

Horses, Dance, or Both?

Joan DuMars and Controversial Friend.
by Mohamed Benamar

Tuesday night at the student government meeting, a member announced that the administration had decided to suspend the riding program starting next year. After a discussion which allowed each one to be more informed on the subject, the A. S. G. passed with no opposition, a motion which noted the interest held by a part of the student body in riding and asked the administration to reconsider its decision.

We must remember that Allegheny is one of the few colleges which possesses riding facilities and offers courses in this field. These facilities are located on a delightful site, extremely conducive to relaxation. Eight horses are reserved each year to assure courses in the fall and spring. This year 80 students took these courses, and many of these ride for recreation (for example the members of Boots and Saddle Club, on the other hand, a number of students from the high school and the grade schools come to take the courses. In the summer a program was directed by Miss Sue Lussier for children from town: this is a positive act to improve relations between the college and Meadville.

I have tried to find the reasons which led the administration to bring about the suspension of riding.

Miss Kirk, head of the Department of Physical Education, stated that the college has been for four years without dancing courses which constitute an important part of the program. She thinks that "dance is essential" while "riding is an extra." She hoped to see the two programs at the same time and reminds us that it is possible that the decision to eliminate riding might be only a temporary situation.

Dean Ross was surprised to note that several students came to see him to voice their surprise over the decision. He stated that it is the custom of the administration to have the courses varied in all departments and the suspension of riding is not a particular case.

As for Dr. Edwards, he consented to specify that the financial problem, while not of prime importance, was a major factor considering the suspension of riding. He commented that the college can use the stables for storage.

After these discussions, it seemed necessary for me to seek the sentiments of the students interested in riding. It would be an incontestable error in the framework of the philosophy of a liberal arts college to not take note of the position and the needs of the student, especially when those are exposed frankly.

Three student statements can be of significance on this subject:

"I believe the decision made by the administration to discontinue the riding program was made in the interest of Allegheny's physical education program. However, I feel they made it without understanding the full extent of its contributing to both the town and college communities."

"The riding provides for me, and others, a place to relax from the tensions and conflicts of the college environment. I believe something important to the physical, mental and asthetic aspects of Allegheny life will be irreplaceably lost if the riding program is discontinued."

"Eliminating the riding, in my opinion, would only serve to narrow the scope of the campus as a whole."

If I do not refer until the last to the most interested party, namely the instructor who directs riding, it is to "respect" the spirit in which the decision against riding was made. In effect, Miss S. Lussier, who has devoted herself for the last four years to riding to give it the place it deserves in a liberal arts college, has not been able to voice her opinion on this subject, since she was not even consulted. Her arguments are the same as the students and those of a teacher who is attached to her profession.

I sincerely believe that it is in the spiritual interest of the college to listen to the voices of the students.

ASG Notes

ASG Tuesday heard final committee reports and passed a recommendation to be considered by the Administration.

* * *

Academic Committee announced that five classrooms in Quigley will be open for study in the evening. To use a room, a student must obtain a permission slip from Kathy Orr, phone 290, between five and six p.m. of the day he wishes to study in Quigley.

Nat'l and Int'l Affairs

Eli Silverman reported for the NSA Committee. The main shortcoming of the Committee has been a lack of student understanding of its activities. Council felt that membership in NSA is still important to Allegheny.

Lynn Moore, giving the report of the Foreign Student Committee, emphasized the task the Committee has performed this year in getting foreign students acquainted with members of fraternities and sororities. Her recommendations for next year included a suggestion for student co-chairmen of the Committee, and a request for a definite program with social groups to better acquaint them with the foreign students.

Rita Kopanic, chairman of the Allegheny Ambassador Committee, stated that over $150 is still needed to send June Bedell abroad this summer. Personal solicitation and contributions from groups should make up the deficit.

