AUC Resolution Adopted; Library Hours Extended

A resolution calling for the investigation of the arrest of "Freedom Walkers" in Alabama was passed by A.U.C. Tuesday night. The original resolution presented by Richard Momeyer last week was amended. The key deletion was the following statement: "A.U.C. protests against the arrest and intimidation of ten 'Freedom Walkers' and two observers.

The resolution passed now reads: We the Undergraduate Council of Allegheny College hereby urge that the Justice Department and the Civil Rights Commission make an immediate and thorough investigation of the arrest of ten 'Freedom Walkers' and two observers now being held in DeKalb County Jail, Fort Payne, Alabama.

"We feel that because of restricted information we can neither judge the legality or illegality of their arrest, but we feel that there may be an infringement of constitutional rights of freedom of peaceful protest which an investigation would clarify."

Vice-president of educational affairs Steve Ross announced that the library committee has decided to extend library hours on a one term trial basis, beginning next September. The library will open from 10-11 p.m. Monday through Thursday, with the regular reader service desk closing at 10:00 p.m.

Ross stated that members of the committee, after reviewing all evidence on student use of Reis Library, decided that the majority of the students did not need an extension and advised that students schedule their use of the library in conjunction with standing library

King Scheduled To Speak; Advocate Of "Nonviolence"

By John Quattrocchi

Martin Luther King, Jr., renowned spokesman for civil rights reform, a Baptist minister, a great orator, and one of the foremost advocates of nonviolent resistance, is scheduled to speak to the college on Thursday, May 23, at 8:15 in the David Mead Field House.

The Reverend King, who was born on January 15, 1929 in Atlanta, Georgia is best known for his effective application of nonviolent resistance. King's father, who believed uncompromisingly in the equality of man, instructed his son never to make himself subservient to anyone because of his skin color.

Young Martin followed his father's advice and was, as a result, subject to occasional harassment. It was through such incidents, and even before the age of 15 when he entered college, that he recognized the futility of violence.

Nonviolent resistance was to Martin Luther King not the cowardly but rather the more reasonable and rational method of accomplishing his objectives.

King, who regards Socrates as one of his heroes because "he believed truth was greater than life," has been in the vanguard of a movement to effect racial equality through widespread application of his philosophy of nonviolent resistance.

To the mind of King there are six basic aspects to his philosophy:

"First, it must be emphasized that nonviolent resistance is not a method for cowards." The method is passive physically, but strongly active spiritually. It is not, says King, "passive non-resistance to evil," it is "active nonviolent resistance to evil."

A second basic fact that characterizes nonviolence is that it "does not seek to defeat or humiliate the opponent, but to win his friendship and understanding. The aftermath of violence is bitterness, but the aftermath of nonviolence is creation."

Class Of '67 Represents Larger Geographic Area

Information released by the Admissions Office indicates that 260 men and 150 women, for a total of 410 students, will compose the Class of 1967. These were chosen from 1300 applicants, slightly below the number applying last year.

