two of the most important committees of the Allegheny Undergraduate Council's complex structure are the Activities Board and the Student Affairs Committee.

The Activities Board is composed of four members, with the vice-president of AUC serving as chairman of the group. The other three members are chosen on their singular abilities and their willingness to take over the responsibilities of the Board. It is the duty of this group to coordinate and undertake all social functions under the jurisdiction of the AUC.

After making preliminary arrangements, the Board places actual dance preparations in the hands of a committee, which must submit all final plans to the Board. Groups outside AUC often call upon the Board to assist in obtaining a band, chaperons, or guests, for their social functions. The Activities Board, though seeming to have a small function in the overall AUC program, is an integral part of the student government.

One of the many student-faculty committees in the framework of the AUC is the Student Affairs Committee composed of six faculty and administration members and five students.

The duties of this committee range from establishing the social calendar to giving special permissions for dances. At the beginning of each year all organizations on campus make a written request for their social functions' dates. The Student Affairs Committee then combines these dates in the most effective way, thus establishing the social calendar.

Extra credit for extra-curricular activities, a major topic last year, and the establishment of the College Union policy-making are examples of a few of the problems of the committee. Some problems are referred directly to the committee from the Student Personnel Offices, so it may be said that it acts in direct contact with the higher administrative units.

At the regular Sunday night meeting last week, the AUC changed its meeting night to Wednesday at 8 p.m. The next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, October 17.

was a student at the University of Chicago and at the University of Maryland from 1947 to 1951. From 1928 to 1931 she was a kindergarten teacher in Youngstown, Ohio, and from 1933 to 1947 in Dormont, Pa. She held a similar position in Silver Springs, Maryland, from 1947 to 1950, and in Culver City, California, in 1950-51.

Dr. Herbert Picht, Chaplain, received his B.A. degree from Union College in 1941. He obtained his S. T. B. in 1944, and his Th.D. in 1950 at Boston University. From 1948 to 1951, he served as Chaplain at Lycoming College in Williamsport, Pa., where he was Chairman of the Religion and Philosophy Department.

X-Ray Units Scheduled For Tuesday, Wednesday

A unit will be set up in Brooks Circle Tuesday and Wednesday, October 16 and 17, to X-ray all members of the student body, according to Dr. Robert J. Byers, college physician.

Men will be X-rayed Tuesday and women the following day. The portable unit, located in two busses, will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

X-rays, which are paid for by the student medical fee included in the semester bill, are required of all students. Dr. Byers stressed the fact that those students who are not X-rayed next week will have to be X-rayed at their own expense.

Allegheny Host To Juniata Gridders On Saturday

Hilltoppers Hungry For Initial Victory; Juniata Fresh From Swarthmore Triumph

Allegheny College will be favored to win its first game of the year this Saturday when they face Juniata College at 2:15 p.m. on College Field. Allegheny's record shows no wins and two losses this year while Juniata owns a 13-7 victory over unknown Swarthmore and a 38-7 loss to Westminster.

For Juniata, eight lettermen, six in the line and two in the backfield, will answer the starting whistle. At center will be Dave LeFevre, 170 pounds; at guards, Bob Muchoney, 175 pounds, and Bill "Big Bear" Waryck, 190 pounds; at tackles "Preacher Joe" Thomasberger, 205 pounds, and Burt Hackett, 200 pounds. The right end will be Bob Wagoner, 160 pounds, and at left end will be Freshman Paul Kruzelock, 180 pounds, the only nonveteran on the forward wall.

Returning Veterans
In the backfield, halfbacks Don Patricelli, Fred Hamor and Lundy Loschiavo are the returning veterans. A quartet of freshmen, Clerf Grove, Paul Hepack, Ken Mummah and Fran Wampler are vying for the other two starting positions.

The Oberlin game was a costly one for the Gators in more ways than one. There is a possibility that guard Hubert Ocamb may be lost to the team for the remainder of the season because of a broken hand suffered during the 20-0 loss to the Yeomen. Coach Bill Daddio will move rugged Hank Zimmerman into the starting lineup replacing Ocamb. Hub will probably continue to carry out the kick-off and extra-point duties despite his injuries. End Tom Ballish, who was hurt in the opening minutes of the Rochester game, still remains on the doubtful list.

Starting Lineup
Starting for the Gators will be Paul Roese and Ed Snyder at ends; Bill Oehmler and Bob Mason at tackles; Ray Pawlak and Hank Zimmerman at guards; and Jim Henne at center. In the backfield Jerry Watson and Dave McMahon will be at halfbacks; "Monk" Myers at fullback, and Carl Herrmann and Fritz Reed alternating at quarterback.

