"One Sunday Afternoon" To Begin October 26

INITIAL PLAYSHOP OFFERING THIS YEAR HAS CONTINUOUS HUMOR

One Sunday Afternoon by James Hagan, will be the opening Playshop presentation for the 1943-44 season. It will begin its run in the Playshop, Arter hall, next Tuesday, October 28, and will continue each night through Saturday, October 30. Curtain time will be at 8:15 p. m.

Beginning October 20, the box office will be open every afternoon from 1:30 to 4:30. Students desiring reserved seats may obtain them by presenting their activities tickets at the box office window, since no student reservations may be made by phone. Non-student tickets are available at $5.55 each.

Miss Mary Jane Chiles of the department of Dramatic Art is directing the play. It consists of eight scenes beginning with the present time and then flashing back to the early nineteenth hundreds.

A few familiar faces will be seen: Rita Rogers, '45, of Cambridge Springs, who appeared last season in Outward Bound; Betty North, '45, of Meadville, previously in The Camel With the Wrinkled Knee; and Bradford Broughton, '46.

The names of the members of the cast follow:

Biff Grimes—Robert Clohecy, '46.
Snappy Downer—Brad Broughton, '46.

Hugo Barnstead—Fred Sturm, '47.

Virginia Brush—Barbara Grund, '47.

Amy Lind—Rita Rogers, '45.

Also appearing are Betty North, '45, Ruth Schreiber, '46, Gloria Keller, '46, Helen Cox, '47, August Scolio, '47, Sumner Nichols, '47, Stephen Hart, '47, John Cremer, '47, Marlin Matthews, '47, Don Ludwig, '47, and George Hartung, '47.

Quotes from reviews of the original New York "One Sunday Afternoon":

"The next time you go to the theatre please see 'One Sunday Afternoon.'—New York Mirror.

"The play I've enjoyed most this year is 'One Sunday Afternoon'.—O. O. McIntyre.

"The best play I've seen in years. It's grand."—Eddie Cantor.

"—worked out in scenes that arouse almost continuous laughter, thanks to Mr. Hagan's knack for naive but natural-sounding dialogue, and his command of simple character motivations."

"—held the first-night audience under the spell of its simple love story, its easy charm, its ingratiating humor and the true qualities of its tenderness and life."—New York Evening Journal.

Army Air Corps Make Lee House Recreation Center

The Thirty-First Training Detachment of the Army Air Corps now has its own recreation center in the building formerly used as a dormitory for the Independent men. At the grand opening last Wednesday, October 13, open house was held for all interested in the work.

The downstairs inside has been completely repainted and furnished, the work being done by the Air Corps men themselves. The layout of the first floor includes reading rooms, a game room, and a writing room. Upstairs are living quarters for the permanent officers of the Thirty-First Training Detachment.

While there is yet no planned program for the men, the house is open to them during all their free time. Civilians, however, are strictly forbidden to enter. The expense for upkeep has been taken over by the Army Air Corps.

There will be a mass meeting of the Associated Women students at 4:00 this afternoon in the Chapel. Attendance is compulsory. Those absent will be fined $1.00 unless excused by Caroline Emerson, president of A.W.S.

Chapel Forecast

Eskimo Woman To Be Speaker In Chapel Tues.

Anauta, native Eskimo of Baffin Island, will present a colorful word picture of her native land in Chapel on Tuesday, October 26.

Clad in her northland garment of bear skin and brightly colored beads, Anauta has covered many of the metropolitan centers during her recent tour. Everywhere her rich philosophy, common sense and straightforward approach to problems of the world have impressed those who have heard her.

Anauta was adopted and raised by an Eskimo woman who had lost her own baby boy. During early life she led a boy's life of hunting and fishing. Later she married and is now the mother of three children.

Her first contact with the English language came when she brought a trader's child, born on Baffin Island, down to Nova Scotia. Exhibiting a keen affinity for learning, Anauta soon mastered the customs of the civilized world. She would like to clear up many of the false notions about Eskimos. To further this aim, Anauta has written "Land of the Good Shadows," an informative tale of our northern neighbors.

Seldom has such a colorful speaker appeared on the Allegheny campus. Her unique manner has never failed to impress an audience and make them want to learn more of Eskimo life.

Frank Miller Elected Saturday To Head Trustees

Frank P. Miller, prominent Meadville citizen, was elected chairman of the Allegheny college board of trustees at the board's annual meeting Saturday morning, preceding the inauguration of John Richie Schultz as president of the college.

Miller, the first Meadville man in 69 years to hold the chairmanship of Allegheny trustees, has been a general trustee of the college for 25 years, and vice-president of the board for more than half that time. He succeeds Andrew W. Robertson of Pittsburgh, board chairman of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, who had headed the college trustees since 1930.

A graduate of the class of 1907, Miller is president of the McCroskey Tool Corporation and a director of the Midwest Tool and Manufacturing Company of Detroit. He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, as well as Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa, Delta Sigma Rho, and Phi Kappa Psi.

In community life, Mr. Miller is president of the board of trustees of the Meadville Y. M. C. A. and vice-chairman of the executive committee of the Pennsylvania State Y. M. C. A. He is also director of the First National Bank of Meadville.