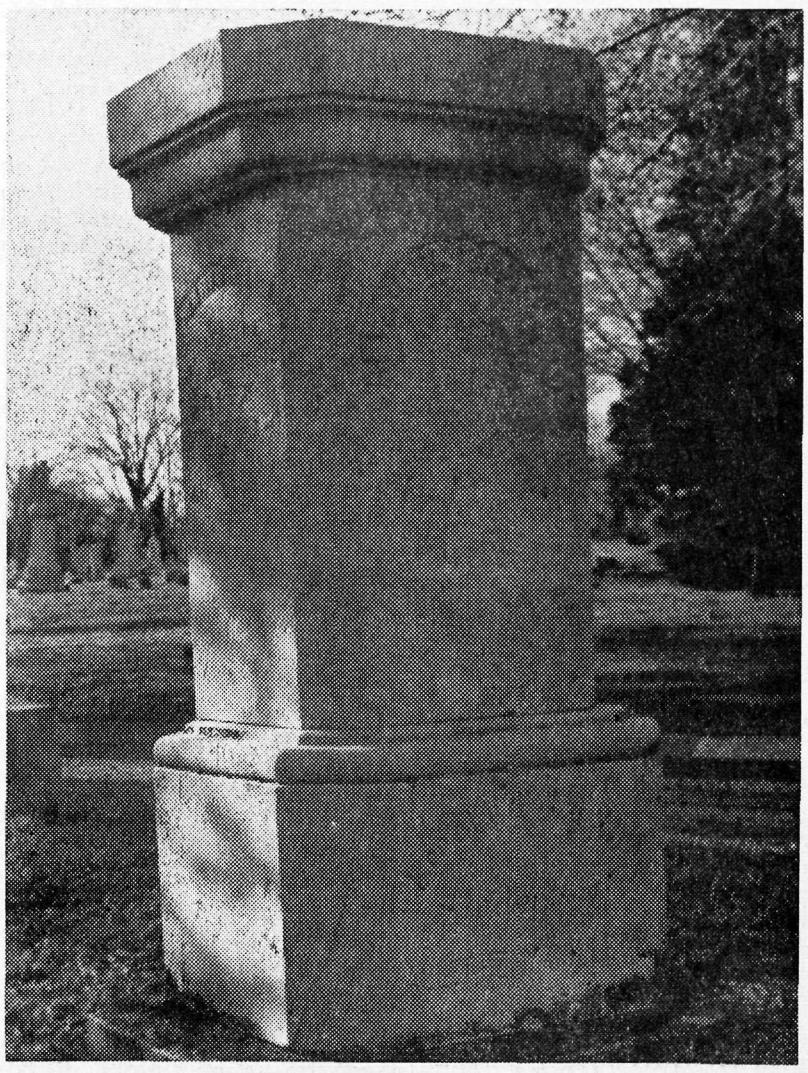

Of the total class, 21 men and 25 women were admitted under the Early Acceptance program.

There will be 44 students entering as "legacies" — those who have relatives who are Allegheny alumni.

The freshmen will come from 23 states, including the usual 40% from Pennsylvania, 20% from New York, 10% from Ohio and 10% from New Jersey. The remaining 20% will come from a slightly wider area than previous classes with representatives from Florida, Texas, California, Alaska and Hawaii. Two American-born students whose families are now living in Germany and Costa Rica respectively will also be members of the class.

Among entering students will be 38 high school valedictorians and 10 of the 13 winners on Allegheny's Merit Scholarship Examination.

Memorial Fund Approved

THIS BADLY WEATHERED tombstone of Dr. John Barker, Allegheny College's fourth president, is to be replaced by a new stone. The Undergradate Council Tuesday night voted to establish a John Barker Memorial Fund for the purpose. The grave is located at Greendale Cemetery. (Story on Page 5.)

May Day Weekend Features Movie, Dance

May Day weekend activities will commence tomorrow night with a movie in Henderson Auditorium and will be highlighted with the coronation of the May Day Queen and the presentation of her Court at the annual May Day Dance on Saturday night.

The May Day Queen, Eileen Heller, will be crowned at 9:30 p.m. by last year's May Day Queen Pat Dolan after the formal procession of the court has taken place. Members of the May Day Court include the Senior Attendants Marianne Buus, Gaye Cushner, Sandra Heeter, and Gerry Romig, Maid of Honor Jean Boice, and the Charm Queens from each class which include Junior Charm Queen Joan Thergesen, Sophomore Charm Queen Eleonara Botti, and Freshman Charm Queen Nancy Neuendorffer.

Preceding the dance the May Day Queen and her Court will be honored at a reception given in their honor at 8 p.m. at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Chapter House. The reception is being jointly sponsored by Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Theta fraternities.

Music will be provided by Pat Oliver's Band for the formal dress affair to be held in Brooks Hall from 9 to 1 a.m. Women students' permissions have been extended to 1:30 a.m. for the dance.

"The Eddie Duchin Story" will be the featured movie tomorrow night, including two cartoons, in Henderson Auditorium. Two showings of the movie have been slated with one scheduled for 6 p.m. and one for 9 p.m.

The weekend will conclude with an AWS sponsored May Day Banquet at 1 p.m. on Sunday, May 19 in Brooks Dining Hall.

New IBM Computer Comes To Allegheny

Purchase of an IBM 1620 computer for the college has been announced by President Pelletier.

The equipment will be used for handling student grades and averages, student and alumni lists, and routine records. Research and the teaching of problems, such as the solution of algebraic and differential equations and statistical analysis of experimental data, will also be part of its function. The computer will be able to analyze rainfall and water run-off in the French Creek drainage area as a preparation for floods. In addition, the computer will be available for the use of local businesses and institutions.

Included in the purchase is IBM's 1622 card in-put and out-put unit which handles standard punched cards bearing either alphabetical or numerical data at the rate of 20,000 characters per minute.

Arrival of the computer will be in July and it will be housed in Newton Observatory until the completion of Carr Hall.

Bought from the International Business Machines at a special price to educational institutions, the IBM 1620 computer is the only one in the area other than the one at the American Viscose Corporation. The 1622 unit has been purchased on a leased basis.

Eighteen Sophomores To Serve As J.A.'s

Eighteen sophomore women were recently chosen to serve as Junior Advisors for the 1963-64 college year. The group functions as academic aids to freshman women, serving primarily to orient these women to what is expected scholastically of Allegheny students.

Reapportionment

The AWS revised constitution, to be voted upon in two weeks, is indeed an improvement over its predecessor in many respects. In its consolidation of committees into one Communications Committee it has discarded an unwieldy number of departments. The concise nature of this document has eliminated many of the ambiguities found in previous attempts. The women's government through this constitution should realize greater solidarity and efficiency and win more favorable student opinion.

However, there exists within the new draft an inequality of representation which can hopefully be corrected by amendment before final ratification. In all instances where a representative is to be chosen from each of the women's social groups and from among independent women, no recognition is given to the fact that the independent chosen represents five times as many women as does any one of the representatives from the social groups.

