Dear Mr. Meeker:

I have been very much interested in going over the monthly Labor Review in articles that Mary Conyngton has written you from Great Britain. Could you tell me who she is, and give me her address? I have undertaken the editing of a hand-book on Women in Industry for Industrial Management. I want to get for the English end of it a thoroughly reliable woman to collect material and perhaps to conduct some special investigations. The work would receive of course fair compensation. What would you think of Mary Conyngton for this work, or do you know of anyone that would be better? I would be very much obliged for your advice.

In case I should want to use articles either in full or in digest from the Labor Review could I have your permission? Full credit would of course be given.

Yours very sincerely

Mr. Royal Meeker,
U.S.Department of Labor,
Washington, D.C.
