

ALLEGHENY BEATS GROVE CITY

HOMECOMING DAY WAS FINEST IN HISTORY

ELABORATE PROGRAM ENJOYED BY LARGE ATTENDANCE OF ALUMNI

Despite the fact that weather conditions were most unfavorable last Saturday, Allegheny College celebrated one of the finest Homecoming Days in the history of the college. The day was enlivened to a great extent by Allegheny's decisive victory over Grove City.

A reception program in the morning at Arter Hall was the opening event, followed by the alumni luncheon in Cochran Hall. In the afternoon the annual football game between Allegheny and Grove City occupied the limelight. After the game the alumni gathered with their various fraternal organizations for dinner, after which they attended the Annual Homecoming Dance.

The program presented in the Little Theatre in Arter Hall was a very enjoyable affair for the visiting alumni. The Men's Glee Club opened the program in singing a group of songs. Dr. Clarence F. Ross, Acting President of the College, introduced Honorable Frank P. Miller, '07, who delivered a spirited address of welcome to the alumni who crowded the auditorium. Following the address of welcome, the members of the Student Playshop, under the direction of Miss Alice Spalding, presented Lord Dunsany's "A Night at an Inn". The play was well presented and enjoyed immensely by the alumni.

The program in Arter Hall was succeeded by a cafeteria luncheon in Cochran Hall. Here the alumni met many of their old college friends. The appetizing luncheon which was served was well appreciated. The College Guest Book was used to full extent as was evidenced by the many pages which were completely filled with names.

In the afternoon the best game of football that has been seen in this district for many years was witnessed by the alumni guests. Allegheny, after five unsuccessful years, finally overcame the Crimson team of Grove City in an unexcelled display of football tactics and play. Although the score was low, not once did Grove City threaten our goal line. The game, which was played in a sea of mud, was a hard-fought contest. Alumni were overjoyed that the "Gators" made such a splendid showing in trimming Grove City and keeping their record for the year unmarred. Our alumni should feel proud that our football team is now one of the four undefeated teams in the East.

After the game the alumni retreated to their various fraternity houses to talk over old times, and to attend fraternity alumni banquets.

The eventful day was brought to a close with the Annual Homecoming Day Dance in the gymnasium. Kress' Olympians furnishing the music.

Debate Team Plans Speaking Tour of Local Civic Groups

Folders have recently been mailed to a great number of luncheon clubs, church groups, lodges, and schools explaining what Allegheny's debating classes have to offer in the way of debates on several topics.

Last year a number of speakers from Allegheny's debating classes appeared before Rotary Clubs, Kiwanis Clubs, Lodges, Women's Clubs, Churches, and Schools in Northwestern Pennsylvania with great success. In all cases the speeches were well received and the idea was commended. Since the policy had so much success last year it was decided to carry on a program of similar nature, though more extensive, again this year.

Allegheny's speakers offer a debate of either a half hour, forty-five minutes, or an hour on any of the following questions:

- Resolved, that the states should adopt a system of compulsory unemployment insurance.
- Resolved, that the nations should adopt a policy of free trade.
- (Women) Resolved, that the emergence of women from the home should be deplored.

In addition to an explanation of the purpose and program of the class, the folder contains a list of the speakers and a detachable card, which, when filled out by the replying group, states the question they wish to hear debated, the time, place, and all other material necessary for setting up a non-conflicting program. The schedule will be arranged as the cards come in; consequently there will be no definite schedule for some time.

Professor H. T. Lavelly Addresses Students at Chapel Service

Discussing the subject of "Can a man change his fundamental nature", Prof. H. T. Lavelly addressed the students in chapel on Wednesday, October 29.

This problem identifies itself in being one for which the ancient Greeks sought a solution. Yet this problem in essentially its original forms troubles us today, in spite of the modern age, different circumstances, modified environment, and changed civilization. Because it will be the privilege of college students to be the socially-minded people of tomorrow, they should seek to interest themselves in its solution.

The two widely different answers to this problem are "no" and "yes". Those who accept "no" argue that since there is a scientific law of cause and effect, man does not have the power to change his fundamental nature. Those who believe "yes" have witnessed some radical religious change in character. They have seen people turn from bad to good, or good to bad.

One can accept either of these solutions as correct and reject the other, or could seek an element of truth in both and disbelieve neither. College students should consider this problem as worthy of their attention, and should seek to find a solution which shall be of benefit to them in meeting future social problems.

FAMOUS ONE ACT PLAY PRESENTED IN THEATRE

CAPACITY CROWD WITNESSES DUNSANY'S "A NIGHT AT AN INN"

Miss Alice Spalding has once again upheld her reputation for excellent dramatic direction, and this time before an audience of homecoming alumni. The Student Playshop under her direction produced a one act play, "A Night at an Inn", by Lord Dunsany, which was presented at three performances during the past week. The first presentation was on Saturday morning at eleven o'clock, and was the feature number of the exercises held in the Little Theatre in Arter Hall. Before a very appreciative and responsive audience of alumni and friends of the college the entire male cast composed of eight students performed in a most professional manner.

