

Phila 4/2/23

Dear Mr.

Following your letter of 3/30.
I have today visited a number of the larger second hand book stores and have found no copies of the History of the S.O.C. The O'Leary store which claims to be the largest used book store in New York. I was out of luck. and I thought the man I talked with a little queerly but may have imagined it. The store had a copy something ago and earned it about 7 months before selling it, so then asked for my address so he could advise if a copy came in.

I can give you no guess as to its being suppressed from what I picked up. All of them seemed to know it well enough and named the author, but none if they picked so tho much chance of getting a copy, except the one who wanted address, which I didn't give him.

Thank I covered all of the shops of any size.

If you and Sarah went to Japan over Sunday. you surely had a cold trip. Hope you didn't find things frozen up nor freeze yourselves.

I suppose Sarah stays now and she seemed to have no fear of the cold when I saw her. Old fellow up the street says we are not going to have any summer "heat very much" and no crops. But "see there that" or "it's just you."

James is in today calling on the Attorney's man for his job. and I surely hope he lands it.

With love
Wm. H. H.
