Team Wins Hard Game With Rochester

Gold and Blue, Playing in Old Form, Wrest 19-0 Victory From Visitors

Allegheny came back strongly last Saturday against the University of Rochester eleven, the New York team being unable to score, while the Blue and Gold tallied nineteen points. Every minute of the game was hard fought. Rochester really played a much better game than the score would indicate, and it is all the more to the credit of the local eleven that they should carry off such a well earned victory.

After the Tech defeat, the game Saturday was very encouraging. The backfield showed a great deal more speed, while the line braced up and worked like a machine. Not a single substitution was made in the Allegheny team and the men demonstrated some first class foot ball. The forward pass was used very effectively, two out of the three touchdowns being scored by these plays.

Arnold, Bash, and Askey all got away with fine runs. The line plunging was strong and the men picked their holes well—but best of all there were holes to pick, for the line really did some fine work on the offensive. Cox ran the team well, showing good judgment and generalship. Captain Pierson and Scannell did some great work in breaking up the Rochester interference, which was nearly perfect. The center of the line did equally well, both on offense and defense, although the play of the whole team in the first few minutes was a little ragged. Fortunately the team braced quickly and after that Rochester worked for every inch that was gained. Captain Pierson, Arnold and Kramer did the scoring, while Bash kicked the one successful try at goal.

The Rochester eleven put up a fine game. Their attack was particularly good and caused the Gold and Blue more than a little worry before it was solved. The ball was often in the home team's territory, and the visitors showed plenty of fight up to the final whistle. Wray's plunging and end runs were responsible for big gains and Harris also played a fine game. The line, like that of the Allegheny team, was stronger on offense than on defense. Ogden made a sensational catch of a forward pass in the last quarter, carrying it dangerously near the goal line.

The game was unusually clean and fair, although hard-fought. The Rochester team were good sportsmen and showed a fine spirit through every minute of the game.

The victory of last Saturday makes the second victory over Rochester in two years.

The first quarter of the game found every spectator in almost breathless suspense. No one could tell what was going to happen. Rochester was confident of success and the Allegheny line, after another hard week's work, was still an uncertain factor. Summers kicked off to Cox on the 10-yard line and the Allegheny quarterback ran back 20 yards before being brought down. Askey hit the line twice for gains totalling 7 yards and Cox in 2 more downs made the distance. Arnold was thrown back 4 yards on an end run and then Bash won back nearly the same distance with a plunge through tackle. The first forward pass, Cox to Arnold, over the center of the line, netted 8 yards, but Kramer was forced to kick. Harris received the ball on his own 20-yard line, but was dropped in his tracks by Captain Pierson.

Then Rochester uncorked its offensive. Harris slipped around the end for a clean 15 yards with perfect interference. Tuttle tried the same thing around the other end, but made only 1 yard. Then Wray hit outside of tackle for 2 yards, tore around the end for 7 more and in a third play netted another 5. Harris got 2 yards more around end. The Rochester men were very confident of the victory. A forward pass, Wray to Harris, failed, and then Wray attempted an end run from punt formation; but Scannell and Arnold broke through the line and threw him for a 15-yard loss. Wray immediately punted, Cox receiving and carrying it to his own 24-yard line.

Arnold failed to gain on an end run. Askey hit the tackle for 8 yards and Bash plunged through for first down. Askey brought 5 yards more through guard and then Bash, on a delayed pass, slipped through between guard and tackle for first down again, netting 8 yards on the play. The Rochester line began to brace then and two plunges by Askey and Bash brought only 5 yards. On an end run Cox lost 7 yards and Kramer again punted, Harris receiving on the 14-yard line.

The Allegheny line showed unexpected strength. A heavy plunge through tackle by Wray failed to gain. Harris made 1 yard on an end run and Wray again tried the line, this time for 2 yards. The quarter ended with the ball in Rochester's possession on their own 17-yard line.

Wray again punted, Bash receiving on Rochester's 40-yard line. Arnold tried the line, but gained only 1 yard. On the next play he slipped outside of tackle for a full 10 yards more. A third plunge into the line failed again. Then was seen one of the prettiest plays of the game. Cox threw a beautiful 25-yard pass to Pierson who carried the ball 15 yards more for the first touchdown. The try at goal failed.

