ALLEGHENY RESERVES DEFEAT THIEL ELEVEN

Forward Passes Used Extensively by Both Teams.

In the second game on their schedule, the Reserves won another victory on last Saturday when they defeated Thiel College at Greenville in a 19-13 contest. Both teams resorted largely to forward passing with varying success, although most of the gains were made on line plunging. The weight of the Thiel line was an advantage which they made good use of on every opportunity. Although outweighed, the scrubs played a hard game, on the defensive and would have kept their opponents scoreless but for the intercepting of two forward passes.

Bash and Cox would probably be considered the stars for the scrubs, while there would be no hesitancy in choosing Kishler and Diener as the most consistent ground-gainers for Thiel. Munhall was also able to open holes in the heavy line of the Lutherans, while Metcalf circled the ends at several points in the game. Kishler's running in a broken field as well as his strong defensive work made it evident that he constituted the real strength of the Thiel team. There was but little punting, with no marked advantage for either side, although Bash succeeded in booting the ball nearly half the length of the field at one attempt.

In the first part of the game the scrubs seemed to have everything their own way. In spite of a costly fumble soon after the kickoff, the ball was carried down the field by a rapid succession of forward passes to Bash and Pierson into Thiel's territory. A long pass to Munhall brought the first score of the game. During the remained of the quarter, the Greenvillites showed more strength and kept the ball in Allegheny's territory where it remained until the whistle was blown.

The scrubs opened the second quarter with the ball on their 33 yard line, but another series of successful forward passes as well as several good line plunges by Munhall allowed Pierson to score on another long pass when he recovered the ball after Bash had fumbled. Bash kicked goal making the score 13-0. After the kickoff the ball was kept near the center of the field until Trumpeter intercepted one of the scrub's forward passes and ran nearly fifty yards for a touchdown. The remainder of the half was uneventful as neither team was able to make its distance and both were compelled to punt. The half ended with the score 13-6 in favor of the Reserves.

With the opening of the second half, the scrubs seemed to have benefited from their five minutes' lecture from the Coach and began to carry the ball down the field. Trumpeter, however, repeated his former feat and captured another pass for a touchdown. Kishler kicked goal, tying the score. During the remainder of the quarter the ball was kept near the middle of the field and neither team had any opportunity to score.

With the score a tie, the Reserves reverted to the style of play which had proved successful in the earlier periods of the game and again began to make both long and short forward passes. A long pass to Witherup as well as several line plunges by Munhall and Bash again brought the ball well into Thiel's territory. On a long run through a broken field, Munhall scored the third touchdown for the scrubs which made the score 19-13. In spite of the frantic efforts of the Thiel eleven, the remainder of the game passed without any further scoring, the ball being in the Lutherans' territory when the whistle blew.

Notes of the Game.

Munhall showed early evidences of the benefit of a college education, when he displayed some good head work near the last part of the game. After missing the pass, when he was playing back to punt, he ran back to the ball and made a long pass to Cox.

The accuracy with which Cox made the short forward passes would have aroused the envy of a Ricker, while Munhall's long heave was of the order "Chuck Dotterreritis."

The man who played against Harper claims to have discovered a new type of humanity which is all elbows and knees. The main thing that is worrying the Thiel biologist is to understand whether his opponent was a young octopus or a full grown bramble bush.

Any opponent of co-educational institutions would have been compelled to admit his error when he heard the Thiel cheers. To say the least, the feminine element was greatly in the predominance. Perhaps all the men were playing on the team.

Before the game the Thiel eleven was quite indignant because the Reserves had been sent instead of the 'varsity. At the end of the second half they wished that the Freshman class team had been sent and at the end of the game they were asking what the prospects were for playing the prep students, next year.

The Freshman caps furnished much amusement for the natives, who thought that they must be the latest New York style. Thiel Seniors are considering the adoption of some similar garb for their commencement exercises.

Manager's Talk

When the Manager looks over the long list of Campus subscribers who have not yet paid that dollar—one hundred cents, ten dimes, twenty nickles, or the equivalent in other coin of the realm—he is very forcibly reminded of the sign which used to hang in a conspicuous place in a certain store:

MAN IS DUST,
DUST SETTLES.
BE A MAN!

Basketball Soon

First Call for Candidates Issued for Next Monday.

