

June 9, 1924

My dear Mrs. Wilson:

Your letter of June 3 reaches me just as I am leaving town for a few days. As a matter of fact I shall hardly be back so as to have access to my papers before the 18th or 19th of the month. Then I shall be only too glad to get together what I have relating to Mr. Wilson's life and work. I have a few letters from him of which I shall be glad to have certified copies made.

I have what might interest you, his corrections of the draft of an article that I wrote in 1916. Possibly you will remember my coming to see you then and having a long talk with Mr. Wilson, afterwards lunching with you en famille.

In looking over the letters I would probably be able to add explanatory notes which might be of some service to a biographer. I am only too glad to be able to do even this little service, my dear Mrs. Wilson, and if at any time I can do more, please do not hesitate to ask me. I should be grateful for a chance to aid you in any way that I could.

I understand, do I not, from your letter that there is no immediate hurry for this material? Some, though not all of it is packed away in files that are not immediately accessible. I will be glad, however, to get to them as soon as I possibly can.

With all good wishes, believe me, my dear Mrs. Wilson,

Faithfully yours,

Mrs. Edith Bolling Wilson,
2340 S Street, N.W.,
Washington, D.C.
