My dear Mrs. Rudolph:

You may already be in correspondence with Mrs. Jennie Schooley Hofmann, of 2813 Florida Ave., Tampa, Florida. She tells me that her great grandmother was a Nancy Hanks, born near Leesburg, Va., in 1770. She sent me the enclosed genealogical notes.

I asked Mrs. Hofmann's permission to send these notes to you, thinking that, if you are not in correspondence with her, they might supplement or corroborate something that you had. I am so situated at present that I can do nothing more than file together the notes which come to me. I am hoping some day, however, to get at them myself.

Have you seen the book on the parentage and childhood of Lincoln by Louis A. Warren, published by The Century Company? I think you would be interested in it.

Sincerely yours