The play is a story of three merchant sailors and their leader, Toffy, who is characterized by the author as "a dilapidated gentleman". The men in the course of their travels in India had stolen a priceless ruby from the forehead of the hideous idol of Klesh. They made good their escape, but were constantly being trailed by three Hindu priests, who, guided by a super-natural instinct, had followed the sailors to their hideout in a deserted inn on the Yorkshire coast. Toffy, the very clever leader, had decided to remain at the inn and to await the arrival of the priests and meet them face to face. Albert, one of the sailors, prompted by his superstitious fear of the priests, induces the other two sailors to take the ruby and desert Toffy. Toffy very calmly acquiesces and the men leave. In a few minutes they rush back into the inn very terrified and report that they have seen the priests and are willing to obey Toffy's orders. He tells them to lie in wait while he sits with his back to the door and the ruby on a table at his side. One by one the priests enter and are stabbed by the man. Then, thinking that their worries are over, they proceed to celebrate with a supper. Sniggers is dispatched to the garden to bring water. He frantically rushes back in and pleads with Toffy to release him from his share in the ruby. While he is thus pleading, the idol of Klesh, a most hideous and grotesque figure enters, walks to the table, replaces the ruby in his forehead and walks out. In a few minutes a terrifying voice calls the men outside one by one. For some reason the men are unable to resist this call and their cries off-stage signify their deaths. Toffy, the last one to be called, says before he leaves, "I did not foresee this". With his death-cry the play ends.

"A Night at an Inn" is without doubt one of the most tense and exciting bits of drama that Allegheny College has seen in some time and required a great deal of work and skill in the production. It would be very difficult to select a "star" from the cast. John Walton in the character of Toffy was very convincing and sincere, and once again demonstrated

ALLIGATORS WIN OVER RIVALS ON SEA OF MUD BY SCORE, 6-0

Tide is Turned by Allegheny in Defeating the Grovers for First Time in Five Years.

After five years of defeat an underdog Alligator by sheer fight and determination defeated a Grove City football team 6-0 on a wet, sloppy Montgomery Field as the high point in Allegheny's Homecoming Day.

It was a wonderful game, hard fought all the way through. Both sides had strength, and used every ounce of energy and every trick they knew in attempting to gain supremacy in this all-important struggle. The deciding factor of victory was the fighting, unrelenting determination of the Allegheny warriors that the Crimson's string of victories absolutely must be stopped, and a victory be recorded for the Blue and Gold.

It was line against line, and backfield against backfield in the first half, a continuous high-pitched battle, and a smart defensive game of Anderson's punts against a Crimson battering-ram attack after the touchdown. The touchdown itself came just at the end of the first half, from a perfect delayed pass, from Berger on the 35 yard line to Garbark about the fifteen, and Garbark running with absolute interference the remaining yards for the score. The Allegheny stands went wild with an ovation that continued into the intermission.

No man of the whole team, or of the whole squad, can be overlooked in passing out the bouquets. To Allegheny's line goes the first glory. Heavily outweighed from end to end by a Crimson wall that has been a steamroller all season, the Allegheny forwards crashed through that wall to down Wolverine backs for losses on the defensive, and refused to give at all in any position but one, and opened up holes in offensive play that were all any backfield could want. McManus was an outstanding star, breaking through time after time to stop enemy formations, and doing admirable work in going down the field under punts to nail the receiver before he could get started. Brown, Boylan and Horn at the ends did great work along the same line, all playing a fierce game. Waite, Morse, Knapp, Jones, Francis, Pitchino, all took hard punishment from the heavy Grove City line and backfield, and came through with the day's honors. In the back field Captain Garbark led his team in fine style, gaining consistently throughout the game. Nick Varano fought to a large measure of glory with hard plugging and tackling. It was Balsler who was in great measure responsible for stopping the Crimson's line plays for short gains. Almost every time the Grove City backs managed to break through, Balsler stopped the play for gains of but three yards, practically a minimum for a play reaching the secondary defense. Finally, Anderson's great punting was the factor that kept the Grovers out of dangerous territory and allowed the Blue and Gold to play the defensive game that won the battle. Every man on the team put forth his utmost endeavor, made themselves in to the better team, and won a deserved victory.

No time was wasted at the start of the game. Hostilities were fully opened with the whistle. Grove City kicked off—a long kick to Anderson on the Allegheny one-yard line, returned to the 10. Anderson tried off-tackle for no gain; then lifted a high punt to a fair catch on the Allegheny 45. The stands rose with cheers as McManus broke through the Crimson line to down Kammerer for an eight-yard loss. The next play gained three through center, but on the next the Crimson line again broke, and the ball was set back another five yards. With the ball on their own 45, Grove City punted low to Varano who returned fifteen yards to the Allegheny 25. The line opened a nice hole, and Garbark went through for five yards. Anderson gained nine and first down through right tackle, and Varano hit the other side of the line for two more. The line continued to open wide gaps, and Varano advanced three more yards through left tackle, and Anderson raced sixteen yards to Grove City's forty yard line, and another first down. Varano picked up three yards in running the ball out of bounds, and went again through right guard, but Allegheny was penalized 10 yards for holding, and Anderson punted to the side of the field at the 14 yard line. The advance had pushed Grove City back 35 yards.

