Many Programs Slated For Brotherhood Week

Various groups in the Allegheny community are sponsoring programs in recognition of Brotherhood Week this coming Monday through Wednesday, November 12-14.

Pete Seeger, nationally known folk singer, will be appearing at the College Union Sunday night at 8:30 p.m. Mr. Seeger attracted a large audience when he appeared at the C.U. last year, and his performance occasioned many requests for his return.

On Monday there will be a panel discussion, "Prejudice in the Open," with Catholic, Protestant, Jewish, and Negro panelists. Heading the discussion will be Tom Jones, moderator. Other participants will be Jim Kweder, Marjorie Smock, John Marchi, Frank Feigert, and Doris McConnell. The discussion will be held in the Quigley Faculty Lounge at 8:15 p.m.

Chapel services Wednesday will feature Professor Tyler Thompson of the Garrett Biblical Institute. Mr. Thompson was formerly chaplain at Allegheny.

Vacation Cut Ruling

On May 4, 1956, the Faculty at its meeting voted to change the Vacation Cut policy. The new policy is as follows:

"On each of the two days immediately preceding and following Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter vacations, students are required to attend all classes. No exception to this rule is permitted on the Monday or Tuesday preceding Thanksgiving. Of the other ten days involved, a student may be absent without penalty on any one day. For each additional day on which he is absent from one or more classes, he is assessed a fee of ten dollars."

Harbison Delivers Phi Beta Lectures; Question-Answer Session Will Follow

by Pogie Ziegler

A series of two provocative lectures was, and is scheduled for last evening and this evening, Nov. 8 and 9 at 8:15 p.m. Ford Memorial Chapel will be the scene of the two Phi Beta Kappa lectures which are to be given by E. Harris Harbison, Professor of History at Princeton University.

The first lecture, "Providence in History," demonstrates how God reveals himself to man in history and points out the evidence of the appearance of Divine Providence as human history has unfolded.

AUC Meeting Centers On Committee Reports

The AUC meeting was held Sunday, November 4, 1956 in the Quigley Faculty Lounge, with Art Blank presiding.

The meeting was centered around reports from the various AUC committees. In these reports the representatives told what each committee was doing or will do in the future.

The first committee report was the NSA. Tom Jones, chairman, announced the activities which NSA has planned for "Brotherhood Week" which will be held November 12-14. The program for the week consists of a folk-music program by Pete Seeger on Sunday evening in the CU, a panel on Prejudice Monday evening at 8:15 in Quigley Faculty Lounge, and chapel services Wednesday morning. Also this year, instead of having a speaker for Brotherhood Week the committee has scheduled speakers for later in the year. Jones also announced the NSA Regional Conference will be held November 30-December 2 at the University of West Virginia.

Faculty Show Postponed

Armen Bazoian, chairman of the activities committee announced the faculty show for the fund drive has been postponed until Spring. A dance is being considered for the date on which the show was to be held. Also, the committee has sent letters to the various social organizations on campus concerning a name band for the Christmas Dance.

Bob Meredith, chairman of the Human Relations Sub-Commission, reported his committee was concerned with the social customs on campus. The committee plans to evaluate the effect of Brotherhood Week on Campus. The committee (Continued on page 5)

The second lecture, "Judgment in History" is a continuance of the first topic, involving disputed questions concerning moral judgments not only in history, but also among historians such as Toynbee, Butterfield and theologians such as Niebuhr.

Lectures Pertinent to Subjects

These lectures will be of special interest to those students taking philosophy, religion, history or G-7,

as they will link together related materials in these fields.

Following the lectures, a question-answer period will be held, and this evening there will be a Coffee Hour in the Pine Room at Brooks.

The two lectures are sponsored by Phi Beta Kappa under the Huidekoper-Kidder Lectureship Endowment with the cooperation of the Public Events Committee.

Harbison Princeton Graduate

Dr. Harbison, a Princeton alumnus, is Chairman of the History Department, trustee of the Theological Seminary and chairman of the Board of Directors of the Student Christian Association there. He is a fellow of the National Council on Religion in Higher Education.