On defense, Deem Schoenfeld and "Chick" McCrea will be at ends; Clyde Rickard and Al Frazier at tackles, and Bob Nichols and Zimmerman at the guards. Backing up the line will be Al Spears and Chuck Mackett. Jack Sapper and McMahon will be at the halfbacks with Skip McIndoe at the safety position.

YANKS WIN!
New York, Oct. 10—The New York Yankees won their third straight World Series under Manager Casey Stengel yesterday by defeating the Giants, 4-3, on Hank Bauer's 400-foot triple with the bases loaded in the sixth inning. The victory gave the American Leaguers a 4-2 edge in games for their 14th championship.

Last Minute T.D. Pass Gives Phi Deltas 6-0 Victory Over Phi Psis

In one of the most closely contested athletic events seen on the Hill in many a moon, the undefeated gridmen of Phi Delta Theta scored a last minute touchdown to gain a 6-0 verdict over Phi Kappa Psi. The contest, originally scheduled for Monday, October 8, was moved up to Tuesday because of Monday's inclement weather.

Other results over the past week showed the Phi Deltas thrashing the Common Clubbers 66-0; Phi Psi over Theta Chi 42-0; Phi Gams 12, Chi Rho 0; and Deltas 12, Sigs 6.

Merriman Scores
The Phi Deltas-Phi Psi game saw-sawed throughout most of four periods, neither team being able to penetrate beyond the opponent's 15-yard line. Finally, with less than one minute left, Tom Mustio heaved a 30-yard pass to "Biddie" Merriman, who gathered the oval in on the eight and lopped the last few yards to score.

Jack Hill and Chet Hearn snagged T. D. aeriels from Joe Poole as the Phi Gams beat the Chi Rhos. Phi Gam back Bill Segmiller suffered a broken hand in the game. Phil Wilmarth and Grant Alpaugh tallied for the Deltas in their 12-6 victory against S. A. E. "Jiggs" Maerker scored for the Sigs.

Sigs Cop Golf Tourney
Led by the sharp shooting of Pete Brennan, who covered the Halewood course in 82 strokes on crutches, Dave Dwelle, and Dave Wise, S. A. E. captured the intra-fural golf tourney held last Friday and Saturday.

Phi Gamma Delta gained second in the tournament on the strength of medalist Bud McIndoe's 80. Phi Delta Theta placed third.

Oberlin Proves Too Strong For Gators; Writer Offers Views On Grid Picture

The performance of the Blue and Gold of Allegheny last week was like the plot of an Arthur Conan Doyle short story. It appears at this point that it would take more than the great sleuth Holmes to uncover the clue to this local (possibly tragic) mystery.

This article could safely go on record as being the shortest in Campus history. Only one word need be said to make it complete. "Why?" We only know that this is one of the most ulcer-provoking perplexities this campus has viewed in many a football moon. So leave us investigate the situation and try to discover some of the factors involved.

The Gators' defense at Oberlin reached a three year low. Not since the Gators took a 32-0 shellacking from Grove City in 1949 did they protect themselves in so sickly fashion. Last week the reporter remarked that Yarbenet could not possibly make so great a difference. It seems that he overlooked Ray Cook, who was invariably forgotten by every one—except Allegheny's opponents. Cook and Yarbenet gave Allegheny a very strong secondary defense, a strength which was missing at Oberlin. Almost any football coach will agree that a strong defensive backfield is the result of practice, practice, and more practice. Watson, McMahon, Myers, Henne, and Sapper are all good boys. We're confident that this problem will eventually cease to exist.

How about the line though? Certainly the blame can't be placed on Oberlin's platoon system. All of the Yeomen's scoring was done in the first half of last Saturday's fray. Were Rylander and Spanard so indispensable? We'll call this one the major query of the week.

With the exception of the often inspiring play of Monk Myers, the Gator backfield was even less potent than it had been against Rochester. "Why?" We still contend that it is potentially powerful.

This much a babe in swaddling clothes could have noticed in watching Allegheny's first two contests: more often than not, our backs managed to push themselves a yard or two through the enemy line. However, nine times out of ten they were stopped—right there. What is more, speedsters like Watson, and McMahon were continually

Four Girls Added To 1951 Cheering Squad

Allegheny has added four newcomers to its 1951 Cheerleading Squad. As a result of try-outs held during the first week of school, Jane Parsons, Patsy Sanford, Charlene Faller, and Joan Rust were chosen from forty other candidates.