Cox kicked to Wray who ran the ball back to the 25-yard line. The home team seemed to have solved the Rochester attack. Tuttle was thrown for a 6-yard loss, both Curry and Witter getting through for the tackle. Harris, with some fine interference, made 7 yards on an end run, and Wray 3 more through the line. Wray tried to punt, but as the pass was poor was obliged to run with the ball. Scannell made the tackle, throwing him for a 5-yard loss.

The longest run of the game followed, Arnold tearing through outside of tackle for a full 30 yards before being downed. On the next play Cox fumbled, but picked up the ball and passed to Arnold, who plunged through for the second touchdown. Allegheny, 12, Rochester, 0. The line held splendidly—not a single Rochester man got through. This fact alone made score possible on the play. The try at goal failed.

Cox kicked off again to Harris, who, receiving on his 25-yard line, ran the ball back 18 yards. Rochester fumbled, but recovered the ball. Wray gained 1 yard on an end run. A forward pass, Wray to Harris, was not completed, but Wray punted to Cox. The ball was fumbled when Cox was thrown but recovered by Arnold on the Allegheny 25-yard line.

Bash failed to gain around end. Arnold made 1 yard through the line. Kramer, on a fake punt, made first down on a 9-yard run around end. Bash made 3 yards through the line and then Cox punted to Rochester's

Glee Club Organizes for the Season

PERSONNEL OF CLUB AND PLANS ANNOUNCED.

This week the Glee Club comes to the front in college interest. The personnel of the club has been decided upon, the manager is busy scheduling the first-semester concerts, and the trustees have stepped into the breach with a very generous offer.

The club this year is to be smaller than in former years, only four men being carried for each of the parts, except second tenor. Two extra second tenors will be included. An effort is to be made to have the finest singing this year which the club has ever given. Professor Manville, of the Pennsylvania College of Music, will again be the director, but the training of the club is to be carried even further than ever before. The trustees have offered a sum of money which will be used for lessons for the club. Professor Manville will give two lessons each week.

One of the regulations under which the club will work this year is made necessary through this offer from the trustees. Any member of the club who is absent twice in succession from rehearsals will automatically forfeit his place on the club.

The following men won places on the Glee Club this year:

First Tenor—Kramer, '16; Sheets, '16; Eberlee, '19; Ogden, '18.

Second Tenor—Wetherup, '17; McConnell, '17; Shenefelt, '17; Tuttle, '17; Megirt, '19; Scott, '16, (leader.)

First Bass—Hutchison, '18; Doane, '17; Dundon, '16; Sanner, '16.

Second Bass—Askey, '17; Miller, '17; Tear, '16; Kirkpatrick, '19.

W. A. Ellis, '16, will serve as accompanist, and E. W. Hickman, '16, as reader. No soloist is as yet announced.

Manager H. B. Kahle, '17, has been busy corresponding with organizations in this part of the State in regard to concerts. As yet, nothing definite has been arranged. An effort is being made to have a three-day trip, taking in Erie, Corry and Warren, Pa., and concerts will probably be arranged in Greenville and Titusville during the first semester.

Distinguished Alumnus Passes Away

JUDGE S. B. CRAIG, '71, FAILS TO RALLY FROM OPERATION.

On Tuesday morning of last week, one of the loyal alumni of Allegheny passed away. Judge Samuel Baxter Craig, '71, of Warren, Ohio, died at the Warren City Hospital after an operation which he had undergone during the previous week. Judge Craig's illness was of such brief duration that comparatively few of his friends knew of his illness until the news of his death was received.

He was born in Braceville Township in Ohio on October 2, 1844. When a young man, he attended school in Warren and later at Western Reserve Seminary at West Farmington, Ohio. After teaching for a time, he entered Allegheny College, from which he graduated in 1871. On his return from college he studied law and was admitted to the bar in '73. He continued in active practice until his death. He was prominent in politics in his county, serving as chairman of the executive committee of the county during the McKinley campaign. He served the county for two terms as probate judge.

