Dear Miss Tarbell,

Sunday - 35 Newbury St.

Miss Alice French.

Octave Thayer — is in New York, at Miss Nora Scott's - 252 W. 101. St. She spoke with so much feeling about you and your work, that I know she would like to see you — indeed, very likely, she has knocked at your office door, by this time - ² But if she has not, I wanted you to know where she is - She is such a rare, sweet soul - and every thing she wrote of the relations of labor & Capital is so fair and all round - That for my part, I am glad she is alive!

Don't there ~~any~~ ³ hope of your coming on to Boston this winter - ? And if you do, would you come and stay with us?
Do come! -

How is Miss Lawton prospering? She will not believe it, of course - but I am much concerned about her, poor child. - Altho' the threat to sue Mr Ames for the read of his coat - (or gift?) I don't know which she considered it) - did make it hard to understand her - I wonder what you think of the House of Murder; - it seems to me like the Insurance company and your book, and Lermus election - one of the signs of the times - an expression of that spiritual thrust, which is surely shaking the world! Do