On such committees as the nominating committee, this inequality hardly seems justified or advisable since the purpose of the committee is to choose from all the women students those most qualified to run for office. While it is understood that the representatives from all groups consider and nominate women outside their respective organizations, they also serve as a voice for individuals within their own groups who might be passed over in the nominating process. It is, at least for one committeeman, difficult to assess and represent over two hundred and fifty girls.

A possible amendment to eliminate this situation would be the reapportionment of representation so as to offer one representative per fifty independent women, the ratio now had by women in social groups. This would allow more equitable representation of independent women students on campus and further the democratic ideals to which AWS must subscribe.

Stay Alive!

ALLEGHENY STUDENT FATALLY INJURED would be a tragic headline in our paper but one which is always possible due to the hazardous conditions of North Main Street. Drivers of automobiles and trucks of all sizes often move along the main thoroughfare of the college at speeds well above those governing a school zone. Students dart out from behind parked cars giving little warning to oncoming vehicles.

In order to help prevent a future tragedy, the Meadville Police Department, at the request of the college, has painted a number of crosswalks on North Main Street. In addition, they have painted on the highway north of the school an area that indicates a school zone.

But lines and signs alone do not insure safety. Those crossing North Main St. must utilize the crosswalks which have been provided. Let's strive to make all Allegheny headlines pleasant headlines.

KING

A third characteristic of this method, writes King, is that the attack is "directed against forces of evil rather than against persons who happen to be doing the evil." Martin Luther King once said in a speech, "we are out to defeat injustice and not white persons who may be unjust."

The fourth point is a "willingness to accept suffering without retaliation." Gandhi, another advocate of nonviolent resistance, has said "suffering is infinitely more powerful than the law of the jungle for converting the opponent and opening his ears which are otherwise shut to the voice of reason."

Fifthly, nonviolent resistance "avoids not only external physical violence but also internal violence of spirit." Such a philosophy not only involves refusal to shoot an opponent but also refusal to hate him. Non violence requires agape or a willingness to sacrifice in the interest of the mutuality.

A sixth aspect of nonviolent resistance is that it is based on the conviction that the universe is on the side of justice. "The believer in nonviolence," writes King, "has deep faith in the future and as a result can accept suffering without retaliation."

Reverend King's visit to Meadville will be his first Northern trip since the Birmingham crisis, and it is speculated that he may use this occasion to indicate his plans for the future.

AWS Program Surveys College Intellectualism

By Merrell Davenport

Discussion as to the presence or absence of intellectualism on the Allegheny College Campus was the main item of presentation at the May 8 AWS sponsored program, "The High School on the Hill." Dr. Richard Hutcheson and Mr. Alfred Kern were the guest speakers.

Mr. Kern expressed the opinion that Allegheny students are intelligent but not particularly intellectual. He attributed this to a tendency to "play the role" expected of one as a student on this campus. He stated the feeling that the individual must establish his own standards by means of which personal intellectual salvation can be sought. The group exists solely to accomplish those things necessary for the survival of society.

Illustrating his feelings in a short selection of his own authorship, Kern likened some of Allegheny's intellectual endeavors to the American women's clubs. Each week a speaker is called in to give the ladies their taste of intelligence. Each week the speaker goes away, having learned that the ladies would rather munch their party cookies than attempt to digest food for thought. Mr. Kern also wondered if Allegheny students ever felt the slightest twinge of sorrow to know that in their lives they would never read more than a very small percentage of all the books in Reis library.

Kern concluded by saying that he felt that Allegheny College will improve with regard to the intellectual atmosphere, but he doubted that this campus could ever be one where intellectualism reigned.

Dr. Hutcheson expressed the view that Allegheny's curriculum is geared to challenge the scientist, but offers little stimulation in the humanities. He feels that the only way man can understand man is through the humanities, and that more challenges in this department will promote intellectualism on this campus.

He felt that Allegheny needs creative new leadership to rouse it from the mental lethargy in which it now reclines. Dr. Hutcheson also commented on the general lack of willingness to experiment on this campus. He noted that any real enthusiasm for campus activities seems limited to the freshman and sophomore classes.

Letter To The Editor

On Saturday evening there was a sudden break in the stifling mist of lethargy which often overhangs our lovely campus. After long hours of planning, The Last Drop opened its doors.

The idea of a coffee house originated with Lynn Atwell, a Meadville girl who envisioned a place where young people of 17 to 1 from the town, college, and nursing schools could get together to sit and talk or enjoy entertainment in a friendly, informal atmosphere.

There was too much red tape involved in finding a room down town, so we began looking into possibilities of space on campus. By this time John Burdick had become involved and a key figure, representing the interests of both the college and Meadville. Even when it became clear that the ultimate goal of creating better relationships between town and college, he stuck with it as an all-college program and then as a C.U. function.

He had a lot of help, too. Mr. Robert Cares, Director of the College Union, came through with invaluable suggestions, financial aid, and space in the C.U. Our advisor, Mr. Charles Hampton,, Jr., gave us a push in the right direction when we needed help. Tim Bouton, Cultural Chairman of the C.U., was helpful in suggesting entertainment to us.

