My dear Mr. Puffer:

can
I am returning today the copy of Dr. Lee's book of travel which you kindly lent me. I have read it with much interest, having been over many of the Europe trips. I was particularly interested in his account of the crossing of the Simplon and the terrible storm. I made that trip once, partly on foot, partly by diligence. I can imagine what it must be in such a storm as Dr. Lee describes.

It was very good of you to let me see this book which otherwise I might have missed.

Very sincerely yours

Mr. George L. Puffer