A former president of the Allegheny college Alumna association, he is one of five Alleghenians to receive the alumni medal for eminent service to Alma Mater.

Schultz Promises Finer Future

"A brighter, finer, and fairer Allegheny in the years to come" was pledged by Allegheny's 14th president, John Richie Schultz, at his inaugural ceremonies Saturday afternoon. Addressing the capacity crowd that filled Montgomery gymnasium, Schultz went on to affirm that "we are learning much from specialized war-time training," but added that "we are learning as much what not to do as what to do."

To climax the colorful celebration, the new president received the honorary degree of doctor of laws, as did the inauguration speakers, President Alan Valentine of University of Rochester, and Chancellor William P. Tolley of Syracuse University.

Valentine, presenting the feature address of the afternoon, painted a vivid picture of the path liberal arts colleges must take during and after the war, while Tolley, whom Schultz succeeds as president of Allegheny, brought greetings from the Association of American Colleges. Further congratulations were tendered by Sumner E. Nichols, president of the college alumni association, and Robert S. Bates, representing Meadville citizens.

Schultz, glancing backward over the life of the institution he now leads, observed that "whenever a challenge has been made, it has been met with courage."

"It is my hope," he said, "that—we can provide each student who achieves entrance here the store of knowledge, a mental discipline, a development of personality, and an understanding of life that will make him when he goes out not only a useful citizen in this democracy but a leader where leadership is needed."

"The future beckons us with its promise of opportunity. In this spirit we face the complex problems confronting our nation in these coming days; the challenge offered by millions of boys and girls who look to the colleges for leadership in a perplexing post-war world; the hope of all citizens for a new opportunity for a better life for all. In this spirit, with a full realization of all that has gone before, we pledge our best to make a brighter, finer, fairer Allegheny in the years to come."

French Club Initiates New Members

Thirty-five new members were initiated into Le Cercle Francais last Tuesday evening, October 12. At this meeting the initiates were informed of the purpose of the club—to foster French spirit and to help French students develop facility in speaking the language among themselves.

Tuesday evening's program consisted of a candlelight initiation service during which each new member received a tricolor emblem. Later in the evening a French game was played, with Martha Swoboda, '47, as the winner. After singing French songs, refreshments of doughnuts and coca-cola were served.

The officers of the club are: Anne Eberts, '45, president; Jackie Ragner, '45, secretary; Peg Owens, '45, treasurer; and Jodie Bugbee, '46, program chairman.

Those initiated into Le Cercle Francais are James Boulger, '46, Carl Belknap, '44, Ruth Blodgett, '47, Winona Brown, '47, Betty Crabbs, '47, Ellen Dittoe, '47, Laura Greenebaum, '45, Elizabeth Hanford, '47, Alice Herbert, '47, Pat Hindry, '47, Mary Jane Houston, '47, Corinne Irwin, '47, Sheila Malton, '47, Ruth McMillan, '47, Martha Mitchell, '46, Edith Moffat, '47, Irene Mszanowski, '47, Carol Muth, '47, Anita Necci, '46, Margaret Nicol, '46, Bobbie Osburn, '47, Pat Pickett, '47, Paul Poux, '47, Wanda Fay Peairs, '47, Patricia Reichard, '47, Marion Reichelderfer, '47, Martha Jane Sector, '47, Claire Silver, '47, Dorothy Smallman, '47, Martha Swoboda, '47, Betty Tucker, '47, Janet Wagner, '45, Betty De Witt, '47, Joan West, '47, and John Robinson, '47.

Community Chest Opens This Noon

Drive Features Rally, Soccer Game and Dance
War Fund Goal of $2,000

Today marks the opening of the Allegheny college all-inclusive Consolidated Relief Chest which promises to be the largest benefit program ever launched on the campus. Aubrey Crawford and his committee have spent weeks of planning in an effort to make Allegheny's contribution a generous one.

New Staff of Kaldron Meets Friday For Plans

"Because of the many student requests, there will definitely be a 1944 Kaldron," announced Nancy Sutton, '44, "although we have not abandoned the plans for a large jubilee issue after the war. We are going to try to give the students a Kaldron they'll like, but there will be difficulties to be met, particularly with engravings."

The central staff, which has already begun work, is composed of Anne Rinehart, '44, assistant editor, Elaine Alexander, '46, make-up editor, Carolyn Dawson, '44, photography editor, Pat Karnosh, '46, Assistant photography editor, and Dominic Sciamanda, '47, copy editor. Philip M. Benjamin, head librarian, and Kurt Glaubach, college photographer, who has always played an important part in putting out the Kaldron will be the advisers.

All those who are interested in any type of work for the Kaldron are urgently asked to attend a meeting to be held in the chapel at 12 o'clock Friday.

The new editor received her appointment this summer as a result of a decision of the Allegheny Undergraduate council. She has been a member of the Kaldron staff for three years, acting as copy editor last year. "Sutton's" other literary accomplishments include writing for the Ivory Tower, the Campus, and the Literary Magazine.

She is a member of A. U. C., Singers, Senior Court, War Bonds and Stamps Committee, and Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Boo! Witchcraft Invades Dorm Next Thursday

Goblins! Sorcerers! Dark creatures of magic! Allegheny campus will welcome you when the black witch rides in front of the moon. Tables of disguised coeds will eat weird stews and mystic brews in Brooks dining hall Thursday, October 28.