Now that the football season is almost over, basketball prospects are occupying the attention of many. Coach Dunlap has ordered uniforms and has announced first practice and tryout for next Monday. From the amount of Freshman material and the fact that practically all of last year's championship team are back, Allegheny may look forward to a season better than any she has had yet. Manager Perley has almost finished the schedule in which will figure several of the stronger teams played last year and others which will give a chance for Allegheny to add to the high rating which she now holds among the teams of the United States.

The interclass basketball league is to start soon and according to the plan of Coach Dunlap, practice will start immediately after the close of the football season. At the present time no managers for the various class teams have been elected, but as soon as they are a schedule will be arranged and then some of the regular games will be played before the Christmas vacation at least. In years previous the schedule was started so late in the year that baseball was interfered with and of course there was a general lack of interest in the popular indoor sport at that time.

Last year the Freshmen won the interclass championship and the same team is back this year, but the good material to be found in the present Freshman class will likely form a five that will give 1915 a hard fight for honors.

THANKSGIVING GAME WITH GROVE CITY

Both Teams Primed for Best Game of Season.

Allegheny will wind up her football schedule for the season of 1912 on next Thursday afternoon when the local eleven will line up against the strong team from Grove City College. Both teams are especially anxious to win this game since it will largely determine the superior team in the league. Westminster has suffered a decisive defeat at the hands of both teams in the last two weeks and from the comparative scores it is probable that both teams will be evenly matched as Allegheny's score of 44-0 two weeks ago was even bettered by Grove City on Saturday when they ran up 28 points in the first half.

Aside from this game, very little can be gained as to the real strength of the Grove City eleven. In the earlier part of the present season they were defeated by two secondary schools, namely Kiski and Indiana Normal, but since these schools are considered by Pittsburgh newspaper men to be superior to any small college team in Western Pennsylvania, no relative strength can be gained from these games. The defeat of Geneva by the red and white at Beaver Falls was more or less of a surprise in Western Pennsylvania football circles. According to press reports the Geneva team was off and did not play its usual strong game.

Since there was no game scheduled on last Saturday the team has had ten days of strenuous practice, and that they might not become over confident from the result of the last game, Coach Dunlap has had the 'varsity line up against the reserves for scrimmage daily. All the men are in good condition and the line-up will in all probability be the same as used in the Westminster game.

It is probable that the crowd at this game will be the largest that has yet attended a game on the new field. Grove City has already secured a special train to bring their rooters along and practically the whole school will accompany the team. In addition to this, a large number of alumni and visitors over Thanksgiving will help to swell the local crowd.

Some results of former Grove City games may be very interesting to note. It can be readily seen that the local eleven generally lost at Grove City and turned the tables upon the red and white in Meadville. The scores follow:

1899—

Allegheny 6, Grove City 6, at Grove City.

Allegheny 24, Grove City 6, at Meadville.

1900—

Allegheny 6, Grove City 0, at Meadville.

Allegheny 0, Grove City 6, at Grove City.

1901—

Allegheny 11, Grove City 0, at Meadville.

Allegheny 0, Grove City 12, at Grove City.

1904—

Allegheny 6, Grove City 0, at Meadville.

1906—

Allegheny 6, Grove City 0, at Meadville.

Allegheny 0, Grove City 16, at Grove City.

1907—

Allegheny 6, Grove City 5, at Grove City.

Allegheny 11, Grove City 4, at Meadville.

1909—

Allegheny 0, Grove City 54, at Grove City.

1910—

Allegheny 6, Grove City 6, at Meadville.

1911—

Allegheny 3, Grove City 14, at Grove City.

Brown University alumni thus far this year have raised $100,000 towards the $1,000,000 endowment which the University hopes to secure for providing increased salaries to its teachers.

November Lit

Will Appear Tomorrow—A Number of New Contributors.

The November issue of The Literary Monthly which will be out tomorrow will contain several articles and stories of unusual merit. Probably the most striking characteristic of this issue is the length of the various productions which appear in its columns. There is also evidence of an attempt on the part of the editor to keep as much as possible in the spirit of the season as the stories tell specifically of Thanksgiving incidents while many of the other articles reflect the Thanksgiving spirit. There also are found in this number the names of several new contributors which speaks well for the interest which is being taken in this department of college activities.

