Dear Mr. Guy

Pardon the long delay in replying to your note of April 30th. I did appreciate it. Of course I remember Billy and the good times I had at your home.

I am particularly pleased that you approve of my story about your Uncle Rob and Aunt Myra. I loved them very much, and have always felt deeply the wrong that was done them. I have been pleased at the response that I have had from Meadville and vicinity about what I wrote. Judge Clarke who knew the whole circumstance read the manuscript and he has written me since the publication that he feels that many of the family's old friends will be glad to have this bit of historical proof published.

It was kind of you to offer to drive me to Meadville. I felt every day like writing you but I became so swamped in my College work that it was impossible for me to see people. I should have been glad to have gone to Poland for the opening of the new school building but I was obliged to come back to New York and am only just now getting around to thanking people for their kind wishes and explaining my neglect.

Good luck to you

Very sincerely yours