For the timid, quiet ghosts of the party—and the hale and hearty skeletons as well—Jean Dearing will furnish noisemakers. Mary Ellen Pagaroll has invited the chief hags of the Hallawe'en regions to amuse and entertain with their ghoulish arts. Betty Rank has made certain that prizes will be presented so that the pranks of the amateur witchcraftsmen will not go unrewarded. Kitten Carothers, chairman of the party, is in charge of all the black magic for the evening.

Goblins! Sorcerers! Dark creatures of magic! Allegheny will see you soon—so Boo! 'til next Thursday!

A WORD FROM SCHULTZ

President John Richie Schultz wishes to express his gratitude to the students of Allegheny who, by attending the inauguration program and the reception Saturday evening, helped to make his inauguration a successful occasion. Furthermore, Dr. Schultz wholeheartedly promises the opportunity for student participation in the program that is to come.

Mr. John E. Cavelti, aided by students, launched the drive in chapel, appealing to students to do their utmost during the ensuing week. Friday will feature a pep rally in the girls' gymnasium at 8:00 p. m. Although the main attraction of the evening will be strictly a surprise, hot dogs and cokes will be sold. Songs plus a snake dance will also round out the evening.

Saturday is the banner day of the drive. At 2:30 p. m., Eberhart field will be the scene of a benefit soccer game between Frank Fuhrer's intramural champs and an all-star aggregation picked by Al Lamert, president of the Block A club. Following the game, the downtrodden upperclassmen will attempt to avenge their recent loss of face as they meet the frosh in the official upperclass-freshman fight. A charge of ten cents will be levied on Saturday afternoon's entertainment.

An all-college dance, featuring T. Ross and his Youngstown orchestra, will climax the drive on Saturday evening. Twenty-five cents per person will be charged as admission. Approximately 60 former Allegheny students, now in the armed forces will be back to add old-time color to the occasion.

Formal soliciting will begin on Sunday and last for five days. All students and faculty members will be visited in this period during which the bulk of the goal will be attained. Pledges may be paid in lump sums or by installments.

The goal, $2,000, will surpass any ever set at Allegheny. To reach this the committee is asking that each student contribute $3.00. Organizations are also contributing to the Consolidated Relief Chest.

The student, after making his donation will be free from solicitation by all of the organizations included in the drive for the rest of the year. The funds will be divided among the following organizations: the World Student Service Fund, the Scholarship fund, the Red Cross, the Community Chest and the fund for the United Nations War Relief.

The Consolidated Relief Chest committee is headed by Aubrey Crawford, '45, who acts as chairman. Working with "Deac" are Ginny Bennett, '44, secretary; Norma Fix, '46, treasurer; Jean Merrill, '44, publicity; Jane Hahne, '44, special arrangements; Nancy Konstanzer, '44, women's dorm solicitor; and Jim Jenkins, '44, men's dorm solicitor.

Blackout, Fire Drill Regulations

House rules for roll blackouts and fire drills have been announced by A. W. S. House Warden Patricia Pittenger, who stated that each fire warden has already explained these rules to the students to whom she has been assigned. These rules will be strictly enforced, and fines will be imposed for violations.

Blackout rules are as follows: All lights must be extinguished during the entire blackout; there is to be no smoking during this time. Violators will be fined $1.00.

For fire drills the following procedure is mandatory: each girl should close all windows and doors in the room; leave one light burning; wear a heavy coat, heavy shoes, and carry a towel; go quickly and quietly to the exit assigned to her. Fire wardens must be notified whenever a girl intends to be absent from the dormitory overnight. Those breaking these rules will be fined $2.50.

THINK---THEN VOTE

November 3—Freshmen elections—the chance for over 200 new students to organize and start paving a successful path for the class of '47!

In former years this first election seemed always to come as a surprise to the majority of freshmen students. Needless to say, this undermines the necessary idea that elections should result from careful consideration and impartial decisions.

This election is especially vital. Officers chosen during their freshman year are responsible not only for the activities and representations of their class, but also for the future reputation of the class as a whole.

Thus, a note to freshmen—an urgent plea for you to become acquainted with your fellow classmates, to carefully consider those who you think would make good leaders. Although the Allegheny Undergraduate Council will present a tentative slate of nominees, nominations from the floor will be welcome. Upperclassmen are not trying to blindfold and lead you; they realize that you alone are best aware of the possibilities of your classmates.

Qualifications for office don't consist of fraternity membership, which freshman house you live in, athletic ability, so-called "smoothness," or other such characteristics of which you are well aware. Rather, the following questions should be considered: Does your candidate know a majority of the members of the class and what they can do? Is he or she actively interested in campus and class affairs? Is he able to remain calm and poised under trying conditions, to hold a delicate situation under control?

That's a big order, one that you alone can fill. Your class, your elections, your officers—it's up to you. M.D. '46

GREEK WAR CEASES

Lately we emphasized plans being made to close the formidable chasms of difference between sororities. Similar moves, encouraged by the M.U.C., are underway with an aim toward molding fraternities into a powerful cooperative unit. This should not be too difficult this year. The main problem is to establish a foundation which will continue to stand when "Greeks" come back to the campus in full strength.