A large portion of this issue is taken by the "Happy Medium," by R. J. Black, '16. This production is an entire departure from the usual order of The Literary Monthly, as it consists of a playlet in three acts. However, even a cursory glance at the proof sheets, shows that it is a production of more than usual merit and one that is deserving of a place in a college publication.

"Thomas More, An Appreciation," by P. Nichols, '14, is written in that interesting style which characterizes all of this contributor's productions. Probably the most noteworthy thing in connection with this article is the remarkable way in which the author has mastered his subject as well as the interpretation which he has given to the famous poet.

In "Bob's Thanksgiving," by Miss Gertrude Reed, '14, a new contributor has given to this issue of the Lit the story which is most expressive of the spirit of the entire issue. While the story itself deals with an old theme, the writer has succeeded in making an interesting story from a comparatively simple plot.

"The Wrong Box," by C. S. Burwell, '14, is a love story, similar to those which have characterized former editions of The Literary Monthly. However, it gives evidence of some individuality which it gains largely from the style in which it is written. As in most of Mr. Burwell's stories, the humorous element creeps in at times and adds much to the interest of the production.

As has often been the case, all the poetry which appears in this issue is the product of the feminine mind and imagination. A "Thanksgiving Poem" by Miss Elizabeth Best, '16, is worthy of mention both because of the poetic ability of which it gives evidence and the fact that the author is a new contributor. The other two poems which appear are "Beloved, It is Night," by Miss Ethel Bayard, '13, and "Optimism," by Miss Florence Griswold, '13. Both of these poems are up to the usual standard and consequently are well worth reading. In the same connection, it might also be mentioned that the Alumni Department is also given over to a poem, which is the work of an alumnus of the college.

Interclass Debates

Representatives for Three Upper Classes Chosen Last Week.

Since the selection of the question for the intercollegiate debates all the classes except the Freshman have chosen their debaters. Those men are now working on the varsity question, which is to debated in both the Senior-Junior and Sophomore-Freshman contests. C. V. Sparling, A. A. Rea and O. C. McLean will uphold the Senior class, while J. G. Lane, C. S. Burwell and P. W. Johnston will represent the Junior class. H. J. Hartman, John Bright and Donald Dunbar will clash with the Freshmen for the forensic honors of the under classes.

The Freshman team is to be chosen by competition and as usual a large number of men have signified their intentions of trying out. The first tryout will be held on next Monday evening and fifteen men will try out for the team.

CONTRIBUTION SENT TO BULGARIAN ALUMNUS

Money Raised in Chapel Last Friday in Response to Letter.

The assembly on last Friday morning was in charge of Dr. Elliott and was fittingly given over to the reading of a letter from the Reverend K. J. Pachejieff, '94. After Rev. Mr. Pachejieff had received his education at Allegheny, he returned to his native country, Bulgaria, where at present he is the pastor of a small evangelical church in Bourgas, a place about which the Turko-Bulgarian war is centering. The letter is as follows:

Bourgas, Nov. 1, 1912.

My Dear Professor and Friend.—

As I have only a few minutes for writing I will write in haste to let you know about our terrible condition. You are reading in your papers about the war of the poor small Christian nations with the many strong blood-thirsty Turks. It is a fight for death or life.

Many times have I seen men, women and children killed by the Turks, but such a slaughtering I have never before seen and hope will never see it again. Thousands of people have been slaughtered within a few minutes on the battle field.

Our people are poor people. This war is hard on us. The suffering in my home and all around the country and in Macedonia can not be described or told. The Turkish fleet is right in front of us. The night before last they bombarded a place 15 miles from here. Now as I write the fleet is seen from my home. The cannons are in front of my house ready to fire against the fleet. This gives you an idea how far I am from the battle. I have just returned from the hospital where hundreds of wounded men lie in bed, to whom we are trying to give help. The suffering all around is very great.

I appeal to you and all the members of the Faculty and to the students of my beloved college, and I hope you will make an appeal to all to help us and the suffering people here.

If I could only describe all the suffering, I am sure that even the poorest will help. Whatever you collect you can send to me in a draft on London.