Publisher Hodding Carter Speaks For 1960 Commencement Exercises

by Lewis Fisher

Dr. Hodding Carter, Editor-Publisher of the "Delta Democrat-Times" of Greenville, Mississippi, and a Pulitzer prize-winner writer, will be Allegheny's 1960 Commencement speaker. He lectured here about 10 years ago. Dr. Carter has attended Bowdoin, Columbia, Tulane, and Harvard, receiving an honorary M.A. from Harvard in 1939 and an honorary Litt.D. from Bowdoin, among other places, in 1949. Beginning as a teaching fellow at Tulane University, he got his start in journalism on the New Orleans "Item-Tribune." He worked his way up to the editorship of the "Democrat-Times" in 1939. During World War II he was editor of several armed forces field publications. He has recently returned from a five month stay in Africa as a participant in the leader exchange program. Among his books are Lower Mississippi, The Winds of Fear, Flood Crest, Southern Legacy, Robert E. Lee and the Road of Honor, and Bright Sword for Freedom. His most recent work is a study of Reconstruction in the South.

The Commencement weekend begins at 10:00 Saturday morning, June 4, when a two-hour coffee hour for the faculty, seniors, alumni, and friends will be held on the first floor of the College Union.

The annual alumni luncheon and business meeting, central event of the day, will be held at noon in the Field House. An attendance of between six and seven hundred persons is expected. At this time the members of the Class of 1910, which will be staying on campus during the weekend as a guest of the college, will receive their fifty-year diplomas from President Pelletier. The highlight of the awards will be the Alumni Medals (never more than two), which are awarded by the Board of Trustees to an alumnus who has rendered outstanding service to the college.

Ed. Affairs

Religious Activities Committee has decided to sponsor several speakers next term, Don Coffey reported. This program, to feature the eminent theologian Paul Tillich, will replace Religion-in-Life Week. Publications Board worked this year for better coordination of the policies of the three campus publications. The main problem seemed to be keeping within budget. The Lit Mag will appear soon, it was reported.

* * *

Council decided that students feel the advantages of retaining a riding program are important enough to merit additional consideration. The women's phys ed department proposes replacing riding with modern dance instruction. General opinion of the representatives was that the riding program should be expanded, not removed from the curriculum.

A statement noting student opinion favoring riding, and requesting the Administration to reconsider its decision, was passed.

All students other than graduating seniors must leave the campus no later than 24 hours after their last exam unless permission to remain has been granted. Such permission must be requested in writing on special forms in the Deans of Students' Office. Deadline for requests in May 20.

At 2:30 p.m. will be the Allegheny-Fenn baseball game at College Field. The annual meeting of Phi Beta Kappa will be held in the Treasure Room of the Library at 2:45 p.m.

Dr. Bradford Booth, an Allegheny graduate of the Class of 1930, will speak at the President's Dinner for Alumni and Friends, to be held in Cochran Hall at 6:00 p.m. Dr. Booth is now Professor of English at the University of California in Los Angeles. The founder and editor of "Nineteenth Century Fiction," he is a member of Phi Kappa Psi and is a noted author.

The Commencement film, Genevieve, with Kay Kendall and John Gregson, will be shown in the Playshop at 8:45 p.m. The Commencement Dance begins in Brooks Hall at 9:00 p.m.

The Baccalaureate Service is to be at Stone Methodist Church at 11:00 a.m. on Sunday, June 5. Speaker will be Dr. Robert C. Howe, pastor of the Johnson Memorial Methodist Church in Huntington, West Virginia.

The Sinfonietta Concert will be heard at 3:00 p.m. on Sunday in Ford Chapel, followed by the President's Reception on the east lawn of Brooks Hall. A Singers Concert shall be held in the Field House at 8:00 that evening.

On Monday morning at 9:45 the Academic Procession will begin. Commencement exercises start at 10 on the south lawn of Bentley. At noon a final buffet luncheon will be held in Brooks, bringing the 145th year of Allegheny College to a close.