Nine Are Initiated at Recent Meeting of the German Club

On Tuesday evening, October 21, the German Club held its first meeting of the year at Hallings Hall. Miss Alberta Argow, president, was in the chair, and there were ten members present. At this meeting initiation exercises were conducted by William Boetcker, aided by Carl Lesher, for nine newly elected members: Dr. Elisabeth Spann, Russell Chilcote, Clarence Schwartz, William Hunter, Glen Lewis, Paul Grant, Wilberg Koehler, Karl Klicka, and Donald Kent. Following the initiation Dr. Elisabeth Spann, accompanying herself on the guitar, delighted the members of the club with the singing of five German Volkslieder. The entire club then joined in the singing of Volkslieder, accompanied on the piano by Louise Winegar and Anna Higby. Cider and doughnuts were served as refreshments.

For the next meeting of the club to be held on November 18, a Walter von der Vogelweide evening is being planned in honor of the 700th anniversary of the death of this first great lyric German poet.

HONORARY FRATERNITY INITIATES FIVE MEN

On Wednesday evening, October 29, Kappa Phi Kappa, national honorary educational fraternity, held its annual initiation in Reuter Hall with Howard Plate presiding. Drs. Henke and Lavelly attended the meeting.

Those initiated included the Messrs. Ish, Kelly, Barris, Springer, and Whitsett. Dr. Charles Buckingham was initiated as an honorary member.

Officers of the organization are Howard Plate, president, William Duncan, vice-president, and Stephen Greenwood, treasurer.

A note of sympathy was sent to Brother Arthur W. Thompson, who is recovering from a heart attack in the West Penn Hospital at Pittsburgh.

Allegheny's Liberal Club Holds Meeting Friday in Library

At four o'clock Friday afternoon, October 31, in the Quill Club room of the Library, the Liberal Club of Allegheny College held its second meeting of the year, which was devoted largely to an explanation to several new members of the club's policies.

Miss Ruth Birkner explained the purpose of dues, which are twenty-five cents for membership in the club, and one dollar and twenty-five cents if one wishes pamphlets and other mail from the League for Industrial Democracy.

The purpose of the club was made clear by James Hamilton, who outlined the intentions of the Liberal Club at some length. The primary purpose of the club is to provide an opportunity for liberal thought among the students and to foster it at Allegheny College by hearing both sides of all important questions along social lines.

Miss Margaret Sullivan read the constitution and gave a brief account of the history of the club so far. The club was organized late in February of 1930 and had had a phenomenal growth.

BIOLOGY FRATERNITY INITIATES MEMBERS

The initiation of new members of Phi Beta Phi, the local biological fraternity, was held last Tuesday night, October 28. The pledge list is as follows: Stanley A. Okrasinski, Julian Polaski, Beatrice G. Staciokas, Dave Whitsett, Paul A. Siple, Robert T. Nesbitt, Stephen Greenwood, and Fred W. Smith. Professor Nesbitt, instructor in Biology, was made an honorary member of the organization.

Phi Beta Phi is planning to have several noted biologists visit the department and address the student body, according to the president, Nick Varano.

"The Torch-Bearers" to be Presented by Playshop This Month

On Thursday and Friday evenings, November 20 and 21, the Allegheny Student Playshop, under the direction of Miss Spalding, will present its first major production of the 1930-31 season. This will be "The Torch-Bearers" by George Kelly, the well-known American dramatist who wrote "Craig's Wife" and "The Show-off", both of which plays have had an unusual run on Broadway. "The Torch-Bearers" is a hilarious, satirical farce, and has been described by those who have witnessed rehearsals as "the funniest show to hit Meadville in years".

Although rehearsals have been held for a week, Miss Spalding is not yet ready to announce a definite cast. The Play Production Classes under the supervision of Mr. Boettcker will begin work on the scenery and lighting effects this week. A model of the stage has been constructed and is very excellent and original. Tickets will be on sale a week before the play and every student should avail himself of the privilege of seeing the student players in what gives promise of being one of their finest productions in years.

DELTA SIGMA RHO IS TO ADOPT NEW SYSTEM

"THE GAVEL" REVIEWS HISTORY OF NATIONAL FORENSIC FRATERNITY

"The Gavel," official organ of the national forensic society, Delta Sigma Rho, of which Allegheny has one chapter, tells the history of the organization as follows:

"In November, 1904, occurred one of those striking coincidences which form the basis for a belief in telepathy. Almost at the same hour, two letters were posted, each suggesting to the writer of the other the formation of an intercollegiate forensic honor fraternity. Professor E. E. McDermott, of the University of Minnesota, and Professor H. E. Gordon, of the University of Iowa, were the principals in this incident.

"After about a year and a half of correspondence, in which Professor T. C. Trueblood, of the University of Michigan, and others participated, at Professor McDermott's call, representatives of the principal mid-western universities met at the Victoria Hotel, Chicago, Ill. On April 13th, 1906, Delta Sigma Rho was organized.

"Prior to Delta Sigma Rho, there was no society for those excellent in intercollegiate public speaking, which was exclusively an honor society and national in scope. In retrospect it seems strange that at institutions whose primary purpose is intellectual efficiency, contests in which intellectual efficiency is put to its mettle most effectively, were almost ignored while student and faculty enthusiasm knew almost no bounds in the recognition of physical prowess, heaping honors, emoluments and distinctions upon it.