Please do what you can and as soon as you can. May God bless you. I hope this war will open the door for the Lord's kingdom in this country. Hoping to hear from you, I remain your very thankful servant,

K. J. Pachejieff.

P. S.—If I live after the war I will tell you all I can about it. God is with us.

Dr. Elliott said in commenting on the letter that it is hard for us to realize the real magnitude of the war. Already, four battles have been fought in which more men have been engaged and there has been greater loss in killed and wounded than in the battle of Gettysburg. The war in the Balkans will go down in history as one of the greatest wars of modern times.

In response to this appeal a collection was taken which amounted to $34.33 in cash and $47.55 in pledges, making a total of $81.88 to be devoted to this worthy cause.

NOVEMBER 26, 1912.

We have commented in these columns several times of the various political evils and the undertone of the suspicion of the other fellow's actions that seem to be prevalent here. Through this same column, an offer has been made to print the ideas of other persons on the subject, whether they are of the same as those of the editors or not. However, no contributions have been submitted to that effect and it seems that these conditions are recognized as existing and that they will continue to exist.

More Politics.

The athletic board is at the present time discussing a revision of its constitution. The old method of electing team managers is not efficient, a fact which has been shown a number of times. Hence, no better revision could possibly be made than along this line. The schools of Allegheny's size and those that rank with Allegheny in other ways have taken the forward step before Allegheny has thought of such a system. Colgate University, in an endeavor to create a more democratic spirit in all lines of college activities, organized a Students' Association last year which controls all college activities; and every student is a member of this. An elaborate system was worked out and in a letter from the president of the Athletic Association, he says: "The system is working fine and is an ideal thing for eliminating politics." Ohio Wesleyan has a primary system and Wooster has just adopted a new system—in fact nearly every up-to-date college has some plan whereby managers are chosen on a basis of competition and only after they have shown their ability to hold down such a position.

Every Student at the Game.

The true metal of the Allegheny rooters will be put to its most severe test of the year on next Thursday afternoon when the local eleven will contest for honors with the Grove City College football team. Reports from that city indicate that practically their whole school will visit Meadville with the purpose of cheering their team to victory. Their rooting is always one of the features of the games at Grove City and if they have the same spirit on Thursday, the local rooters will have to do their best if they hope to make any showing against them. There has been no complaint with the number of students that have attended the games of the earlier part of the schedule but those few who have missed previous games, will do well to arrange their schedule so that they can help swell the Allegheny crowd. Let's show the crowd on Saturday what Allegheny spirit is!

ARTICLE BY DR. LOCKWOOD.

In the issue of the Epworth Herald of November 23 an article by Dr. Lockwood appears entitled, "High School and College Athletics." In this article Dr. Lockwood advocates the interest shown in athletics if it is of the wholesome kind and free from any stain of professionalism or rowdyism. He also emphasizes the fact that in the American colleges of the present generation too little attention is given to the ordinary man, the man without any special athletic ability. There are innumerable ways in which one may find congenial and relaxing exercise out of doors. The exercise of walking is uncommonly good; better if it take the form of a tramp; and best of all if the tramp be taken in company with a chum or two.

PRESIDENT ATTENDS MEETING.

Dr. and Mrs. Crawofrd returned Saturday from their trip to New York where Dr. Crawford was attending the meeting of the trustees of the Carnegie Foundation. At the meeting, broader policies and methods were discussed, and although the newspapers have given much prominence to the discussion of appropriating money for the ex-presidents of the United States this matter was really of secondary importance at the meeting.

Dr. Crawford had announced that he would probably be back at Meadville Friday, but because of the great number of college matters to be attended to he was delayed in returning until Saturday. There were of course no special events and the five days were spent in visiting alumni and attending to college business. Dr. Crawford also made a short visit to Washington, and while in New York enjoyed with Mrs. Crawford the company of their son, J. Raymond Crawford, '06.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING.

Much interest and enthusiasm was shown in the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday evening. J. D. Van Horn gave a very interesting report of the convention of the "Student Volunteer Association" which he attended at Westminster College. The motto of the convention was, "That in all things He might have the preeminence." One of the important thoughts brought to mind was that the basis of missionary enterprise is the character of God, and it cannot stop until it reaches the last man.

The latter part of the meeting was given over to the discussion of plans for increasing the attendance at the regular Wednesday evening meetings. Many suggestions were made and many men expressed their readiness to do everything in their power to increase the attendance and interest in the meetings.

