Miss Ida M. Tarbell
120 East Nineteenth Street
New York City.

Dear Miss Tarbell:

I regret exceedingly that it was necessary to increase the price of the Dumpling. Under the previous arrangement a copy of the Dumpling cost but ten cents. The Editor in his great enthusiasm and desire to give the readers a real live magazine speedily delivered coupled with the fact that the subscribers continually remain so scattered made the cost of the magazine and its delivery exceed the sales price. When I had the good fortune to be appointed Business Manager I readily recognized the importance of getting established on a sound economic basis. The Editor concurred with me and the price was accordingly increased. Under the present arrangement your subscription expires on January third,1933. Renewals from that date on are at the rate of $4.00 yearly.

I shall be very happy to assist you in any way I can in gathering data for a sketch of Grandma Young. I have much information which I am sure you will find interesting and helpful.

Yes the herd is doing very well.I have long since given up hope of ever being able to keep all of the desirable offspring and because of past experiences I am never surprised at instructions to make shipments here there and elsewhere.

With all good wishes,believe me

Very sincerely yours,

J. L. Hagar