Jane Parsons, who lives in Caf-lisch, Section 1, attended Washington High School, Washington, Pa., where she was a cheerleader for four years. Pat Sanford is a Section 2 girl, who also had four years cheerleading at Titusville High School, Titusville, Pa. Charlene Faller of Section 4 is tops as far as previous experience goes. She was a Junior High cheerleader for three years and had three more years as a Senior High cheerleader at Donora, Pennsylvania. Joan Rust, new sophomore on the squad, attended Mt. Lebanon High School. However, she had no previous cheerleading experience.

Rounding off the squad are last year's members: Dick Jennings, Don Skinner, Marla Schneider, Dotty Walker, Nancy Divine, and Kitty Crawford.

Soccer Game Cancelled

An additional curtailment of the Allegheny Soccer schedule was announced late yesterday when the Edinboro-Allegheny game, originally booked for Friday was cancelled. Unofficial sources report that the nearby Teachers were unable to field a team.

This cancellation postpones the booter's opening one week, when, on Friday, October 19, Coach Hanson's men will entertain the Western Reserve team.

Washington Term Combines Work, Play; Application Deadline Set October 18

Editor's Note: Below is the second of a series of articles explaining the Washington Semester, written by those seniors on campus who attended the spring term last year.

The Washington Semester is not all work and no play. But perhaps it is the only type of program where the play is made a definite part of the work. Students in Washington are given plenty of free time. The only expectation is that the student will use his free time to sit in Congress or do his best to hear what is happening in Washington. The problem is not a difficult one for the student to resolve. The chance, for only fifteen cents, (trolley fare), to hear the Senate in action is not one which will be overlooked if the opportunity is present.

The students in Washington spent most of February and March in Congress and in the Supreme Court. The first thing they discovered was the congressional committee. The usual visitor to Washington is taken back by the few men that will usually be found on the floor of the Senate or House, but the aware student quickly finds that the Congressmen are not shirking their duty but are more than likely attending a committee session. Many of these sessions are open to the public, and afford the student a closer view of the elected representatives.

The House un-American Activities Committee attracts a large number of onlookers to its crowded chambers, for a hearing in front of this headline group is bound to be full of names and intrigues of that queer breed of Americana, the Communist. If the committee is hearing a Communist, the line of questioning is usually like this:

"Were you ever associated with Mr. X?"

"I refuse to answer on grounds of self-incrimination."

But if the witness happens to be an ex-Communist, then the dialogue will run along this line:

"Were you associated with Mr. X?"

"Yes, I met him at a party given by one of the front organizations and at that party I met a number of persons who I was later to find were important cogs in the local cell."

Behind the Capital building one finds the impressive new Supreme Court building. There, if it is a Monday noon, he will see nine men hop out from behind three curtains and take their places behind a long desk. The big hunk of man in the center with the jowels of a St. Bernard is Chief Justice Vinson. At one end sits Justice Minton who prefers to spend his time with his hands on his jaws. At the other end sits dapper Tom Clark who at most times is trying to hear the jokes that are going between Justices Frankfurter and Jackson. One by one the Justices read their decisions on cases discussed months earlier. Occasionally the Court room will buzz when a Justice reads the number of an important case. Then all reporters grab their pencils as they prepare to inform the world of some new legal interpretation as handed down by America's highest tribunal.

Over in the Senate chamber pompous Tom Connolly strides across the floor, looks at his desk, and walks out. Senator Dirksen is lashing out at some aspect of American imperialism, and while his sonorous voice fills the hall, the equally vocal Senator MacMahon is preparing to answer his "distinguished colleague from Connecticut." When they have finished their respective blasts at each other they will walk off arm in arm in a mutually congratulatory fashion.

The Washington Semester allows the student ample time to observe these daily occurrences on Capital hill. All juniors interested in attending the Semester must file applications with Dr. Giddens or Dr. Cares before October 18.

Two Civil Service Exams Scheduled This Month

The Civil Service Commission has announced that two Federal Civil Service examinations will be given during the third week in October.

The Junior Management Assistant examination will be open to students with training or experience in the social sciences, business, or public administration, who show leadership and management ability. The positions to be filled by qualifying students pay entrance salaries of $3,100 and $3,825 a year. Students may also apply if their major field of concentration is government, economics, international relations, industrial management, industrial engineering, sociology, psychology, anthropology, geography, or history.