Dr. Harbison is especially interested in the relation of academic subjects, particularly history to religion. His specialty is the study of the Renaissance and Reformation. Recently the Adams Prize from the American Historical Association was won by Dr. Harbison for his study of England's Queen Mary.

Several Contributions to Literature

Dr. Harbison was one of six educators who compiled "General Education in School and College" published by the Harvard University Press. A most significant chapter on history of the "Religious Perspectives in College Teaching", a work dealing with the relationship of the teacher and his subject matter to religion, was written by him.

Dr. Harbison intends to continue his lectures on the aforementioned subjects next spring, while instructing at Rice Institute in Houston, Texas.

When Smoke Clears

Now that the smoke has cleared and the local political scene is more discernible than during past weeks, The Campus is now able to enlighten the student body to several blunt "facts of life". This explanation serves not only to criticize present events, but we hope will serve as a guide for future actions of Allegheny students, when attempting to exercise their political prerogatives.

We accuse—Bob Isherwood of conspicuous ineptness while leading the Students for Stevenson-Clark. His tactlessness and inability to maintain friendly relations with the faculty-student committee trying to offer both political groups on campus means to express their views, was topped only by his unsuccessful attempt to rot away the innate freedom of the press upon which the foundation of The Campus is built.

We reproach the students for Stevenson-Clark for their inability to seek out obvious opportunities presented by the Falk Foundation Citizenship Program. These opportunities included the use of $75 for each group, to be spent promoting political discussion on campus. The Youth for Eisenhower met the stipulation of the Falk Program's offer, but the students for Stevenson-Clark having knowledge of this opportunity repeatedly shrieked insults and insinuations at the GOP organization. They were amazed at such innovations as the Ike Bandwagon, and found it difficult to understand how "they could ever afford it."

We were disgusted with the apparent need of the students for Stevenson-Clark to require a "scape-goat" to explain away their obvious shortcomings. When the Falk Foundation Citizenship Committee is subjected to vicious rumors and innuendos as to their integrity in providing equal financial opportunity for the political groups to support their activities, The Campus will not sit by as an "objective" observer of the local scene. Instead we uphold the decisions and actions of the Falk Foundation Citizenship Committee. We maintain that poor leadership, inability to function harmoniously, and the tendency to plunge blindly into the dark all combined to cause one last desperate attempt to blame somebody, anybody, for the obvious internal deficiencies present in the Students for Stevenson-Clark.

We intend—to remove the wool from the eyes of the AUC by explaining their recent difficulty in obtaining a statement or appearance of The Campus editor at their Sunday meetings as originating from a bluff, played by certain representatives insecurely fighting for the survival of their political organization, resulting in a transference of the obvious weaknesses and strains of their political leadership to the College newspaper, which would be moulded—so they thought—to their will. This editor has no intention of being a target for blind, irrational politics who would not be contented until they yanked the freedom of expression through the press right out of the American Constitution.

We admire the Youth for Eisenhower-Nixon for shouldering their responsibilities as future leaders in political affairs. Sue Treadwell and Bill McMoil, both excellently equipped as GOP student leaders, carried tremendous burdens during the past few weeks. This is mainly because they sought out every available opportunity that Allegheny College presented them, to conduct a successful campaign easily worthy of President Eisenhower's respect and favor.

We hope that in 1960 such inequality in student leadership and fortitude shown present in these two political groups will not ever be this evident again. College students should never assume that leaders of the political group of their choice are duty-bound to carry out their political ideals. Instead they should be alert to question the leadership toward determining what means are being employed to effectively campaign for their political favorites.

Question: What recreational activities would you like to see added to Allegheny's campus?

Dal Ghent, freshman—"I think the swimming pool should be improved. It is too small and needs a diving board.

I would also like to see an ice skating rink added to the campus. This could be connected with an all-college winter carnival which could be a great success considering the amount of snow in Meadville during the winter months. The money from the carnival could be put to a beneficial use beside the carnival itself being fun for all."

