Convention Ready

CAMPAIGN BRIEFS

The Hammond organ is set for a good work out. Jim Fox and Ed Weber will alternate at the console and will turn on plenty of heat, we are promised . . .

Congressman "Lew Rogers" of Erie, sends regrets from Washington that he cannot be with us tonight, however, he sends his best wishes for a most successful convention . . .

The Meadville high school band, with snoppy uniforms and everything, will be on hand to give out with lots of peppy music for all to keep step to in the parade . . .

Republican big-wigs from the local headquarters and surrounding territory will be at the opening session tonight to listen in to the frenzied oratory and power politiics on display when the platform comes up for acceptance . . .

William Irvine, another Allegheny alumnus, will be on the campus during the convention. He is secretary to Congressman Corbett, the keynote speaker . . .

A surprise in the nature of Republican Victory Chorus (?) will be unveiled at tonight's gathering.

Another musical treat in store for oration-weary delegates will be the accordian playing of Don Walp, VB year old student of St. Brigid's School. The local "boy wonder", Master Walp, will play the Twelfth Street Rag, and also the Russian Rag . . .

A beautiful, new Buick convertible club car will contain the convention officials and the Meadville mayor in the parade. Mayor Fred Whipple, James Gettemy, Charles Miller, and William Stubbs will be the occupants. The car was loaned by the Meadville Buick company . . .

Artist Mike Alexatos, '43, painted the state delegation banners carried in the parade. Betty Spring, '40, also painted many of the posters and banners displayed by the delegations . . .

Meadville merchants willingly loaned many flags and banners which decorate the gym. They came through in a big way and deserve the thanks of the entire college . . .

Mr. McTaye Richardson, leader of Richardson Jubilee Singers, has for years directed the choir at the local St. John's Baptist church. He is a National Gospel Singer and a member of the National Gospel Song Writer's Association. He is an accomplished singer himself . . .

Allegheny Trustee Frank P. Miller, delegate to the National convention in Philadelphia this summer writes, "I am fully expecting that what I learn from your mock convention will be just the right preparation I need for the main event in Philadelphia." . . .

Editor of the Westminster college newspaper, Paul Horn, is expected here today to view our mock convention. He was permanent chairman for the convention held last week at the New Wilmington school.

Colleges in this section are watching eagerly the outcome of the local mock convention. Oberlin, which has been noted for its accuracy in past years, is planning a convention again this year. Their first convention, held in 1860, resulted in the nominationn of Abraham Lincoln. Friendly rivalry exists among the colleges to see which

ANNIVERSARY FUND NEARING COMPLETION

Campaigners Now Working The Pittsburgh District; Two New Trustees Elected

Subscriptions totalling $715,803.95 have been made to the Allegheny College 125th Anniversary Fund, it was announced yesterday at the spring meeting of the college board of trustees.

More than 3,700 alumni and friends have signed pledges since the campaign was launched last September, according to the report, and approximately $210,000 of the total subscribed has already been paid in cash and securities.

The community of Meadville has pledged better than $230,000 toward its special quota of $250,000.

The report was made by the Hon. Frank P. Miller of Meadville, who takes the place of the late George W. Olmsted as chairman of the finance committee.

The intensive phase of Allegheny's $900,000 campaign for increased endowment and scholarship funds, improved dormitory facilities and payment of bonded debt will culminate in mid-summer. The canvass is now proceeding in the general vicinity of Pittsburgh, it was announced, and campaign representatives will begin work in Pittsburgh proper within a few days.

Both President William Pearson Tolley and Dr. J. Wesley Miller, campaign director, expressed confidence that with the continued cooperation of alumni and friends, the goal would be subscribed by the close of the campaign.

Two new general trustees, both prominent Pittsburghers, were elected at yesterday's meeting. They are:

Robert J. Dodds of the law firm of Reed, Smith, Shaw and McClay, and Theodore F. Smith, president of the Oliver Iron and Steel Company. The latter is an Allegheny alumnus of the class of 1915.

BAND TO LEAD PARADE TODAY

The Mock Republican convention will be ocicially opened by a political parade this afternoon.

Students are requested to be in front of Arter hall at four o'clock and to line up by state delegations in alphabetical order. Each delegate is asked to see William Stubbs, '42, chairman of the parade, for position in the line and then face west. It will begin at 4:15.

The Pennsylvania National guard will lead the parade, followed by the 50-piece Meadville hig hschool band. William Stubbs, '42; Charles Miller, '40, A.U.C. president; Mayor Whipple; and James Gettemy, '41, convention chairman will ride in the car which the delegates are to follow.

The delegates are to march three abreast down Park avenue to Randolph street, then down right to Water street, and on down to Chestnut street. The parade will go up Chestnut and North Main streets to disband in front of Arter hall.

In case of rain the parade will be postponed until tomorrow at the same time and use the same procedure.

The Men's Undergraduate council is planning an exchange dinner for the whole campus on Thursday evening. There will be men and women eating in all houses and dining rooms in order that the get-together spirit of the convention may not be interrupted and that plans for the most important session of the convention may continue smoothly.