On May 3, 1960 the College Court met to consider evidence in the case of a student suspected of cheating in an examination. It was the decision of the College Court that the evidence did not show that the student was cheating; consequently the Court voted to clear him from suspicion, but observed that he made an error in judgment when he carried a study sheet into the examination.

ACF Reorganizes For More Effective Service to Campus

Have you ever wished you could start this semester over again, or just forget it existed? Well, after Mr. Raymond Sandman arrived on campus in February to evaluate the Allegheny Christian Fellowship, this is just about the way its members felt. It was the consensus of opinion that ACF was by no means meeting the needs of the campus in the field of Christian thought and action.

Consequently, a committee was organized, and worked hard to draw up a constitution for a new organization. The new organization which evolved out of this nucleus of old ACF members is to be called the Allegheny Student Christian Association. ASCA shall become an actively functioning organization next fall. The main purpose of the Association shall be to seek a better understanding of the total aspect of the Christian faith. The core of this organization shall consist of seminar groups which shall investigate these areas of Christian thought and action. Greater unity for the

Class Day Wednesday Honors Achievements

On Wednesday, May 18, the David Mead Field House will be the scene of the Annual Class Day Convocation. The all-college event is held to honor those students who have distinguished themselves by outstanding achievements.

Dave McKay, new president of ASG, will give the invocation. Following will be the Phi Beta Kappa presentation by Dr. Rhinesmith, chairman of the honor society. The valedictory address will be given by the outstanding member of the senior class. President Pelletier will then make the presentation of awards. These include the Who's Who, Philo-Franklin Prizes, graduate fellowships, assistantships, scholarships, and admissions to medical, dental, and law schools. The Ladder Oration will be presented by Michael Bellama, and "Doc" Borrison will give the Response. Dave McKay will be in charge of moving-up exercises.

Classes will be shortened on this day so that all students can attend the Convocation. Dean McKean has stressed the importance of the event for all because these awards are not won easily; it is truly an honor to receive one of them. Since this is the only opportunity for the entire student body to acknowledge those who have done so well, it is hoped that as many as possible will attend.

Campus Enjoys Successful May Day

by Sue Bower

Rain dampened the annual May Day Weekend but most of the events were carried through successfully in spite of it. Friday's fashion show with clothes from the Mayfair Shop began the weekend on a summary note. The summer fashions were modeled by the May Court and were enjoyed by an audience looking forward to warm weather.

Friday evening was spent working on the floats which carried out the theme "Calendar Capers" by using months of the year in various ways. The fraternities held open houses for all to attend when they took time out from float building.

The float parade was cancelled due to rain and the coronation of the May Queen, Fran Richardson and her court, Maid of Honor, Lori Thorne; Senior Attendants, Ann Jones, Sally Simmons, Bobbie Heller, and Sandy Keck; Junior Attendant, Emily Eckman; Sophomore Attendant, Dareleen Epler and Freshman Attendant, Eileen Heller, was held in Brooks Hall. The girls were presented by Master of Ceremonies Sykes Reed as they came through the archway into the dining hall. After the court was assembled, Fran Richardson was crowned by last year's Maid of Honor, Norma Flinchbaugh and entertainment was presented for her enjoyment.

The dance "Magic Months" Saturday evening, and the Singers Concert Sunday concluded May Day 1960.

Dick Dunn

Dick Dunn, an English major from Uniontown, Pennsylvania, has been very active in athletics during his four years at Allegheny. On the football team for three years and co-captain in 1959, Dick was elected to the All-Methodist Football team in both 1958 and '59. As a wrestler Dick has been on the team for four years. For the last two years he has taken PAC titles—at 167 lbs. in 1959 and at 177 lbs. in 1960.

About Allegheny's athletic program Dick says, "To me, Allegheny's athletic program is of a very high caliber. The fact that this school recognizes no athletic scholarships helps to maintain the true perspective for intercollegiate competition. For the individual, this means that athletics can be an integral part of a college education. More than merely serving as a release for physical energy, sports meet basic emotional needs as well. The wins and losses mean little and are soon forgotten. However, the experiences and the friendships acquired through teamwork are lasting joys that athletics offer."