The Junior Professional Assistant examination, which will be used for filling positions paying $3,100 a year, will be open to students in the fields of bacteriology, economics, geography, geophysics, social science, and statistics.

Further information may be obtained from the college placement office, from most first or second-class post offices, from civil service regional offices, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Strong Oberlin

plowed down when in search of yardage around the ends.

Little is known about Allegheny's next foe, Juniata, other than the fact that she topped Swarthmore last week. Thus, it's a safe bet that the Blue and Gold will have to climb out of the mire in which it is so firmly embedded. Until then, we'll remain in the dark, along with the rest of the campus, and continue to ask ourselves the same question—"Why?"

Round Robin Pleases IFC As Freshmen Men See Fraternity Houses

Approximately seventy-five per cent of the freshman men attended the annual round robin which was conducted last Sunday evening under the authorization of the Inter-Fraternity Council. Six groups of freshmen made half-hour tours to each of the seven fraternity houses and to the Commons Club.

Council President Bob Mowry reported that there were no violations of the restrictions imposed by the IFC, which required that the fraternities offer no refreshments, entertainment, or pre-planned speeches.

In past years the round robin extended over two nights, Sunday and Monday of the first week of school. Under the new program there will be no formal rushing until the first week of the second semester, nor will any freshman be permitted to revisit any fraternity house until that time.

One representative from each fraternity circulated among the houses Sunday night to report any violations of the rules. The IFC president and representatives all expressed satisfaction with the cooperation of the fraternities.

Korean Vet Reports

his junior year at Allegheny when he suddenly was ordered to report for active duty—for twenty-one months.

The army sent Jack to Texas for a few weeks of training, and then via San Francisco and Japan to Inchon, Korea. Since he had been there during World War II, he immediately noticed the destruction. The men in his group had been rather bitter because of their fate, but this attitude changed immediately upon their arrival. Even though the morale was very high, it was obvious that new men were needed very badly.

Jack was assigned to the Railroad Transportation Corps and was stationed in Taegu, where the main railroad yards of the Pusan-Taegu line are located. He was put in charge of fifty Korean railroad workers and immediately encountered problems. For example, it took the Koreans three days to run a train from Pusan to Taegu approximately 100 miles. It was imperative that this operation be speeded up. Since Koreans in general seem to be opposed to change, this was a task. There also was some sabotage and Jack tells of one instance where fire was set to a gasoline train in a central location on the yard.

Although MacArthur's dismissal was a subject of controversy among the troops, all agreed that the General had accomplished a great deal during his army career. General Ridgway is highly regarded by his troops and has improved conditions in respect to supplies and also tactics a great deal.

Jack tells that the armed forces are taking many prisoners, both Chinese and Korean. They all seem to be quite young and are rather cooperative after having been captured. The North Korean soldiers, however, are much more fanatical than the Chinese.

Regarding the army, Jack observes that it has changed since the war. The old discipline has diminished to a considerable extent. The food and supplies in Korea are good and available regularly.

Since Congress ordered all inactive reserves to be gradually discharged, Jack was able to return to the United States and Allegheny. Asked about being here, he says: "It's sure good to be back!"

IRC Members Discuss British-Iranian Dispute

The British-Iranian dispute was the topic of the International Club meeting held last Tuesday night, October 9, in Arter 14.

Approximately thirty members, after discussing the problem for over an hour, concluded that the conflict was one of a moral nature, where Iran should be free to choose its own destiny, versus the power question which finds Iran and her oil as belonging to the interests of the western nations.

The club is working toward a radio presentation of the history of the United Nations' accomplishments to be presented over WMGW during United Nations Week, October 22 to 27. Plans are also being formulated to send representatives to the Model Security Council meeting to be held at Lehigh University in November. Allegheny's chapter will represent the Netherlands at this meeting.

Paul Davidoff, president of the club, has announced that all meetings are open to both students and faculty who are interested in the exchange of ideas concerning international affairs.

Weekly meetings are held in Arter 14 on Tuesday nights at 7:30. Next week's discussion will be concerning the conflict between the large and small nations within the United Nations.

Evening Division Courses Under Way

The Evening Division of Allegheny College began its courses Wednesday night, October 3, according to Howard H. Martin, coordinator of the school.

Approximately seventy persons are enrolled in the seven courses which are held twice each week. The courses are offered for three hours' college credit toward a degree given in each course.

Classes are being held in beginning typewriting, beginning shorthand, principles of accounting, advanced accounting, lettering and layout, statistics, psychology of human relations, public speaking, and Spanish for conversation.