Hector Carravacci, '42, and Dale Byers, '42, compose the committee in charge of the affair. They are working in connection with Dean Laila Skinner and Dean John R. Schultz.

WILLKIE STOCK GOES UP; DEWEY FALLS IN POLL

Gains Attributed to Power of Propaganda; Taft Also Shows Loss.

The power of propaganda was ably demonstrated in the results of last Friday's chapel poll, for significant gains were shown in the Wendell Willkie presidential wing, while losses were marked in others.

Willkie gained greatly in favor, at the expense of other candidates. His total vote constituted 13 percent of the entire poll, in contrast to a total of four per cent in the earlier poll of April 5.

This gain was attributed to a flood of propaganda issued from Willkie headquarters, together with a personal campaign conducted by hard-working boosters.

Dewey Loss.

Percentage figures show that Candidate Dewey received 48 per cent of the total vote; however in the earlier poll he received 52 per cent. This loss of four per cent was the greatest loss suffered by any Republican candidate.

Taft lost in favor, as did Bruce Barton. Gannett, Vandenberg, and James chalked up gains, while Bridges and LaFollette remained the same.

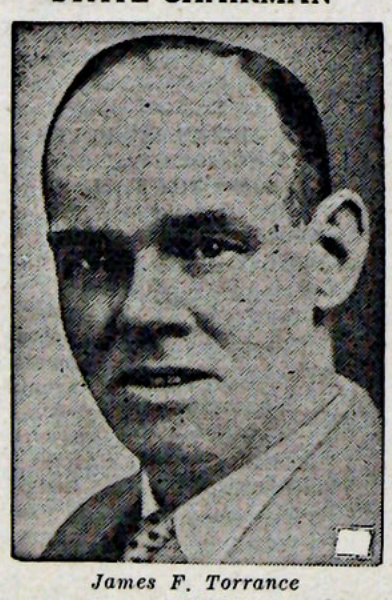
In the Democratic division, Cordell Hull raised in popularity. from 34 per cent to 50 per cent. Garner and McNutt each lost 5 per cent, while Jackson lost two percent. Roosevelt and Farley remained the same in percentage figures—Roosevelt with 18 per cent and Farley with two per cent.

Friday's poll was a follow-up to the poll of April 5. In the earlier voting 315 students participated—whereas 284 cast their votes in the latter poll.

The Allegheny Institute of Opinion, sponsored by the History and Political Science club in conjunction with The Campus, was in charge of both polls.

The choices of the students as to their personal candidate for the presidency are listed in order of preference: Thomas E. Dewey, Arthur H. Vandenberg, Wendell H. Willkie, Robert Taft, Frank Gannett, Arthur H. James, Robert LaFollette, Styles Bridges, Henry Lodge, Glenn Frank, and Herbert Hoover.

STATE CHAIRMAN



James F. Torrance

To the convention:

I very much regret that it will be impossible for me to attend the mock convention of the Allegheny College students. I want to congratulate the convention on the splendid piece of work it has done and is doing in bringing to the youth of our state the proper training and guidance in political matters.

JAMES F. TORRANCE.
Chairman, State Republican Committee.

MOCK CONVENTION UNDERWAY AT 4; PARADE FEATURED

KEYNOTER

Rep. Robert Corbett

Keynoter Corbett Fulfills Prophecy Made in Convention

"December 3—Corbett wins the Wakefield Oration contest. At this rate he'll be in Congress someday." This casual prophecy, found in the 1926 issue of the Kaldron and intended as a joke at the time has since been fulfilled, for Robert J. Corbett, '27, who will give the principle address for the coming Mock convention is now a member of the House of Representatives.

The prominent alumnus seems to be an exponent of the theory that extra-curricular activities in college have a great influence on a student's future career, for he took advantage of every phase of forensic activity—he became varsity debater during his sophomore year, he won the Wakefield contest during both his junior and senior years, represented Allegheny at the Inter-collegiate Oratorical contest, in which he won second honors; he was president of the oratorical association and he assisted teaching history classes during his last year. Another facetious reference to Corbett in the Kaldron was this statement, "Corbett elected speaker of the Philo-Franklin forum; writes home for money so he can live as befits his high position."

Among the various subjects he spoke upon while a varsity debater was the re-establishment of the honor system during examinations at Allegheny. Mr. Corbett upheld the negative side of the question, stating that it was impractical and couldn't function here. In another series of debates he argued that the United States should join the League of Nations.

A history and political science major, he taught those subjects here during the summer of 1928, after which he taught public speaking and political science at the University of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Corbett's address, the highlight of the convention, will be delivered tonight in the gymnasium.

HULINGS SHOWS SILVER SERVICE

On display this past week in Hulings hall was the silver service purchased by Allegheny's women students.

The four piece service is Gorham plate, Marlborough pattern. Elinor Kistler, '40, headed the committee in charge of buying. With her worked Marjorie Feagan, '41, Dorothy Jane Konstanzer, '42, Millicent Matthews, '43, and Peggy Williams, '43.