SENIOR TEA.

The Senior Tea of last Thursday afternoon was well attended and one of the best of the series so far. Miss Ethel Bayard and Miss Elsie Williams as hostesses, together with Mrs. Irwin Beiler, the honor guest, received. A number of the town friends of the Seniors enjoyed the pleasant hour, as well as the Faculty and Senior men. Miss Fawn McDonald and Miss Lottie Smith poured tea and chocolate.

FOOTBALL RESUTS.

Very few collegiate football games were scheduled in Western Pennsylvania for last Saturday, most of the elevens resting up for Thanksgiving day contests. One of the most interesting results was the defeat of Westminster by Grove City 28 to 0 at Grove City. The defeat was decisive, as Westminster was outclassed in the first half when all the scoring was done. However, they "came back" in the second half and played star football. The Grove City team was specially efficient in forward passing. W. and J. easily triumphed over Bethany 67-0. Carnegie Tech wound up its season by defeating Haverford 14 to 7. This was one of the few victories of the plaid eleven this season. Other results follow:

Harvard 20, Yale 0.
Navy 39, New York University 0.
Lehigh 10, Lafayette 0.
Carlisle 30, Springfield Training College 24.
Ohio State 39, Ohio Wesleyan 6.
Case 13, Hiram 6.
Chicago 7, Minnesota 0.

Two New Songs

Written by Allegheny Alumni—To be Sung in Assembly on Friday.

Two new songs have recently been added to Allegheny's collection by two alumni. The one is a marching song by G. W. Mead, '11, and sung to the tune of "October" from Harrow Songs. The other, by John Dempster Hammond, '66, is "Alma Mater, Beatissima," and is to be sung to National Hymn, No. 704 in the New Methodist Hymnal.

The words follow:

Marching Song.

Come Seniors all and raise the call,
The younger classes waking.
Bid Junior, Sophomore, Freshman join
To swell the song we're making.
Link Hulings' note
With the sterner throat
Our college loud we're crying;
One solid band
We firmly stand,
And swear her a faith undying.

Chorus:

Allegheny! Allegheny!
Fight for the colors ever.
The foe must fall at the battle-call
We shout, "Allegheny Forever!"
Allegheny! Allegheny!

Old Bentley's bell has pealed to tell
An hundred years of glory.
That iron tongue shall join its joy,
To add another story.
And night shall fail
And stars shall pale
In the light of our bonfires blazing,
While echoes sound
From the trembling ground,
Our ninefold cheer upraising.

Chorus.

The gold of sun, the blue of sky,
Combine our banner glorious.
The hills shall shake with our battle-cry,
And the tramp of the team victorious.
That earth may die,
That sky may fall,
That sun grow leaden o'er us;
Still the foe will fall
At our battle-call,
As we thunder it out in chorus.

Chorus.

Alma Mater, Beatissima.

Fair Allegheny, yonder on the Hill,
Through all the years, our hearts are turning still
In love to thee, and so they ever will,
O, Alma Mater, Beatissima.

Warm rests the sun, so soft, on wall and vine;
No air in all the world can equal thine.
Again, we flame our torches at thy shrine,
O, Alma Mater, Beatissima.

Hail, Allegheny, fair thy name shall be,
As light sent forth at morn o'er land and sea,
Our truest and our best, we pledge to thee,
O, Alma Mater, Beatissima.

The Glee Club has been working on these songs and the Assembly on Friday morning will be devoted to a "College Sing" for learning these and other songs.

SHORT BALLOT DISCUSSED.

The Modern Problems Club held a meeting of unusual interest in the Library on last Tuesday evening. After the conclusion of the business portion of the meeting, the remainder of the time was given to the discussion of the short ballot system. The subject was introduced by papers which were read by E. J. Hall, '13, and Claire Sweetland, '14. After this the question was then thrown open for general consideration and an interesting discussion followed. At many times the meeting took the form of a debate as various members of the club presented their arguments both in favor and in opposition to the plan.