Last June Judge Craig was one of the loyal alumni who returned for the great Centennial celebration. With him were his two sons, Eugene F. Craig, '03, and William B. Craig, '11, and his daughter, Mrs. A. P. Phelps, '01.

Victim of Auto Accident

H. D. NICKLIN, EX-'16, ALMOST INSTANTLY KILLED.

News was received on Saturday of the death of Harry D. Nicklin, ex-'16, in an automobile accident near Franklin. The fatal accident occurred on the river road between Franklin and Oil City shortly after 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon.

Mr. Nicklin had been traveling in the interests of E. C. Breene in the judicial campaign of Venango County. He was returning from Oil City where he had gone to secure a supply of posters for use in the campaign.

The accident occurred at a point in the road known as the "Narrows." The road at this point is oiled cinder and very smooth. On a high bank at the north of the road there are deep scars, showing that the wheels had mounted to a height of five feet, causing the car to turn over and fall back upon the road, crushing its sole occupant beneath it. The car was found lying in the road by a man who was riding by on a bicycle. Mr. Nicklin's body was almost entirely beneath the body of the machine. The cyclist rode back for help and returning with some other men, lifted the machine from the injured man who was still breathing, but unconscious. Death came before a physician could arrive on the scene.

Just before leaving Oil City, Mr. Nicklin discovered that the steering gear of the car was not in proper condition. He decided to wait and have it repaired later. The supposition is that the apparatus broke while he was at the "Narrows."

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at Franklin. The members of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, of which he was a member, were present.

The news of the accident was a terrible shock to Mr. Nicklin's many friends at Allegheny. He entered the college with the class of 1916, and although remaining but two years, made a host of friends. Last year he spent at the University of Michigan and this year he was studying law in Franklin in the office of J. S. Carmichael. He had taken his preliminary examinations in Pittsburgh but a few months ago. During his college days at Allegheny, Nicklin was accompanist for the Glee and Mandolin Clubs for a year, and was very much interested in college activities.

Besides his parents, he leaves two brothers and one sister: George Nicklin, Jr., ex-'16, Oliver and Agnes.

With Mr. Nicklin's death, Allegheny loses a loyal son and those who were privileged to know him, a true friend.

The United States Public Health Service Bulletin of August 13 has a long article on the Breed Method of Direct Microscopic Examination of Milk, for which Dr. R. S. Breed of the Geneva Experiment Station is responsible. The article gives several tables of comparison between this and the plate method, which has always been used, and finally shows the wonderful accuracy with which Dr. Breed has performed his experiments, and the new discoveries which this method has brought forth. His work is praised and he is quoted in the United States Bulletin as an authority on this subject. Dr. Breed was sent to the sixth International Dairy Congress which was held at Berne in June, 1913. The State of New York, recognizing his ability, sent him as its representative to this organization which was made up of men from all parts of the world. Upon his return several pages of the New York State Agricultural Bulletin were devoted to his report of the happenings of the congress. His work is already receiving international notice.

Meet Pitt Saturday

STRONG SHOWING EXPECTED AGAINST HEAVY TEAM.

Next Saturday, Allegheny meets what is in all probability the best football team in the United States this year. The University of Pittsburgh, against which the Gold and Blue will contend, has rolled up tremendous scores against every opponent this year except the University of Pennsylvania. The latter game, which was played last Saturday, while by no means an easy victory, showed the great strength of the "Smoky City" eleven.

Coach Warner, of Pitt, has built up a machine such as has never been equalled before in that university, and which bids fair to wrest the highest honors from the eastern institutions. A heavy, experienced line, a speedy veteran backfield, backed by Warner's skill, have combined to form an almost perfect scoring machine. Those who have watched the Pitt eleven in action say that the interference provided for the runner is very near perfection, while the line on both the offensive and defensive is nearly irresistible.