ROBERT J. CORBETT KEYNOTER AT FIRST SESSION TONIGHT

Allegheny's first Mock Republican National convention gets underway this afternoon at 4 P. M., when delegates gather at Arter hall to form the convention parade. Three months of intensive preparation under the guidance of Mr. Paul H. Giddens culminates in this three-day wave of oratory and coalition forming to select candidates for the presidency and vice-presidency of the United States.

Congressman Robert J. Corbett of Allegheny county, tonight's keynote speaker, will be guest of honor at a dinner at the Phi Kappa Psi house this evening preceeding the convention session.

Prominent Republicans from this district as guests at the dinner will include Mayor Fred Whipple, Ray Smock, chairman of the Crawford County Republican committee; Robert Bates, Republican state committeeman, Frank P. Miller, delegate to the Republican national convention in Philadelphia, and Judge O. Clare Kent, Crawford county Court of Common Pleas.

Congressman Corbett will be accompanied by his secretary William Irvine, also an ex-Allegheny student.

Faculty guests at the dinner will include President William P. Tolley and convention director Paul H. Giddens, Student guests will be Howard G. Gibbs, '41, A.U.C. president, and James Gettemy, '41, convention chairman.

REPUBLICAN CHAIRMAN

John M. Hamilton

Greetings to the delegates of the Republican Mock Convention of Allegheny College.

With country after country throughout the world being swamped by the tide of dictatorship it is essential that the young people of America learn how representative republican government functions. I know of no better training for future political action than participation in a model convention. Whether you plan to devote your whole life to politics or whether you merely expect to be an intelligent and conscientious voter, you will benefit by a working knowledge of how platforms are written and candidates selected.

Best wishes for a successful Convention.

JOHN M. HAMILTON.
Chairman, Republican National Committee.

Last Minute Quotes

Senator Vandenberg statement by Robert Oberlin, '41:

"In spite of the fact that Senator Vandenberg has had to be drafted as a candidate, his support is assuring—so assuring that I offer the following prediction:—I doubt if Senator Vandenberg will be nominated on the first ballot; however, in the later and more important balloting I feel confident that the senator has the same chance that the strongest of the other candidates has in securing the Republican presidential nominations."

Statement by Arthur Diskin, '42, manager for Governor James:

"I sincerely believe Governor James to be the most capable man in the Republican ranks. But there has been little effort made by national headquarters to boom the Pennsylvania governor for president. For this reason we will not be too disappointed if a more well-publicized, yet less capable Republican is nominated. We will give the nominee our fullest cooperation and support.

But we believe Governor James deserves a place on the ticket, and if not the presidential nomination, the vice-presidential spot.

The ticket we nominate must have on it at least one man whose knowledge and especially whose experience makes him able to carry out 1940 Republican aims."

LaFollette statement by John Caputo, '41:

"The man who will be nominated at the Mock Republican convention will be from the Northwest and will be the choice of the people. This leaves our candidate, Robert M. LaFollette, the only possible nominee."

Taft statement by Richard Taylor, '41:

"If the convention puts itself to working seriously, there is no doubt but what Taft will be nominated."

Gannett statement by John Megahan, '40:

"I believe that the Republican party should nominate a man who is a Republican. Mr. Gannett alone of all the candidates makes no compromise at the New Deal. If the forthcoming election is to be decided on fundamental issues we must nominate a man who has consistently championed the Republican side oof these issues. In 1861 Lincoln was the only candidate who saw clearly the great issues before the country. In 1940 it's Frank Gannett who sees the basic issues confronting our nation with equal clarity. Therefore, I believe he deserves the consideration of the convention."

Dewey statement by Donald Starr—"No comment."

Senator Bridges statement by Robert Hoover:

"The situation is well under control, but we don't stand a chance. However, our support will be available to worthy candidates whom we feel will represent the best interests of the party."

Willkie statement by J. B. Raskin, '42.

"Willkie will win by the firth ballot."

CONVENTION PROCEDURE

Director Paul H. Giddens has compiled the following notes on convention procedure:

1. After the "keynote" address, will come the reports of the Rules committee, Credentials committee, and Resolutions committee.
2. The Chairman of the Resolutions committee will read the entire platform as formulated by the committee. As soon as it is read debate upon the platform will be in order. Motions to amend, strike out, and adopt are in order. If you are not satisfied with the statements made in the platform, rise, address the Chairman of the Convention, and make your motion. Fight hard for the point you wish to see the convention adopt. Endeavor to have the convention adopt a platform which will be representative to the Republican party.
3. Next in order of business is the nomination of candidates. Each nominating speech will be about 15 minutes long. Cheer and applaud the speaker whenever he makes a particularly good point. Allow him to complete his speech, then make whatever demonstration you wish.
4. When all nominating speeches have been made the seconding speeches, limited to five minutes, will be made. The procedure is the same as above. The Secretary will call the roll of states in alphabetical order and if a state has no candidate to nominate, it will "pass". If it has a candidate, the speaker will take the platform to give his speech.
5. The convention will now ballot for a presidential candidate. The secretary will call the roll of state in alphabetical order. Each state chairman will have polled (found out how each delegate wishes to cast his ballot) his delegation and as the name of his state is called, he will rise, and announce the vote of his state. When the roll has been completed, the secretary will count the vote and if any candidate has a majority vote, he will be the nominee. If no candidate has received a majority vote, the secretary will continue calling the roll until some candidate has received a majority.
6. It is important to note that each delegate has a vote and may cast it for whatever candidate is desired.
7. When a presidential candidate has been selected, the next order of business is to nominate a vice-president. The procedure is the same as under point 3 and 4 and 5.
8. At this point the convention is ready to adjourn. After having selected a candidate which it believes will be the same one to be nominated in Philadelphia.