On Saturday, Al Jones saw to the food, Art Young to entertainment and lighting, and Janice Giliberty and Molly French to decorations. Cathie Arnold and Sue Dix volunteered to help with publicity and serving food. It would be difficult to list the names of all who helped to make our first night a success.

The entertainment was very good. Angela (Mimi) Crawford read some poetry by Ferlinghetti. Pete Schwartz, Karen Lane, Art Young, Mark Schumacher, Ward Lyndall, and Art Skoy sang folk songs, including some originals by Art Young and Karen. All the acts were well done and well received. This campus has a lot of "hidden talent."

In spite of the warm soda and minor problems with coffee, everyone seemed to be having a good time. There were many favorable comments.

Perhaps we just didn't hear the unfavorable comments . . . This is your coffeehouse. What it becomes will be determined by what you want it to become and what you do to see your ideas carried out. If you want to have folk-singing and poetry reading, music, piano-playing, plays, or pantomimes, let us know. If you want to see someone stand on his head and clap his hands or recite "Jabberwocky," let us know. If you think you can help us with entertainment, do something about it. If you want pink and orange tableclothes, say so If you have any suggestions on food (other than that the soda be cold and the coffee be ready on time) — well, don't keep them to yourself. And if you're willing to serve on set-up, clean-up, decoration or food committees, wonderful!

Seriously, we need your support and suggestions. Too many people have put too much time and effort into this to let it fade out. We hope you came Saturday, and we hope you had a good time. If you did, we hope you'll tell your friends. If you couldn't make it, we hope to see you this weekend.

Sincerely,
Gale Bunce

To the Editor:

Two weeks ago Rick Momeyer put forth a motion concerning the freedom walkers and civil liberties in Alabama. This past Tuesday it was voted upon. At the time of this letter the outcome of that vote is not known. I do, however, feel that that there are certain points that went unconsidered by the student body before voting on the motion.

Basically, and mose important to us, is the belief that to pass such a motion is to act in a hypocritical fashion. Using an analogy, one might say that this is telling someone else to clean up their yard before cleaning up one's own.

We have plenty to be done right around here before we go telling others what they should be doing. Segregation and discrimination exists both in this town and, to some extent, on this campus. If we are to start somewhere, are we not in a better informed and stronger position to start right "in our own yard?"

Once we have done this we are in a more secure position to be able to show others where they are wrong. Until then, we are tellings others to "do as we say, but not as we do."

Sincerely,
Mort Labovitz '64

To the Editor:

It seems to me that certain individuals at Allegheny are taking the wrong approach to the Negro problem. In last week's Campus, the Allegheny student was asked to support a situation about which he knows little, and any action by A.U.C. would seem quite ineffective. No doubt, riots in the South and being thrown in jail seem quite attractive to some Allegheny students. However, I think they and the other members of the student body should concern themselves more with the Negro problem on our campus.

There is much A.S.G. could do in this area. The first step would be to find adequate ways to attract qualified Negroes to this campus. A.S.G. could express its desire for the administration to set up a certain number of scholarships especially for Negroes.

The second area could be to improve the Negro situation in the Meadville area by some peaceful means.

Government To Consider Domestic Service Corps

With the success of the International Peace Corps in developing and aiding countries abroad, discussion has been stimulated throughout the country about the possibility of a domestic peace corps within the United States.

Attorney General Robert Kennedy now heads a committee to decide the feasibility of the proposed organization, which would be called the National Service Corps. The group, which would aim to relieve economically needy areas of the country, is planned to begin on a small scale and increase to about 5,000 members within two years. Workers would be selected college graduates who would undergo a four to six week training program before being assigned to positions as community developers, health consultants, teachers, counselors and athletic coaches. The volunteers would serve for one year without pay and receive $900 upon dismissal.

Though polls of 70 colleges show high enthusiasm for it, the plan has aroused much controversy throughout the nation since the idea originated late last year. Here on campus, Dr. Wayne Merrick, professor of political science, summarized the viewpoints of many government leaders by saying, "The problems involved in determining the mission, organization and methods of operation of a domestic peace corps seem to me even greater and more complicated than were characteristic in the case of the International Peace Corps."

One problem is that of duplication of effort. Frank Lausche, senator from Ohio, argues that we already have an informal service corps working to rehabilitate our communities in the persons of ministers, teachers, police and welfare workers. Also, that the salaries which would be paid to the administrators would be too exorbitant for the state and local governments to handle. He says it would be simpler to allocate more money for the work that is already being done than to organize a superfluous organization.

More important are the possible attitudes of Americans on the corps. Local authorities might resent usurption of their duties by inexperienced young people. Also, "morale building" efforts might be construed by communities to mean "reform movements." Dr. Merrick added that there might be an element of danger involved for the workers as well, if resentment in large urban areas is strong.