Bruce Bell, sophomore—"I can't skate, but it would be fun participating if a skating rink was built. If handled correctly it could be a great success. There should also be more winter sports at Allegheny, and an ice skating rink would introduce a new one, ice hockey. This could also become the scene for many enjoyable winter parties, which would add to the activities here at Allegheny."

Ruth Donner, junior—"I definitely think the swimming pool should be improved, or a new one built. There should be a diving board and more seats for swimming events.

There should also be more organized activities on campus during the week ends."

Ray Stark, sophomore—"Though not a recreation itself I think obtaining a parking lot, for those attending activities, and for the general use of the college population should be added.

There are many recreational activities available to students. Working to provide the student body with these activities are two organizations the College Union and the Outing Club. However, some activities I would like to see added are: more winter sports, including ice skating, a building devoted solely to the College Union, and a place on campus to dance with real atmosphere."

Cindy Richards, sophomore—"A place on or off campus for the students use specifically for the purpose of dancing. I think we also need a general, concentrated area for winter sports."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

In regard to the recent letters published in the Campus, I would like to make my views concerning the "fraternity situation" now present here at Allegheny.

I find myself somewhat squeezed in the middle of arguments pro and con. I am a fraternity man and believe very strongly in what the fraternity system can mean. I said what the system can mean, not what it does mean today. It is hard for me to voice an opinion for all the Greek letter groups, but for some I can see a very slow awakening from complacent youth into an awkward adolescence, looking afresh at the world and seeing what it can perhaps constructively do to justify itself rather than just exist. I don't say this is happening in all groups. It is not. In perhaps only a few fraternity men's minds is the conception of what the system can do to aid the process of education. Still, and for sometime to come, is the attitude in most fraternity men's minds that we need no purpose beyond existence; that we can maintain our notion that "I am a fraternity man and need go no further than this. I have reached the ultimate level of achievement in my college days. What more is necessary?"

There are not enough people believing whole-heartedly in what the fraternity system can mean and what can be done to accomplish these goals. Under our present system I.F.C. is immature and sometimes stupid. While it could be a leading element in the betterment of the system on this campus, it resembles a group of children wrangling over toys, each out to better their egotistic selves in their corner of the playpen. Why can't they organize to do something constructive? There aren't enough basic goals in the minds of our I.F.C. members to carry us beyond this year!

As for the letters published last week in the Campus . . . Of Mr. Smoot's letter, I approve very much. The editorial "The Local Scene" was silly and superficial. As to the letter that the freshman wrote I would say that it would pay him to look around and listen a little more—to both sides of the question—before reaching a decision and popping off about it. I would ask him to look at himself and answer the question "How much is my mind closed to fraternities?"

I am probably the first liberal to speak currently for fraternities. However, the system is in grave need of men who can visualize what can be done and what is being done. The fraternities need a little straight thinking if they are to continue to exist justifiably. Does anyone share this opinion?

Sincerely,

Ralph Witherspoon

Dear Sir:

Being not so new at this college I would like to pose a few questions for our anonymous inquirer of last week, and in doing so attempt to present some answers to his questions.

"Why are the Fraternities and Sororities as groups so against changes? The college as a whole would be ready to accept these changes if it were not for the outside and group pressures." By "changes" I do not know exactly to what changes our inquirer is referring, but let us take the recent example of the proposed Lit Mag-Kaldron change. I seriously doubt that this "progressive" idea was defeated by "alumni pressures." It was defeated by our representative type of government speaking the feelings of the majority, I also seriously doubt that "These ideas are ready to be accepted by the individuals of Allegheny". If they were, because of our majority rule, they would have been accepted. I am personally insulted by the implication of our inquirer that I am no more than a stooge whose thoughts are dictated by "outside and group pressures". I am a free thinking human being, just like most people, who dislike very much to be told what to do, but when my feelings agree with only a minority I am at least willing to accept the fact that my ideas might not be best for the majority.