KAPPA PHI KAPPA SPONSORS RADIO DEBATE TODAY

The Allegheny college Zeta chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa, professional education fraternity, will sponsor a radio debate between Sharon, Pa. High School and Fredonia, N. Y., High School today.

The program, of 45 minutes duration, will be broadcast over station WICA at Ashtabula, Ohio, beginning at 1:15 P. M., E.S.T.

This will bring to a close successful seasons for both teams. The Fredonia High School team, under the direction of Gordon Corter, has won 18 of the 19 debates that it has participated in this year, while the Sharon High School team, under J. I. Reaney, won the Northwestern Pennsylvania Forensic league playoffs two weeks ago.

The title of the debate is: "Resolved, that the United States government should own and operate the railroads," with Fredonia upholding the affirmative side of the question.

The time of the program has been set early in the afternoon so that schools can tune in WICA broadcasts at 940 kilocycles.

Allegheny's Last Convention In 1932

Though this is the first year in the history of the college that we have had a Mock Republican convention, it is not the first that student opinion on the presidential question has been touched. Eight years ago, way back in 1932 A.D., The Campus conducted a mock election from both the Republican and Democratic parties and, along with it, a poll on the all-important prohibition question.

In one sense, the results were startling, and in another (believe it or not) they were traditional. Startling was the fact that by a margin of one vote, Allegheny went wet, and Allegheny students were supposed to come from such strict Methodist families! Traditional was the fact that Allegheny showed itself to be a very strong Republican college, Herbert Hoover winning over the other two candidates by a two to one majority.

The poll was conducted by ballots clipped from The Campus and deposited in Miss Cotton's ocice. The first ballot—the primaries, had on the Republican slate the names of Hoover, Coolidge, Johnson, Dawes, Curtis, and Seabury. On the Democratic were those of Roosevelt, Smith, Garner, Murray, Baker, Young, and Ritchie.

The results had Herbert Hoover as the Republican nominee and Franklin D. as the Democratic. One lone Allegheny radical cast for Socialist Norman Thomas, the man who cannot get a hearing on the campus today. This is good evidence that eigiht years hasn't changed Allegheny's conservatism. Dawes drew the second highest Republican total and Coolidge the third, while Smith and Garner were

A. U. C. ELECTS OFFICERS: APPOINT KALDRON EDITOR

Election of officers was featured at Allegheny Undergraduate council meeting this week. William Faloon, '41, was elected vice-president, Georgia Seitz, '41, was named secretary, while Richard Miller, '40, will fill the treasurer's post. The president, Howard G. Gibbs, '41, was elected several weeks ago by the student body.

"Naming of Robert B. Miller, '42, as Editor of The Kaldron for the coming year resulted from a report of a committee composed of Georgia Seitz, '41, Donna Ochsenhirt, '41, and Robert McVey, '41.

President Gibbs appointed the following committees:

Budget—Richard Miller, '41, Hector Caravacci, '40, and Marjorie Wible '41.

Chapel—Thomas Cort, '41, Ruth Ellen Blake, '41, and Donna Ochsenhirt, '41.

Social Calendar—Nancy Martin, '42, Ruth Godley, '42, and the representative from the Playshop who has not been selected as yet.

Social Committee—David Robertson, '41, Georgia Seitz, '41, and William Faloon, '41.

MUSIC TO ADD TO CONVENTION FUN

Musical entertainment will lighten the weight of serious convention business during the three-day session, James Fox, '40, chairman of the music committee reported.

The music will vary in scope with programs of instrumental, orchestral and vocal selections.

Playing for the opening parade and at the 7:30 P. M. session today will be the Meadville high school orchestra under the direction of Mr. Paul D. Inglefield. Students of the band will appear in full uniform.

Tomorrow's afternoon session will hear same music in a modern vein by an Allegheny student's orchestra, Frank Fornear and his swing band. That evening at 7:30 the program lists Macatee Richardson's Jubilee singers. This group is composed of 20 negroes singing spirituals.

A Republican victory chorus not wishing to divulge its origin will be the main musical feature Thursday afternoon. The mixed chorus, making its initial performance, will sing popular numbers.

Donald Walp, the 12 year old boy wonder, is listed for accordian solos the final session of the convention, Thursday night.

James Fox, '40, and Edgar Weber, '41, will play the Hammond organ for all demonstrations staged by the convention delegates.

VANDENBERG HAS A FINE RECORD

Michigan Senator Has Made Name in Munitions Inquiry, Deposit Act

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg has been drafted as a candidate, but he has indicated his willingness to serve if we insist upon it. And his life and record of achievement speak more eloquently than campaign promises.