"Delta Sigma Rho was founded to remedy this state of affairs; to compensate the faithful student who trains no less diligently than the football or track hero, in preparation for a contest in which the honor of his institution is no less involved, surely, than in a foot race or basketball game and who forgoes smokers, stags, dances, parties, picnics, vacations, traveling dinners, class honors, and scholarship prizes, all to master the intricacies of some question for debate or to overcome some awkwardness of gesture, or fault of speech. It was in the interests of the real 'student' at institutions for students, that Delta Sigma Rho was founded."

The latest available information reveals that there are sixty-two chapters of Delta Sigma Rho located in colleges and universities scattered over the United States. The members of the local chapter are Howard Plate and James Hamilton, with Julian L. Ross and Hurst R. Anderson acting as faculty advisers. Vera Dawson, Eleanor Brown, and Paul Cares are pledges. The chapter has been very active this year, sponsoring the contests in extemporaneous speaking, which were won by William Boettcker and Adele Elv.

This year Delta Sigma Rho hopes to adopt a new system of debating which will make the contests more interesting to audiences. The proposed system, known as the Oregon system, is as follows:

One speaker from each side gives an explanation of his views. Then the second speakers conduct cross-examinations. After this has been done, the third speakers from each side present a summary of their respective cases. Members of Delta Sigma Rho are

MONSIEUR DE LANUX IS GUEST OF ALLEGHENY

ADDRESSES STUDENTS ON PLANS FOR A "UNITED STATES OF EUROPE"

M. Pierre de Lanux, Director of the Paris Information Office of the League of Nations, described in chapel Monday, November 3, the task of the proposed "United States of Europe" so ardently advocated recently by certain Continental statesmen.

Monsieur de Lanux was a guest at Allegheny of the History and Political Science Club, which was fortunate enough to secure an address here on the second American lecture tour of this distinguished journalist and politician. The League of Nations Association and the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace are sponsors of the trip through the United States.

The speaker predicted that Monsieur Briand, godfather of this latest scheme for federation of the States of Europe, may have been the first statesman to conceive a workable plan. Yet the project has been imminent for some time and needed merely the crystallizing influence provided by Monsieur Briand.

The French politician launched the plan in dramatic fashion at a luncheon last year of guests representing each European State in the League of Nations, following his initial suggestions with a memorandum to the various governments. Responses contained all manner of observations, favorable and unfavorable, but the proposition gained momentum when this year's Assembly added further suggestions. The ultimate authority of the "U. S. of E.", its relation to the League, uncertain questions as yet, are for the near future to decide; the plan itself cannot now be stopped.

Monsieur de Lanux emphasized strongly the negative character of the non-federation's task. Europe at the present time needs chiefly, not creation of new organizations, not new obligations, but simplification, normality, prosperity, fusion to a single economic unit.

Naturally observers have raised many objections. They fear that the League of Nations will suffer; yet the right kind of organizations will actually relieve the League of burdensome local problems of no concern to outside nations. Another argument contends that the new government will resist American economic and financial expansion; in reality, resolution of Europe into a unit economically will greatly benefit American business interests, blazing a trail through the maze of regulations, tariffs, and contradictory laws which now makes necessary individual correspondents of every foreign company in each nation of Europe.

Thoburn Club Holds Regular Meeting in Library on Thursday

On Thursday, October 30th, the Thoburn Club held its regular meeting in the French Seminar room of the Library. Miss Virginia Charlton had charge of the devotional service, while Mr. Gale Engle lead the discussion. This discourse concerned the association of science and religion. The question of whether or not one can have faith in both scientific and religious principles at the same time was of major importance in the discussion.

The Thoburn Club is instituted for those who expect to devote their lives to religious work. Meetings are held on the second and fourth Thursdays of every month. Quite a few names have been recently added to the roster, and the present members will gladly welcome all students who are interested in religious work.

M. DE LANUX RECEPTION

Monsieur Pierre de Lanux, a distinguished member of Briand's cabinet, was entertained Sunday, November 2, at a reception tea given in Hallings Hall by the History and Political Science Club. Members of the faculty, the Liberal Club and Phi Sigma Iota were among those present.

The committee in charge consisted of Pauline Thornton, Margaret Sullivan and Ruth Shorts. Dean Bowie and Mrs. Woodring poured. The Tea was served by four freshman girls, Ola Rex, Betty Kemp, Dorothy Holsinger, and Edna Mae Bruggeman.

Not certain that the Oregon system can be adopted, but are hopeful that it can be, since they believe that the new system would be easier for an audience to listen to. The present type of debate consists of three speakers from each side, followed by rebuttals, which plan, it is claimed, is of little interest to the audience.

APPRECIATION

To all of the alumni of Allegheny who contributed in one way or another to the success of the past Homecoming celebrations of the college, we, the present members of Allegheny, extend our heartiest thanks. Without your being here, a fitting observance of the occasion would have been impossible; with your presence and cooperation, the college was able to celebrate the best Homecoming in years, and the football team to do a thing which it has been unable to do in the past five years—beat Grove City. Certainly the moral support of every student, both past and present, was a great help to the team during the game.

We hope that your short stay here was agreeable and pleasant—that you made many new acquaintances as well as renewed the old ones. If we failed in any quarter to make your visit enjoyable, you may rest assured that it was a blind spot to us.