Dick has not only been outstanding in sports, but also in scholarship. In 1958 he was the recipient of the Rush Howard White Prize for superior scholarship in economics while in 1959 he received both the John Scott Craig award for the junior man voted by the faculty as being the most generally excellent, and the Myfred Memorial Award for the football man with the highest scholastic average. An Alden scholar in his junior and senior years, this spring Dick was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

In Phi Gamma Delta Dick has been quite active, being elected corresponding secretary and later president. Dick has also been president of Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity, and has been elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. In 1960 Dick has served as commander in chief of the AFROTC Cadet Corps.

Editorial

Be informed — vote intelligently. We hear this slogan constantly. In the year of a presidential election, this directive is considered especially important. How many individuals over twenty-one follow it?

"None of the issues are worthwhile. Why bother becoming informed? I won't vote anyway." This is a weak escape from democracy's responsibility.

Campaign issues may not always be the most important parts of American politics, but by casting an informed ballot the concerned voter can still select those candidates who will best fulfill their obligations. Election issues rarely can be made vitally important in and of themselves. Candidates must be responsible persons under whose guidance the complex matters of American internal and foreign policies will be formed. These men are the personifications of issues too complex for campaigns.

"I could never learn enough to make a wise choice." Nonsense! No political campaign is so complex that a college student cannot understand the basic qualifications of the candidates. Daily reading of news reports, and study of some political analyses, can enable any reasonably intelligent voter to learn enough about the campaign and the candidates.

"The country's going to the dogs. My vote will never beat the machine." Here again we see a weak rationalization. Each vote does affect the total result.

Every voter has the responsibility of keeping adequately informed of campaigns and candidates. As college students, supposedly tomorrow's leaders, we have the added responsibility of using our educations to help us cast a wise and considered vote. No one can find a valid excuse for shirking his duty as a citizen.

Take Note

Senior class meeting has been called for Wednesday, May 18, at 8:15 in Quigley Auditorium. All seniors must attend. Plans and procedures for Graduation Weekend will be explained.

At a meeting Wednesday night, the Newman Club elected the following new officers: President, Tom Stevens; Vice-president, Fred Cantwell; Corresponding Secretary, Jeanne Bates; Recording Secretary, Posey Bates; Treasurer, Matt Klempa.

The last big freshman event will be held May 15, 1960 in the form of a class picnic. All freshmen (it's stag!) are invited to come to the football field at 2:30 for dancing, games (including baseball), and fun! A picnic dinner will be followed by competition between the various sections of men and women. The team schedule is as follows: Cochran and ½ section 1; 1st floor Allegheny and ½ section 1; 2nd floor Allegheny and ½ section 2; 1st Prospect and ½ section 2; 2nd Prospect and section 3; 3rd Prospect and ½ section 4; 2nd Main and ½ section 4; 2nd Main and ½ section 5, 4th Main and ½ section 5.

The freshman class started off the year with a lot of spirit at their picnic—now end it that way!

Campaigns and Candidates

Senator Kennedy of Massachusetts has called the office of the President of the United States the single most important office in our government. This is a statement with which nearly all Americans would agree. And yet thirty to forty per cent of those who are eligible will not exercise their privilege of voting next fall. I call it a privilege for the right to secretly choose top governmental officials is a privilege not granted to the people of many of the countries today. To many of us, however, it is more than a privilege; it is a responsibility. Our early forefathers took the responsibility for the creation of the United States; surely we can accept the responsibility for its maintenance.