A look at his record . . . a leader in advocating the Federal Deposit Insurance act, today's foundation structure in the public banking confidence . . . the sponsorship with Senator Nye of the legislation to take the profit out of war, of the resolution to investigate the munitions industry . . . the leader in defeating the Florida Ship Canal project which would have cost the American taxpayer $500,000,000. This represents a part of his amazing record during his leadership of the Republican minority in Congress during the Democratic regime.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg

So his record is one of fairness to all sides, with the goal of building America. Time and again, he has successfully opposed the "meddlers" who sought to tamper with the fundamentals of the American business system or freedom of the individual. As a fighter against regimentation, as a friend of the farmer and business, as a fighter for economy in government and for "insulationism" in American foreign affairs, he represents a safeguard for American prosperity and peace.

LAFOLLETTE HAS LONG EXPERIENCE

Wisconsin Liberal Has Held Senate Position Since 1925; Progressive

Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., 45, distinguished Senator from Wisconsin since 1925, previously secretary to his noted father, is thoroughly qualified in American statesmanship.

Progressive Republican, LaFollette's long career in public service reveals a ceaseless striiving for legislative, social and political reform.

Firmly believing that government is for the purpose of furthering the welfare of the whole nation, he has well stated his own position.

"In the greatest crisis in this Nation's history we must carry on huge expenditures to relieve suffering and to increase purchasing power. To carry on this program requires an efficient tax system, with heavier burdens upon those able to bear them than ever before in our history. I do not make this statement because I believe that we must balance the budget in the technical and arithmetical sense. As a matter of fact, I think we have been trying to balance the wrong budget."

"The budget that I would like to see balanced would list upon the assets side 125,000,000 people. It would list our national resources, our oil, our coal, our lumber, our minerals, our water power. It would list our transportation system. It would list the greatest industrial development that the world has ever seen. It would list our great agricultural resources. On the other side of the budget would be listed the obligation of any society and or any government worthy of the name to assure to every man, woman and child a decent and a full life."

If we will discharge that obligation, if we will balance this greater budget, we will put the operating budget into balance over night. If we fail to balance this larger budget, if we fail to discharge this obligation we owe to the people of this country, then no matter how long we go on with cheeseparing methods on the regular budget, we shall never balance it so long as the level of economic activity remains at the present point or sinks even lower.

TAFT'S POLITICAL LIFE COLORFUL

23rd President's Son Was Active in War Relief Work; Long in Politics

Senator Robert A. Taft, candidate for the Presidency of the United States, has had an interesting and colorful life. A short summary of his life follows:

He was born in 1889, Cincinnati, Ohio, to William Howard Taft, 27th President of the United States and Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and Helen Herron Taft, daughter of John W. Herron, former U. S. District attorney.

Taft was married in 1914 to Martha W. Bowers, daughter of Lloyd W. Bowers, who was Solicitor-General of the United States. The Tafts have four sons, whose ages range from 14 to 24.

Legislative Experience.

Member of Ohio House of Representatives 1921-6. Republican floor leader 1925. Speaker of the House 1926. Member of the Ohio Senate 1931-32. Chairman Special Senate Tax committee.

U. S. Senate.

Elected November, 1938. Majority 170,000. Member of Appropriations, Banking and Currency, and Education and Labor committees. Active in fight against President's powers and the Spend-lend bill. Supported cash and carry plan and repeal of the arms embargo.

Republican Record.

Precinct committeeman. Former chairman of Republican Executive committee of Hamilton County. Chairman of Columbia township. Ohio's favorite son candidate for President in 1936 Republican convention. Endorsed by Republican State Central committee of Ohio, and by county committees for President in 1940.

JAMES SLAPS AT NEW DEAL ERRORS

"Breaker Boy" Governor Calls New Deal to Account In Indianapolis Talk

No better tribute could be paid to Pennsylvania's candidate for the presidency, Governor Arthur H. James, than that written in an editorial in the local Tribune Republican Monday. Excerpts follow:

(Monday, April 29, 1940)

Jobs and Peace.

"Governor Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania made a strong bid for the Republican presidential nomination when he called President Roosevelt and the new deal to account in his speech at Indianapolis Friday night.

"It was a direct, unequivocal attack. It struck at the very heart of new deal failures and mistakes. It called for a new deal under a new administration capable of providing jobs for American's unemployed and of keeping the United States out of war.

"Speaking of his election two years ago, Governor James said: "The Republican party, campaigning on a platform of Americanism, battled against the exponents of extravagance and experiments. Pitted against us were the ablest shock-troops of the new deal—the crooners and the hate-singer. We

NEW HAMPSHIRE BEHIND BRIDGES

Former Governor is Confirmed New Deal Critic; Attacked T.V.A.

Henry Styles Bridges, at 41, is the favorite son of his native state, New Hampshire.

After capable service as its governor, he was sent to the United States senate in 1938, where he quickly became a prominent figure in the band of Republicans on the senate floor.

Senator Henry Styles Bridges

A conservative, constant-critic of the New Deal, he has won far-reaching support for his attacks on extravagant government spending and government competition with public utilities, in particular, the T.V.A. At the basis of such attacks is an unalterable attachment to farming interests.