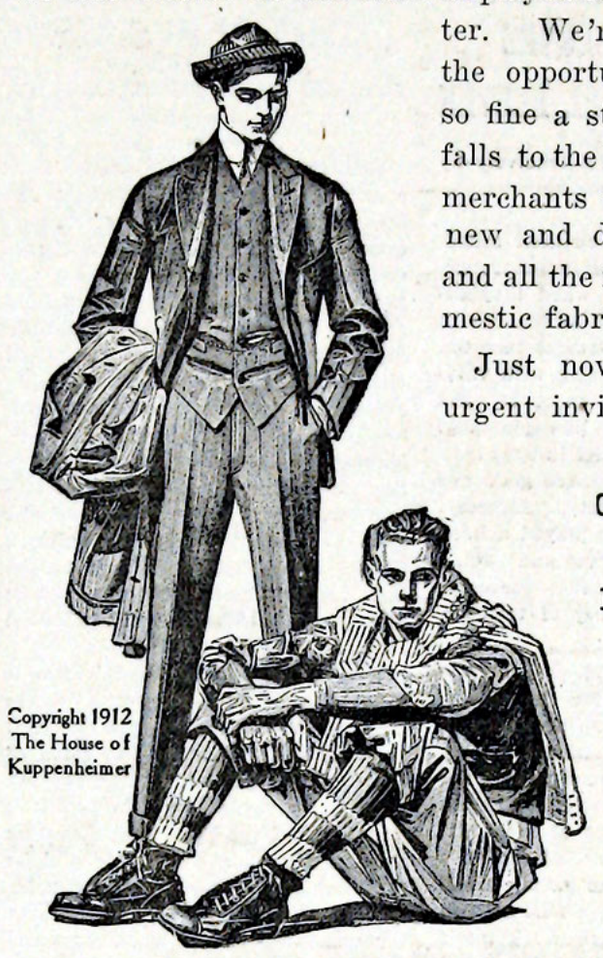

The University of Washington is making plans for a triangular debate between the coeds of Washington, Oregon and California Universities.

David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford University, has resigned his position as head of Leland Stanford to study peace arbitration.

Miss Rowley, the librarian, has made a general collection of current magazines and books that can be used in addition to the regular work in the Mission Study work. These are very interesting reading and give a broader view of the South American question.

The Juniors of Delta Tau Delta entertained the Class of '14 at their home last Thursday evening at a Thanksgiving party. The evening was taken up with games, singing class songs and cheering, with the usual accompanying refreshments of pumpkin pies and cider. There were about sixty of the class present.

M. A. Devitis, '10, who is at the head of the Modern Language department in the high school at El Paso, Texas, has sent a very interesting series of post cards to Dr. Snavely. The cards show very interesting views of historically important places of Mexico with explanations in Spanish for the students of that language.

The annual Thanksgiving Party will be held in the girls' gymnasium on next Thursday evening from eight until eleven o'clock. The invitations read as follows: "Miss Spalding and the young women of Hulings Hall request your company for Thanksgiving evening, November the twenty-eighth, from eight until eleven o'clock. R. S. V. P." About a hundred invitations have been issued.

That bowling is becoming a popular Faculty sport may be readily seen from the fact that a number of Faculty members may often be seen mowing down the ducks in Cochran Hall like veterans. At present there are plans being made for a Faculty tournament to take place this winter and if the rivalry is as intense as on the indoor baseball diamond, some closely contested games may be expected.

Dr. Marlatt, '82, was a visitor on the hill for the past few days and took dinner at the Phi Gama Delta house on last Sunday, of which fraternity he is a member. Dr. Marlatt is district superintendent of the Seattle district of the Methodist Church and for a long time has been one of the leading clergymen on the coast. On both Sunday morning and evening he occupied the pulpit of the Stone Church.

Mrs. Flavia Davis Porter, as organist, Miss Charlotte Marhoefer, pianist. Marguerite S. Burkhardt, soprano, James M. Miller, '13, reader, members of the Pennsylvania College of Music Entertainment Bureau, gave a concert in the First Methodist Church of Erie on Thursday evening, the first of a number of similar concerts that will be given in this section this season. There was a large attendance and all were pleased with the program.

During the past week the manager of the Hobert College football team of Geneva, New York, was negotiating with Manager Galbraith of the local eleven for a game on last Saturday, November 23. The offer of the New York team's manager was a very good one and had it not been for the fact that the Hobart College eleven was unable to procure a gridiron in Buffalo where they play the majority of their games the local eleven would have likely been in action on last Saturday.