This brings us to the statement "The true progressive leaders of this campus are not trying to push this campus into accepting their ideas." All I can say is that it is

by Penny Pollock

Pete Seeger, well-known folk singer, will make his second appearance on Allegheny's campus this Sunday evening at 8:30 in the College Union under its sponsorship.

Last year Seeger was sponsored by the Public Relations Committee and was enthusiastically received by the college students. He is particularly adept at pulling a group into singing and has a great appeal to all age groups. "Folk music," says Seeger, "is at its healthiest when people participate. I notice also that you'll find more awareness of counterpoint and harmony when you have an audience sing along with you today than was the case a few years ago. It's this healthy attitude which drives out prejudice, snobbery and makes us know that America is truly a land of freedom for all."

Expresses Basic Emotions

Folk music, the original music of a nation, expresses the basic emotions of the people, their fears, hopes, and joys. By his skillful presentations, Seeger and his indefatigable banjo are very successful in providing a glimpse of America's vast musical heritage, according to advance notices.

From 1942 to 1946, while in the armed forces, Seeger played for large audiences and was a great morale builder. After the war he joined the Almanacs, a singing group which included such noted folk artists as Woody Guthrie, Lee Hays and Millard Lampell. From 1949 to 1952 he was a member of the Weavers, recorders of the Hit Parade tune, Goodnight Irene. The other members of the group were Hays, Fred Hellerman and Ronnie Gilbert. On his own he has made two 10-inch LPs for Folkways Records, Birds, Beasts, Bugs and Little Fishes and Birds, Beasts, Bugs and Bigger Fishes.

Seeger and his wife now are embarking on a two-year study project delving into folk music's instrumental techniques. Through this study he hopes to revive folk music to be played as it was meant to be. He feels that this will carry along the genuine feeling of the song and help the audience share it more fully.

Student Help Praised By Political Leaders

by Jim Sandford

Interviews with student political leaders show that both the Republican and the Democratic groups feel much has been done in this election campaign to stimulate active interest in government among students and to further the aims of their parties.

Future Political Groups

"Knowledge gained from participation in the 1956 Presidential campaign will greatly aid the eventual formation of political clubs on Allegheny's campus," said Bill McMoil, chairman of the Executive Steering Committee.

Bob Isherwood, group leader of the Students for Stevenson and Clark, stated: "The experience gained by speaking to County Democratic groups, sponsoring rallies and participating in getting out the vote, has been of great educational value . . . the stage has been set for further serious political activity on the part of Allegheny students."

Student Action Praised

McMoil praised the action of 110 students in organized branches of the Steering Committee, who worked through Republican organizations of Crawford County. These students co-operated with Republican Committee people in drawing the people to the polls and in the distribution of campaign literature in Meadville, West Mead Township and Vernon Township.

The Democratic group is far from dejected by the landslide victory of the president. Isherwood said the hard work of his group on election day and cooperating with Democratic leaders in Meadville has strengthened their party in this area.

C.U. Corner

Next Friday, the College Union will sponsor the appearance of Wilfred Wellock on campus. From 3:30 to 5:00, Mr. Wellock will conduct an informal discussion on "An Englishman Looks at the Suez Crisis."

A former member of Parliament and of the Labor Party, he is well-equipped to answer any and all questions put to him by members of the college community. At the age of eighteen, Mr. Wellock began his career in the public eye by being ordained a Methodist minister. Only six years later, he was devoting his entire career to lecturing and writing. His travels are quite extensive, having carried him to sixteen countries in his lifetime, including Russia upon two occasions. An intimate and close friend of Gandhi, he may be expected to present in his lecture and discussion the present-day Indian view of the Suez crisis.

For a truly enlightening, well-spent afternoon, the College Union invites everyone to take advantage of this excellent opportunity afforded them. That's next Friday, 3:30-5:00 p.m., in the small dining room of the College Union.

Existence Of "Brotherhood" Questioned; Need Seen For Present And Future Actions

November 12-14, being Brotherhood Week, Frank Feigert, an active member of THE CAMPUS Editorial Board, has felt the need for a definite statement of a problem we are now faced with here on our campus. The following represents his feelings on the matter, presented with the wish that they may prove to be of a positive value to the college community.