On the other hand, some officials speak favorably for the idea. A major point is the question of the migrant worker and his state. In the United States today there are about one to two million transient laborers who earn approximately $1,000 per year or less. These people live in dilapidated huts provided for them by their employers which are unclean and unkept. Their children get little education because the family moves from camp to camp about every three weeks during the year.

A national service corps might be able to show these workers how to create a cleaner living atmosphere and possibly educate the children and adults.

Additional projects in which workers could assist are: slum area health problems, the education of 13,000 Cuban refugee orphans, work in correctional institutions such as prisons and mental hospitals, and aiding the 285,000 American Indians.

While the bill is still being debated in committee, action has been taken. Adam Clayton Powell, Representative from Harlem in New York City, has gathered a crew of 35 workers to help organize the school drop-outs and juvenile delinquents of Harlem into an "adolescent neighborhood improvement corps."

Faloon Will Discuss Needs For Med School

William W. Faloon, M.D., '41, will address a meeting of pre-medical students on the subject "What the Pre-Med Needs for Medical School." He will address the group after a short business meeting in Henderson auditorium, Wednesday, May 22, at 8:15 p.m.

As an Allegheny undergraduate, Dr. Faloon was member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa, Der deutsche Varein, Block "A" Club, Men's Undergraduate Council, The Campus staff, and he played varsity basketball.

Dr. Faloon is a graduate of Harvard Medical School, interned at Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia, was Harvard Research Fellow in the Thorndike Memorial Laboratory, held a residency in the Albany Hospital and has taught in the Albany Medical College. He is now Associate Professor in the Department of Medicine of the New York State University Upstate Medical Center in Syracuse.

The National Institutes of Health recently granted to Dr. Faloon $409,037 over a three-year period to operate a six-bed research unit for adults in the Medical Center for the study of metabolic, endorinological and nutritional problems.

College Speech Clinic Aids Children; Hopes For Expansion In Near Future

by Dotty Craig

"S-s-s-s-s."

"That's good David — you can certainly make a good 's' sound . . . Now put all of the pictures that have that sound into one pile — 'soup,' 'snake,' 'sign,' 'boon.' Are you sure that is 'poon'?"

Thus begins a typical session in speech therapy in the college speech clinic, which reopened this term under the supervision of Mr. Robert Williams, Instructor in Speech at Allegheny.

Students concentrating in speech who have completed basic therapy courses work with area children for two halfhour periods each week, helping them to overcome minor speech defects. The opportunity to practice therapy is invaluable training, Mr. Williams noted, both for students who plan to continue with therapy work in graduate school and for elementary education majors.

The clinic has been set up as a service both to the community and to the school, in recognition of the necessity of intelligible speech as a primary means of communication. As Mr. Williams says, "many of us take for granted the abilities of speaking and hearing, two extremely complicated functions of the human body. However, there are hundreds of thousands of persons who suffer communicative disorders of either type, or a combination of both."

The clinic, on the ground floor of Arter Hall, now includes a waiting room, a large room used for play therapy or group therapy, and two small individual therapy rooms.

The department hopes to expand its facilities in the near future, adding some of the equipment needed to operate such a small speech and hearing clinic. Among these items are a new audiometer for the testing of patients' hearing, a library of children's books, and a one-way observation window, as well as donations of useable children's toys, books, or furniture.

Role Of Christian Discussed Sunday

On May 12, the Sunday Seminar led by Professor Henderson and held in the Faculty Lounge in Quigley discussed the problem "What Should Caesar Do?"

Consideration centered around what a Christian should do in a position of power within the government, especially since the demands of power and of religion are often directly opposite. Christianity as set forth in the New Testament preaches the desirability of poverty and communal living. Opposed to this non-material emphasis is the contemporary feeling that property is quite important. The Christian in power faces the dilemma of the individual law of love and the social concept of justice.

Reconciliation of the two is difficult because Christianity proposes ideals and doctrines, but has no concrete rules or means of putting them into universal practice. As a result, although he sees conditions in his society which should be changed, the Christian is unable to assume leadership in effective social movements. Acquiescence has become the church's message.

Perhaps this is desirable for it enables the religion to operate under any type of government without becoming identified with the strengths and failures of any particular regime. At any rate, a more serious attitude should be taken toward the role of Christianity in society.

Mr. Hampton will head an examination of "Foreign Aid and the Good Samaritan."

hours, but that they have consented to a one term experiment. Further action on library hours will not be taken until after the trial period.

Carol Fetcho, 1963 Kaldron editor, placed before AUC an accurate statement of the Kaldron budget for this year which now stands at $9,649. This results in a deficit of $379.50 with ASG providing $8,140 of the cost of the book, advertising $1,400, and $100 from expected sale in June, leaving almost $200 to be paid by either AUC or some other source.

Spencer Watson delivered his final report as head of the AUC traffic committee. He stated that the real purpose of the traffic committee is that the administration gives to the students themselves the right and responsibility to care for the privilege of having cars on campus.