The forthcoming inter-fraternity semi-formal dance is a step toward our goal. Several lesser events such as an all inclusive smoker and radio party will also be scheduled. Greek will not meet Greek intramurally this year. Instead, men from fraternities will play side by side on teams chosen at random. J.J. '44

The Social Whirl

By PEGGY OWENS

This week's social activities were brought to a climax with a reception in honor of President Schultz Saturday evening at Brooks Hall. With President and Mrs. Schultz in the receiving line were Hon. Frank P. Miller, newly elected president of the board of trustees, Miss Laila Skinner and Mr. and Mrs. Horace T. Lavelly. Miss Blair Hanson and Miss Mary Jane Chiles introduced the many guests. Music was provided by a string trio consisting of Mrs. L. J. Long, Bruce Fye, and Dexter Bulen.

Alpha Chi Omega announces the engagement of Margie Byers, '46, a recent pledge, to David Bixler, Muskingum '45. Louise Parsons was a weekend guest of the Alpha Chis.

Charlotte Zema Leitzel, '42, and Margaret Munson, '42, were recent guests of the Alpha Gams.

Alpha Xi Delta had Viva Jean Wright, '43, Mary Elizabeth Meyer, '43, and Virginia Heron, ex '45, as weekend guests. Eleanor Sterrett, '43, who joined the WAVES August 28, has recently been made an ensign. She is now studying Aerology at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The Independent Women held a bridge party at their meeting Monday evening.

The pledges of Kappa Alpha Theta were introduced to the Alumnae board at a tea held Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. D. Winkler. Monday evening the pledges entertained active members of the sorority with a humorous skit. Kappa Alpha Theta announces the engagement of Ruth Hammon, '44, to Theodore Sampson, Delta Tau Delta, '43.

Monday evening Kappa Kappa Gamma held Memorial services for Helen Chaney. Mike Gosser, ex '45, was a weekend guest.

Jean Bell was a weekend guest of Theta Upsilon.

The Phi Gams will hold their pledge banquet this evening at Gray's. Franklin May, ex-'45, was a weekend guest.

Students Elected To Chemii Club

Dr. Ignace Grageroff, noted authority on explosives and chief chemist at the Keystone Ordnance Works, discussed the Russian and German chemical education systems at a meeting of the Chemii club last Tuesday evening.

New members selected from those majoring in chemistry were invited to the meeting. Those elected were Ray Brown, '46, Alan Chambers, '46, Edward Caffisch, '47, Martha Cahill, '46, Richard Coon, '47, Eugene De Wald, '47, Jean Flanagan, '44, Henry Lavelly, '44, Andrew Mihalic, '47, Dana Harland, '47, Ralph Miller, '47, Bertel Perry, '47, Paul Poux, '47, Robert Taylor, '46, William Sauber, '47, Ben Wilden, '45, Edgar Ferguson, '46, and Mildred Ann Ditty, '46.

After the business meeting and program, refreshments of apple pie and coffee were served.

Present as guests at the meeting were Dr. B. T. Federoff, Miss Frances Farrah, and Mrs. Terrill from the Keystone Ordnance Works, and Mrs. Grageroff.

NEW BOOKS ARSENIC

AND

OLD LACE

By Roberta Waite

By JEAN MERRILL

At the top of the list of this week's additions to the library I'd like to suggest Grand Crossing by Alexander Saxton, the novel designated as the "Harper find" of the year. Michael Reed, a going Harvard student, in the best Cambridge tradition confronts himself with the question "Which side are you on?" as so many of us have done in this last year — but like our general course of action he does not try to evade the answer — He leaves his complacent Harvard colleagues and goes to Chicago to be a freight brakeman at the junction Grand Crossing. There is an answer here to the questions we have been afraid to answer.

The Best American Short Stories —1943 edited by Martha Foley brings under one cover the year's best work in the short story field. There are a number of the familiar names represented—Saroyan, Faulkner, Stegner, Thurber—as well as some promising new ones.

Carl Sandburg's Home Front Memo is just Sandburg—just America. It starts out with several pieces on his favorite hero—the first of these entitled "What Would Lincoln Do Now?" In this one book there are speeches, radio broadcasts, newspaper articles—there are poetry and legends. It is the sum of the impressions that have crossed his mind during these troubled three years.

Delilah by Marcus Goodrich is the first book by a new author and the critics call it a fine book. It is of the Conrad genre in its choice of subject, and quality of suspense.

Paul de Kruif has written a new book Kaiser Wakes the Doctors, in his usual vital manner. He is shouting enthusiasm for the new Kaiser medical plan whereby the best medical care can be made available for everyone if only the country will use a little imagination to stir it to daring.

Saturday ! Scramble To Decide Dink Fate

Freshmen will not wear their dinks after Thanksgiving IF their men can overcome the upperclassmen in the big fight on Saturday, October 23.

Between halves of the soccer game scheduled for that date, 25 men from the Freshman class will attempt to out-scramble an equal number of upperclassmen, make the goal, and win the decision. If they succeed, Thanksgiving will mean "hats off" to them; if they fail, the present rules will be enforced until the Sophomore Court rewards the class on the basis of good behavior and lifts the ban.