Some people are looking at the game Saturday as an unsurmountable obstacle in the path of the Allegheny team. It is a mistake for this view to be taken. It is of course highly improbable that there will be a chance, even, of the Gold and Blue carrying away a victory. The difference in weight and experience of the two teams puts a victory practically out of the question. But there is a fine opportunity for Allegheny to hold their heavy opponents to a small score, and there is always a chance that they may succeed in scoring on Pitt.

The team in last week's game came back into form splendidly. The line was fifty per cent. better than it was in the Tech game, while the backfield played real football. While the open work was not used as much as in former games, the few forward passes which were used were very effective. This week's practice, judging from the improvement made last week, should materially strengthen the entire team.

In all probability Munhall will be in condition to play Saturday. Munhall is the best man in the backfield on the defense, while his line plunges almost always net good gains. Arnold and Bash were both in poor condition last week, owing to injuries, and may be expected to play even a better game this week.

The team has been developing strongly in open playing, and this should help a great deal against the heavy Pitt aggregation. There is every reason to expect that the showing against the Pittsburgh boys on Saturday will be a very good one.

In past years, Allegheny has shown the power of "coming back." The team certainly demonstrated this against Rochester, and there is a good chance that Warner's men may receive some surprises.

A large number of students are planning to go down to Pittsburgh to see the game. It is not known as yet whether any special arrangements will be made for these who make the trip, or not. There will, of course, be a large number of alumni on hand at Forbes Field to watch the 'varsity make good.

Alpha Chi Sigma has the following pledges to announce: H. R. Jacobs, '15; C. F. Baker, '15; L. M. Ritchie, '16; H. B. Kahle, '17, and R. L. Moore, '17.

The green caps for the Freshman girls will be on sale this week at Hulings Hall. They will probably arrive in time for sale today. The headwear must be worn by the Freshmen girls under the same ruling which applies to the men.

EDITORIAL.

The college spirit, or rather lack of spirit, which was shown at the Rochester game was nothing to be proud of. The cheering was far below the standard and the snake dance would have been a disgrace to any first class preparatory school.

Saturday's game was one at which there was more need of good college spirit than at any other game in the last two years. The team was facing a hard struggle after a crushing defeat. Instead of the student body giving what support and encouragement it could, it responded very weakly. When the team came upon the field, it was greeted with weak, scattered applause. The cheering which met some of the splendid plays which were made was only half-hearted.

When the snake dance was started, there was a great deal of poor spirit shown by some of the students who remained in their seats. The Freshmen did not seem to be able to keep step and thus the whole line was thrown into confusion. The cheering on the field was not good. Some few of the Freshmen endeavored to entertain the stands with a display of individual talent which detracted greatly from the success of the dance.

While it is not always pleasant to get out on the field for a snake dance, we ought to keep in mind the effect which a poor snake dance has upon the spectators. An onlooker at the Rochester game would have gained the impression that the students of Allegheny College were only half-hearted in their support of the team. This is not true.

Let us be careful in future to show real spirit at every game. Every man ought to be doing his best to help the team to win. We expect good spirit from the team—have they not the right to expect the same from us?

Busy Week for Clubs at Allegheny

VARIOUS MEETINGS OF COLLEGE ORGANIZATIONS.

Forum Meeting.

Woman Suffrage received a decided boost last Thursday when R. L. Yost, '17, and R. L. Hart, '19, were declared the winners of the debate held in the regular meeting of the Philo-Franklin Forum. The question was: "Resolved, That in Pennsylvania women should be allowed to vote on equal terms with men," and the negative side was supported by J. G. Klingensmith, '16, and A. G. Hutcheon, '19. The debate was followed by a lively discussion of the subject by all the members present.

German Club Meeting.