During the past year the traffic committee provided the 245 students owning cars on the campus with an additional 53-car capacity lot behind Caflisch and saw the completion of the parking lot between Arter and Quigley.

Watson stated that problems dealt with effectively during the past year include the improvement of parking by the installation of signs, improvement of registration and ticket procedures, revamping of ticket books, and the more effective use of the traffic office services.

AUC moved to establish a John Barker memorial fund to replace the existing monument at the grave of the fourth president of the college. The council will decide in September on the possibility of an AUC contribution to the fund.

Emanuel Roth stated that he and the AUPRC committee contacted a number of interested faculty members which included Dr. Paul Cares, Mr. Benjamin, and Mr. Sherman concerning the advisability of pursuing the establishment of this memorial fund.

Jim Meadowcroft announced that all social groups on campus must submit a list of social functions in order that the 1963-64 social calendar can be completed.

During the summer of 1961 she was awarded a job in the Pennsylvania Bureau of Municipal Affairs as a finalist in the James A. Finnegan Fellowship competition. She has also worked with the Pennsylvania State Association of Boroughs. Miss Spence has been serving as vice-president of the Allegheny College Young Republican

Larson Presents Problems Facing Establishment Of World Rule Of Law

By Margot Michel

The Sturdevant lecture was delivered by Dr. Arthur Larson in Ford Chapel on Thursday, May 9, on the topic, "World Rule of Law."

In his forceful and informative speech, Dr. Larson discussed the problems, past and present, of ordering world relations and settling world disputes.

The essence of World Rule of Law is not to settle all disputes in court, but to settle them in tribunals using appropriate techniques, legal and political kept separate.

The present machinery of International Law is the International Court of Justice. The Court decides an average of only two cases a year. One reason for so few cases is that its merits are not sufficiently well-known.

Dr. Larson feels that the body needs to be made more flexible and diversified, and that the United States should be taking more of a lead in making use of the Court.

In concluding, Dr. Larson said that we must learn from experience. The H-bomb shadow of mutual annihilation over us all may serve to enable us to do in decades what before would have taken centuries. In the presence of this appalling danger we must do the nearly impossible.

A coffee hour was held on Thursday afternoon in the C.U. There, Dr. Larson discussed plans for the World Rule of Law and expressed his belief that International Law is the only answer to the problems of today.

Dr. Larson, widely known as a lawyer and educator as well as a former government official, is presently Director of the World Rule of Law Center at Duke University.

Singers Give Spring Concert

The Allegheny Singers, under the direction of Morten J. Luvaas, will present its annual Spring Concert Sunday at 4:00, in Ford Memorial Chapel.

The Singers, who went on their Spring Tour in the early part of the term, will sing primarily sacred selections, such as "Ye Are Not of The Flesh" by Bach, the contemporary "Prayers of Steel" by Paul Christiansen, and "Praise To The Lord" by F. Melius Christiansen.

The concert will be divided into three sections and will include, in addition to the above selections, several of the traditional "Singers" numbers.

Take a musical trip through Central and South America. Featured selections and commentary will be given in the South Lounge of the College Union on Tuesday, May 21 from 4 to 5 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Barker Fund

The launching of the John Barker Memorial Fund for the purchase of a new monument to mark the grave of John Barker, Allegheny's fourth president, 1847-1860, was approved Tuesday night by A.U.C.

The decayed condition of his tombstone in Glendale Cemetery was brought to the attention of the Council last week by Emanuel Roth, a senior from Forest Hills, N. Y. After Roth had described how the lettering on the tombstone had weathered away, the Council appointed a committee, with Roth as chairman, to further investigate the situation. Tuesday the committee recommended the organization of a fund to solicit contributions from the student body for the purchase of a new monument. The monument will be bought at cost from an Allegheny alumnus; the estimated price is from $300 to $500.

Emanuel Roth felt that by replacing the tombstone, Allegheny students would demonstrate they had proper historical prespective and would maintain Allegheny's sense of tradition.

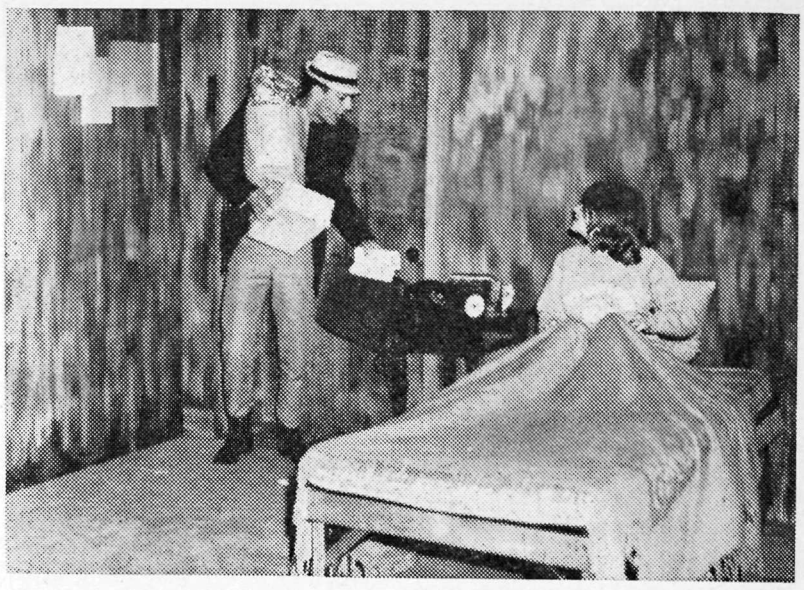

The present tombstone was purchased by the Allegheny student body in 1860. Because John Barker was generous to the poor, he died in poverty. As a result, the college and the community paid for his funeral.