This contest is an old tradition of Allegheny, formerly between the sophomores and freshmen, but this year necessarily extended to all classes. Spectators are not only cordially invited to witness the contest but are urged to attend, since the admission charge will go directly into the Consolidated Relief Chest.

An informal struggle between the two teams precedes the main fight but announcement of details and date are not revealed to the public. If anyone has managed to witness this pre-war battle, he will understand why spectators are tolerated but not welcomed.

The hour and place of the soccer game will be announced later.

The funniest story of the week is the little southern cadet who surveyed the big snow last Monday and said with wonder in his voice, "So this is what snow is like!"

The Alpha Chi's social committee dreamt up the smart idea to lay a trail to the site of their wiener roast they had the other night. One of the clues said, "Darling's" and added the picture of a goat, so they all trooped up to Dr. Darling's. Dr. Darling was completely in the dark, but being Dr. Darling, he arose to the occasion. He handed them a bag and told them not to open it until they got to the corner. Were they baffled when they found an egg inscribed: "Find the hen that laid this egg!"

Who's the mysterious "Jean" that woke up four floors on the west side of Walker talking to Don Mellon, M. H. S. cheerleader, Saturday night at three o'clock?

And then there's one on Pfeleger. She was carrying a ham up the hill the other day—an honest-to-gosh ham. One of our gallant cadets offered to carry it for her. Pfeleger fixed him with a cold eye and told him that she had spent the summer working in a defense plant and was perfectly able to carry the ham. That did it. Pfeleger carried the ham.

Bob Clohecy and Rita Rogers were practicing a clinch for the forthcoming Playshop production. But Bob had his back to the audience. When Miss Childs shouted, "Can't you turn the other way, Bob?", Bob embarrassedly replied, "Sorry, I can't kiss lefthanded!"

First-floor Walker has been having the jitters lately. The other night Jane McClean found a man peering in her window. She screamed and there was a terrific crash outside. It seems the man had climbed up on one of the painter's ladders and at that point it let him down.

There are ominous rumblings from the seniors over the lunch line situation. Don't say I didn't warn you.

The other day Mr. Hulbert somehow found himself marching along in the middle of a class of cadets. The squad leader shouted, "All right, you fellows, straighten up that line," and then in a bellow, "That means you, too, Hulbert."

And how did your name came out at the end of the receiving line?

Comes the rainy season and the seating chart and hour tests and Allegheny takes on its old familiar face.

War bulletin: I hear tell that the mutual battle cry of the classes of '46 and '47 is "Remember Speedo!"

History Club Initiates Thirteen

Initiation of new members was the highlight of the meeting of the History and Political Science club meeting last Tuesday evening.

Those initiated were Betty Tucker, '46, Harry Conroy, '44, Joan Hexter, '45, Lois Walter, '45, Marianne Kocher, '45, Jane MacIntyre, '44, Jean Dearing, '46, Charles Geisler, '46, Jane Difford, '47, Mary Jane Kenan, '44, Bruce Harrison, '47, Laura Griffiths, '45, and Sally Axelson, '45.

Following initiation was a quiz program on current events and historical questions, after which refreshments were served.

Upperclassmen Down Freshman Revolution

By CAROLINE EMERSON, '44

The time . . . 12:30. Down the turnpike comes a howling mob, descending on the dorm. The shouts and cries penetrate into the farthest corridors of Brooks. Pincurled heads look up from bridge hands, textbooks, and Superman. A moment's pause and the halls resound with shrieks and the sound of running feet as everyone races for the windows and fire escapes.

"What's going on?"

"Who's out there?"

"Serenade!"

"Couldn't be. Look at all the guys."

"Must be a siege, then."

From the parking circle comes a hoarse cry . . .

"Rah, rah, rah, forttee-sevnnnn!"

Hysterical shouts ricochet from Bentley as the girls of '47 cheer their defenders and protectors assembled below. A voice is heard.

"Listen . . . listen . . . We've just been to Cochran and challenged the upperclassmen to a de-pantsing only they refuse to come out."

"Yahhhhhh, whooppe, yeeehooo," comes with deafening volume in a soprano key.

The uproar continues. A new sound is heard, a chant, coming closer from the direction of Park Avenue. At first it sounds like "Ya, ha, heave, ho," "Ya, ha, heave, ho."

Then around the bend, bearing a bathrobed figure on their shoulders, come more of the insurgent class of '47.

"We've got Speedo, we've got Speedo . . ."

Sleepy-eyed and helpless, Speedo is borne on their shoulders, but not for any heroic deed performed. Just for being a sophomore.

To the accompaniment of murderous cries, Speedo is thrown to the lions. Praise be for small favors . . . and for bathrobes!

As the action continues outside the sophomores rush en masse to assemble in the second floor lounge. Something must be done!

"What crust!"

"We'll get them!"

"What'll we do?"

And so, a freshman meeting is born.

The next day dawns; the sun climbs until it is directly overhead; students file into the chapel; students file out of the chapel; the freshmen remain in their seats.

The law is pronounced. Out come the little blue caps. The sophomores remain supreme.