The one trouble with Homecoming Day is that it is the only time of the year when most of the "old guard" come to see us. Impressions gathered at that time are likely to be the criterion for judging the whole school for all time—a fallacy too often the cause of a rupture of relations between friends. Why wait until Homecoming Day to come back to the Alma Mater?

CHAMPIONS?

Fooling the most authoritative sports writers of the district who wrote that "the Methodists' football sun seems to be setting", Allegheny's gridders on Saturday moved another step nearer the Tri-State Championship. By winning the game, the football team displayed not only an abundant amount of playing ability, but they evidenced an unusual spirit that was largely responsible for the victory. Underdogs though they were, they refused to be daunted by the thought of any such thing as a "jinx" and at times made their opponents look like high school players. They beat Grove City, something which bigger and more highly-touted teams had not done in other years. They fought under the most depressing of circumstances and won.

And now only one game remains between them and the coveted goal. The result of the Dartmouth game will not affect the rating of the team in regards to the championship. Salem will provide very little opposition.

The game that will tell whether or not we become champions will be played on November 22 with Geneva, in all probability our strongest opponent of the year. They have enjoyed as successful a season as Allegheny; they, too, have beaten Grove City. The only defeat recorded against them has been caused by a much larger team in a game similar to our fray with Dartmouth.

But Allegheny can beat Geneva. The players have shown us throughout the season that they are capable of such an undertaking. All that is necessary is for the students to continue to display that remarkable spirit that they showed during the week before the Grove City game; they must talk to the team; they must show them that they are confident of the players' ability. It is not up to the players whether we win the championship or not. We know they can do it. The students must play, not only on the 22nd, but from now until after the game.

C. C. S.

What happened to our band last Saturday during the half?

Practically all honorary fraternities have elected members and before long we expect to see O. D. K. hold its tapping.

Allegheny students were very fortunate in seeing such an excellent portrayal of a "A Night at an Inn".

We are expecting to see a very commendable performance of "The Torch-Bearers" if the recent production of the Little Theatre is any criterion. No student can afford to miss the coming play.

Our over-seas visitor was very cordially received by the students. More speakers like him would be very welcome.

DID YOU VOTE YESTERDAY?

The withdrawal was quickly refused because no specific instances of violations were made and what charges were made had been committed several years before and not during the present season.

W. & J. and Lafayette Colleges recently added another page to the history of sports when the football teams of the two institutions met in the Auditorium at Atlantic City to play the first indoor game in that sport. Washington & Jefferson won the game, 7-0, on a fumble. Somebody will get credit for being the first indoor football goal.

Justice Roberts of the United States Supreme Court recently said that the average American college is falling down in its duties by not teaching students to think for themselves. He said that one of the chief weaknesses of American people is their acceptance of readymade ideas; that they learn how to do things by memorizing them rather than learning how to think things out for themselves.

Though the number of parties during the week of witches and goblins was comparatively small, the dance on Friday evening given by Alpha Chi Rho being the only Greek party, social activities were kept up to par by the Homecoming Dance, banquets, and informal "sessions" in honor of the Old Guard who had returned for the Homecoming festivities. All is quiet on the Pan-Hellenic front this week, not even a smoker is scheduled.

Homecoming Day was made a big success by the exceptionally large number of alumni who came back to look over their Alma Mater, among whom were the following:

Pi Chapter of Phi Gamma Delta—Seventy Years of Friendships. By Edwin L. Mattern. The Torch Press, Cedar Rapids, Iowa. 1930. $5.00.

A new history of Allegheny College has appeared with the recent publication of the history of Pi chapter of Phi Gamma Delta, written by Edwin L. Mattern, ritualist of the fraternity. Although primarily intended to be the relating of incidents pertaining to Pi chapter, the book is a comparatively complete history of the college since 1860, the date of the chapter's founding.

In the prologue of the book is found a brief account of the customs of the students, the courses offered by the college, and the hardships encountered by both students and faculty alike in the days before 1860. The founding of Pennsylvania Beta chapter of Phi Kappa Psi is treated briefly in that section.

The remainder of the actual narrative is divided into seven sections, each of which reviews the events of a ten-year period, and then follows the Epilogue; a list of the contributors to the Campus, the Allegheny Literary Monthly, and the fraternity magazine; the names of those who have participated in the general affairs of the fraternity; an account of convivia and initiations; the relationships existing among the members of the fraternity; a list of all the chapter officers; a group of portraits; and a list of biographies.

The book is in reality a history of Allegheny College, showing the affect of the chapter on the college and the affect of the college on the chapter. The history of each building may be found throughout the volume, an account is given of the appointment and terms of office of each president, and the changing customs and traditions of both college and fraternity are portrayed. Humor is found from cover to cover in the description of the pranks played by the students. As the author says, "Although it is a special book in a sense, it contains much history and many stories of student pranks that can be found nowhere else".

The book is beautifully and artistically printed on fine paper and bound in purple pebble-grain cloth with gold lettering. Copies of the history are by no means reserved for members of Phi Gamma Delta only, but may be purchased by any one interested in the history of Allegheny College from a fraternity standpoint. It is one of the very few publications in the country and should, therefore, have a general appeal to the majority of Allegheny alumni.