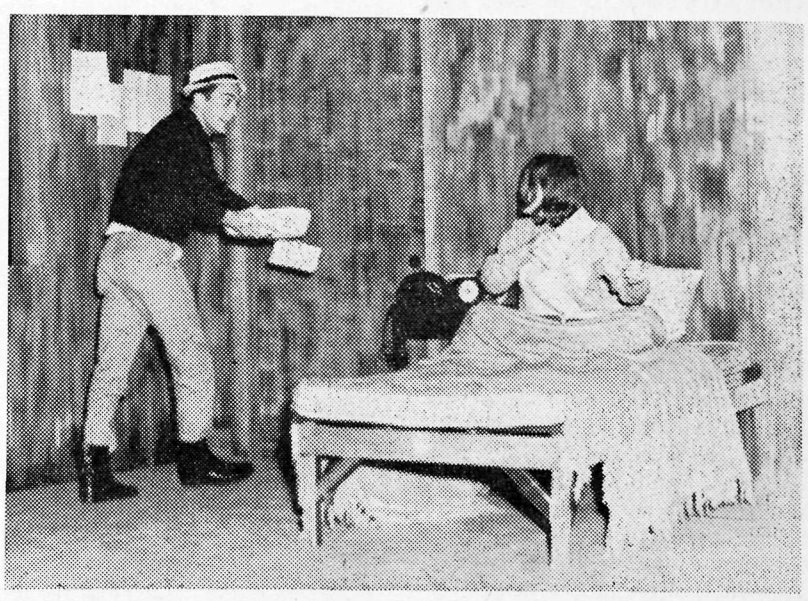

During John Barker's presidency, Ruter Hall was built and a three term system was started but later abandoned. In 1854 his administration extended recognition to Phi Kappa Psi, which was the first Greek organization on campus. Before that time, fraternities had been outlawed.

Contributions can be mailed to the John Barker Memorial Fund, Allegheny College.

Diamond Crew Whips W&J Tied For Conference Lead

The Allegheny College Baseball team, rained out last Thursday in their game with Grove City, took revenge for a previous defeat by whipping W & J on Saturday 10-5 to bring their season record to four wins against two defeats.

After swapping runs in the second, the Gators took charge in the third with two big markers as Bob Rinker '63 opened the inning with a single, Dave Ewart '66 hit into a force play, and Stoner Tracy '63 doubled and scored on two W&J miscues. Allegheny scored four more in the sixth when Dick Okrasinski '66 led off with a base hit, Bill Seedyke '63 followed with a base on balls, and Neal Johnson cracked a single. Rinker then came through with his second single to bring in two counters and Dick Blackwood '63 followed with a base hit to drive in two more. The Gators scored twice in the seventh on a walk to Seedyke and a home run shot by Johnson and once more in the eighth as John Willett '65 cracked a single and Dick McElroy brought him home with a double.

Winning pitcher for the contest was Jim (Duke) Marquis who relieved Dave Williams in the second inning. Marquis gave up only four hits and one run to register his second win of the season. Tom McGuffie and Dave Collins led the W&J attack with two hits apiece.

This week the Gators will have played Fenn on Tuesday and will meet Bethany on Saturday.