He has the undeniable assets of youth, vigor, and the ability for logical, concise thinking, displayed throughout all his previous period of statesmanship. Such qualifications have earned for him numerous active friends who anticipate for Styles Bridges not only the Republican nomination, but also the honor of giving New Hampshire its first White House president since the days of Franklin Pierce.

BRUCE BARTON IS BUSINESS MAN

Evangelist, Advertiser, Embodies Hopes of Small Business in Country

Some random thoughts on the qualifications of Congressman Bruce Barton of New York:

Famed Advertising man—partner in firm of Barton, Datten, Durstine, and Osborne. Amateur evangelist.

"The man nobody knows."

Representative Bruce Barton

Congressman from New York's silk-stocking district. Family man.

Only candidate with voice that could buck that of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Barton has the faith and loyalty of all the little men and women in the country.

Has been chosen nominee for United States Senator from New York state in any case.

Bruce Barton is an outstanding business man, one who has risen from the ranks to a successful position.

Barton's is not a declared candidacy; yet he will ably handle the responsibility if chosen.

His shibboleth: Beat the Democrats with Barton!

YOUTHFUL DEWEY STRONG THREAT

"Racket-Buster" Culls Votes From Clean-up of New York Corruption

Thomas E. Dewey is one of the cleanest cut Americans of this day. He is directly descended from The Admiral Dewey who captured Manila in the Spanish American War, and also from one of the original founders of the Republican party, who was his paternal grandfather.

He is youthful, yes, but this is one of his greatest assets. Anyone can pick out the greatest men in history from the ranks of youth. A man to be great, must be youthful; he must have youth to be able to give the force and drive necessary to do things well.

He is an able administrator as has been proven by his efficient way of running the largest public legal offices in the country. He has cut the expenses of this office 33%, and at the same time, increased the number of personnel and efficiency and activity of that office.

Lastly the crowning attribute that Mr. Dewey has is fire and colorfulness which makes the voters want to do or die with him, or to cut his political throat. This is the one thing that the other candidates lack, and the one thing which is absolutely necessary for any Republican candidate who wishes to beat the Democrats this November.

WILLKIE FOE OF BUSINESS EVILS

Powerful Company Head Has Protected Worker; Opposed Ku Klux Klan

Wendell Willkie was born in Ellwood, Indiana, 48 years ago. In 1916 he graduated from the law school at Indiana university.

Wendell Willkie

Willkie served with distinction during the World War as Captain of the 35th Field Artillery in France.

Following the Armistice he remained in France for months defending, at his own expense, soldiers who were up for court martial on "imbecile charges."

Upon his return to America, Willkie practiced law at Akron, Ohio. His record there included defending, among other, rubber workers whose civil liberties had been violated.

He early displayed his ability as a political leader by organizing, leading, and winning the fight against the Ku Klux Klan in central Ohio, 1924-26.

Throughout the twenties, Willkie fought hard and consistently against what he considered evils in Big Business, and for the assuming of social obligations by the government.

In 1933 Willkie became president of the Commonwealth and Southern Utility corporation. His record as an executive of this billion dollar business is unparalleled.

Within five years he doubled the output of his corporation. He cut the price of his products in half. And he transformed a loss of $1,600,000 to a profit of $10,600,000.

This remarkable record is responsible for the spontaneous boom for Willkie as president of the biggest business of all—the running of the United States government.

James Slaps at New Deal Errors

fought mud and we fought money. And when the votes were counted it was found that the men and women of the Keystone state had chosen between issues that transcend party lines.

"Governor James pointed to the two basic issues now before the people. "What better watchwords could there be for our national Republican program than jobs and peace!" he declared. Where can the party find better issues on which to wage battle this year?

"Governor James, it seems, is not a half-way man and his policies are not half-way measures. His utterances and his deeds mark him as a man of strong conviction, sound character and indomitable courage. He has clarified the issues for all who believe in the American system and are dissatisfied with the gross failures and the costly mistakes of the new deal."

FRANK GANNETT NEW DEAL BAITER

Rochester Publisher Owns Third Largest Chain In the United States

Less than forty miles, as the crow flies, from the Times-Union building in Rochester is Gannett hill, nearly half a mile above sea level, one of the highest points in Western New York, rising from the upper end of Canandaigua lake. Here, in a small farmhouse overlooking some of the most inspiring scenery in the East, Frank Gannett, publisher of the Gannett newspapers, was born.

Those who know of his boyhood and young manhood, think it only natural that publishing the third largest group of newspapers in the country has not offered a sufficient outlet for his tireless energy. So, despite the myriad responsibilities of newspaper publishing, he has thrown himself unreservedly into the fight to preserve the American way of life, which he realizes have permitted him to accomplish so much in so many fields in a few brief decades.

As founder and chairman of the National Committee to Uphold Constitutional Government, he has been credited more than any one else with defeat of President Roosevelt's plan to enlarge the Supreme Court by methods he considered destructive of constitutional principles. And later, for defeat also of the Reorganization bill, which in its original form he believed placed in the hands of the President such sweeping powers as to be little less than dictatorial. Defeat of the Spend-Lend bill of 1939 also was to no small extent the work of his committee.