The first meeting of the German Club was held last Tuesday evening in the club rooms in Bentley. The meeting was given over largely to the initiation of the new members. The club yell, written by Miss Althea Hunt, '14, was adopted by the club. A German play, a feature of the program of the Club, will be given later in the year under the direction of Prof. Matthaei. Tuesday, November 2, was set as the date for the open meeting to the students in the German department. The plans of Doctor Mulfinger and the executive committee point to a very successful and profitable year for the club.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

The meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday night was one full of enthusiasm and life. A very interesting and urgent appeal was given by John Bright, '15, the leader, for the carrying out of the purpose and work of the Y. M. C. A. in Allegheny. He pointed out that the common friendship which we all should strive for is broken up to some extent by the social, scholastic and athletic side of life at Allegheny and that there are many factors prevalent to prevent this common friendship. However in the religious phases of life, which, after all, are the most vital, there we may be bound together in unity and harmony. The instrument and means by which we may attain this is the Y. M. C. A. It is the greatest factor which will bind use as a unit, improve our moral life and give a good name in the eyes of the outside world to Old Allegheny.

Classical Club Meeting.

On Tuesday evening Classical Club held an open meeting in Tingley Hall. Professor Ross gave an intensely interesting lecture on Pompeii. The talk was made even more interesting by the use of pictures showing the remains of that renowned city. He began by saying that he hoped we all had the intention of sometime visiting Italy. The ideal means of approach is by water. The scenery is wonderful as one sails into Naples bay and nears the shore. Pompeii, the city which slept for seventeen hundred years, is located at the foot of Mt. Vesuvius. Today it is a city of the dead, a mass of ruined buildings without roofs. There are remains, showing the different interests of the people who once lived there, such as temples, basilicas and private homes. The Temple of Jupiter is perhaps the most important temple, although it does not compare with the Roman one. Like Rome, Pompeii has a forum, too. However, some of the most characteristic remains are the homes of the rich, showing the highly adorned altars, the inscriptions and the wonderfully preserved frescoes. The subject of most of this fresco work is the daily life of the common people. It betrays the fact that the ancients were real people not far different from ourselves and that we owe much to the man of 79 A. D. "There is little new under the sun." The Pompeian had his large amphitheater and delighted in his gladiatorial contest. He had elaborate water systems, surgical instruments, all the common utensils for cooking, and plumbing instruments. No traces have been found of Pompeian books, but without books simply by her existing remains, Pompeii gives us an extended knowledge of the ancients and the life that they lived.

Biology Club Meets.

On Tuesday evening Tingley Biology Club held its first regular meeting of the year. The vacancy in the secretaryship, owing to the fact that Miss Ethel Roach, ex-'16, secretary of the club, did not return this year, was filled by the election of Miss Louisa Smith, '16. Invitations to membership in the club were issued to the following: Miss Ethel Kleckner, '16; Miss Ruth Pitt, '17; A. F. Munhall, '16; P. A. Cox, '16; J. M. Neill, '17; W. J. Hutchison, '18; J. W. Hazen, '18; H. L. Wissinger, '18; W. C. Richie, '18, and C. H. Hodgkinson, '17.

Meeting of the Petit Salon.

The reorganization for the year of Le Petit Salon was completed at the meeting of that society yesterday afternoon. The club met at the home of its secretary, Miss Katherine Carew, '17.

The business of the day was the initiation of the twenty-one newly elected members, whose names were published in last week's Campus. Each of the new members was required to answer to the roll-call with a short talk in French and to relate some French anecdote. The responses furnished quite an interesting half hour. Many of the talks were very good indeed, although a few exhibited some rather astonishing revelations of French "as she is spoke."

After the initiation, Dr. Snavelly gave an interesting talk on "Mes Experiences Francaises de L'Annee Passee a New York." He described his visits to the French Huguenot, Episcopalian and Catholic churches in the metropolis. Dr. Snavelly while in New York City was privileged to attend a number of lectures by notable Frenchmen and also to see a number of the finest modern plays at the French theatre. The experiences which he described occurred last year while he was serving as visiting professor on the faculty of the New York University. Dr. Snavelly was the only member of the faculty from the French department who had the power of voting in faculty meetings, the other members of the department being classed as instructors.

To Stage Musical Comedy

COLLEGE ORGANIZATIONS TO PRESENT CLEVER PRODUCTION.

[Editor's Note:—The following is in the nature of an advance advertisement. If the production itself is as full of enthusiasm and life as the write-up, its success is assured.]