Sunday will mark the beginning of Brotherhood Week here on campus. Monday evening, a good number of us will attend a forum in the Quigley Faculty Lounge, on "Prejudice in the Open", having just left meetings characterized (probably) by "Prejudice Under Cover".

It is common knowledge to everyone here on campus that the various fraternities and sororities exercise prejudice practices in one form or another, whether willingly or not, whether conscious or not. These social groups, by their methods of selection and by their very existence, typify that which we shall protest for all of next week. In one breath we shall indicate to one and all our magnanimous feelings and good will towards Orientals, Jews, Negroes, and whatever minority group anyone happens to mention. In the next breath, we shall find ourselves considering the matter of rushing. Whether consciously or not, we shall weigh the religion, race, and background of the freshman men, automatically excluding from consideration those whose rather superficial characteristics are repugnant to our "brothers", our alumni, and our nationals, thus yielding not to our own personal wishes, but to those of external forces which are not directly concerned with the fulfillment of our desires.

Some students will admittedly argue that their social organizations have no discriminatory clauses at all, that theirs are the working models of "democracy in action". This is either barefaced hypocrisy or ignorance of the existing situation. There are several organizations which do not have such clauses embodied within their ritual or constitutions. However, these same groups must submit to the national organization a list of those freshmen being pledged, for a "summary" approval. But, with these names are also submitted the religion and the nationality of the various pledges. The most reasonable conclusion that can be rationally drawn from this instance is that discrimination, whether open or not, is inescapable in the fraternity and sorority system at the present time.

Two years ago the Inter-Fraternity Council passed a resolution endorsing the faculty staff discriminatory practices as found within the fraternities. What has been done? Virtually nothing is the answer. The fraternities, bound as they are by the unit rule, by their nationals, and by their alumni, have been unable to rid themselves of these odious practices. They have passed and talked platitudes without taking them into any noteworthy consideration. Instead of crying of the pressures, why do not the fraternities and the sororities take it upon themselves to educate their alumni, exerting pressure in the opposite direction? Why not protest openly to the nationals? Why not deliberately take members of minority groups, providing they are "socially acceptable", and thus demonstrate their freedom as students, as has been done recently on several campuses?"

Thus far, the college has maintained a hands-off policy towards this problem, obviously implying that the situation is in the hands of the students. If this is the case, why cannot we actively demonstrate our feelings on the matter? The problem is in our hands. How we resolve this problem may well determine the extent of responsibility the Allegheny student is really capable of demonstrating. Let this coming week serve as a catalyst towards our future actions. Only by so doing can we have a Brotherhood Week that is meaningful and sincere instead of being a campus farce.

Gators Lose 2nd 39-14 Villa Still Leads State

by Jack Hazlett

The Thiel Tomcats continued their mastery over the Allegheny Gators for the fourth consecutive year last Saturday at College Field. The Gators were humbled 39-14 before a good Thiel Migration Day crowd.

Allegheny spotted Thiel 26 points in the first half. If it had not been for this, the story would have been much different. Detelich, Thiel's versatile quarterback, thoroughly confused the Gators in the first half with a brilliant display of faking, running and passing. Thiel's first touchdown came after about three minutes of play when Detelich hit Bob Dean with a bull's eye on the Allegheny 10 and he scampered into the end zone. Minutes later, after Detelich hit Dean again for 49 yards, McCright slashed 14 yards off right tackle for Thiel's second score. Later in the period following, a Thiel-recovered fumble by Strickland on the Allegheny 46, Weinzetl smashed over from the two. Detelich kicked the point after touchdown and the score read 20-0.

Jamison Scooted

Early in the second canto Jamison scooted around right end for 40 yards and the Tomcats fourth six pointer of the day.

The Gators got rolling in the second half as Villa returned the kicks off from his own 26 to the 47. A roughing the kicker penalty and a Strickland to Smartz pass, good for 12 yards, set up the score. Strickland hit Smartz again, this time in pay dirt. Biggam added the point and the score read 26-7. Thiel quickly added two more touchdowns in the third period to end their scoring for the day.