The active members of the local Beta chapter of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity held their Autumn Party on Tuesday evening in the chapter house. The rooms of the chapter house were decorated in autumn and fraternity colors and one of the pleasantest social evenings of the college year was enjoyed by all those present. The members of the chapter had planned extremely tasteful and unique games and refreshments in keeping with the season of the year, the delicacies of autumn being enjoyed by the guests. Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin and Mr. and Mrs. Kightlinger acted as chaperones.

Allegheny will be well represented at the educational conference to be held Friday and Saturday, November 29 and 30, at the University of Pittsburg, at which the colleges, normals, and secondary schools of Western Pennsylvania, the Association of Secondary Schools of the Upper Ohio Valley, and the Round Table of Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio will be represented. President Crawford is chairman of the department of Colleges and Normal Schools, while in the Classical department Professor C. F. Ross is to deliver an address on the "Roman School in Ancient Times;" and H. J. Stockton, '04, is the chairman of the History department.

At the fourth meeting in connection with the observance of Home Mission Week which was held Thursday evening in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian Church, Dr. Elliott gave the address. His subject was "The Problem of the Country Church." Dr. Elliott first described the conditions surrounding the average country church and the handicaps which lessen the power of the church to do good in the community in which it stands. Later in the speech the speaker proceeded to show what could be done to make the rural church more effiecient and make it more masculine in its character. The question of amusements was also taken up and in the opinion of the speaker it was one of vital importance.

At the first meeting of the Forum at which the 'varsity question was debated, "Resolved, that the several states should adopt the principle of compulsory arbitration for the settlement of labor disputes, constitutionality conceded," a large attendance was present to hear the new question given its initial discussion. The question was ably upheld both by the affirmative, composed of J. D. Van Horn, '13, and Roy Mellon, '16, and the negative composed of O. C. McLean, '13, and Roy Mellon, '16. A close vote gave the decision to the negative. From now until the Christmas vacation the 'varsity question will be given a thorough airing in each meeting of the Forum, so as to familiarize all the men with all the points which may possibly come up.

MISSION STUDY.

Each successive meeting of the Mission Study Class seems to be better than the preceding one; at least, last week's meeting was one of the best since the class was started. Following the usual devotional service, Paul Johnston, '14, read a few notes on Peru. The special music for the evening was given by Miss Rose Williams, '13. Prof. Ross's outline of the lesson was somewhat as follows:

There are a number of defects in their education that should be pointed out. First, it is top heavy, it is showy. That is, it is something like negro education in the South shortly after the Civil War. South America shows little aptitude for real hard work, for digging. The people are not willing to pay the price for education and civilization.

An example of the top-heaviness of their system is the institution for higher education at Cordova which is limited in practice to only the very best families. It is thus only a social institution. Another defect is that the most of the professors are mere figureheads. They are mostly practicing professional men who lend their names to the institution. Also there are few trained teachers. If a man fails at every thing else, he still is considered worthy to teach school. A defect again is their isolation. The secret of culture in North America and in Europe is the interplay of books, newspapers and the people themselves. There is no educational tradition, which fact also is a great hindrance to development. There is no such thing as intellectual freedom. There is not any passion for education. There is but slight education of women. The average woman is taught singing, drawing, etc., but receives only the equivalent of our sixth grade work in addition. These defects of education are mostly defects in character. It is on account of the lack of moral fibre; they have to be trained in education.

The truth is that South America was colonized by the order of Ferdinand and Isabella with purely religious motives, that of carrying the gospel to heathen lands. However, their purpose was so carried out that now the conditions do not give evidence of such beginnings. The natives soon learned that all they had to do to make peace with their conquerors was to be converted and baptized. The result was they were not really converted.

The principal religious order which entered South America was the Jesuits, who came into existence about the time of the discovery of America. Then religion was theoretically carried on by educational methods, but in reality the Jesuits advanced largely by wire-pulling. In South America they formed a sort of invisible government and gained control of the country in an underhand manner. They brought more prosperity to the Indians, but made them slaves. The Jesuits worked largely for personal ends, and their religion has not helped nor enlightened the people of South America.

CHANGES MADE IN BASKETBALL RULES.