Prepare to laugh! A real, live, up-to-date musical comedy, a veritable whirlwind of mirth, staged under the auspices of the Athletic Association and the Y. M. C. A., has been scheduled for the middle of November. "The Passing Review of 1916" is the title given to the production that will rank foremost in uniqueness, funniness, gayety and originality among all productions ever staged by Allegheny students. Everything is new—costumes, scenery, music, plot and even the group which gives it. The "Paint and Powder Club"—an association without an organization, brought together for the occasion from the dramatic and comic talent of the college, will stage this cyclone of laughter. From the leading man to the charming and beautiful ladies of the chorus, all will be artists of the first order.

The "Review" is divided into two parts—"Sense" and "Nonsense." The first part will be an original musical comedy; the second part a modern, up-to-date minstrel show, featuring many novel and unique surprises.

"Countess Caprice," written by Miss Helen Adams, '16 and with music by Hickman, '16, has been more than two years in the making. The plot is vivid and original, and guaranteed to keep the audience in convulsions of laughter from the first word to the final curtain. Miss Adams has woven together a series of ludicrous situations into a production which is one laugh after another. Hickman has done his work equally well. The music is bright and "catchy," with a clever "swing" which is irresistible. When the American Beauty chorus begins to dance to the thrilling harmonies, every member of the audience will catch the spirit. The music is the most contagious combination of melody ever released from quarantine.

There will be thirty-six people in the cast. Twelve of these will have the principal parts and the remaining twenty-four will form the chorus. This latter, a most important part of a musical comedy, will contain the prettiest girls on the hill—all of the parts being taken by men.

The minstrel show, which comprises the second part of the "Review," will not be like anything that has ever been seen at Allegheny before. There will not be the conventional chorus of stalwart minstrels with end men, but the program will be altogether unique. Both male and female characters will appear. A number of clever impersonations will be given, interspersed with some of the latest popular songs. Elaborate costumes will be worn, and the whole part has been so carefully and skilfully planned to produce a hilarious effect, that it will cause the biggest laugh of modern years.

The costumes for the musical comedy are being designed especially for the event by Miss Elizabeth Sykes, '17. The production will be staged in the gym. A stage will be built and scenery secured, and Hickman will paint some special scenery which will be appropriate. The music is to be furnished by the college orchestra.

and chorus will be held early this week. Hickman and Ellis, '16, will direct the comedy. The chorus, after being chosen for their beauty and skill, will be trained by Hickman. Ellis will play the accompaniments.

This is the first time that such a brisk and fantastic production as the "Review" has ever been staged by the students and its success will depend largely upon the support which it receives from the entire student body. As a mirth-extractor it has never been equalled, and with the proper support, it will create a sensation in the life of the college which will not be forgotten for years to come.

Between the halves, the students went out on the field for the usual snake dance.

At the beginning of the second half, Schuknecht was substituted for Summers. Bash kicked off to McKelvey on the 18-yard line, the ball being carried back 12 yards. A drive at tackle brought Rochester no gain. Scannell forced Harris out of bounds on an end run with a loss of 4 yards. Rochester's first successful forward pass, Wray to Ogden, netted 13 yards. McKelvey made first down on a 3-yard plunge. A fine forward pass, Wray to Ogden, netted 35 yards, placing the ball on Allegheny's 25-yard line. On the next play, Scannell threw Ogden for a 3-yard loss. Allegheny was penalized 10 yards for holding. Wray hit the line for a 3-yard gain. Cox intercepted a forward pass, being downed on the Allegheny 3-yard line.

Kramer got off a quick punt to Harris on the Allegheny 40-yard line. A forward pass, Wray to Ogden, was not completed, but a second to Lovejoy over the center of the line netted 5 yards. A third, Wray to Salmon, failed, and a fourth, to Tuttle, netted 7 yards, making first down.

Wray made a yard through tackle, but Harris was thrown heavily by Byers on an end run. A forward pass was intercepted by Cox, giving Allegheny the ball on the 26-yard line.

Arnold made a 4-yard line plunge and Askey netted 4 more, following with a 1-yard plunge. Rochester got the ball on downs.