Smith replaced Strickland at quarterback and engineered Allegheny's final score. He completed three of five passes good for three first downs. His sixth pass was good for 21 yards and a touchdown with Villa on the receiving end. His seventh pass hit Smartz for the extra point.

Villa Still First

Villa's touchdown kept him in first place for state scoring honors with 72 points in six games. Although Villa scored but once, he was by no means stopped as he picked up 121 yards in 17 carries for a percentage of 7.1 yards per carry. The Gators badly missed the services of Mace Cady, flashy halfback and Jim Honse, a stalwart on the Gator line. Both were injured in last week's costly victory over Bethany.

Last week's game is history. Let's look ahead to tomorrow's clash with Case.

Case has lost every game of the current season but do not let this be deceiving. Every game they have played has not been decided until the final whistle. This is due to their big, speedy, aggressive line and excellent line backers.

Case uses the split "T" formation, alternating Valerie and Archer at quarterback. Both these men are good passers. Valerie is fast and Archer, a left-handed passer, is more deliberate. Archer also does the kicking off for Case. Campbell, a big 200 pound fullback, is a good blocker and pass receiver. Innot plays in the halfback spot and is a hard, fast runner.

Strong Following

Case has a strong following and since this is their homecoming weekend, they will be going all out to give the home crowd a victory. The Gator's must be on their toes to beat this tough Case eleven. Cleveland is only a two hour drive from Meadville. Why not round up a car load and take in the game?

Now let's take a look at how Allegheny's two remaining opponents fared last weekend. Case lost a tough 27-15 decision to Edinboro, and Dickinson, Allegheny's foe a week from tomorrow, lost a close one to Lycoming. The score was 13-0.

Booters vs Fenn Sat. Look For Second Win

Tomorrow, at College Field, the Allegheny soccer team will make its final appearance of the season. This game to be played against Fenn will mark the first time these two teams have ever encountered each other. The Gators will be seeking an elusive second win of the season as against four losses and one tie. Interestingly enough, both the win and tie were gained against other Cleveland teams, Western Reserve and Case, respectively.

Under sunny skies, last Friday, Allegheny's injury ridden booters proved ineffective against Grove City in losing 6-1. At that time Meadville's Frank Shrocci and Ross Emerson were the key figures for the Grover attack which tallied in every period despite the efforts of Sam Lockerman, freshman goalie who played the whole game. Jay Rudolph sat on the bench with a broken finger. Four penalty shots, two for each team, were taken in the rough contest. Ernie Gelman made one of these for the Gators only score.

On Tuesday defeat once again befell the Gators, this time to Slippery Rock, which had played such teams as Navy, Ohio State, Oberlin and Pitt. The Rockets nevertheless were able to hit the twines only twice, both times in the second quarter. This marked the final road game for the Gators.

Campus Clashes

Only one game was played this past week. The other scheduled match, the Delt-Phi Gam, was postponed to a later date.

The Phi Psi's edged the Sigs, 12-6, and moved into second place in the standings behind the Phi Gam's.

The two Phi Psi scores came on touchdown passes by Lou Scibetta, with John Grant and Dave Law doing the receiving. The lone Sig touchdown came via the air as Pete Klomp threw a touchdown pass to Wayne Quimby.

The two remaining games are both ones that have been postponed. The Delts meet the Chi Rhos and then the Phi Gams to complete the intra-mural football program.

Swimming

The swimming season at Allegheny got under way this past week. The first organizational meeting was held Wednesday evening.

Coach Bill Hanson is depending on the returnees from last year's team and several newcomers to fill his squad.

Forming the nucleus will be five returning lettermen—Ray Cox, Alex Hill, Ed Sergi, John Grant and John Perecca. Other returning members of last year's squad will be Phil Waddington, Bim Wimer and Dave Bagley.

The college pool is under repair at the present time, so Coach Hanson will not be able to hold practices until next week.