The moral of this story, Freshmen, is:

Take your dink and place it lightly On your innocent young head. Grasp the strings and tie them tightly

So it never can be said, "Here's a frosh who likes black stockings."

Or, "Give him a co-ed's dink!" For you can't compare the rockings Of an earthquake to the stink That is made by your superiors, Namely, Class of '46,

If you feel in your interiors That the rules should get the nix.

Advertising Agency To Meet Next Wednesday

Now is the time for all good artists to come to the aid of the school! All talented doodlers, how about supporting the Allegheny Undergraduate Council's plan for a coordinating publicity committee to be known as the A.A.A. (not to be confused with automobiles or agriculture) or Allegheny Advertising Agency? Anyone and everyone at all interested and at all proficient along artistic lines is urged to attend the first meeting concerning this plan in the Ruter Art Lab next Wednesday, October 27th, at 7:30 p. m.

Why does the A.U.C. feel the need of this Allegheny Advertising Agency? Because it believes that through such an agency, all the active publicity on campus can be coordinated and controlled, that it can be improved in quality as well as quantity. By having all advertising handled by this central committee, the A.U.C. thinks that students can be more easily and more quickly informed of all events and that greater interest in campus activities can be aroused.

The A.A.A. will be headed by an executive committee, the chairman of which will be appointed by the Undergraduate Council in conjunction with the art department.

President Schultz has endorsed this idea, and the art department has voiced its approval.

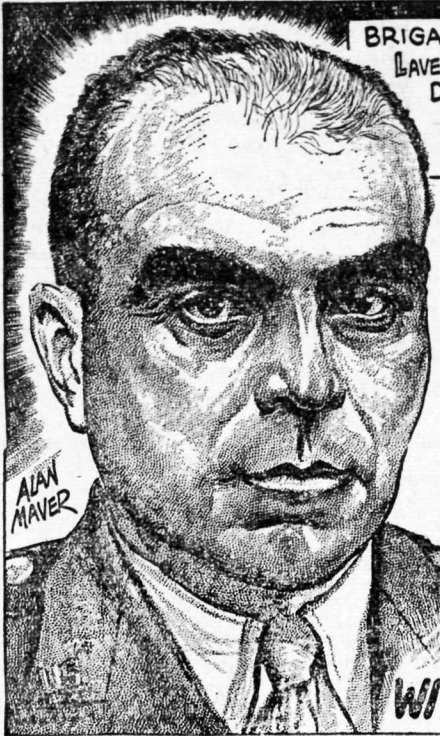

Instead of jumping headlong into the new scheme, the A.U.C. has decided to first have an experimental period. Every Wednesday night at 7:30 p. m. beginning October 27th, there will be a new two-hour class in commercial advertising, design, and lettering, which course will be under the direction of Miss Brubaker. The students in this class will handle all campus advertising as well as receiving instruction. Materials for the class will be furnished by the A.U.C. During the first semester, this course will be an extra-curricular activity; however, if sufficient student interest and support is displayed, there is a possibility of such a course with definite hours and definite credit being added to the curriculum second semester. From then on this class under the supervision of Miss Brubaker and of the A.A.A. will do all active campus publicity. Attendance at and work in the class will benefit the individual student, the student body as a whole, and the A.U.C. So, all artists and poster makers, experienced or inexperienced, mark October 27th at 7:30 p. m. as an important date on your calendar.

President's New Secretary Replaces E. Lang

Miss Katherine Rutter of Wilkensburg, Pennsylvania, joined Allegheny's administration staff last week when she became secretary to President Schultz. A graduate of Pennsylvania College for Women in 1940, she was employed by the Pittsburgh Steel Company before coming to Meadville.

Miss Rutter replaces Miss Evelyn Lang, who has been secretary to the president since April, 1942.

Dance Planned To Welcome Back Former Alleghenians

An informal all-college dance for both college students and air cadets will be held this Saturday, October 23, in Brooks hall from 9:00 to 12:00. Music will be furnished by Tee Ross and his orchestra from Youngstown.

The dance is being given to welcome back former Alleghenians who are now serving in the Navy V-7 and V-1. Admission of 25 cents per person will go into the scholarship fund of the Consolidated Relief Chest Drive.

Post-War Plans Topic For A. C. C.

Jim Rhinesmith, '44, chairman of the Christian Council committees for Chapel Discussion and Morning Watch, recently announced that the meeting time for Chapel Discussions has been changed from 9:30 a. m. on Sundays to 2:30 p. m. on Sundays.

Rhinesmith also stated that, beginning this Sunday, Dr. Paul H. Giddens will lead three discussions on the general topic of "Working Toward World Unity." The first discussion will be on "The Four Freedoms," and the establishment of an adequate, just, and lasting peace. Next Sunday Mr. Giddens will lead the talk on "World Order of Chaos," and will tell of the history of the last war, the need for a league, and why we should enter a new league. The last discussion to be led by Mr. Giddens will be on "Our Part in the Post-War World."

If these discussions prove popular, more will be held on "World Reconstruction," with the first of the second series led by Dr. John E. Cavelti.