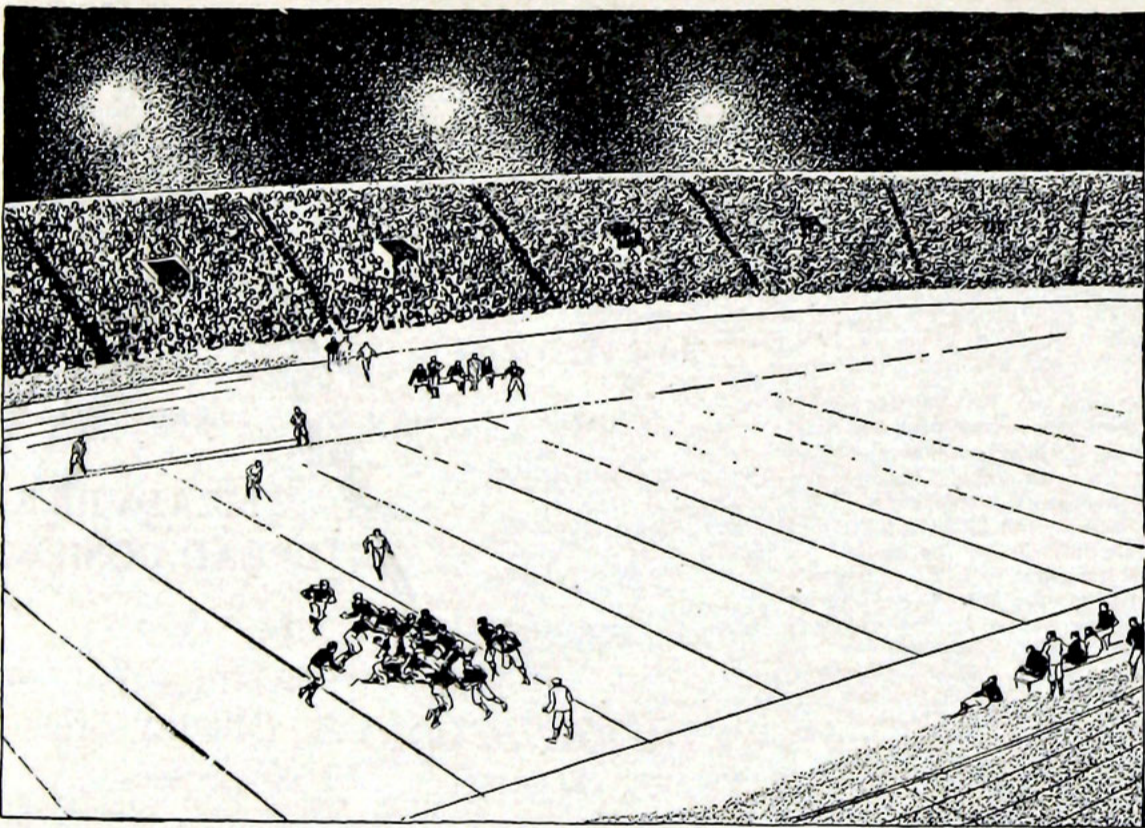

UNIVERSITY WOMEN TO MEET NOVEMBER EIGHTH

Allegheny women will be interested to know that there is an active branch of the American Association of University Women in Meadville. The regular November meeting is to be held on the eighth of this month at Hulings Hall, when work for the season will be resumed. The educational committee will have charge of the program and will present for discussion the subject of "Adult Education". Miss Edith Rowley is membership committee chairman and wishes to extend a welcome to college women of Meadville and vicinity who care to affiliate with the A.A.U.W. in Meadville. Full membership is granted graduates of any accredited college or university, and associate membership to those who have attended an accredited college or university but who have not been graduated. This is the 50th anniversary of the founding of A.A.U.W., and it is hoped that membership in the Meadville Branch may be materially increased.

"A NIGHT AT AN INN"

(Continued from page 1). Miss Spalding's unusual ability for casting plays. Will Roos, who portrayed Bill Jones, did so with the ability he showed as Don Pedro in "Much Ado About Nothing". Robert Bugbee, who was cast as Sniggers, was very forceful and reached his climaxes with professional ability. Bramer Carlson, a new-comer in play productions, was excellent, and we will probably see more of him in the Little Theatre productions this year. The parts of the three priests, while they had no speaking parts, were very well done. Thomas Mansell, who was the idol, made a very grotesque appearance and his work offstage was unusually fine. Performances were also given on Monday night for the student body and on Tuesday afternoon for the Women's Club of Meadville.

The scenery and lighting which were executed by the Play Production classes under the supervision of Mr. Boettcher exhibited a finesse which one seldom sees in amateur productions. The cast follows:

G-E Floodlighting Wins Favor for Football - Hockey - Track - Baseball - Tennis

G-E floodlighting equipment has a winning record. Its victories are counted in terms of pleased spectators, increased attendance, satisfied coaches and players.

The development of G-E athletic-field floodlighting equipment was planned with every consideration for the fundamental and special playing conditions it must meet. That is why the big Novalux projectors give ample and evenly diffused light over the entire playing area.

The development of General Electric floodlighting equipment has largely been the work of college-trained men in the G-E organization — other college-trained men are largely responsible for the continuing leadership of General Electric in furnishing the many other products which bear the G-E monogram.