American college students have been accused of being apathetic by many writers over the past few years. It seems that we haven't started one revolution in Turkey, Korea, Hungary, or Cuba. (Of course we couldn't in Cuba for Dorothy Kilgallen wouldn't allow it.) But this is not time to mimic our cynics. Nor should we give them any further cause to add to their beliefs. Rather, let us take a more active part in our own political structure. We needn't revolt, we can go out and campaign peacefully (and still vigorously) for the leaders who represent the causes in which we believe. To go even further, we might offer our services, part or full time, to specific organizations. Either political party for example, would probably accept an offer of service.

The Allegheny chapter of the A.D.A. (Americans for Democratic Action) will have at least two speakers here before the elections next fall. Other groups on campus, such as the Young Republicans and Young Democrats, are anxious for more volunteers. But all these suggested activities are for the student who is fully aware of the graveness of this responsibility. There is, however, no excuse for any Allegheny student or graduate who should shirk, laugh off, or ignore the responsibility of voting. Therefore, for all students who are or will be twenty-one years old before next fall's election, we of the Campus Staff and A.D.A. would remind you that you must REGISTER this summer if you have not already done this. The registering process, of course, is one of the safeguards to insure an honest election. It may take a few minutes of your time and be somewhat of a bother, but these few minutes are not a high price to pay for our freedom.

Some states have absentee ballots for students. Other states may demand that you vote in the district of your permanent home address. Some states will let you register up till forty days before the general election; other states demand that you register at a longer interval before the election. What the particulars of your state may be can be had by checking with Mr. Alton D. Kidd of the Political Science Department, or by checking at your local courthouse when you return home for summer vacation. Either way you choose to check upon this information will be acceptable, as long as you act upon it and thus begin to fulfill your responsibility as a citizen of the United States.

This is the B-52. Advanced as it may be, this airplane has one thing in common with the first war-galleys of ancient Egypt...and with the air and space vehicles of the future. Someone must chart its course. Someone must navigate it.

For certain young men this presents a career of real executive opportunity. Here, perhaps you will have the chance to master a profession full of meaning, excitement and rewards...as a Navigator in the U. S. Air Force.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet you must be an American citizen between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. A high school diploma is required, but some college is highly desirable. Successful completion of the training program leads to a commission as a Second Lieutenant...and your Navigator wings.

If you think you have what it takes to measure up to the Aviation Cadet Program for Navigator training, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Or clip and mail this coupon.

Dunn And Macky Gain Scholastic Honors

Two Allegheny College athletic team captains, Richard Dunn, Uniontown, Pa., co-captain football and captain of wrestling; and David Macky, Paget, Bermuda, soccer and tennis; have been elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, honors society, on the basis of undergraduate scholarship.

Dunn is a two-year all-Methodist college football center; was 167-pound Presidents' Athletic Conference wrestling champion in 1959, and 177-pound titleholder in 1960. He is student commander of Allegheny's Air Force ROTC and has been awarded a two-year graduate fellowship in English by Western Reserve University. He plans to teach in college.

Macky is 1959 all-American and all-PAC fullback in soccer and has played number 1 on the tennis team the last two years. He is taking his degree in mathematics and next year will be doing graduate work in statistics at Michigan State University.

Gators Drop First Home Game 2-1

The eighth inning jinx set in for the third time on Coach Garbark's baseballer's as they lost a close one to the Titans from Westminster by a score of 2 to 1.

Going into the fateful eighth inning, the Gators led by a slim 1 to 0 margin on a brilliant one-hit pitching performance by freshman Bill "Quaker" Hadfield and a home run by Moose Ravenscroft and then the roof caved in. Pinch hitter Jim Susi singled up the middle and second baseman Joe Sergi tripled him home and scored on a sacrifice fly which was enough to win the game.

Other than Ravenscroft's home run, the Gators only threatened in the bottom of the ninth when Ravenscroft was hit by a pitched ball and speed merchant Dunc Parkinson was sent in to run and was left on second base as the game ended.

CAMPUS CLASHES

The rains which have hampered the activities of the Allegheny varsity athletic teams have also plagued the intramural tennis and softball players recently.