Several people are turning in duplicate chapel slips which means that only one person is getting credit for being there. The following numbers are the duplicated ones: 39, 62, 76, 106, 223, 427, and 430. Students who have been using these are asked to see Miss Cotton.

Students Mail Papers To Soldiers

In an endeavor to keep strong the links of home and school among those in the service of our country, a group of students, headed by Marguerite Kift, '46, mails weekly issues of the Campus to over 500 former Alleghenians now located in various parts of the world.

Meeting every Friday afternoon, the committee now maintains its own address file, and urges everyone on campus to notify "Kiftie" if they know of any changed or new addresses of former Alleghenians.

The members of the committee are: Marjorie Fortin, '46, Pat Painter, '46, Elaine Alexander, '46, Joan Reilly, '46, Marjorie Nichol, '46, Patricia Pickett, '47, Carol Muth, '47, Pat Hindry, '47, and Susie Black, '47.

WAVE Officer To Be On Campus October 27 and 28

Lieutenant Josephine Campbell of the Pittsburgh branch office of naval officer procurement of the Navy department will be on campus next Wednesday and Thursday, October 27 and 28. She will speak in Chapel Thursday morning, giving general information about the Women's Reserve. Wednesday Lieutenant Campbell will confer with faculty members, while on Thursday she will hold individual interviews with those seniors particularly interested in having detailed information about the program. Appointments of interviews with Lieut. Campbell may be scheduled through Dean Skinner's office next Wednesday.

The navy department is interested only in explaining the program and not in enlisting anyone at this time. Any girl who does join the WAVES, however, will not be subject to call until she has received her college degree.

Bousson Outing This Week-End; Heelers Invited

Come one! Come all! Come to Bousson! The Outing Club is holding its first outing of the year this weekend. The more the merrier, so all Heelers and Outing Clubbers are urged to come. Those who are going should sign on the bulletin board in Brooks by Friday morning. Only a limited number can attend. Bring your bed rolls to the men's gym, and be prepared to hike by 1:30 Saturday afternoon.

A meeting of all those interested in the Outing Club was held Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Women's gym. Ginny Bennett, '44, president, welcomed the guests and introduced Jean Merrill, '44, who explained the duties and aims of the Heelers and urged everyone to come out to Bousson. Then several reels of movies taken at Bousson were shown, while the onlookers sang and munched apples.

Heelers' dues are $.50 a semester, and the dues for this semester must be paid before next Tuesday night. Women can deliver their dues to Marjorie Jenkins, '44, treasurer, room 265 Walker, and men should leave theirs at the operator's desk in Brooks in care of Margie Jenkins.

Teacher Shortage Presents National Problem

The war has hit a hard blow at the nation's schools, educators attending the twenty-third annual meeting of the National Education Association agreed.

Thousands of teachers have left their school work to take higher paying war jobs, while other thousands are in the armed forces. An official report by the association predicted an estimated shortage of 75,000 teachers this fall.

About one-fifth of the nation's 30,000,000 school children returned to new teachers this September, according to an estimate by Dr. Alonzo M. Myers, chairman of the department of higher education of New York university.

More than 100,000 of the 250,000 teachers hired this summer have sub-standard qualifications, he said, and received employment only because of the shortage of teachers.

Dr. Myers asserted that a high percentage of teachers who are working in war plants did not return to their former teaching jobs this fall.

One of every five male teachers has left his job since Pearl Harbor, said Dr. Ivan A. Booker, assistant director of the National Education association's research staff. "And the superintendents tell us it is the best teachers who go first," he said. "The subjects most in demand are those taught by men—mathematics, science, physical training and shop courses."

A comforting word to the buxom and those addicted to dieting comes from Dr. Albert Morris, Boston University professor of Sociology: "Your height and weight—and this goes for men and women alike—depends upon your inheritance and nothing else. What you eat, how you exercise, how you behave, has nothing to do with it. Your height is fixed before you're born." Now, I saw you reach for that fifth doughnut!

Wolves Meet Demons At 4:15 Today

Having already annexed the intramural soccer title, Frank Fuhrer's Wolves meet the third place Demons at 4:15 this afternoon at Eberhart Field. The contest has no bearing on the final standings in any way since the Wolves have clinched the first spot with the Tigers and Demons following in that order.

One league game was played last week and another Tuesday. A week ago Cal Miller's Tigers walloped Sum Nichol's Demons 5-1. "The Mighty Mite," Steve Miller, led the Tigers with three goals, one of which was a skillful deflection off his chest past goalie Nichols. Baldwin and Bleasdale were the other two Tigers to tally.

Tuesday the Miller eleven entered the game against Fuhrer's Wolves with a mathematical chance for a league tie still remaining. However, the Wolves' powerful defense was too much for the Tigers and they were defeated 2-0. A combination of adverse playing conditions and the stellar brand of defensive play employed by the league leaders proved too much for the hard driving Miller line. "Chie" Matthews added another goal to his credit and brought his total to three for as many games. Former varsity booter, Al Lammert, hit the nets for the Wolves' other count.

The scoring race has developed into a friendly feud between Steve Miller, who leads with four goals, and Matthews. The game today will decide this point since Matthews will be on the line for the Fuhrermen.