For many years Mr. Gannett has been deeply interested in the problems of industrial relations, not only as they concerned the effective functioning of his own newspapers, but as basically important to the production of goods and services in a democracy.

Mr. Gannett is an ardent supporter of the Republican party. In 1936 he was active in the Cleveland national convention. At the New York state convention at Albany, in September of that year, his name was placed in nomination for Governor, and despite the fact that he was not an avowed candidate, and without organization, he received 92 votes, the complete delegations of five counties.

EDITOR'S COMMENT

It has been the aim of The Campus on these two pages to give unprejudiced representation to outstanding claimants for the nomination of President in the Mock Convention. We hope our goal has been achieved.

SPORTS TRAILS

With DICK TAYLOR

AS THOUSANDS CHEER!

Now is the time when every sports writer sits down to his desk and opens himself to public criticism by making his predictions about the forthcoming American and National League pennant races. I think that I am the last to do it this year but my falling into line means that I will sink along with my fellowmen, John Lardner, Grantland Rice, Joe Williams, and others.

I think that I will revolutionize this year's forecasts by being different and predicting the downfall of the Yankee supremacy in the American League. They have been in the drivers seat for four years because they have been a high geared machine and as a result they have lost all of their manly characteristics, mainly, the ability to overcome any obstacle that might come before them. Therefore I pick the Boston Red Sox to cop the flag because they are at least human. The erratic Cleveland Indians should cop second place with the Yankees coming in third. Following in order will be Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, Detroit, and St. Louis.

In the National League battle will be more exciting with the St. Louis Cardinals and the Pittsburgh Pirates fighting it out for first place. I give the edge to the Cards because of a better balanced team but the Pirates, under their best manager in years and who will show the Smoky City a brand of baseball they have never seen, will be a real threat if they can produce a twenty game pitcher. The Reds will pull in third because their star rookies of last year will be enveloped by the famous sophomore slump with the Cubs, Giants, Dodgers, Bees. and Phillies stringing along in order.

NETMEN TO PLAY SLIPPERY ROCK

First Match Held Today; Rain Cancels 3 Matches To Be Played Next Week

With the three tennis matches scheduled last week with Buffalo, Oberlin and Carnegie Tech called off on account of rain. the 'Gator netmen hope to hold their belated opening match with Slippery Rock this afternoon on the courts behind Caflisch Hall, Coach J. L. Fisher announced Sunday. Also scheduled is a match on Thursday, May 9, with the University of Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh.

How good this year's Slippery Rock tennis team is, is not yet known, but if they are of about the same strength as their team last year, Allegheny should be able to open the season with a victory. In regards to the Thursday battle, however, the situation may be slightly dicerent. Pitt usually has a pretty strong team and there is no reason why this season should be any exception.

Of the three matches which were rained out, the one with Oberlin is the only one which has been postponed. The others have been cancelled. The match with Oberlin has been scheduled for May 14. The date of the match with Duquesne U. was also changed from May 14 to May 13.

GIRLS HOLD SWIM MEET

The girl's swimming meet will be held tonight at 8:00 P. M., in the Montgomery pool.

The events included are: 40 yard freestyle, 40 yard backstroke, 40 yard breast stroke, 60 yard freestyle relay, 60 yard novelty relay, and a novelty event in which any number may participate.

Letters to the Editor

Editor of The Campus
Allegheny College
Meadville, Pa.

Dear Sir:

We often have read of various experiments attempted on the many campuses of the United States, each supposed to be unique and different; invariably the results are of little or no consequence.

Back in 1928 Alumni Secretary Frank LaBounte turned his undivided attention toward the athletic status of Allegheny College. His aim was to raise the relative standing of the teams representing the school, in contrast to the preceding year, which was a flop of the first magnitude.

Briefly, the plan plan adopted was to produce a school spirit that would solidly back the team. Each fraternity cooperated with the plan by breaking up its individual group which was proportionately distributed among the various fraternity houses on the campus. The first 33 men on the football squad lived in one house with the coach. There remained seven houses sheltering conglomerate groups, or we might well refer to each group as interfraternity, for each was made up from eight fraternities.

I'm not advocating the above situation, but at least some thought should be given to the athletic situation. With football in the foreground and fraternities so thoroughly dispersed, the student body was one coordinate group with its collective shoulder to the wheel that turned the axis of school spirit and turned it to a degree absolutely foreign to the campus.

Considering the record of last year's team, it seems obvious that some drastic measure should be undertaken to curb, if not to erase, this cancerous condition eating at the heart of our football program. If such a plan paid dividends to the school then it might pay dividends now.

Sincerely yours,
Ralph Marasco.

SPORTS FLASHES

By DAVE KINZER

Since nothing is happening on the Allegheny sports front, we must turn to more fertile fields.

HORSE RACING—

Gallahadian, the nag who pulled the big surprise in the Kentucky Derby Saturday, dragged down $72.40 for $2.00 for the few who had faith enough in him to bet. His stock certainly has gone up since the day two years ago when he was bought for the bargain price of $5,000. He picked up $60,150 out of Saturday's classic.

