Digital Image, 2009. The Ida M. Tarbell Collection, 1890-1944, Allegheny College Pelletier Library

Charles R. Scholl, D.D.S., President

Cyrus T. Fox, Secretary

The Historical Society of Berks County, Pa.

Office, Library and Museum in the Society's Building
38 North Fourth Street, Reading, Pa.

Reading, Pa., November 1 192 2

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
120 East 19th. St.,
New York City.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

Since receiving your last letter, I had hoped to pay another visit to Exeter township to ascertain if there is a tomb stone at the grave of Mordecai Lincoln. The Lincoln burial plot is in the Friends Meeting House graveyard, near Stonersville, this county. It is presumed that the remains of Mordecai Lincoln repose there.

I have not yet been able to find a copy of the Reading Eagle which I desire to send to you, but I would say that there is nothing contained in the article of sufficient interest for your purposes. It simply treated of Mordecai Lincoln as an iron master in connection with the operations of the Coventry Forges in Chester County, Pa. I sent you a copy of a paper containing an address which I delivered in the Harmony Meeting House in southern Berks County, located about 8 miles from the Coventry Forges, in which I referred to Mordecai Lincoln's connection with those iron works.

Yours very sincerely,

Cyrus T. Fox

Secretary