Cox tried two forward passes to Kramer and Bash, but neither one was completed. A pass, Cox to Arnold, brought 13 yards and first down. Gillette went in for Schuknecht. A pass, Cox to Scannell, brought 17 yards more, and another pass, this time a 25-yard throw to Kramer, was caught and the ball was carried 15 yards for the third touchdown. Bash kicked the goal. Score: Allegheny, 19; Rochester, 0.

Salmon kicked to Witter on the Allegheny 25-yard line and the ball was carried back 15 yards. A pass, Cox to Askey, was incomplete. Wray intercepted a forward pass and ran the ball 10 yards to the Allegheny 45-yard line. A pass, Wray to Salmon, failed. Wray gained 8 yards on a run from punt formation. Another forward pass was incomplete. A 2-yard plunge through the line by Wray made first down. Arnold and Harbaugh each spoiled forward passes attempted by the visitors. Wray tried another pass to Ogden but it failed. Hummel punted to Cox who made a fair catch on the 19-yard line. Thomas replaced Hayes and Sykes went in for Salmon.

Askey gained a yard through the line, but Cox lost 12 on an end run. Whitting went in for McKelvey. Kramer punted to Harris on the Allegheny 40-yard line.

Then followed a play which brought the crowd to their feet with a tremendous burst of applause. Wray threw a 30-yard pass to Ogden which was altogether too high. The end leaped high into the air, making the catch but falling heavily. This placed the ball on Allegheny's 10-yard line. On the next play Harris was thrown for a two-yard loss on an end run. A pass, Tuttle to Ogden, was incomplete. A second, Wray to Ogden, also failed. The final whistle found the ball on Allegheny's 12-yard line.

Football Song by Allegheny Graduate

PROMPT ANSWER TO LAST WEEK'S REQUEST FOR NEW SONG.

The following letter is self-explanatory:

State College, Pa., Oct. 14, 1915.
Mr. William A. Ellis, 454 North Main Street, Meadville, Pa.:

My Dear Sir:—I note that in your last edition of The Campus you request the submission of foot ball songs. I am enclosing herewith some words which you may be able to use. They are to be sung to Oley Speaks' music for Kipling's "On the Road to Mandalay," a copy of which I am sending you under separate cover.

Very sincerely yours,
ERNEST J. HALL, '13.

Come, now sons of Allegheny, come now daughters of her, too,
Raise a song of praise and homage to her flag of gold and blue;
Give a cheer for each brave comrade who will fight for her today,
And tonight the bell in Bentley will ring out o'er Allegheny,
"Victory for Allegheny!"

Chorus.

"Victory for Allegheny!" be our battle-cry today;
Ev'ry heart for you beats loyal, boys, and you will win the fray;
We're with you in ev'ry play, cheering all along the way,
Raising e'er the shout of victory for dear old Allegheny.

As you love your Alma Mater, give the best you have, and more,
And to you will be the glory, whatsoever may be the score;
Let her fame go ever onward, be the struggle what it may,
And through all the strain of battle let the slogan be for aye,
"Victory for Allegheny!" Chorus.

The Voluntary Study Classes which have been introduced as a part of the program of the Y. M. C. A. administration started operations last Thursday night, with an enrollment of about fifty men. Groups have been held in the fraternity houses and dormitories that desire them and are led by members of the faculty and alumni. The study is strictly voluntary and deals with essentially student problems, considering them in the light of Bible teachings. It is planned by the committee to hold the classes every Thursday evening until the Christmas vacation, the classes beginning at six-thirty and closing at seven p. m.

At the close of the chapel exercises on Friday morning President Crawford spoke of his visit to Lafayette College for the past few days on the occasion of the inauguration of their new president. In the course of their exercises one of their speakers brought out the advantages of the "Voluntary College" as did Professor Claxton here last June. He pleaded not for the great university and college which touched all the fields of knowledge, but for the smaller college which selected from that general field and concentrated its efforts on one element. He said you must limit your efforts in order to gain this type of education that makes the greatest success. As examples of this type of education, he spoke of Amherst and Allegheny.