The undefeated Phi Psi's lead the softball league with a 5-0 record, having recently beaten the Phi Deltas 12-3, and the Phi Gams 26-3. Theta Chi has played only one game, a 16-0 victory over the Indies, and the Phi Deltas recently took a 6-5 decision from the Deltas to run their season's mark to 3-1. The Phi Gams have beaten the Deltas, Indies, and Chi Rho's for their 3 victories against two losses.

In tennis the Phi Deltas have defeated the Phi Gams 2 matches to 1,

SPORTRAITS

by Tom Kennedy

When the Allegheny Gators end the 1960 season with Fenn in the traditional graduation week contest it will climax Tom "Part" Fleming's very successful baseball career at Allegheny. After the first four games in his freshman year Tom has been in the starting lineup for every Allegheny baseball game for the last four years.

Tom started his career at shortstop a position which he held down until his junior year when he switched to second base, a spot more to his liking.

Over his career, Tom's hitting has steadily improved; coming from a .250 batting average in his freshman year Tom raised it to .270 the next year. Last year he was third in batting on the Allegheny team with a .320 average. Currently Tom is hitting the ball at a blazing .360 clip.

The game that Tom likes to recall from the many in his career is last year's Fenn game which ended a successful season when they came back from a 5-0 deficit to defeat Fenn 8-7 behind Fleming's big bat and the pitching of Smokey Keppel.

Commenting on his career Tom had this to say: "I feel that the training I received under Coach Garbarck has been helpful. College ball has always been a challenge. The competition and teamwork found in it is always a help to the individual."

According to Tom there is a good chance that Allegheny will take the PAC this year. This would be a fitting finale for an athlete who has contributed a great deal to Allegheny baseball.

Tom is from Scottsdale, Pa. In campus activities he is a member of Phi Kappa Psi and has been song leader of that organization for three years. Tom's major is geology, and his plans for the future include the Marine Corps P1C where we next may be hearing of him on the Quantico baseball team.

dents who found riding a source of education and relaxation.

That a dance program is desirable to fill in the scope of activities of the Physical Education Department is understandable. But that this need does not stifle one of the unique aspects of the department, namely riding.

This article endeavors to relate the opinions which encompass the problem. That does not prevent me from expressing my own opinion. As a foreign student trying to understand campus life I would like to believe the student opinion as long as it is well-founded, has its place in the philosophy of a liberal arts college. If one must seek a label for this article I propose to qualify it as supporting a frank discussion between students, faculty and administration for the well-being of the campus.

Why diversification makes a better all-around man

DIVERSIFICATION of effort makes for versatility—and versatility pays off in business as well as on the athletic field. We've found that to be especially true here at Koppers.

Koppers is a widely diversified company—actively engaged in the research and production of a wide range of related and seemingly unrelated products, such as remarkable new plastics, jet-engine sound control, wood preservatives, steel mill processes, dyestuffs, electrostatic precipitators, coal tar chemicals, anti-oxidants and innumerable others.

Because we are diversified, our work is interesting. Through job rotation, our engineers and management personnel are given the opportunity to learn many of the diverse activities at Koppers. The result? Versatility.

While you are moving laterally at Koppers, you are also moving up. Your responsibilities are increased. Your ability is evaluated and re-evaluated. And you are compensated accordingly.

You don't have to be with Koppers for 20 years before you get somewhere. If you have ability, ideas, spark—you'll move ahead, regardless of seniority or tenure.

At Koppers, you'll stand on your own two feet. You'll get responsibility, but you'll also have free rein to do the job the way you think it should be done. No one will get in your way.

Koppers is a well-established company—a leader in many fields. Yet, it's a forward-looking company, a young man's company. Perhaps, your company.

Why not find out? Write to the Personnel Manager, Koppers Company, Inc., Room 230, Koppers Bldg., Pittsburgh 19, Pennsylvania. Or, see your College Placement Director and arrange an appointment with a Koppers representative for the next recruiting visit.