That was the day she reigned supreme.
That was the day they made her queen

Pins 'n Sins

by Pogie Ziegler

As hot summer evenings draw to a close during this Meadville autumn, thoughts fly back to a few lively years ago. Picture in your mind a warm Friday evening, peace everywhere, especially on the Rustic Bridge. Suddenly all serenity is shattered as two freshmen boys come dashing across the bridge, alarming the couples on it by yelling, "Indians! Indians! the Indians are coming!!!!" These boys were soon followed by another two whooping it up. "Whoop! Whoop!" The bridge was deserted for the rest of the evening.

One also remembers the Inter-Baldwin Water Fight engaged in by 150 some odd freshmen armed to the hilt with canteens, glasses, buckets and pitchers. These fierce fighters assumed such battle stations as the roof, windows and back lot of Baldwin. These skirmishes similar to Egypt-Israeli quarrels of present were interrupted one fine afternoon by a Bentley mediator who also turned out to be the Dean of Students. Unlike U.N. mediations, peace reigned at Baldwin.

Even this year notable events have occurred. A few weeks ago on a Sunday evening during a Round Robin taking place at one of the fraternity houses, a piece of plaster fell to the floor just as freshman boys were being seated.

Wailing sirens were heard late last week early in the afternoon, as several bright red fire engines roared up North Main Street and came to a screeching halt in front of Baldwin Hall. No leaping flames greeted firemen's eyes as they disembarked from their engines; merely a large amount of smoke from an over-stuffed incinerator.

a good thing they are not. For the function of a true democratic leader is to administer according to the wishes of the majority and woe be unto him who governs with the idea of satisfying selfish motives, and who sneers at the ignorance of the people he governs to gain personal means. Let the government be informative and act according to the will of the people it governs.

Finally our inquirer asks, "Was the recent 'Fraternity Smoker' to explore the possibility of accepting the changes or was it to find some good way to combat this progressiveness on campus?" Since this question is in two parts, I will say no to the first and no to the second. The purpose of the Fraternity Smoker was to promote inter-fraternity spirit, to renew old friendships of dormitory times, and most of all it was to get together and have a good time. The Fraternity Smoker can also serve to answer our inquirer's last question, "is this a Liberal Arts College?" Liberal Arts implies a sort of golden mean and here is an example of a group of men (again the majority) who wanted to take a break from the weekly academic life of the campus and insert, on their own, an evening's pleasure of a different type. For you must agree that some pleasure must go along with learning.

To conclude, I must state that these opinions are entirely my own and have not been influenced by

AUC MEETING

is planning to set up a new joint committee consisting of the Citizenship and the Human Relations committees. This new committee will concentrate on the problems of communication between the social groups on campus.

The Public Events committee represented by Carol Mason, announced two programs are being planned for the future. One program is on the broad subject of education and the other will concern the English and-or Sociology Departments. This week the committee is helping with the lecture of Dr. E. Harris Harbison.

Dick Powers representing the Publications Board announced the money allotted the board was divided between the three organizations with Kaldron receiving $4,250, Campus $3,200, and Literary Magazine receiving $1,000. A photography pool is being set up by Mr. Murphy for the Kaldron and Campus to see if the expenses for photography can be cut down.

Jim Kweder of the Citizenship Committee related the committee was made permanent this year. The committee is discussing various problems on campus now and any which may arise.

Chairman Of AUC Publications Board States Goal Of Four Main Objectives

by Jan Bailey

The Publications Board was organized by the A.U.C. to handle the technical problems of publication, such as printing contracts, photography and all overhead publication expenses.

Members of this open board include the chairman Fred Quinn, the editors and business managers of all campus publications, and any persons on campus who are interested enough in publications affairs. All meetings are open to anyone wishing to contribute suggestions or criticisms.

According to Publications Board Chairman Fred Quinn, "The Board is working to achieve four main objectives. First, to improve the quality of all campus publications. One thought to be yet developed along this line concerns a session with seasoned newspaper people to discuss The Campus. Secondly, to provide for greater economy. Each publication on campus sends a photographer to cover an event. A photography pool has been considered, where all photography assignments will be given to one man, cutting the personal fee of each photographer.

