

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

25 May, 1918

My dear Miss Tarbell:

Your letter of the eighteenth has interested me in a very unusual degree. It apprises me of things that are happening which I was not in a position to realize, and I rejoice as much as you do that they should be happening. If there is any way in which I can help, please do not hesitate to call on me because you think me overburdened, because I know you would not call upon me to do anything except what was thoroughly worth while.

With the warmest appreciation,

Cordially and sincerely yours,

A large, elegant handwritten signature in dark ink, which appears to read "Woodrow Wilson". The signature is written in a cursive style with a long, sweeping underline that extends to the right.