Intercollegiate Contest Announced

Competition for the Intercollegiate Literary Fellowship prize of $1,200, now open to students in American colleges and universities, is being announced by Dodd, Mead & Company.

For the past three years this fellowship prize has been awarded for novels written by students from Wellesley, Pomona, and Rosary colleges.

The closing date for applications and the filing of preliminary projects is April 1, 1944. Complete details of the contest and the terms of the Intercollegiate Fellowship Award may be secured by writing to Dodd, Mead & Company, 432 Fourth Avenue, New York 16, New York.

ALLEGHENY PROFESSOR PUBLISHES BOOK

The third in a series of college texts on mathematics, of which Frederick L. Steen, associate professor of mathematics at Allegheny College is co-author with D. H. Ballow, assistant professor of mathematics at Middlebury college, has just been published by Ginn and Company, Boston. The book is titled, "Analytic Geometry."

The first two books of the series, "Plane Trigonometry", published in May, and "Plane and Spherical Trigonometry", released eight weeks ago, had an excellent sale, principally with large military units in colleges and universities.

In comparison to Hobart and other small colleges, Allegheny's really swell! You have to get away from a thing for a while before you appreciate it, I guess. Gee, I even miss the good old days in Lee House!—The broken windows and doors, the banging on the piano, the early morning smoke cloud coming from the furnace, the pillow fights, the swell bull sessions, and games in which I inevitably lost, black-outs and cigarettes in the dark, and above all, the beautiful profanity that goes with everything else. These things you don't forget. Oh, but enough of this sentimental stuff for the present—I was almost carried away there for a while.

Things are still smooth sailing up here, and very little happens. I guess you'll find it difficult to imagine me doing it, but I run about four miles every day without resting once—and I mean continual running. I'm in quite good condition now as you might suspect. The navy can do a lot of good for a fellow.

We are now in the ninth week of our thirteen week cycle of basic, which makes it end the middle of Oct. I'm practically a veteran. Our company is made up completely of ASTP candidates, taking the regular Infantry Basic. College, or OCS, is next on the list, we hope. I have qualified for the Basic Engineering course via our screening tests. The fellows are mostly one or two year college men like myself and a pretty swell bunch as a whole. As far as I can see I really got a swell break getting into ASTP because it looks like a pretty good set-up.

Since this is Infantry Basic we are getting plenty of marching, patrolling, and physical and tactical training. My feet are as hard as leather and twice as tough. Why, heck, we think nothing of taking ten or fifteen mile hikes, well—almost nothing. Our training has been pretty rugged, but it has been progressive, starting easy and getting harder gradually, so we don't notice it much. The food is good and we get plenty of it. I'm not the least bit bashful when it comes to eating.

Army life really isn't tough if you have the right attitude and get in with a good bunch. I genuinely enjoy it and am sure it is the best school I've ever been in.

Max Ralp is in the same platoon I am. We march together, and I have been running around some with him. We made the rounds of Philly last Saturday night. This town is really alive at night. Women are over abundant . . .

I hope to finish up here just before Christmas. If my grades are good enough, I should make it home then. After that, if I'm not sent to boot camp before then, I hope to go to Westminister.

I understand you're having a little difficulty concerning representation of different organizations on AUC. I don't know all the facts about the case, but I figure that it would be a shame to oust the Block A representative from AUC. True, there aren't any varsity sports any more, and they have also taken a back seat to make way for intramural sports. However, I do believe that the President of Block A should always have a seat on the council, no matter what a bunch of knuckleheads have to say about it. That is an honored position on AUC and it would be an insult to all men wearing or owning "A's" to have that position ousted.

I do think that the representative of the intra-mural council should hold a temporary position or even a permanent position on AUC. When I was on AUC there were a lot of chairs up in the meeting room and one more couldn't hurt . . . Hope you don't mind my blowing my top, but I couldn't sit on my tail and let an issue like that go by without taking a crack at its defense.

Life here is much the same college routine, but give me Allegheny any day! We are restricted more, but after all this is war.

I met a fellow out on the flight line this morning who went to Allegheny for his CTD and seems to be almost as crazy about the place as I am. He showed me some photographs and Campuses that he had, so, in twin, I showed him a couple of my Alumni Bulletins. Now I'm homesick for some of the times back at school, every so often something happens to get me that way, and I'm not good for a thing for a day or so.

Oh yes, before I forget, do you know anything about the Kaldron? Or are they already out? Or are they coming out at all?

The day I left Maxwell for here, Harry Faulk and Bill Goodnough arrived a few hours before my train time so I got to talk to them for an hour or so. Between them and Pat Sherman it was somewhat of a temporary Sig meeting. Later that same day Paul Jenkins was scheduled to arrive at Gunter, located the other side of Montgomery, but naturally I didn't get a chance to see him.

Say hello to everybody for me and think of me when you're throwing a football around, or down at the Kepler.

The last two weeks I was pleasantly surprised to find copies of "The Campus" among my mail. It certainly brought back happy memories of the two years I attended Allegheny College. I should like to thank whomever is responsible for sending them to me.

Since joining the WAC I have been stationed at Ft. Des Moines, working at the clothing warehouse as issue clerk in the non-sizeable article department. The life is grand; barracks life is so similar to a college dorm.