ALLIGATORS JOURNEY TO DARTMOUTH SATURDAY

"BIG GREEN" OUTFIT PRESENTS BARRIER TO CLEAN RECORD OF WINS.

With the first five scheduled games safely tucked away in the victory bag, Allegheny will move on to Dartmouth this Saturday in an attempt to hold the Big Green in check. While a low score in favor of Dartmouth is hoped for, Coach Crum is busily looking forward to the remaining part of the schedule and therefore is making no claims in regards to Saturday's game. The Dartmouth game will have no bearing on Allegheny's titular aspirations and for this reason is not being regarded as important as those remaining on the team's schedule. Following Saturday's game, Salem and Geneva remain to be met and defeated before Allegheny can be hailed as the Tri-State Champions of Class B Colleges for the first time since 1924.

The team emerged from last Saturday's grueling struggle in fairly good shape. However, the condition of Capt. Garbark may remove him from next Saturday's encounter. It was feared that he had suffered serious injuries to his neck but these fears have been largely nullified, although at the present he is in no fit condition to participate in the team's play. It is expected that Coach Crum will keep most of his stars in reserve for future battles rather than invite serious injury to his fighting team.

Dartmouth possesses one of the strongest teams in the East this year. Although no Al Marsters cavorts in the backfield this year, a more evenly balanced team has been playing havoc with all the East's strong teams with the only possible exception of Yale, who held the Green to a scoreless tie last Saturday. Even this game came near to ending in a 3-0 victory for the Green when an attempted field goal narrowly went astray in the final moments of the struggle.

However, over-confidence has wrecked the morale of many good teams when they prepare to line up against small but fighting opponents. If Dartmouth falls into such a mental lethargy, the Big Green may find themselves in for a rough Saturday. Allegheny's fighting qualities may easily make this week's encounter one that Dartmouth will not forget for the rest of the year.

SWIMMING TRIALS TO BEGIN IN NOVEMBER

At a recent meeting of the intramural athletic committee the dates of the inter-fraternity swimming meets were changed. As the revised schedule reads, the Group A trials will be held on November 24, and the Group B trials on December 8. The winners of the group trials will compete in the final meet on December 15. All entries for the meet must be in the gym office not later than November 15. The entry list must include the names of the entries and the events in which each man will participate. At least eight men must be entered from each fraternity.

One of the major events is the dive. Four dives are required. They are the front dive, the front jack-knife, the back dive, and the back jack-knife.

It was too bad about that little argument that sent Koma and Larry Boylan to the bench. Same old Grove City-Allegheny rivalry.

This and That

WATCHING THE ENEMY

DARTMOUTH 0—YALE 0

Many words by many writers have commented on this game, and all seem to agree that the battle was fully as even as the score indicated. In spite of Dartmouth's powerful line Yale dominated the first half, and Dartmouth came back in the second period with great offensive line strength to dominate the last half. Both sides missed chances to score—Booth racing 30 yards for a touchdown on one occasion, only to have a penalty for holding erase the score, and on two other occasions missing forward passes in scoring attempts from the 17 and 23 yard lines. Dartmouth, in turn, made marches to the 11, and again to the 20 yard line, but was stopped both times by a stiffening of the Yale defense.

GENEVA 24—F. & M. 8

Allegheny's attention now focuses on Geneva, the other conquerors of Grove City, and future opponents of the Alligators. The Covenantors last Friday proved that their strength was genuine when they submerged Franklin & Marshall College 24-8. Geneva's great success with its passing attack again gave it a great advantage. Although none of the touchdowns was scored by this means, the ball was in every instance brought to within scoring range by the passing attack. First downs were plentiful, with F. & M. making 16 to Geneva's 12, but always repulsed by the Covenantor's aerial game. As usual, Knapp starred, with Grahame and Ewing sharing honors.

Some of the sights before the game: Boy, what a day—muddy field, gay crowd, old timers welcoming each other . . . everybody trying to find a seat . . . big "surprise" package of cheer leaders . . . Dink Walker and his derby . . . the band playing their best . . . a new program . . . nice too . . . also the Grove City band . . . not bad either . . . more mud . . . it should be awfully tough to play out there . . . everybody has one of those poppies from the American Legion . . . look at the people get up when the team comes out . . . old stars of other days—Tarzan Fuller, Humeston, Hopi Miller, and others . . . all set now for the start . . . certainly hope we can bring that "mental telephaty" into play.

The two bands were seemingly having a contest of their own much to the amusement of the stands. One would start to play and the other wouldn't lose much time in following right behind them with their number.

Oh! That touchdown, or touchover as Lena of Jake and Lena would say. Will I ever forget it? That boy Berger knows how to pass, and well, you know already of Garbark's playing. He took it over.

Hats off to the Grove City band. Their courtesy at the half of making an A and the playing of the pep song was appreciated very much by the students.

LOST!

A light tan felt hat bearing the mark of Brodt's Clothing Store, Washington, D. C., was lost last week in either Cochran Hall or the Gymnasium. Will the finder please return to Coach H. W. Crum.