Unexplored Possibilities

The third objective is to fulfill the unexplored possibilities of every publication. There are many departments, such as the art department, the public relations offices, and the English department, whose facilities are neglected by the present publications on campus. The art department has little chance to display its talent, only on a few pages of the Kaldron.

The fourth objective of the Publications Board is to fulfill the educational value of the publications. This brings us down to the basic question, What should a college publication do? Perhaps answers to this question are to bring to focus important campus issues and to give an honest survey of college achievements to be used by the students as a yardstick to advance themselves and their goals.

just thinking

Chemical progress is autoclaves, test tubes, distillation towers . . . hydrocarbons, heterocyclic compounds . . . processes, polymerizations, products.

But mostly, chemical progress is thinking . . . men thinking. Little men, big men, medium size men . . . in lab coats, business suits, overalls . . . all of them, always, thinking.

Thinking up new products . . . new ways to make chemicals and new ways to use them. Thinking up more comfort, more convenience, better health, for everyone.

Always, the old things have to be improved, and the new things have to be proved. It takes more thinking. The thinking never stops. And so chemical progress never stops. It's that way at Koppers.

You can be one of these men, thinking. You can create some of the chemical progress that's made at Koppers. The products are many . . . the opportunities myriad. Consider a career with Koppers; send the coupon today.

"On The Shelf"

The Lady and The Vote, Marion Sanders, Houghton Mifflin Co.

The campaign is over, but, "There's a lot more to politics than campaigning." This is the discovery that Marion Sanders makes, when she enters politics after having unsuccessfully run for Congress in 1952 from the 28th district of New York.

In fifteen well-written and witty chapters, Mrs. Sanders describes the female role in politics, and in the process she sheds considerable light on party organization at the "grass-roots" level. By relating incidents which she experienced or which she became aware of after her initiation into politics, she graphically illustrates the growing importance of women as party workers, as candidates, and as potential voters.

The charming and unusual style in which the book is written may be attributed to Mrs. Sanders' experiences in the field of journalism.

Although The Lady and the Vote views politics humorously, it is a book worthy of serious attention. For those who are relatively unfamiliar with the workings of party organizations, it is an interesting way of becoming introduced to the subject. Those who are familiar with the subject matter of the book will find it highly entertaining. They may find that there is a good deal of truth to many of its witticisms, as Mr. Sander's remark referring to his very active wife, "I'm glad I have only one wife to give to my party."

any group or outside pressure. If a majority of the students at Old Allegheny agree with me, then so be it; if they do not, then perhaps my ideas are not right. But contrary to the popular idea of individualism, I am being myself and can be myself whether I belong to any group or not.

Respectfully,
Al Berkebile

Dear Sir:

The Allegheny College Youth for Eisenhower-Nixon wish to compliment The Campus on its excellent coverage of the political campaign just ended. The work of our organization would not be complete without expressing our thanks to you and to the many people who helped Ike win so decisively.

Republicans were victorious throughout Pennsylvania, and we are greatly heartened at having won three state offices and both houses of the General Assembly. We cannot put aside our politics, however, without hastening to congratulate the Students for Stevenson-Kefauver-Clark, their advisors and all Pennsylvania Democrats on the election of Joseph S. Clark to the U.S. Senate.

We are hopeful that those Alleghenians who did not see fit to participate in this election will soon realize that responsibility in these matters rests with each of us as citizens, regardless of age or place of residence.

Sincerely,
Youth for Eisenhower-Nixon

Question: What's funny, honey? Answer:

Sticklers!

IF YOU'RE A SMOKER who's never tried a smoke ring, get in there and start puffing. While you're at it, remember: Lucky smoke rings come from fine tobacco. This makes no difference to the smoke ring, but it does to you. You see, fine tobacco means good taste, and Luckies' fine, naturally good-tasting tobacco is TOASTED to taste even better. So make your next cigarette a Lucky, and call your first smoke ring a Proud Cloud.