Golfers Cop Win PAC Contest Next

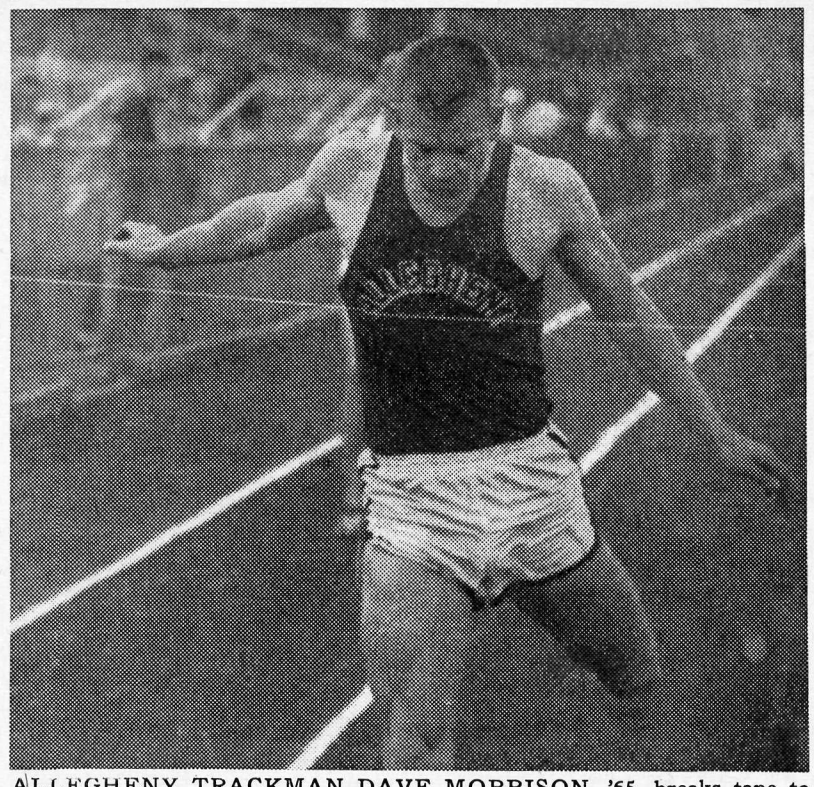

A surprisingly strong Bethany golf team gave Allegheny a rough time last Thursday as the Gators had to struggle hard for an 8½-7½ victory.

Leading the Gators with four points was veteran Mike (Stumpy) Williams '63, who turned in a strong 77 on the very dry Highland Springs Course. Williams was followed by Skip Snyder '65 who withstood a closing charge from his opponent on the last hole and came out ahead with three points.

Also contributing to the Gator victory were Dick Davis '66 with one point and Mike Starn '63 with ½ point.

Today marks the beginning of the PAC tournament slated for the Greenville Country Club. Coach Chuckran feels that if all of his boys have a good day the Gators could finish on top.

Those participating in the tournament for Allegheny will be Williams, Starn, Snyder, Davis and Waly Edgecomb, '65.

ALLEGHENY TRACKMAN DAVE MORRISON, '65, breaks tape to win the 220 yard dash during Gator meet with W&J.

Track Team Routs Thiel Benz Sets School Record

Allegheny's track season probably hit its high point last Tuesday when the Gators rambled over Thiel 105-31. The lopsided score came as a result of thirteen first places by the blue and gold and a record-breaking performance by Bill Benz.

Benz set a new Allegheny record in the two mile run with a time of 9:50.1. The old record of 10:02 was set in 1932 by J. Worvall. Bill also captured a victory in the one mile run.

Another outstanding performance came in the person of Dave Morrison, who added victories in the 100 and 220 yard dashes plus anchoring the winning 440 yard relay team. The remaining first places came in the 440—Harry Elkin; 330 yard hurdles—Ward Lyndall; shot put—Jim Wilson; discus—Gil Grey; high jump—Dave Reiley; broad jump—John Drake; pole vault—Tom Romig; and a forfeit by Thiel in the mile relay.

This weekend the Gators will travel to Cleveland to participate in the P.A.C. track and field championships. According to coach Ruslavage, Allegheny's finish will depend on the draws for the dash events. With a few breaks the Gator dashmen will make the finals on Saturday.

Other hopefuls, according to Ruslavage, are Bill Benz competing in the 880, one and two mile runs, Gil Gray in the discus, Dave Reiley in the high jump, Dave Morrison in the 220 and 440, and Dave Wion in the 100.

Coach Ruslavage plans to take only twelve or thirteen men on the trip, depending on their chances of placing.

Netmen Victories Win Streak At 22

The Gator netmen continued to build upon their record-breaking winning streak as they romped over once-beaten Grove City 9-0 and previously undefeated Bethany 7-2.

The victories upped their consecutive win mark to 22 and their season mark to an unblemished 6-0.

In the Grove City contest Mike Finnerty '63, Tim Gill '64, Mike Lipitz '63, Don Rudick '65 and Dave Spencer '65 posted easy wins over their opponents. Jack Kaiger '65 was forced to go three games before bringing home the victory. Finnerty and Gill and Lipitz and Rudick also teamed up to prevail in the doubles. The Chuck Areson-Dave Nery duo completed the sweep for Allegheny.

In the last tuneup match before the PAC Championship the Gators dealt visiting Bethany their initial loss by a 7-2 count. Bethany's number one player Ron Van Camerick was the only Bison to give Allegheny any trouble. He defeated Mike Finnerty and garnered Bethany's second and final point of the afternoon by teaming up with Steve Olster to nip the Nery-Areson team in the doubles competition. Victorious in the singles for Allegheny were Gill, Lipitz, Kraiger, Rudick and Spencer. Scoring in the doubles were the Lipitz-Rudick and Kraiger-Spencer combinations.

A forecast of the PAC Championships cannot help but be optimistic for the record-breaking Gators. However, the perennial champions from Wayne State must still be regarded as the team to beat. The netters from Detroit have annexed every crown since the initial championship in 1956 and have looked strong this season. In addition to the powerful Gators, Bethany and Western Reserve loom as possible threats to the long reign of Wayne State.