AUTOMOBILE RACING—

Wilbur Shaw has two jumps to hurdle if he expects to win this year's 500 mile classic. If he repeats his victory of last year, he will be the first one in the history of the classics to win twice in a row. The other is the "number 1" jinx. If Shaw's Italian built Maserati with the big "number 1" on the hood comes across the line first, it will be only the second car in history to win. Last year's "number 1" driver, Floyd Roberts, was killed in a crash at about the 250 mile mark.

FOOT RACING—

J. Gregory Rice, America's greatest distance runner, "did it again" to the great Taisto Maki last Saturday in Minneapolis. As a feature race of a Minnesota track meet, Rice ran the 3000 meters in 8:18.9, a new American record. Walter Mehl, a Wisconsin undergraduate, was second, and Maki a fading third. In this race Maki was given a strong chance, because he is at his best on the cinder paths, but the holder of four world's records couldn't equal Rice's blistering final sprint. The other time the two had met, Rice figuratively ran the legs off Maki with a world indoor record 13:52.5 in the three mile.

BASEBALL—

Week-end developments on the baseball front had the hopes of the Cleveland contingent raised and those of Pittsburgh still further lowered. The Indians stepped into first place on Bob Feller's airtight hurling job, and the Pirates slid to sixth place as they dropped another. Other features were the fourth straight victory of Bucky Walters, the first defeat of "Chubby" Dean, and the record 39 players who participated in the Dodgers-Cards game.

TUNE-UP TRACK MEET FOR FROSH AND VARSITY

Scheduled for May 11 With All Men Taking Part; First Meet With Kenyon

The varsity and freshman track teams will engage in a tune-up meet this Saturday in preparation for their first inter-collegate meet with Kenyon on the 18th. In announcing the meet, Coach Way stated that all track and field events would be included on the program with the exception of the relays, and that all members of the two teams would be in all probability participate in their respective events.

Inclement weather prevented the running of the time-trials scheduled for last Wednesday and continued bad weather forced their subsequent postponement until early this week.

Thus, so far as performance is concerned, little has been learned during the past week. However, practices went on as usual with the track and field men continuing to round into shape for the coming meets.

Probable participants in the meet are:

Dashes:
Freshmen—Strong, Minore, Depp.
Varsity—Dotterer, Corey, Saylor, Nasta and Caldwell.
Middle distances:
Freshmen—Madtes, Pierce, Hill, and Barnes.
Varsity—Corey, Kinzer, Saylor, Dietrich, and Modisher.
Distances:
Freshmen—Bartlett, Caruthers, and Leitzel.
Varsity—Kinzer, Dietrich, Marcy, Anger, Modisher, George, and Moffat.
Hurdles:

Varsity—Cook, Hickernell, Singleton, Hart, and Hartwell.
Jumps:
Freshmen—Pierce, MacPherson, and Cramer.
Varsity—Cook, Brandt, Starr, Craig, and Corey.

Sideline Slants

Intramural sports were another athletic event called off last week because of the recent Meadville flood.

How about a meet between the varsity swimmers and the winners of the girl's swimming meet? That would be fun, wouldn't it?

Does anyone know how long this badminton tournament has been going on? At this writing, it looks like the finals will have to be postponed till next fall.

both tied for second on the Democratic slate.

Another ballot appeared in The Campus the following week with the names of Hoover, Roosevelt, and Thomas on it. Along with these names were three choices on the prohibition question—"Strict Enforcement—Dry, light wines and beers—Temperate, absolutely no

In these results Norman Thomas took a big jump in popularity, tying Roosevelt in the number of votes. There must have been electioneering then comparable to that which is raging on the campus today.

delegates should plan to sit with their own state delegations.

Bob Roundy will be on hand with a pop and candy concession.

A promising non-partisan group named the Committee on Republican Nominations is fast engulfing campus voters. Small red, white, and blue ribbons decorate the "C.R.N." supporters. Your guess is as good as mine, but it sounds like the frosh are at it again.

Jose Antonio Perez will plead for self government of his native Puerto Rico at tonight's session.

Mont MacKinney, '40. The platform will be presented to the convention by John Megahan, '40. Mimeographed capies of the platform will be in the hands of all delegates tonight, it was announced.

Schedules of the following days will be found on page 3 of this edition.

CONVENTION SET; PARADE FEATURED

The official beginning of the convention will be at 7:30 when permanent chairman James Gettemy, '41, raps his gavel to signify the opening. After a half hour concert by the Meadville high school band under the direction of Paul D. Inglefield, the Star Spangled Banner will be sung by the delegates.

"Political Issues of 1940" is the subject of Mr. Corbett's keynote address tonight. . Mr. Corbett is well qualified to be the keynoter as he has been outstanding in the House of Representatives for several years.

Organization Reports.

Following the keynote speech, Thomas Cort, '41, will give the report of the Committee on Credentials. The Committee on Rules will be represented by

REMEMBER?

May 12th is Mother's Day! And "lest you forget," may we suggest so many ways to make Mother happy on her day.

MOTHER'S DAY GREETINGS —

A little message, beautifully expressed——or cleverly humorous ——will mean so much to Mother. She will treasure such "remembering" more highly than you'll ever know. You're sure to find just the message you want at Eldred's.
