Dear Miss Tarbell, -

Aren't we having a beautiful fall. For the last day or two we have been having some much needed rain, but it is still warm, and we are still picking flowers in the yard.

At last we have a set of Mr. Wall's etchings on Lincoln! We were still considering the proposition when Mr. Wall called on us, last Tuesday, and before he left we had purchased the set. It is wonderful, and I am so happy we could buy it. My only regret is, that the day Mr. Wall was here, I was sick in bed with a cold, so missed the pleasure of meeting him. Miss Rowley said he was such a charming person.

I received a nice note from Miss Sullivan after she returned from her vacation. I was glad she had such a delightful trip and was especially glad she stopped here to see your Lincoln collection. I trust, what I told her, will be helpful to the two of you in your work on the correspondence about Lincoln.

Dr. Giddens arrived home from South America just in time to start his classes, and has been so busy ever since, that I haven't heard much about his interesting trip. Just now he is working on the index to his new book.

I almost forgot to tell you, that Mr. Wall autographed the volume of sketches, which you gave me for the library last summer.

Miss Painter and I enjoyed our visit with you so much, and hope we did not tire you, too much. Miss Barr and Miss Ruesch have been over recently, and of course were asking about you. I was happy to be able to tell them about our call.

Homecoming is next week-end, as you probably know, and it will be a busy time. Everything is ready for the convocation and dinner to celebrate Dr. Tolley's ten years at Allegheny on Friday, and Saturday to dedicate the new girls dormitory. The dormitory is lovely, and it is marvelous what they have done.

I was sorry to hear that you had had another set back, but hope you are gaining day by day, now.

With kind remembrances to your sister -

Affectionately,
Mary Hendershot