Few and unimportant changes were made in the collegiate basketball rules at the annual meeting. Efforts were made to keep the sport clean, fast and interesting. The two-minute rest which was tried last season was eliminated. Past experience showed that it was necessary a limit be placed on the time a player may take in throwing a free goal; so the rules now require that the referee place the ball on the fifteen foot line after a foul has been called, and that the ball be thrown in ten seconds thereafter. Otherwise the attempt is forfeited. The baskets must also be open at the bottom.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES.

A course in Scandinavian is included in the curriculum at the University of Minnesota.

Women excelling in athletics in Kansas University, will be awarded "K's" by the Women's Athletic Association.

Twenty-one men of Western Reserve qualified in the first preliminary debate tryouts held last Wednesday. There are ony two old men upon the squad.

A "Classical Club" is one of the new organizations in Miami University circles.

The new Ohio State Directory shows 3,303 students enrolled, of which 3,077 come from Ohio. 1,034 come from Columbus alone; Cleveland sends 75, Dayton 60, Toledo 59 and Cincinnati 35. Thirty-two states and eighteen foreign countries are represented.

The hardest part of a coach's work is to find words which will adequately describe to a man a certain fault. In the crew room at Columbia large mirrors are rigged so the men may see the errors of their ways.

Lafayette College has an enrollment of about 550.

Wittenberg has followed the suit of many Ohio colleges by adopting a college emblem. The design adopted by the committee in charge is a heavy "W" over a "C," with a solid base. The button will be made of silver. A new college song has also been adopted.

The average Princeton student spends about $919 annually. The maximum expenditure is $2,500 and the minimum $200.

As a penalty for flunking at the University of Colorado, students are required to wear small blue caps with green buttons.

The first plutocrat to be initiated into Phi Beta Kappa is Webb Vanderbilt. He is said to be the first millionaire's son at Yale to be elected to this national scholastic fraternity.

A glass building in which not only rabbits, guinea pigs, but also semi-tropical and foreign animals will be kept, has added greatly to the interest of the zoology work at Wisconsin. Only three or four similar places exist in this country.

The Yale budget for the present fiscal year calls for expenses of $1,550,000. The university stands face to face with a considerable deficit.

The entering class at Amherst this year was the tallest in the history of the college, averaging 5 feet 8.7 inches. The average weight of the new men was found to be 136 pounds.

It is the belief of Walter Camp, the dean of football in America, that the forward pass and the running game are good and make possible a more varied attack.

John Paul Jones, the world-famous runner, has been unanimously elected president of the Senior class at Cornell.

Alumni News

The Rev. Paul Weyand, '98, has a very interesting article in the last issue of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate entitled, "West Virginia's Big Loss." At the present time Rev. Mr. Weyand is meeting with great success in his pastorate at Jeanette, Pa.

I. R. Stidger, '11, has left the hospital in Boston where he had been a typhoid fever patient. Mr. Stidger is studying in the medical department at Harvard University.

W. L. Stidger, ex-'10, has joined the staff of contributing editors of the Ladies Home Journal.

PLEASED WITH VICTORY.

The following taken from the New Castle News of last Monday evening shows that New Castle has a number of loyal Allegheny alumni who are located in that city and who are still interested in their alma mater:

"Allegheny, Allegheny, rah! rah! rah! 44-0. The greeting of a News reporter at the city health department offices revealed a singular coincidence—both the health officer and assistant are graduates of Allegheny, while the reporter attended Westminster.

"Dr. E. Hunter Perry was so thoroughly enthused at this victory over Westminster that he could not resist again the desire to shout for old Allegheny. Dr. Womer, '00, assistant health officer, was just as enthusiastic, but confined his enthusiasm to looking well pleased."

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Drs. C. W. Proctor, '85, and Alice Heath, Proctor, '84, of Buffalo, N. Y., announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, ex-'10, to Mr. Ralph Tracy, of Glasport, N. Y. The marriage is to be solemnized on the thirty-first of December, at which time the twenty-sixth anniversary of the marriage of the parents of the bride to be will be celebrated.

WE THINK SO!

Allegheny by virtue of a 44 to 0 victory over Westminster, sizes up as about the strongest team in Western Pennsylvania outside Pitt and W. & J.—The Red and Black.