ALLIGATORS WIN

success, and were forced to punt to Allegheny on their own 44 yard line. Garbark made nine yards in two plays, and Varano made more than enough for a first, but a fifteen yard penalty forced Allegheny to punt. The kick was long and high, carrying to the five yard line, where both ends hit for a perfect tackle, but the umpire ruled roughness on the part of an Allegheny player, and the ball was given to Grove City on their own 35 yard line. The first play netted no gain, but on the next Shupe toe loose for a fifteen yard gain to the center of the field. Kammerer went around left end for eleven more, and a play through right tackle put the ball on Allegheny's 34, and Allegheny took time out. McManus smeared the runner of the next play for a five yard loss. Knapp stopped the next one at guard for no gain, and the Reds punted to the Allegheny 23.

Allegheny lost no time in getting back on the defensive, giving the ball to Anderson, who punted to the Crimson 45, gaining 16 yards on the exchange. Grove City tried to recoup its advance, but was forced to punt, the kick going high to the Allegheny 33. Garbark picked up three yards, but a fumble was recovered by the Crimson. Striving to make a touchdown from this series of breaks, the Crimson pushed the ball for a first down in two plays, two more at left guard on the next, but were penalized five yards for offside. Three yards at left end put the ball where it started; no gain at center took another down; seven yards were gained at the same place on the next play, and two more on the fourth down, giving the ball to Allegheny by the scant margin of a yard, on their own 21 yard line. Anderson immediately punted to the Allegheny 45 yard line. A slight misunderstanding over a dead ball resulted in Koma of Grove City and Boylan, of Allegheny being dismissed from the field, and Horn was substituted for Boylan. Allegheny recovered a fumble on the next play, punted to the Crimson 15 yard line, where the quarter ended with Grove City's only scoring scare safely repulsed.

Allegheny, again with the advantage, immediately started the drive that resulted in the touchdown. The Crimson was able to do nothing with Allegheny's inspired line, and punted to Varano on the Red's 45. Allegheny tried two scrimmages; then Anderson lifted a long punt to the end of the field. The Grove City safety man, instead of letting the ball roll out, took it on his six yard line, and was downed in his tracks. The ball was run out, taken into the field, and punted short to the 35, and returned one yard by Varano. Grove City replaced its safety man.

An offside penalty nullified Allegheny's advances, and Anderson punted over the end zone. Grove City took the ball on the 20, advanced it five yards through center, but was stopped for a loss on the next play, and punted to the 42. Allegheny could make no gain in two attempts, and again punted. The Grove City safety man let the ball roll, but it was downed as it crossed the five yard mark. Grove City immediately punted to the forty yard line, and Varano returned the punt to the 27. One yard was gained in running the ball out of bounds. With about four minutes left of the half, Varano was taken out, and Berger substituted. He immediately started passing, but gained only two yards in two attempts. Again Anderson lifted a beautiful punt, and as the Grove safety man let it roll towards the goal McManus downed it on the three-yard line. Again the Crimson punted, and Berger returned four yards to the 26. On the first play he went back, took the ball, calmly waited for Garbark to go down the field, and threw the ball to him in the center of the Grove secondary defense. Garbark made a hard catch, gathered in the ball, and raced the remaining ten yards for a touchdown. An attempted pass, Berger to Garbark for the extra point, was incomplete. Score, Allegheny 6, Grove City 0.

The Allegheny kick-off was topped, but in three plays the half was over. The second half was an exhibition of defense all the way. Just as in the Thiel game, Allegheny depended on its defense and Anderson's punts to keep the 6-0 score safe. It was a hard-fought battle all the way, although Grove City never seriously endangered the Allegheny goal. The game ended with the ball in Grove City's possession on its own 20 yard line.

Cwens Are Planning for Active Year on Allegheny's Campus

The Epsilon Chapter of Cwens, Sophomore women's activities fraternity, has introduced the selling of hot-dogs at all the home football games at Allegheny this year, and as the students seem to like the idea, this Sophomore honorary organization for women has decided to continue this novelty for a few years.

This week-end they decorated Hulings Hall for all the visiting alumnae. The front hall was fittingly decorated by various pennants, with an Allegheny banner in the center of all. Gold and blue streamers bound the railings and miniature footballs on blue and gold ribbons hung from the new chandeliers.

The Cwens are selling stationery this fall. The price is only $1.29 and "just what the college student wants". This stationery comes with three sizes in a box and one may have his fraternity seal printed on the paper for the same price. If anyone desires to order some of this paper, any Cwen will be glad to fill the order.

ARTHUR W. THOMPSON REPORTED IMPROVING

The condition of Arthur W. Thompson, class of '27, who was stricken with a heart attack about a month ago while resting at his mountain lodge near Ligonier, Pa., is reported as somewhat improved. Mr. Thompson is convalescing in the West Penn Hospital at Pittsburgh, where he was removed immediately following the attack.

Mr. Thompson is a graduate of Allegheny College and a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. After his graduation he became active in many of the larger industrial concerns of Pennsylvania, and later served as President of the Board of Trustees of Allegheny College, from which position he recently resigned.

Through Mr. Thompson's secretary, he wishes to thank all those who have remembered him during his illness.

Six members of the freshman football team of George Washington University were dismissed from the university because they demanded room, board, and spending money in return for their services on the team. Dr. Marvin, president of the university, said that it would be better not to have a team than to have one on which the members were paid to represent George Washington University.
